LOU FABERT'S BOY BREAKS HIS ARM

George, the 10-year-old son of Lou Fabert, met with a painful injury yesterday when he fractured one arm between the shoulder and the elbow. The lad was playing in a cart when he fell into the wheel which turned and let him fall to the ground. The lad was resting well after the fracture was reduced last evening.

Caught on the Run About Town

The campaign's on and candidates are thicker now than flies; they are doing things that, at other times, they surely would despise; they're shaking hands with everyone, they greet all with a smile; they're bustling round and meeting folks in their most winning style; they're inquiring of your business, and they ask about your wife, they tell you you look better than ever in your life; they talk about the weather and they deprecate the war; but they won't take sides until they know which one you're pulling for; they say the cost of living is not per cent too high; but each denies that he's to blame and proves an alibi; the voters listen to this stuff, but really they don't care; there's just one thing they want to know—if a fellow's on the square.

Really, I am stronger than ever for the primary system of nomination. It brings out so many candidates and this makes so many people good natured, that the city is fair-illuminated with the light of the campaign smiles. Under the old system, the number of candidates was limited. There were comparatively few glad hands and the number of smiling faces was insignificant, compared with what we have now. The campaign has made Missoula more than ever, a Sunshine Town. It is delightful to see so many smiling people on the street. It drives Old Gloom into his darkest retreat. It makes the town look prosperous. A stranger, coming into Missoula for the first time, would conclude at once that this is a city of Millionaires, for there is nobody but a millionaire who can smile like a receptive candidate. If it were for nothing but this happy state of affairs, the primary system would be justified.

GOOD PLAN

And, then, it is so good to have so many people taking a kindly interest in your affairs. About forty times a day somebody wants to know how I am getting along. Two weeks ago there wasn't anybody—unless it was the bank—who cared a rap whether I prospered or not. Now I am fairly besieged by men who are solicitous of my welfare. And there are twice as many who inquire regularly about the condition of my wife's health. Not many of them know how—which is their mistake—but they are just as interested as if they all used to go to school with her. There is one candidate who asked me three times yesterday about my wife's health. And I am sure he never saw her, to know who she was. Day after day, I have been on the run about town, with never anybody inquiring about me or mine. Now this change makes things really sociable. This is the most neighborly town I ever knew about. I didn't know there were so many people who cared for me and for my folks. I don't suppose I could realize anything on this concern of theirs, as an asset, but it is comforting to think that there are so many men in town who have this friendly interest in my affairs. This is another thing that makes me strong for the primary system. It's great.

SQUARE DEAL

There is less talk of partisan politics in this campaign than I ever heard in Missoula before, and I have been through the campaigns of more than 20 years here. The talk is all of men and their fitness. It's a good sign and it adds to the weight of evidence in favor of the primary system. The people want a square deal and they are looking pretty carefully into records now. I heard a good square-deal story yesterday. It was told to me by a woman, who talked over the telephone. "You ought to know this story," she said. "The Women's Christian Temperance Union in Deer Lodge gave a picnic the other day. They were short of transportation and a local saloon man offered them his automobile. Some of them wouldn't accept, but some of them did. That automobile was kept busy carrying women and picnic supplies. That saloon man was on the square, was he not?" And I agreed that he was. The women who refused to ride in his machine would probably refuse to accept a donation of Standard Oil money on the ground that it is tainted. That would be consistent, but it wouldn't be good business.

LEASE GETS HIS GUN AND RED BILLY CLUB

Officer Lease yesterday received a package from Helena containing his automatic revolver and his billy which were taken from him by government agents at the time of his arrest when he had a fight here with Special Agent Oftedal. The receipt of the officer's equipment revived the case among the members of the force yesterday.

It was a year ago August 9 that the trouble took place when Lease and the special officer had a misunderstanding. Lease said he felt at home on his beat last night for the first time in a year with his own gun and billy hanging on his belt.

FORESTERS WORK NIGHT SHIFT NOW

Local Headquarters Busy Handling Details of Increasing Field Organization and Forester Silcox and Helpers Put in Long Hours—More Than a Dozen fires

So serious and complicated has the forest fire situation become in this field district that District Forester F. A. Silcox has organized a night force at the headquarters and he himself remains on the job until nearly midnight every shift. When it is realized that the forest service has about 1,500 extra men in the field fighting fire now, which number is being increased by crews of 25, 50 or 75 men every few hours, all to be equipped and supplied with grub and fire fighting tools; when it is remembered that within the last ten days nearly 500 fires have had to receive immediate attention and that about 50 in addition to the big Flathead fire, are still burning, 15 of which are not under control, then it can be realized that the men who are handling this field organization here have their hands full and have to be on the job practically all the time.

The following is a brief summary of the uncontrolled fires now burning in the district, there being as many more burning but partly controlled:

In Montana.
 Lewis and Clark forest—One fire at the head of Sun river. Extent unknown. Fifty men on fighting line. In the Montana Clearwater country near Seeley lake there are two fires. Fifty men were called for one of these Thursday night but it was not known how many are on the other.

There is one fire at the mouth of Bear creek to which a crew of 25 men with cook and pack outfit and 24 horses was sent yesterday. A fire is burning on Selway river but particulars are unknown. A third fire has burned 200 acres of timber on Moose creek. Eighteen men reached it yesterday and 20 more will be sent from Darby this morning, with full pack outfit, to reinforce them. Two small fires in White Sand basin, particular unknown. Clearwater forest—Fire on Fourth of July creek with about twenty-five men. Other Conditions.

In northern Idaho the situation is better, there being no serious fires reported yesterday. The big fire on the Flathead forest, under control, continues to improve and the force of guards there was reduced to 200 men yesterday. This has burned over 17,000 acres, but fortunately, did not reach a bite or two of green and merchantable timber.

LOGAN AND REELY BOOST MISSOULA AMONG EAGLES

LOCAL DELEGATES TELL ABOUT THE GREAT CONVENTION IN KANSAS CITY

Will A. Logan and John W. Reely are back from Kansas City, where they attended the grand aspic of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Mr. Logan went as representative of the Montana state order and Mr. Reely represented the Missoula order. There were 34 members in the Montana delegation and they made a hit. In the parade Montana had four automobiles, bearing the legend, "Girls, come to Montana—320 acres of land and a husband." From the automobiles pennies were scattered for the boys to scramble after.

Montana worked with Spokane to secure the 1915 grand aspic for the East-Washington metropolis and won after a hard fight. Mr. Logan presented the invitation of the Missoula Chamber of Commerce, asking the delegates to come to Spokane and stop off in Missoula on the way. It was made a part of the official record and put Missoula on the map. Montana also succeeded in bringing about the grand chapter of E. J. Weed of Helena as direct line for the grand presidency.

"It was a very successful convention," said Mr. Logan last night. "The west got more recognition than ever before. Frank Hering, former grand president, who I remember visited here, helped us all he could and that was a good deal."

QUICK-WITTED GIRL ROUTS PAIR OF HOBOES

STROLLERS STOP TO GAZE UPON MAIDENS AT THEIR BATH BUT CHANGE MINDS

Several pretty maidens who have their habit on the south side found yesterday's heat oppressive and chose the irrigation ditch that runs by the Milwaukee station for a bathing pool. The boys have pre-empted the slough and the girls long have envied them the daily dip there.

These nymphs—thirty numbered five—were quite properly attired, in regulation bathing suits, not stockingless; and while an irrigation ditch beside a railroad is not exactly a conventional place in which to bathe, few passed, and these persons only smiled, until—

The Bos Laughed.

Along came a couple of hoboes, who laughed aloud at the spectacle and promptly seated themselves beneath an adjacent tree, to enjoy the scenery. The young ladies were employing a foot-bridge over the ditch as headquarters and they gathered there for a council of war.

The hoboes' raucous jeers did not meet with their approval. But there were no other men in sight.

Irish Maid to Rescue.

One of the maids is Irish—a little beauty whose face is familiar to every Missoulian. She solved the problem in characteristic fashion.

"My dad works on this road," she yelled to the bos, "and if you don't move on, I'll yell and a bunch of huskies'll come down from the depot and—"

But the bos were far on their way to the banks of the peaceful Columbia.

Evidently, they had no desire to meet either the young lady's pa, or any of her pa's pals.
