INTEREST IS ACUTE IN FIELD MEET

Hamilton, May 6. (Special).—Much interest has been aroused locally in the fourth interscholastic field meet for Ravalli county, to be held in Victor Friday and Saturday of this week. The local track team, the high school band and a large number of high school pupils will leave tomorrow morning for Victor to remain until Saturday evening. JUDGE DUNCAN ISSUES WRIT OF MANDATE IN RAVALLI COUNTY.

Hamilton, May 6. (Special).—The writ of mandate compelling the jury commission of Ravalli county, composed of O. C. Cooper, chairman of the board of county commissioners, County Treasurer H. L. Hart, and County Assessor F. R. Tanner, to prepare another jury list for 1914, was granted today by Judge Asa L. Duncan, who came to Hamilton this morning to hear further arguments in the case. The attorneys for the respondents were given 20 days in addition to the time allowed by law in which to file their bill of exceptions. Arguments were made today by Attorneys J. D. Taylor and C. S. Wanger for the relator and by Attorneys T. J. Edwards and E. C. Kurtz for the respondents.

In making his ruling that the writ issue, Judge Duncan briefly stated his understanding of the situation. He declared that in his judgment the commissioners were not guilty of bond-breaking. The jury list and that the list was prepared conscientiously to the best of their knowledge and understanding of the law. He declared that mistakes which were made in the preparation of the list, which amounts to the leaving off of the names of eligible jurymen, were the result of a misinterpretation or a lack of knowledge of the law. He also stated that a misinterpretation or a lack of knowledge of the law in the preparation of the list was sufficient reason for the preparation of another jury list.

According to the decision rendered today by the court, which was explained by his remarks, the whole controversy settles upon a point of law, which is interpreted differently. During the trial Judge Duncan held that the simple fact that a man may claim an exemption does not exempt him from jury duty, or the placing of his name on the jury list, until he appears in court and claims that exemption. He holds that the fact that the law qualifies these men as eligible jurymen shows that it was not meant that they should be exempted unless they claimed the exemption. In other words, while a postmaster may legally claim an exemption, he should not be exempted by the jury commission, but should be placed on the list. If he desires to claim exemption he must appear in court. Professional men, such as doctors, lawyers, druggists, and officers, county, city and township, and such persons as may claim an exemption and would in every case, were left off the list by the commission but should have been included. It was the contention of the attorneys for the relator that even firemen should be put onto the list.

CITY COMMISSIONERS HOLD ROUTINE MEETING AND CLEAR SLATE.

Despite their start in the wrangling ways of their predecessors, the new officers of the city of Missoula got away yesterday in a surprisingly peaceful manner. No discord marked the session and all of the business on the slate was cleaned up in a manner satisfactory to all who were within hearing distance, at any rate. The solemnity of the session was accentuated by the fact that the commissioners, unaccustomed as they are to routine, dragged the meeting a bit.

The appointment of Dr. Anderson to the office of city physician was the most important transaction of the day. Dr. Anderson's appointment was delayed Monday in order to give the doctors of the city a chance to express their opinion.

The bonds of the city clerk, the city treasurer and the police magistrate were received and accepted.

During the reading of the monthly bills the clerk came across a claim for 55 cents for gasoline from Dr. Bryant. No one seemed to know anything about the claim, which was marked "Balance due" but inasmuch as it had run for two years it was ordered paid.

The city clerk was instructed to issue calls for judges for the coming election on the commission form of government and to attend to the printing of necessary blanks. This election has been set for June 1 and is on the initiative proposition that the city revert to the old ward system of government.
