Gridiron Warriors to Have Own Training Quarters

Coach Heilman of the University Eleven, Announces That Players Will Be Housed Together in University Apartments—Prospects for Good Year Are Bright

The University of Montana football eleven will have training quarters in the university apartments, formerly the Johnson flats, on south Higgins avenue. Coach A. C. Heilman of the Bruins yesterday announced that arrangements had been practically completed whereby to football men will be quartered together and will have a lounging room as a part of their dormitory. It is hoped that the quarters may be fitted up attractively and a piano installed for the men.

Quarters and Table.
The training quarters will be run jointly with the training table and the combination, it is believed, will serve to make the men take more interest in the gridiron and show the best of spirit toward their alma mater at all times.

This is the first time in many years that the football men have had quarters to themselves and had a training table maintained exclusively for them. It is believed the result will be the best-conditioned team that has ever represented the University of Montana.

Prospects.
The prospects, as the university opens this year, are of a rosy hue. Many of the players of last year's team, who said they did not believe they would be here this fall, are back and anxious to begin work on the gridiron. The men who are in town now and who are known to be good football players are: "Moose" Griffiths, a star on the university squad two years ago; Captain Owsley, a star of the university eleven for the past three years; Frank Gault, who

Seals Draw Away.

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—San Francisco drew a full two games away from Los Angeles in the struggle for second place in the percentage column by defeating the Angels in both games of a doubleheader today. The morning game, played in Oakland, was distinguished by the hitting of Leifield, the Seal twirler. In the afternoon Pitches Musser and Ehmke were treated to a bombardment by the Seals, the resulting 16 safeties, coupled with six boots by the southrons, culminating in an 8-to-3 rout.

played on and last year; Arthur Wright, end and backfield man; Phil Sheridan, brilliant at end and in the backfield; Strelt, rated as one of the best centers in the state, and Amerbach, former player on the Butte high school eleven. Besides these men there are several of last year's team who have notified Coach Heilman that they are coming back this year.

Old Players Due.
Among those expected, but who have not yet arrived in Missoula are: Dusha, halfback of last year; Daems, guard and tackle; B. Craighead, guard and center, and Collins, quarterback and halfback on last year's team. Jack Powers of Missoula, who has played with the Detroit university school in the east, and on other big prep teams, will attend the university.

In addition to these men the football enthusiasts contend that they have the right to expect the usual football material in the freshman class. As the beginning class of the university this year is to be a large one, according to word received from all parts of the state, the supporters of the gridiron pastime declare that there will surely be some good material come to the institution. They point to the fact that even "Baron" Paul Donblasier, highest star of all for four years, arrived all unannounced and asked permission to play on the team, after he had watched practice for several days.

Viewed from any angle the university chances to win the championship were never brighter than they are at the beginning of the term this year.

Sport Snapshots

The Central league is going to do with five teams for the rest of the season. Springfield, dragging along a hopeless and despairing last, finally agreed to drop out. The players that composed the team will be wished on the other teams, and it is hoped that some justice will be shown here and that no one team will have to take any more of them than any other.

Chief Myers, the Indian catcher with the Giants, is declared by many to be headed in the general direction of the slide. Myers has not shown this season that speed and pep behind the bat that formerly he has. This is scarcely grounds for declaring that he is ready for the shelf by any means. Too many players have their off seasons.

STEVENSVILLE NINE IS SHUT OUT BY HAMILTON

MORTON FOR VALLEY METROPOLIS TEAM PITCHES SUPERB BALL, SUPPORT GOOD

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—(Special)—Playing grand ball behind Morton's superb pitching, Hamilton shut out Stevensville on the local diamond today, 3 to 0. Stevensville threatened to score in fifth, sixth and last innings, but the locals always tightened up like a trap. The bases were full in the fifth, with one gone, when Morton struck out the next two batters. Plummer got on when Gertz erred in the sixth, Marshall doubled and Plummer was caught at third when Lear made a beautiful peg from deep center. Stevensville had the bases full, again in the last inning, when Smith grounded to hold at first for the last out.

Hamilton scored first in the fifth on doubles by Hood and Marx. Two more came over in the eighth on two doubles and a single. After Marx had doubled Burrell singled and Durnford scored from both with a two-sacker. Breesee pitched grand ball in every inning but those three. Hamilton made six hits and one error, Stevensville eight hits and six errors. Morton struck out 10, Breesee seven.

The same teams play at Stevensville tomorrow. Shannon will probably be sent to the box for the locals, while Engstrom will twirl for Stevensville.

TWO TEAMS REPRESENT SAN FRANCISCO NOW

FRANCHISE OF SACRAMENTO CLUB IS TRANSFERRED TO A SUBURB OF THE CITY.

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—San Francisco is now represented by two teams in the Pacific Coast league. Rechristened the Missions, the former Sacramento broke even with Portland, the league leaders, today in a hotly-contested doubleheader. The Missions will have their home grounds in Oakland, but will play twice weekly in San Francisco. Although this agreement is in the way of an experiment, it is thought it will be made permanent next year.

FRED MERKLE IS NOW PLAYING ON BENCH

FRED MERKLE

That there is a jinx following in the wake of the Giants, who traveled with the speed of a meteor before the said jinx wished himself on that great aggregation of ball players, has at last been discovered. Poor Fred Merkle, the former idol of the Polo grounds, who has never gotten over his alleged mistake which it is said cost the Giants a world's championship a few seasons ago, is now blamed for being the jinx carrier. That's the reason why Fred is now warming a seat on the players' bench instead of being where baseball enthusiasts who follow the game would naturally look for him.

Nap Rucker's Arm Failing and Brooklyn Fans Mourn

Brooklyn, Sept. 6.—Brooklyn fans are hoping that the baking process will benefit Nap Rucker's lame wing. It seems to be about the last resort for the southpaw wizard and if his latest treatment avails him little it is generally feared that another famous southpaw star will have passed from the diamond.

All last season Nap Rucker languished in the box and was quite unable to show any of the class and pep that had won him reputation. The year was a complete and dismal failure and at its close Rucker determined to do all that could be done to bring his salary wing back to its one-time shape. After some doctoring and care last winter it showed little improvement this spring and to date this summer Rucker has not been at anything like his normal speed.

Several famous specialists had been consulted and little real good had been done him when Rucker was finally persuaded that a certain well-known Brooklyn physician would be able to fix him up if it could be done. After an examination of Rucker's arm the physician declared that Rucker's trouble was a chronic contraction of the left deltoid muscle and he thought by baking the arm each day it would be greatly helped and perhaps permanently cured. And

NAP RUCKER.

Rucker is receiving the treatment now each day. Brooklyn fans of course are keenly interested in the progress of Rucker's lame wing, as are in fact baseball fans the country over. Should Rucker fail to recover his former cunning it would mean the departure from the game of one of the greatest southpaws that ever adorned it.

HIGHLANDERS WILL PLAY RAH RAHS THIS DAY

CONTEST FOR CITY CELLAR CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE WAGED IN CAMPBELL PARK

The Highlanders and the University of Montana baseball team will clash in Campbell park at the national pastime. The college players have returned to Missoula full of pep, and as most of them have been playing more or less baseball all summer, the rah rahs believe they will be able to definitely decide the cellar championship of city ball teams in the game this afternoon.

The Highlanders, that oft-beaten, oft-disorganized and long-suffering aggregation, which has been on the sport page intermittently all spring and summer, will hold up its head for a few final gasps today. It was officially announced last night that the Highlanders are now really to be seen in their farewell contest. This game, it is said, will not be a Partii-farewell affair.

Neither of the teams were exceptionally well organized last evening, but the leaders of each aggregation declared he will have nine ball players out for the battle. The game should furnish much amusement for those who are unable to go duck shooting over Labor day, and the contest will, at least, serve to break the monotony of a double holiday.

The bats will be crossed at about 3 o'clock, and Owen Kelley and Merritt Owsley will entertain for some hours after that by sending their men to hit and chase the leather spheres.

"CHAMPION" TO HAVE A REAL MEANING NOW

MEETINGS OF NATIONS TRAPSHOOTERS WILL SERVE TO PLACE EXACT HONOR

Dayton, Sept. 6.—The national amateur trapshooting championship match, which will be the chief card of the opening day of the grand American handicap, to be held here September 8, 9, 10 and 11, promises to be an event that will give a new meaning to the usually misleading term of "national champion" in sports.

Instead of simply facing a field in which many of the entrants have never won anything approaching a real title, contestants in the trapshooting championship match will be limited to those who have earned their right to fight for national honors by defeating the best shots in their respective states and will settle down to a survival of the fittest from practically every state in the Union.

A feature that will add novelty to interest in the contest will be the wearing of the coat of arms of his state by each shooter and a pennant on his back with the name of the state. A large scoreboard, with the names of the shooters under their states, will enable spectators to learn who is representing any particular state.

As the winner of the match at Dayton must vanquish those who have secured their titles by outshooting all comers in their home states for the first time in trapshooting or any other sport, there will be decided, beyond question, who is the real champion.

OFFICIAL BEGINNING OF GRIDIRON SEASON

TODAY THE HIGH SCHOOL AND UNIVERSITY ELEVEN WILL PRACTICE WITH COACHES

The gridiron warriors of Missoula will today begin active work and the interest in this sport will run unabated until after Thanksgiving day. Today will be the real official beginning of the season in Missoula, as the university and high school elevens will go into active practice under the direction of the coaches of the two elevens.

High School.
The high school team will go through a light workout at Campbell park immediately following the close of the Highlander-University baseball game. The men will be in charge of Coach John McGough and will practice putting, returning the ball, fudging on the pignskin and throwing forward passes. Coach McGough will give only light work until his men become somewhat seasoned, and have some of the summer kinks worked out of them. There will be no heavy scrimmage for the high school for about two weeks.

University.
The first crack of a shoe against a football on the university campus this season will be heard today when Coach Heilman takes some of his men out for the usual beginning-season work. The men will not be asked to do any hard work, but Captain Owsley of the university eleven will take his teammates through exercises that will help their wind and train their eye on the catching of the oval leather. After today regular practice will be held each afternoon and the football fans of the city are invited to Montana field to watch the work.

"PEANUTS" MANAGER WRITES OF VICTORIES

SINCE LEAVING MISSOULA SCHRIEBERL HAS WON TWO BATTLES—MANY PLANNED.

W. E. Peters, manager of "Peanuts" Schrieberl, who was prominent in boxing circles here a few months ago, has written to Missoula to tell of his good fortune since leaving the Garden city. Peters writes that Schrieberl has won two battles since leaving here and has a series of bouts lined up for this fall.

Schrieberl will probably be out of the featherweight class by Christmas, writes Peters, as he is getting heavy and it is difficult for him to make the weights.

Schrieberl and Peters will go to Denver about October 1 and will take on several bouts there during the winter.
