Caught on the Run About Town

There was much interest taken yesterday in the discovery made that down under the ashes and twisted iron and THE ASHES brick and charred timbers of the Golden Rule ruins, a big lot of goods came through the heat and the water with but slight damage. A systematic overhauling of the basement was started yesterday morning and all day a score of men were kept busy digging out bundles, bolts and cases from the mass of debris. These goods were inspected as fast as discovered and everything which appeared as only slightly damaged was loaded into a wagon and hauled to the storeroom around the corner on West Cedar street to await a more thorough inspection. There was one lot of goods, in the underclothes division, especially well preserved. This was the lot stored along the south wall of the basement. When the ground floor fell it broke through the center and dropped over the wall cases and formed a perfect shield to keep off the water. The fire was held in check in this section of the basement with the greatest success and for this reason the goods were only slightly injured. Scores of people watched the goods taken out yesterday and stood watching through the storeroom windows. Perhaps they were anticipating a fire sale. No announcement was made yesterday, however, concerning the disposition of the goods which are found to be salable.

A south side little boy likes to let his hair grow long. He regards time spent in a tonsorial parlor as wasted and would much rather see the seven nickels assessed him when his locks are trimmed go into a confectionery. He is a frank little boy and he rarely omits, on the periodical occasions when he is led to a barber shop by a stern parent, to tell the man with the scissors what he thinks of barbering in general and that particular barber as an individual. "Gee whiz," he cried, ending one of these tirades yesterday, "ain't it enough to fix a guy so that his hat won't stay on, without cuttin' him so short down the back that he has to wash his neck every day?"

University bachelors sometimes are hard put to it to get mending done. One bright youth has hit upon the idea of tossing socks with the slightest hole into his trunk—after their return from a laundry—and keeping the pile to take home to mother. "You see," he explains, "it costs so much to get a hole in a sock darned that there is nothing in it. But socks are cheap in Missoula—much cheaper than at home—and my feet won't grow much more, now, will they? So I'll just let the pile mount up and take the trunkful home to ma, next June. Won't ma be pleased, though?"

LONE HIGHWAYMAN HOLDS UP TWO WOMEN

BANDIT, WHO DOES NOT SPEAK A WORD, TAKES PURSE FROM MRS. J. C. LUMBY

A lone highwayman, who did not utter a word during the course of his operations, last evening, relieved Mrs. J. C. Lumby of 1117 Cooper street of her purse containing a check for $1.50, $4.50 in silver, a door key and several trinkets. The robbery occurred at 9:56 o'clock as Mrs. Lumby, accompanied by Miss Eleanor Larsen, were passing the home of A. K. Anderson on West Spruce, a few yards west of the Bitter Root branch railway crossing.

The bandit stepped out from the edge of the sidewalk as the two women were going toward their homes. He said not a word but kept his revolver trained on them. They went on a few feet and then, becoming nervous, stopped and asked the man what he wanted. The robber held out his hand. Into this Mrs. Lumby placed her purse and the man started to back away, after Miss Larsen declared she had nothing of value.

The women stood still and watched the highwayman back down the street. As he kept his gun trained on them, they started on west and turning, after going a few yards, saw the robber hurrying toward the city.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF LECTURE COURSE

UNIVERSITY SERIES TO BE CONTINUED THIS YEAR, THERE BEING TWELVE NUMBERS

The University Lecture course will continue its work during the coming season, with a program similar to the one offered last year. Twelve numbers will be given and they include a wide range of entertainment. There will be two straight lectures and several evenings with the stereopticon, both at home and abroad. Professor Smith and Mrs. Macleod will each give something new, and the students' orchestra and glee club will furnish a program. The first entertainment will be given by a man new on the faculty and to the people of Missoula, Cecil Burley, one of the foremost of America's violinists and composers.

The support of this season's entertainments by the people of Missoula is urgently requested. Every dollar received for tickets is used in improving the cause and every effort is made to suit the taste of its patrons. Season tickets are sold at $1.50 and it is hoped that the support this year will be strong enough to warrant an expansion of the course next year.

"Cure Your Rupture Like I Cured Mine"

Old Sea Captain Cured His Own Rupture After Doctors Said "Operate or Death."

His Remedy and Book Sent Free.
Captain Collins called the seas for many years; then he sustained a bad scrotal rupture that soon forced him to not only remain ashore, but kept him bedridden for years. He tried doctor after doctor and tried every remedy. No result! Finally, he was assured that he must either submit to a dangerous and abortive operation or die. He did neither! He cured himself instead.

"Follow Men and Women, You Don't Have To Be Cut Up, and You Don't Have To Be Tortured By Trusses."

Captain Collins made a study of himself, of his condition—and at last he was rewarded by the finding of the method that so quickly made him a well, strong, vigorous and happy man. Anyone can use the same method! It's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collins book, telling all about how he cured himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home without any trouble. The book and medicine are FREE. They will be sent prepaid to any ruptured sufferer who will fill out the below coupon. But send it right away—now—before you put down this paper.

"WIN YOUR CHUM" IS THE SLOGAN THIS WEEK

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW WORKERS IS UNDER WAY IN EPWORTH LEAGUE OF NATION

At the Montana State Epworth League convention, held in Kalispell, June, 1913, Wray Andrew, a young man born and reared in Montana, and who lives in Helena, introduced a resolution: "That a week of special services shall be held for seven nights in each year and that they be called Win My Chum meetings." The resolution was unanimously adopted.

The suggestion offered in the resolution adopted spread rapidly among the Epworth League chapters in the United States and Canada, and such meetings were held in many places last November. The success of last year's efforts has caused the endeavor to be made again this year. The campaign is for the purpose of enlisting young men and women in the actual work of the church and for Christian decision. Meetings are to be held in this city, beginning this evening, at the First Methodist Episcopal church, under the direction of the young people of the church. The meetings will be held in the league room and all persons will be welcome. Sunday night the service will begin at 6:30. During the week services will be held each night except Saturday, at 7:30. Following are the speakers and themes:

Subjects.
Sunday evening Dr. Charles D. Crouch will speak on "Getting Rid of Our Handicaps." Monday, Rev. Edward C. Barlett of Stevensville, will speak, the theme being, "Am I Disappointing my Parents?—Or God?" Tuesday Rev. Charles Rhodes of Hamilton will speak on "The Four Groups: With Which Are You?" Wednesday, John H. Inch, chairman of the board of trustees of the church, will speak on "Influence, Voluntary and Involuntary." Thursday, Rev. Rollin Smith of Superior, will speak on "Coming Out Openly for Christ." Friday, Rev. C. B. May of Phillipsburg will speak on "The Perils of Indecision." Sunday, Nov. 15, Professor Lewis M. Simms of the Missoula county high school, will speak on "The Call of Heroic Service."

The singing will be one of the enjoyable features of the meetings. An invitation is extended to all the young people of the city to attend any or all of the meetings.

JEANNETTE RANKIN PROUD OF MEN OF MONTANA

UPON RECEIPT OF NEWS THAT SUFFRAGE CARRIED, LEADER TALKS OF WORK

Miss Jeannette Rankin last evening received a telephone message from Helena saying that the newspapers of the Capital city conceded that woman's suffrage has carried Montana by a plurality of 4,000 votes. The message also stated that politicians in Helena are not pleased because Miss Rankin demanded an investigation of the count and returns from some of the counties.

"Of course, I am delighted at the news from Helena," said Miss Rankin last evening. "It has been a hard fight but a good fight, and I really never did believe the measure would fall to carry. I am proud of the men of Montana."

"There were some things about the count in Anaconda that aroused my suspicions, but I do not believe that any real organized attempt has been made to withhold the returns on the suffrage measure. I am glad that things are coming our way now without further complications."

NOTABLE PROGRAM FOR TEACHERS ANNOUNCED

ELEMENTARY DEPARTMENT OF STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION HEARS EDUCATORS.

Upon the resignation of Miss Julia Bolen of Helena from the chairmanship of the elementary school department of the State Teachers' association, President Finch invited Miss Alma L. Binzel to take charge.

During the late summer and early fall effort has been expended in planning a program and securing speakers who will be of specific help to the teachers who choose to attend and also those who must attend in order to meet the requirements set by the school regulations of the various counties.

The Program.
On Monday afternoon, November 23, Miss Nina M. Nash, supervising critic of the intermediate grades in the Dillon Normal school; the Misses Laura Sullivan and Catherine Nutterville of the Butte city schools, will discuss and demonstrate the possibilities of making the study of languages in the grades more vital. Miss Nash will show how every community offers the best sort of material for the language periods; Miss Nutterville, with the assistance of a fourth grade, and Miss Sullivan, with the assistance of a second grade class of children will show the contributions which nature study and hand work may make to the language periods.

On Tuesday afternoon the general topic will be "The Individual and the Group." Miss Jennie Rebecca Faddis, assistant superintendent of the Butte schools, will discuss the development of initiative in the individual through nature study and construction work. As Miss Faddis has done some remarkable work along these lines in Evansville, Ind., where she was assistant superintendent for five years, and as she has a book in preparation upon this subject, she will have much to offer to elementary teachers. Miss Faddis will be remembered as one of the members of the faculty of the 1914 summer session at the University.

Mrs. Alice Macleod, director of public speaking in the University, will present the topic of the development of the social motive through drama. When once the socializing influence of such activities in the school is understood, much that is now merely talked and written about will become a matter of vital co-operative dramatization by the children.

Dr. Nathaniel Butler, dean of the school of education at Chicago University, will round out the topic of the afternoon with a discussion of "The School as a Socializer." There is probably no better school in the country from which a speaker could be drawn for this topic. Ever since the inception of the school of education under Dr. John Dewey the dominant tendency of its efforts has been to see and make the school a thirder of the children's lives and not a thing apart from their lives.

Other things planned for the help of the elementary teachers are exhibi-

How Is Your Coal Pile?

Be rather wise and fill your coal bin now. Remember the regular rush-for-coal time will be here in a day or so.

Most of the folks of the city have put away enough coal to carry them over the cold days of winter.

If you haven't already done so, be not otherwise than wise and get around to it bright and early this week.

Its of language work from the intermediate grades of the Dillon school and of nature study and construction work from the Butte schools.

While at the association meeting Miss Binzel will talk with the librarians in session on "Ways in Which the Public May Help the Teacher."

Missoula Library Helps.
"The local library has already taken some very definite steps along these ways," said Miss Binzel, "and it hopes to do more. Last year it purchased and mounted for circulation in the schools reproductions of famous pictures; it placed one of its rooms at the disposal of the school children for the holding of an art exhibit showing some of those famous pictures done in colors; it aids in finding and placing upon the reserve shelf such books of reference as are especially helpful to the teachers in developing topics beyond the limits of the average text book placed in the children's hands. Such extra text book preparation is coming to be considered as much a necessary acquisition by the teacher of little children as by the teacher of students in higher institutions of learning. Along these and other lines lie the opportunities of every public library offering help to the teachers."

CARD OF THANKS

To you, the 945 voters of Missoula county, more or less as the official count may specify, who cast your ballots for me at the polls on November 3, I am truly grateful. One more favor I ask of you and that is the honor of your personal acquaintance. Let me know individually who you are that I may not pass you by without a kindly greeting.

To the high school and university students and to the other friends who so generously assisted me in my campaign, I wish to extend the same cordial greeting and heartfelt thanks.
