

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

NOT DRUGS

Food Did It

After using laxative and cathartic medicines from childhood a case of chronic constipation yielded to the scientific food, Grape-Nuts, in a few days.

"From early childhood I suffered with such terrible constipation that I had to use laxative continuously going from one drug to another and suffering more or less all the time.

"A prominent physician whom I consulted told me the muscles of the digestive organs were weakened and could not perform their work without help of some kind, so I have tried at different times about every laxative and cathartic known, but found no help that was at all permanent. I had finally become discouraged and had given my case up as hopeless when I began to use the pre-digested food, Grape-Nuts.

"Although I had not expected this food to help my trouble, to my great surprise Grape-Nuts dissolved easily from the first and in a few days I was convinced that this was just what my system needed.

"The bowels performed their functions regularly and I am now completely and permanently cured of this awful trouble.

"Truly the power of scientific food must be unlimited." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"Tried 10 days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. 'There's a Reason!'"

"Look in pkgs. for the famous little book, 'The Road to Wellville.'"

IN AVOIDING TRAIN PETERSON KILLED BY ANOTHER

CONTRACTOR, WHO RESIDES ON RANCH EAST OF BONNER, MEETS VIOLENT DEATH

While walking to Bonner to catch the Butte stub, which was to bring him to Missoula, L. O. Peterson, a contractor, who resides on a ranch two miles east of Bonner, was killed by the Butte stub a few hundred yards east of the Bonner station, yesterday morning. Mr. Peterson had intended to come to Missoula and from here go to Darby, where he and his partner were to put in a bid for plastering the Darby State bank building. It is believed that Mr. Peterson stepped from the east-bound track to avoid a freight train and got on the west-bound track a few feet in front of the oncoming Butte stub. His body was badly mangled.

Mr. Peterson has been a resident of Missoula for the past four or five years, recently purchasing a ranch just east of Bonner. He was about 30 years of age and is survived by a wife.

A card found in the dead man's pocket had the information: "Notify Mrs. O. L. Peterson at Milltown in case of accident."

Word has been sent to Mrs. Peterson and her wishes in regard to funeral arrangements will be learned later. A set of plans and specifications for the Darby State bank was found in the dead man's pocket, helping to establish his identity.

The Northern Pacific train which killed Mr. Peterson was in charge of Engineer Noonan and Conductor Harpster. The engine crew went on through to Arlee last night. Conductor Harpster said he believed Peterson stepped on the west-bound track and did not hear the Butte stub coming because of the noise made by the freight train.

Corner Marsh last night had not decided as to an inquest.

First Game.

Conductor J. C. Meadors of the Northern Pacific returned from a hunting trip near Paradise yesterday and brought with him a large black bear, the first game that any railroad employee has brought to the city this season. The bear weighs 250 pounds. This was all the game seen by Mr. Meadors. Braheims Lucas and Williams, who went out with Mr. Meadors a few days ago, will remain in the hills for a few days longer.

COMMUNICATION

Editor The Missoulian—Friday morning's Missoulian contained an article which declared that I appeared before the Hawthorne Literary society at the university Thursday night, and spoke in favor of certain republican and progressive candidates for the legislature. Although I have great admiration for these two men who come out in favor of consolidation when their party platforms are silent on the subject, I did not indorse them for election, nor did they indorse me. As far as consolidation is concerned, I let the socialist platform speak for itself.

In a very short talk before the Hawthorne society, I urged the claims of socialism, and spoke of my candidacy for county attorney.

G. A. GOODELL IS CALLED IN DEATH

GENERAL MANAGER OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC DIES AT HIS HOME IN ST. PAUL

General Manager G. A. Goodell of the Northern Pacific died yesterday morning at the family home in St. Paul, according to word received by the Missoula officials of the road yesterday. Mr. Goodell had been in poor health for some time and had returned from a trip to Atlantic City a few days ago. Pneumonia was the direct cause of death.

Mr. Goodell's Life.

General Manager G. A. Goodell was well known in Missoula and his passing is mourned by scores of Missoula residents outside of the railroad world. It is said of him that he was one of the few railroad men in the country who had not an enemy. This was surely true of those who know him here and all declare that they believe Mr. Goodell was one of the best liked men in the railroad world. His loss is keenly felt by the Northern Pacific men here.

Mr. Goodell began his railroad career as a messenger boy for the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern railroad. He learned telegraphy and was promoted to station agent. Then by turns he was chief dispatcher, trainmaster, division superintendent, and went from the Burlington road to the Great Western in the capacity of general superintendent. Practically every man who was in the office of Mr. Goodell during the time he was general superintendent of the Great Western railway has since risen to high executive positions in the railway world. Among them are W. C. Brown, president of the Pennsylvania lines, and C. M. Levy, vice-president of the Western Pacific.

Mr. Goodell came to the Northern Pacific as general superintendent of the Central District, in 1907. He had charge of the territory from Mandan to Paradise and made his headquarters in Livingston. He held this position until 1911, when he was promoted to the general management of the Northern Pacific, which position he held at the time of his death. He was a good railroader and his visits in Missoula were looked forward to with pleasure by the Northern Pacific employees here.

Mr. Goodell was a self-made man. He received almost no schooling and educated himself to be a broad, well-read railroad executive. His first trip west was made in 1849, when his father went to California in the gold rush. Mr. Goodell was then a very little boy.

What Would You Do?

There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.
