

ALONE IN HIS CAR WITH CRAZY WOMAN

IRVIN KOHN HAS A NEW KIND OF JOY RIDE WHILE FORCED TO BE A HERO.

Irvin Kohn had a joy ride last night that gave him the fright of his young life. If his hair is not gray this morning it will be because of his tender years and not from any lack of the usual ingredients required to bring about such a transformation of scalp-locks.

To reduce a long story to such length as will enable it to be used in an early edition, Irvin's natural gallantry led to his asking a lone woman whom he encountered on the lonely road near Fort Missoula at a late hour last night, to ride to town with him in his automobile. Once in the seat beside him the woman turned out to be raving crazy. She was captain of the ship when the little car once got under way and it was her manner of giving orders and seeing that they were immediately executed that put the big fear in Irvin's heart. There is little of that trip to town from the fact that he wishes to remember. When he reached the south end of the Higgins avenue bridge the first man he spied was Jack Rice, formerly deputy sheriff. Irvin threw in the emergency brake and induced Rice to come aboard and take charge of the woman. Then he made a record run across the bridge and to the county jail.

In the meantime two officers from the sheriff's force had been hunting in vain for the lady out on the flat, the word that a crazy woman was roaming about in that neighborhood having been sent in from several different sources. The unfortunate woman gave her name as Mrs. Mayer, when taken to the county jail. Nothing of her history nor the details of her case could be learned last night.

CONGRESSMEN TO PLAY ANNUAL GAME OF BALL

Washington, June 26.—The annual house baseball game will be played at the American league park here tomorrow. The republican-progressive players are Patton, Farr, Winslow, Barton, Sianott, Slump, Woodruff, and Miller (captain). The democrats include Webb (captain), Rouse, Oldfield, Harrison, Murray, Cunnely, Elder and McDermott.

CAPTURED.

Baker, Ore., June 26.—Ed Fisher, alleged assailant of ex-Mayor Henry Stewart of Copperfield, who was shot near his home last Monday, was captured early today near Wallowa Lake, in a mountain fastness by Sheriff Rand. Sheriff Rand telephoned from Enterprise tonight, where he had just arrived with his prisoner. He had tracked Fisher through more than 40 miles of wilderness. When overtaken Fisher offered no resistance. Doctors attending Stewart say he will recover.

NATURE NOTE.

It is a fact, say those who know, concerning animals, a lot. That the elephant can trumpet, though the cow, who has two horns, can not.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month and I took three more bottles of it and now I feel as well as I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSENG, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consultant) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

REPUBLICAN ATTACK ON COMMISSION IS BEGUN

DECLARED THAT THE WILSON PLAN WILL LEAD TO MORE UNCERTAINTY THAN EVER.

Washington, June 26.—Republican attack on the federal trade commission bill was opened in the senate tonight by Senator Borah, who told his colleagues that passage of the measure would lead not to certainty among business men as to what they might lawfully do, but to another period of uncertainty such as followed the enactment of the Sherman anti-trust act.

SCANDAL IN TREATY STIRS THE SENATE

lawyers and the others who are said to have large financial interests in the treaty will be called upon to explain their connection with the matter.

To Call Promoters.

The committee on foreign relations cannot attempt to act upon the treaty without full hearings and those who are known to have been active in the effort to create sentiment in its favor will be summoned to testify. Some members of the committee believe an international scandal is brewing which will further injure the administration in public estimation.

A demand will also be made that if the treaty is reported favorably to the senate it be discussed not in secret sessions, but in the open sessions of the body, so that the public may know all the facts and judge the purposes of those who are behind the agreement.

It will require a two-thirds vote of the senate to ratify this treaty, but it can be reported favorably by the foreign relations committee upon a majority vote of the committee members.

The democrats have such a majority in the committee, and the understanding is today that the president and Secretary Bryan will exert their utmost to the utmost to obtain committee action.

The democratic senators do not like the task set them, and it is not yet apparent whether they will accept orders from the administration or rebel quietly and pigeonhole the offensive document.

The certainty that it cannot be ratified by the senate makes a report by the committee a futile proceeding and increases the amazement of economists by the administration in forcing the matter upon public attention at this time.

To Probe Lobby.

Before anything can be done either by the committee or by the senate there probably will be an investigation of the lobby behind the treaty. The wire pulling and manipulation which has brought the scheme to export money from the United States to its present advantageous position.

This investigation is due the American people. It cannot be properly resisted or resented by the administration.

The treaty which President Wilson and Secretary Bryan have negotiated is a formal declaration that Colombia was greatly injured by the United States and treated with dishonorable unfairness by the then president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt.

It is said by the democrats that when all the correspondence between this government and Colombia is published the necessity of settling Colombia's claims will be apparent. This is true, but Colombia's claims grow out of certain agreements entered into with France, which the United States took over together with the canal rights and canal property purchased from France.

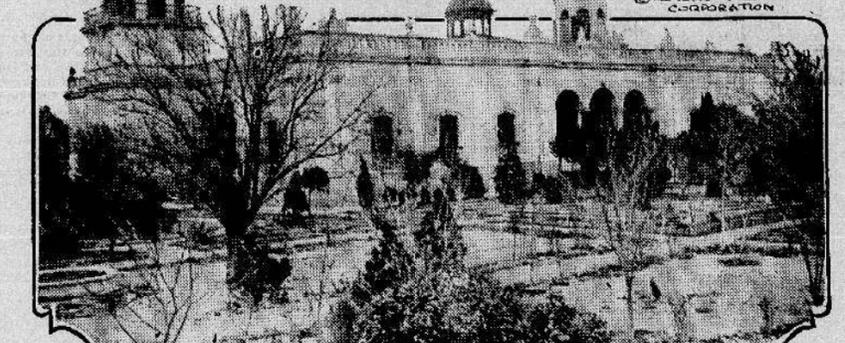

These claims always have been admitted, and both the Roosevelt and Taft administrations offered to settle them upon a most generous basis. It was originally estimated that Colombia was entitled to something a little in excess of $1,000,000, and this estimate was later increased in an effort to effect a settlement of all controversies.

No Unfair Advantage.

But there never was before an admission by the United States that any unfair advantage had been taken of Colombia, or that Colombia could have been injured by the generosity of the waterway for the benefit of all the world.

Secretary Bryan also presented to the committee today the treaty negotiated with Nicaragua. In this presentation he was assisted by Charles Douglass, a Washington lawyer, who is also a friend of the secretary of state. Mr. Douglass appeared as the attorney of the Nicaraguan legation.

WHERE VILLA RULES IS ORDER HE BRINGS GOOD GOVERNMENT

Scenes in Chihuahua, a rebel stronghold. Top, some of Villa's soldiers. Bottom, Quinto Carolina church.

Chihuahua, Mexico, June 26.—Whatever may be said in criticism of General Villa, no one as yet has risen to deny that he has established order in the cities he has captured. As good a government, and perhaps even a better one, exists in Juarez, Chihuahua, Torreon and Monterrey today as existed before these towns fell into rebel hands. The lives and property of persons friendly to the constitutional cause are quite safe in these cities, though it is doubtful if as much can be said of persons who are unfriendly to the rebel chieftain.

Probably one of the most discouraging things in connection with constitutional government is the large amount of paper currency of uncertain value which is now in circulation.

States Issue Money.

Under the seal of the constitutional treasury notes have been issued by Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Durango and other states but the uncertainty arises over the amount actually put in circulation under this authority. There is every reason to believe that several of the states have issued paper notes on their own account. Already some question is raised about the currency of the state of Tamaulipas. While it is probable that if the constitutionalists succeed the currency authorized by the Carranza government will be redeemed, there is apprehension lest much of the state currency be repudiated. Nevertheless, at present the notes of the different states circulate outside of the state in which they are issued.

General Villa has a mint at Chihuahua, which is expected to coin silver dollars and half dollars. Over in the Pacific slope in the state of Sinaloa some crude composition silver dollars were minted in the sand. In Coahuila some constitutionalist patriots obtained the die for minting the regular Mexican silver dollar, and substituted for the usual inscription the phrase, "Muerta Huerta—death to Huerta." Some of these dollars were put out, but when it was found that they were chiefly lead their value as circulating medium dropped, and they were exchanged only as curiosities.

Scrap Promises to Pay.

The constitutionalists wherever they came into control usually repudiated the temporary notes issued under the Huerta government. At Monterrey a large part of the circulation consisted of "vales" or scrip promises to pay. These were repudiated by the constitutionalists, but they found it necessary to exchange something like $100,000 of them for constitutionalist currency, since the poorer people were absolutely without money of any kind when the "vales" were outlawed.

In Tamaulipas the existing monetary disorder has been accentuated by the constitutionalist commander outlawing the notes issued by the banks since February 12.

Notwithstanding the military successes of the constitutionalists, the financial outlook grows worse instead of better as more territory comes under their control. This is because of the uncertainty as to the real circulating value of the constitutionalist currency. The situation approaches monetary anarchy.

In the effort to revive trade and industry little encouragement can be had for foreign houses, because they cannot afford to sell goods and take their pay in currency which they are not sure will be redeemed, at the value at which they are asked to take it. On the other hand, Mexican importers cannot afford to pay gold for foreign goods and sell them on the uncertain basis of constitutionalist currency.

Printed in the United States.

A leading cause of the uncertainty is the large amount of spurious currency which is known to have been put out. The recent issues of constitutionalist money, so-called, have been printed by reputable firms in Washington, New York and San Antonio, and cannot be counterfeited easily. But any kind of printing press seems to have been considered sufficient for the first issues. Most of these paper notes were of so poor a quality that after a little usage they fell to pieces.

Ordinarily this would be an outright loss to the whole circulation as well as to the individual holders of the currency, who would be unable to catch it together. But the counterfeiters got into the field and there is no question that they put into circulation enough of the spurious notes to keep the general volume unimpaired.

JUST HELD.

El Paso, June 26.—General Villa notified the state department at Washington today that General Luis Terrazas, Jr., who has been the subject of representations by Secretary Bryan, was in no personal danger. Terrazas has been held a prisoner at Chihuahua City as hostage because of the activity of his father, General Luis Terrazas, Sr., in removing cattle from the state.

The men who voted for an eight-hour working day for women would get made all over if their wives didn't put in 18 hours per day around the house.
