

THE THEATERS

Bijou.
The Matthews trio of singers at the Bijou, this week, delighted each audience last evening with their beautiful singing and musical numbers. Lloyd Matthews' yodeling brought him three encores, and Jean Velare Matthews, a charming contralto singer, is by far one of the best vocal artists heard here in some time. Her voice has an exceptionally fine, rich tone and shows much talent and training. Carroll W. Cole played several very pleasing solos. The act is beautifully staged and may well be classed as one of the very best. An Edison comedy and a two-reel Vitagraph feature film completes the picture program. Another excellent musical program is offered by the orchestra. It's a big show and one you cannot afford to miss.

Empress.

"The Telltale Scar," is a Thann-houser production, to be shown at the Empress theater today, wherein Pietro Lapori, a young barber, loves Maria Deguida, the daughter of a prosperous merchant. He is in despair, as his sweetheart's father refuses his consent to their marriage until Pietro shall have $500 in cash.

One day a detective shows him a circular, offering a big reward for the capture of a noted crook. In the picture on the circular a scar disfigures the criminal's face. A few days later the barber shaves a man who bears the counterpart of the scar, until now concealed by a beard. He shadows his customer, but is discovered. With great difficulty he succeeds in overpowering the crook, and is rescued just in time by the police. Pietro receives the reward and marries the girl.

A comic photoplay entitled "Ethel's Teacher" and "The Saving Flame," a Majestic production, together with the latest release of Pathé's Daily News completes the program for today.

"Shepherd of the Hills."

Gaskill & MacVitty announce the return at the Missoula theater on Tuesday, September 8, of Harold Bell Wright's dramatization of his very popular novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," presented by a great company with special scenery, mechanical and electrical effects for the production in its entirety. In making the dramatization, Mr. Wright has collaborated with Elsbey W. Reynolds.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" is a story of humor and pathos told in a simple, direct manner of love, mystery and heroism, with its scenes all in the Ozark mountains, southern Missouri, where the author lived and preached for some years. There are several exciting incidents, including the night ride of the splendid heroine over the hills through a storm; an attack upon the shepherd, and the moral victory of a man when a panther is about to spring upon his rival, but there is no melodramatic touch to the play.

"Kitty MacKay."

The long-awaited and much-talked of "Kitty MacKay" is now definitely announced as the attraction at the Missoula theater, on Thursday, October 1. Local theatergoers have had to wait for more than one year before seeing "Kitty," who is said to be the cleverest and funniest young lady ever on the stage. New York fell in love with Kitty the instant she stepped foot on the stage of comedy over a year ago and refused to let her out of their sight for a single minute. The same company that appeared in New York will be seen here.

C. A. BARNES TALKS OF BUSINESS AND WAR

LOCAL MERCHANT SEES MARKETS IN CHAOS, BUT HAS VISIONS OF SUPREMACY

C. A. Barnes has returned to Missoula, after being for a month in eastern cities buying stock for the men's clothing department of the Missoula Mercantile company. Mr. Barnes arrived in New York just as the excitement over war news was at its height. He said yesterday to a reporter for "The Missoulian" "I found New York in a chaotic condition which lasted a few days, then conservatism in business as well as in politics began to assert itself.

"The general attitude of the people I met seemed to be a wish to keep clear of foreign complications. In the clothing markets, all importation of goods from Austria, France and Germany is eliminated. There was brisk buying of such goods as wholesale houses had on hand, before the foreign markets were demoralized.

"I was made aware, as never before, of the serious problem that stares American manufacturers in the face, with the cutting off of all importation of dyes from the extensive chemical laboratories of Germany. American manufacturers have worked from small stocks, depending upon frequent importation. They have only a few months' supplies on hand and when that is exhausted, they will have to depend upon the ingenuity of American chemists. The ultimate outcome of this battle of the giants," continued Mr. Barnes, "will be, I believe, commercial supremacy for the United States.

"It will be years before Europe will recover its normal basis. In the meantime, this country will have entered upon its mission to clothe and feed the world. The large operators with whom I talked in the east, predict that within a few weeks, the cotton and woolen mills of New England will be running at highest speed night and day and that there will be a stir in all the industries of the United States."

MILLS AT BONNER PINKERTON MEN GUARDING

SPECIAL DEPUTIES ARRIVE TO PREVENT POSSIBLE ATTEMPT ON A. C. M. PROPERTY

Late last night it was learned that a crew of Pinkerton detectives, about a score, had arrived from Seattle and gone at once to Bonner to guard the big mills there, the property of the A. C. M. company. Local officials of the company were not reached last night but from other sources it was learned that threats, either directly or indirectly, had come from Butte that an attempt would be made at Bonner to "blow up the works." It is understood that to head off any attempt of this kind the special guards were secured. Those who saw the detectives when they arrived yesterday say that they are a likely looking crew.

UNDERTAKERS OPEN SESSIONS IN BUTTE

Butte, Sept. 3.—The funeral directors of Montana opened their sixteenth annual session in the parlors of the Finland hotel late this afternoon with a good attendance from the various sections of the state, and T. F. O'Connor of Great Falls, president of the Montana association, in the chair. Much business is scheduled for the three days' meeting and the local committee will see that the visitors—despite the disturbed conditions here—will have a very enjoyable visit to Butte.

SUCCESSFUL WORK AT ABSAROKA STATION

DR. MARSH LEARNS OF PLANTS DANGEROUS TO STOCK AND ISSUES POISON BULLETIN

Dr. C. Dwight Marsh of the bureau of plant industry, who has been in charge of the experiment station maintained on the Absaroka forest all season, spent yesterday visiting at the local headquarters, leaving again last night for the west. Dr. Marsh has been doing an important work for the stockmen of the state, his investigations at the station being in connection with poisonous plants, especially those dangerous to sheep and cattle. In Montana there are three plants especially to be guarded against, Death Camas, tall and short Larkspur and Lupine. Dr. Marsh has conducted experiments with each of these until he has determined the quantity a sheep or a cowbrute must consume before the result will be fatal. He has issued specific remedies in case of cattle poisoning. The results of his work are now available in pamphlet form and can be secured by the service.

Dr. Marsh said that it was planned to close the Absaroka station this fall and that he would probably go to California to continue his work along the same lines the coming season.

Kensington Tea.
Mrs. G. F. Peterson gave a Kensington tea Wednesday afternoon at her home on Gerald avenue, her guests being asked to meet Mrs. Combs, who is a sister of Mrs. Jane Kolligor, and her daughter, Miss Leota Combs, who is on her way to resume her work as special teacher in the public schools of Spokane. The company included Mesdames A. J. Gibson, Frank Thomas, Marian Webster, Frank McHaffie, J. B. Henley, J. G. Ambrose, Lynn Ambrose, Nat Little, C. H. Putney, S. H. Keicham, Ford of Butte, J. H. Misses Margaret Beck, Ruth McHaffie and Gladys Peterson served and there were charming musical numbers rendered by Miss Combs, who sang, and by Mrs. McTarnaghan and Mrs. E. A. Carey, who played.

Mothers' Club.
Mrs. Paris Adams entertained the Mothers' club Wednesday afternoon at her home on Plymouth street. In addition to the usual pleasant company of ladies, there were present yesterday Mrs. P. F. Brower, who has been recently voted into membership in the club, and special guests Mrs. Teagarden, Miss Irene Teagarden, Miss Irene Shope and Misses Margaret and Elizabeth Wickes.

Important.
The headquarters of the famous order have been for years at Piesole, near Florence, which is the official residence of the "black pope." The late general, however, spent much of his time in Rome, where the order also maintains large quarters for its members. There are more than 7,000 Jesuit fathers in the world today, covering every country on the face of the globe. Hence the importance attached to the election of a man to shape their policies and programs.

WAR WILL HELP FAIR SAYS PANAMA'S BOSS

CHARLES C. MOORE.

That the European war will not harm the Panama-Pacific exposition, and perhaps even help it in the matter of attendance, is the belief of Charles C. Moore, president of the exposition. "There have been reports that the exposition, because of the war in Europe, would be postponed," Mr. Moore recently said. "It will not be postponed. There have been published statements that the war in Europe would seriously affect the commercial or educational importance of the financial success of the exposition. They will not be so affected."

JESUITS TO ELECT THEIR POPE SOON

Rome, Sept. 3.—Some time within the next few months, it is expected, sombre-garbed monks from the four quarters of the world will gather in Rome to elect a new general of the Jesuit order, to succeed the late Father Werns, who for 8 years directed the forces of the Jesuit army. Second in interest and importance only to the papal conclave is this conclave of Jesuit fathers. Secrecy guards the balloting of the cardinals when they elect a pontiff, but even more guarded, if possible, are the proceedings of the Jesuit fathers on like occasions.

Not Public.
The meeting place of the congregation is not even made public, but it is generally believed that the next conclave will be held in or near Rome. Some times the meeting place is not made public until after the election has taken place.

In Solitude.
On the eve of the election the delegates will spend three days and nights in solitude, thinking over the situation. On the fourth day after the assembling of the delegates the balloting begins. Into a large room they are led, and there they stay until a choice is reached. Sometimes impending starvation forces an issue; sometimes days go by with no food entering their mouths. Without food or water they labor, praying always for direction and guidance, and seeking agreement. When the voting comes to no issue, and later after a reasonable length of time has passed, election is reached in another way. The vicar distributes papers to each delegate, and instead of a general discussion, followed by oral voting, there is a secret ballot cast, which is collected by the vicar and his assistants and counted. Should this method fail, the delegates choose five members from among their assembly to act as electors, and these five then choose a general.
