

TAFFETA BASQUES SLEEVELESS A NOVELTY

NEGLIGES FOLLOW CLOSELY THE PREVAILING COSTUME STYLES OF SUMMER.

New York, Aug. 22.—The magic name of Newport brings forth visions of society's elite enjoying the pleasures of the ocean breezes and the beach in bathing suits much better suited to the drawing room, except for their length, than to the briny deep. But for all these visions, practical or impractical, Newport is the place to find the ultra-smart in summer clothes.

My illustration shows a dress of this type. In yellow taffeta and creamy figured chiffon, it is charming in the extreme. This short over-waist is of taffeta, and buttons primly down the front with buttons covered with the yellow taffeta. The guimpe or under bodice is of printed chiffon, with long sleeves which cover the wrist. Around the waist the wide girde of chiffon ties in a fluffy bow at the back, dropping at a rather low waist-line. The skirt with its double tucks, cut away in the front is smart and up to date. The upper tunic is of yellow taffeta, while the lower tunic is of the printed chiffon.

Some bodices are all white tulle or net with necks cut low in the front with a sailor collar and high crushed girdles of silk to match the color of the skirt.

The style of waists which have sash ends attached are very much the rage, as well as the white guimpe for washes or girdles, which are crushed over the Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptoms of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irritable and attended by pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Missoula citizen.

Mrs. P. Schipperus, 924 Rose St., Missoula, Mont., says: "One of my family had kidney trouble from childhood. They seemed to be no control over the kidney secretions, especially at night and severe headaches caused much suffering. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, we got a supply and one box made a complete cure. I also used Doan's Kidney Pills myself and found them satisfactory in every way."

hips and tie in the back. These are worn with skirts having the long tunics or double skirts.

For evening wear black tulle over satin is used extensively. The satin is usually of black or of white, and sometimes colored. A bit of blue or yellow is often used at the belt to give the desired color touch.

Dancing dresses are made of white tulle with pleated ruffles and tunics. Roman-striped girdles in light colors such as light blue, green and pink, are worn with these dresses. They are tied deep over the hips, with a wreath-like flowing tunic below. These dresses are all very simple, mostly made of some gauzy fabric like chiffon, tulle, net or organza, and no lace. Very large flowers are placed at the belt, sometimes being the only color on the costume.

Skirts of the crinoline influence are trimmed with ruffles of lace and have basques of colored taffeta! What would our great grandmothers say to such a combination?

Capes of every description are used and are made of all sorts of materials from linen to broadcloth, and faille silk. These are sometimes lined and sometimes not, often finished merely with a binding of braid in black or the same color as the cape. The smartest ones are short in front and long in the back with deep collars. Corduroy and velvet are also used for these capes and for other wraps this sum-white charmeuse. The skirt is made with a fitted yoke of the serge and the long pleated lower section or pleated blue voile which has a pin stripe of white. All in all, the costume is a stunning example of the tailored cape suit.

Neglignes follow the costume style closely and are made with cape and basque effects. The long loose line of the molyen age styles are distinctly suited to the loose comfort of these garments. Another style well suited to the young woman fond of ultra effects, even in the privacy of her bedroom, is the Turkish trouser negligee. These are made of crepe de chine or heavy China silk and closely resemble the pajamas.

Petticoats are coming to their own again, and are being made with deeper flounces and somewhat wider at the hem. The summer tubular petticoats are made of nainsook and longcloth with a single flounce of embroidery, with so little fullness in it, that it seems no fuller than the skirt. A petticoat of material resembling pique, but not quite so heavy, with a plain scalloped edge is a practical petticoat for summer wear.

Underwear is being made of fine nainsook, longcloth and crepe, but trimmed very little. Crepe de chine is a practical material for underwear, though a trifle more expensive than the French batiste, whose soft, fine qualities are so alluring to the eye.

Footing is used a great deal for trimming lingerie, and crocheted or embroidered headings are extensively used to join seams.

These garments may all be plainer but that does not mean that they may not have as great an amount of hand work upon them, in the rolling of the seams, the whipping on of the ruffles and in the tiny hand rap tucks. Simplicity usually means an extravagance in hand work.

The corsets are showing a tendency toward a higher bust, but low busted models are preferred for the slim figure. They are made soft and flexible to conform with the rage for natural lines. Those that lace in front are particularly popular and practical.

The brassieres are made in a great variety of styles and materials to suit the individual needs. They have become a necessity in the wardrobe of every woman, whether of large or small proportions.

WEEKLY BULLETIN OF SUFFRAGE CAUSE CONTAINS REPORT OF RECENT PROGRESS

This is the weekly bulletin issued by the National American Woman Suffrage Association. It contains a report of recent progress in the votes-for-women campaign.

Gold and silver articles have continued to pour into suffrage headquarters ever since the national congressional committee had the brilliant inspiration of asking suffragists to contribute any and all jewelry or valuable which had outlived their usefulness, but which could be melted into just so much solid wherewithal to help win the seven campaign states, where the suffrage question will be settled next November. The suffragists were not only asked to give things they did not want any longer, but things they treasured for sentiment's sake.

The committee quite knowingly banked on the certain response that would come in an appeal or two of the most general soft spots in human nature, one, a liking for getting something out of nothing; the other, a genuine joy in personal self-sacrifice.

The contributions are of every possible variety. Worn silver thimbles and souvenir spoons are the most numerous; but the other things run in size and kind all the way from gold watches and silver mesh bags to old spectacle rims and gold false teeth.

March for Peace. A New York newspaper woman, when someone said, "If only the women could do something to stop this awful war," replied, "They can at least get together and march, bare-headed and in mourning, with muffled drums." And inside of 24 hours a volunteer committee was hard at work organizing the parade. The thought went like wild-fire, and women of every possible kind asked to help and asked to join—American women, foreign women, suffragists, anti-suffragists, club women, professional women, social workers, teachers, housewives, mothers, rich and poor, all animated by the same protest, the same sadness, that men should take life so lightly, that civilization should, after all the years of constructive work, prove to be so thin a film over barbarity. The parade will probably take place in New York City on August 29th.

Special Privilege. The county clerk of San Mateo county thinks that turn about is fair play.

When the California women were first enfranchised, wherever the names of a husband and wife appeared on the voting register, the wife's name came first. Perhaps it was a sort of chivalrous recognition of the newness of her privilege, or because of the general "ladies first" idea.

But, this year, the county clerk, after long consultation with his deputies, has decided that the husbands must now have their turn at being first.

But why false names, when common sense indicates the alphabetical order? If John Smith and Mrs. Mary Smith both vote, John first, Mary next? If Henry Jones and Mrs. Elizabeth Jones are the voters of the Jones family, Elizabeth first and Henry after? Why not, Mr. County Clerk?

In Ohio. The Ohio secretary of state seems to have forgotten on purpose to be officially polite to the suffragists, who filed the great initiative petition for the referendum in November. After carefully made arrangements for the reception at the capitol of the parade which carried the petition, the secretary was conspicuously absent, and had no excuse to offer. His discourtesy was all the more flagrant in that he had received with all ceremony only a few hours previous a denunciation bearing a prohibition petition. The suffragists say he has overplayed his hand, that the 13,000 voters who signed that petition, and the other hundreds of thousands who read of his action with indignation, will be all the more eager to vote for the women's measure on election day.

A Woman Lawyer. China already has women doctors, but it remains for Miss Yorlock Low to offer to her country the services of a woman lawyer. Miss Low is a junior student at the state university and feels sure that by the time she has won her degree, her home province of Ping Yang will be ready to receive her.

Census Revelations. By the 1910 census there are over 5,000,000 women in the United States engaged in gainful occupations as against about 5,000,000 ten years ago. There are about 23,000,000 adult women in the country, so approximately one-third of the women are direct earners. Of the two-thirds a large proportion

Sheriff Kelley's Opinion of the County Attorney

Dan J. Heyfron, democratic nominee for County Attorney should be nominated for that office on the democratic ticket for the reason that, during this, his first term as county attorney, he has conducted his office in a fair, fearless and economical manner. He has in an able and impartial manner enforced the laws of the state of Montana, and this has been done with the least possible expense to the taxpayers. As an adviser of the various county officials, including the school trustees and clerks of the many school districts of the county, he has been especially courteous and painstaking, and his intimate knowledge of the procedure and workings of the various county offices has made his advice the very best obtainable.

On account of the satisfactory manner in which he has conducted his office during his first term, and his widespread acquaintance over the county, he is not only the logical candidate, but also the strongest candidate of the party for that office.

His office has always been open to the public from before 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and even later, and at any other time when called.

He is courteous, obliging and possesses every qualification a man should have to fill the office of county attorney, and I certainly believe entitled to the nomination.

This is his first term and according to the old adage, "One good term deserves another," he certainly is deserving of another. —Paid Advertisement. W. L. KELLEY.

FOR JIM RHOADES

EDITOR MISSOULIAN: I am for Jim Rhoades for sheriff. I am for him because I believe he is the best man for the office. He is fearless, capable, alert, energetic and honest. He is of the stuff that good sheriffs are made. His 35 years in Montana give him sympathy with us and our aims. His courage will make him the terror of criminals. His energy for work will be reflected in the whole sheriff's force. Nothing which should be done today will be put off to tomorrow. He will be alert to the needs of the community and anticipate and prevent many an untoward incident—locking the stable before the horse is stolen. True, this will not get him the mileage and other perquisites that are generally heaped to belong to the office, but it will add to the peace of the county and be a Godsend to the taxpayers who ought to be considered, even if they are not. His honesty is unquestioned. His conduct of the sheriff's office will be such as to establish a precedent for later incumbents. I have known him long and intimately. I have done business with him. I can say that Jim Rhoades always has, and I believe, always will, deal with every man as he would like to be dealt with.

Purifies Blood With Telling Effect

Gives Conscious Evidence of Its Direct Action.

S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, almost takes as it sweeps its way through the circulation. Its action is so direct that very often in some forms of skin affliction the appearance of the eruptions changes overnight, the itch and redness are gone and recovery begins immediately.

As a matter of fact, there is no ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to its healthy and nutritious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in averting eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.
