Looks Like Coming Champ Does "Peanuts" Schieber!

Fighter Who Is to Meet Jerry Dalton Before Rochester Club Next Wednesday Ambitious to Win Way to Meeting With Champion Kilbane.

It seems incredible, but in "Peanuts" Schieber Missoula fans will have the privilege of seeing a boy who has never lost a decision, though he has fought in 54 battles. He is of such dynamic energy and tirelessness and has so many styles of fighting that his opponents never can guess what will come next.

He has waded through nearly all of the featherweights like a born champion. He fights all the time, and, as Pat Nelson says, "he delivers the goods."

Was Blind at Seven.

At one time, between the ages of 6 and 7 years, Schieber was stone blind, his eyesight failing after he had been hit on the head with a stone while at play. Luckily, medical attention resulted in the restoration of sight.

"Peanuts" has been in many freak bouts. At one time Kid Clipper of Chicago, just before a scheduled match with Schieber, flaked out and Carl Henderson, who has fought Bud Anderson, Wildcat Ferns and numerous other leaders in the fight game, was substituted. After one of the hardest battles of his career, "Peanuts" won from Henderson.

The youngster doesn't know what fear means. He won a decision over Ollie Bishop of St. Louis after he had been dropped six times in the first round. He went into the fight with a high fever and afterwards had to be led from the ring. The exercise served to break the fever, however, and after the battle Schieber was all right.

A floating knee-cup resulted from the falls in the first round and for a time it was thought that he would have to give up the game. But again his pluck asserted itself and, with the aid of a doctor, he got over the injury in three weeks.

Just now "Peanuts" has the ambition nursed by all featherweights of boxing Champion Johnny Kilbane before his increasing bulk forces him into the lightweight class. This is his professional ambition, but he has another which he does not impart to everybody.

Down in Rock Island, Ill., there is a little flaxen-haired woman who is just as proud of her son as any woman could well be. Even though "Peanuts" has made his own way most of his life he has not forgotten the care and attention given him when he suffered affliction in the form of blindness in his youth.

He has bought a $3,000 home for his mother and is working hard to pay off the purchase with his ring earnings. After a few more bouts he will have succeeded in doing so.

Schieber is a boy of the best of habits and there is no reason on earth why, in a short time, he should not be classed among the best. The best critics and boxers have labeled him as a coming champion and he looks the part.

Beginning Tomorrow

there will appear in this newspaper a remarkable series of advertisements featuring Prince Albert Tobacco—"the national joy smoke."

This publicity is the most notable, from the standpoint of illustrative treatment and reading interest, that it has ever been our pleasure to print.

Prince Albert advertising has long been a feature of the country's magazines, and it is so original and appealingly human, in both picture and text, that people everywhere follow it with keenest interest.

You will find the ads. in the forthcoming series illustrated with remarkable character designs by artists of repute, and full of breezy, snappy talks which you will delight to read. Watch for them.

The Theaters

The Star.

"The Disaster in Shaft 13" is the title of a most exciting mine story which will appear in three parts on the screen at the Star theater this evening and tomorrow night. The picture is of unusual sort, and shows in detail the working of the machinery of a big coal mine. They are novel scenes, these, which show the under workings of a coal mine, portraying the actions of the characters in the play both above and below the earth's crust. It is a different type of picture and all the more interesting for that. The story deals chiefly with the action of a brave mining engineer, who saves his employer from ruin and poverty. Love figures prominently, of course, and the whole fabric of the plot is powerfully woven and splendidly produced. One reel of comedy will complete the Star's offering for Monday and Tuesday.

At the Bijou.

The three musical melody kings, "The Shirleys," vaudeville's premier musical entertainers, open their three-day engagement at the Bijou theater tonight. These three aristocrats of melody use wonderful novelty instruments, playing microphones, clariphones, cele and clarinets, airphones, saxophones, also the wonderful call-phone. This act is a big feature attraction, with beautiful electrical effects, special scenery and settings and magnificent costumes. Four reels will be shown on the picture program, the world's two greatest news films, Pathe Weekly and Hearst Selig Weekly, with interesting live news topics from all parts of this big busy globe. The comedy picture, a Biograph, "Pat Casey's Case," is some laugh provoker, and "The Road of Plaidale" is an interesting dramatic.
