

HIGHLANDERS LOSE TUESDAY IS JONAH TO BONNER'S TEAM AND DEMERS KNOWS IT

LOCAL BALL CLUB BEATEN BY RIVERMEN IN FAST CONTEST BY 10 TO 9 SCORE.

The Highlanders, successors to the nomenclature of our late league team, lost a close game to Bonner yesterday afternoon, the visitors nosing out with a score of 10 to 9. The game was one of the best Campbell park has seen this spring, and was witnessed by an enthusiastic crowd of Bonner fans.

Errors behind the Missoula pitchers were responsible for the victory of the rivermen. Headley and Hester, who pitched for the Highlanders, were not hit hard, but their support was deplorable at the crisis of the battle.

Egan, who started for Bonner, was driven from the box in the early part of the game, and Wells, who followed him, fared little better. Baird, captain and catcher of the Bonner club, came to the rescue in the closing innings and held the home team helpless. With two down in the ninth, Serber frightened the visitors by slamming out a triple and scoring a minute later on an infield single, but his teammates failed to come through with another run and the game was lost.

Next Sunday the Highlanders will play the fast Lovola high school team, victors over almost every other organization in western Montana.

FRENCH CANTONS RISE AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Berne, Switzerland, May 3.—The French cantons of Switzerland are protesting against the so-called "Germanization" of the republic. The government blue books are now printed in German only. The municipality of Berne has ordered the removal of French names of streets, which until now, have had at the intersections.

The French names of several railway stations of the state lines have recently been dropped and the German designations kept. The French newspapers here affirm that Pan-German societies at Crefeld and Berlin have subsidized German teachers so that they have been able to take positions in Swiss schools at salaries too small for their maintenance alone.

shown by Lyman H. Howe at the Missoula theater tonight in a film production of absolutely perfect photography. As such, Mr. Howe's film is now universally recognized as being just as much a crowning achievement in a photographic sense as the canal itself is as the newest and greatest of all "world-wonders." Interest in these scenes is intensified not only because of their timeliness, but by the fact that Mr. Howe is the exhibitor. For that, of course, is an absolute guarantee of a notable production. Mr. Howe has chosen wisely in presenting this subject just at the moment of the completion of the canal, when tens of thousands of workmen and hundreds of officers are preparing to scatter to their homes in all parts of the world. From every standpoint the film is invaluable. As a "human document," showing the grit, energy, enterprise, skill, patience, endurance, ingenuity and organization of the army of workmen, it is intensely absorbing. As an enduring historical record, it is priceless, and as a demonstration of American mechanical resources and invention, it is an illuminating revelation. It goes without saying that without the friendly aid and co-operation of the master-builder of the canal, Colonel George W. Goethals, no such vivid scenes could possibly have been secured, and a greater measure of this splendid reproduction is due to the exceptional facilities and courtesies extended by him and the war department at Washington, D. C. The program will include many other big new features.

Juvenile Bostonians.

The often expressed desire to see the talented young members of the Juvenile Bostonians' company, which comes to the Missoula theater next Friday in a production of acknowledged high standard that would tax their wonderful talents to the fullest limits, will be gratified in the forthcoming local engagement, for they are to present no less a pretentious offering than the great Kirk La Shelle comic opera, "Princess Chic." This is the same tremendous success that enjoyed runs of one solid year in New York, six months in Boston and 15 weeks in Philadelphia, all rights to the piece having been bought in New York by the Bostonians' management several months ago. Heretofore the juveniles, which, by the way, are all of the feminine persuasion, have been seen only in productions with little claim to plot and big effects devised only as a setting for a lot of tuneful singing numbers and bright comedy. The change to a big New York piece which had been graced by such famous artists as Christie MacDonald and Maude Lillian Berri therefore was a daring venture. That it was a most fortunate one is indicated by overwhelming praise from critics all along the route.

Evelyn Nesbit.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who is to appear here at the head of a big company at the Missoula theater on Tuesday, May 5, has waited six years after the unfortunate affair with which she was connected before returning to the stage. During her years of seclusion she has been hard at work, however, in perfecting herself in her art. Her first appearance on her return to the stage was made in London. It was not until she had made a success there on her artistic ability that she consented to appear in America. She has been the idol of the New York theater-going public since her debut at Hammerstein's. She will be seen here as the principal figure in a clever French musical divertissement.

The Theaters

Empress.
"How Wild Animals Live," in six parts, will be the big feature at the Empress for today and tomorrow.

The element of humor is not wanting in these pictures. A young bear, with an inherited taste for honey and a greater appetite than discretion, goes hunting for honey on an old tree trunk. He discovers a fine supply of sweetness, but before he can help himself he discovers a lot about the stinging abilities of hornets and he beats a very hasty retreat, followed by a swarm of angry insects. The pictures cover a very wide range of animal life, showing interesting things in the lives of serpents, beasts of prey, denizens of water and forest and especially of birds in the air and birds in their nests. Every climax on this globe is represented on the screen. Indeed, among the great merits of these pictures the charm of variety must be placed first. It is this feature which will make these reels acceptable to every audience everywhere.

It is likewise in order to mention the fact that these pictures give us portraits of animal life such as we have never seen before. The story of the doormice, of the tarantula spider, the salamanders and lizards, the dingoes or wild dogs of Australia, the five-crested kinglet and scores of others represent efforts in an entirely new direction.

Matinee will start at 1:30, 3:00 and 4:30 p. m., and the evening performance will start at 6:30, 8:00 and 9:30 o'clock.

Bijou.

One of those big six-feature programs is scheduled to open at the Bijou tonight. Six stunning stunts, every one good and different, a show that cannot be equaled. The Love Trio, comprising three people in a big time musical act, will present a feast of music, singing and dancing, and is the headline attraction. Another act that comes highly recommended in vaudeville circles is Ed R. Kelly, the well-known singing comedian. You cannot possibly afford to miss him. Then there are three reels of pictures. Pathe Weekly, a comedy entitled "And He Came Back," also a splendid drama, "The Hermit of Lonely Gulch." The sixth stunt is the celebrated Bijou orchestra, with loads of popular music.

Canal Pictures.

If "peace hath her victories no less than those of war," the construction of the Panama canal may truly be considered the greatest victory of peace of all times. The world at large rightly regards it as the most heroic and prodigious victory won by any nation in any era. How this immortal victory was won by Americans will be
