Caught on the Run About Town

The prospects for at least one skating rink for the boys and girls of the city this winter are looking up. The apparent list of prospects lessens of south side folks regarding necessary arrangements for keeping up the rink that had been started by W. F. Cobhan across the street from the business college, seems to have had little effect on the determination of the north side folks to prepare and keep in shape the rink near the Northern Pacific depot. The list of the work a committee got busy and secured a donation of lumber from the Interstate Lumber company, enough to construct a good-sized "warming oven" at the edge of the rink. Yesterday a crew of young men went to work and before nightfall had the building erected. The M. M. company has promised to furnish the necessary hardware and by the time the rink is ready the little house will offer warmth and comfort to the skaters. There the youngsters may adjust their skates and have a place to toast their shins if they get too cold.

While the crew was busy carpentering another of a dozen husky lads commenced to overhaul the rink itself and put it in shape for flooding to build up a solid foundation. All of the shell ice formed after a big flood of water was turned on and allowed to meander at its own sweet will was broken up and shoveled out of the way yesterday. By slow degrees the foundation is to be raised now, sprinkling instead of flooding being the system to be followed. With this sort of weather a splendid rink will soon be in shape.

For the north side rink the "man behind" is the North Side Progressive league and because of its promises to provide at least one rink this winter, it is believed that the last scheme will be carried through. A committee from this organization is already at work and has paid a visit to the city council to ask that it help pay for a caretaker after the rink is once equipped and in running order. This committee will report to the league tonight and at this meeting some definite plans may be made.

If the north side folks do go ahead and work out their scheme successfully—and it is only a matter of getting a spur together with everybody helping just a little, not necessarily an expensive undertaking—it may serve as a spur to the south side residents, whose kiddies would so enjoy the use of the rink on that side of the river. It is already in excellent shape for a permanent caretaker. A little sweeping and sprinkling and he ice could not be excelled. There was to have been a meeting last Friday night to organize for this upkeep work. Three or four attended. They did not consider themselves a quorum and adjourned. Perhaps there will be a rally to arms this week.

OFFICERS BELIEVE THEY HAVE TRACE OF LOST MAN

POOR FELLOW WANDERING ABOUT BONITA MAY BE McDONALD

After searching all day yesterday, Sheriff Kelley and three deputies failed to find a man who has been roaming about Clinton and Bonita recently and whose actions have aroused suspicion. But the officers secured enough information to lead them to believe that the man in question is none other than John McDonald of Anaconda, a well-known resident of that place, who is thought to be insane, and who disappeared from his home and friends October 31, last.

A Wanderer.

The strange man first appeared in the vicinity of Bonita a week ago tonight. He was last seen Saturday afternoon at Clinton. Between times he has been wandering back and forth along the railroad tracks, stopping at farm houses to beg something to eat. He told the farmer who fed him Saturday that he was on his way to Butte to work for his board the rest of the winter.

Sister-in-law Convinced.

From those who have seen and fed the unknown man, his description and some of his characteristics were secured by the officers. When these were presented to Mrs. Heide of Perma, who is John McDonald's sister-in-law, and who came to Missoula to investigate the report yesterday, she was convinced that a trace of her demented relative had at last been discovered. It is said that the mysterious man is nearly six feet tall, a little stooped and has brown hair and beard. He has a habit of pretending not to hear what is being said to him, so those say who have seen him recently.

Reward Offered.

There is a reward of $50 offered for the finding of John McDonald, and the people in the vicinity of Clinton and Bonita were notified by the officers to keep a sharp lookout and send word here the next time the strange man appears in the community. He is said to be in a bad way, dirty and ragged and it is feared that he is suffering from the cold.

TO CECIL BURLEIGH NOTED MUSICIANS PAY TRIBUTE

In the Sioux City Tribune a few days ago appeared a story which paid a high tribute to Cecil Burleigh, recently of that city, but who has come to Missoula to take charge of the violin school at the University of Montana. The story speaks of the visit to Sioux City of the two well-known artists, David and Clara Mannes. One of their concert numbers was the "Ascension Sonata," composed by Cecil Burleigh. The Sioux City paper tells the story as follows:

The Tribune.

"We were greatly disappointed at not finding Cecil Burleigh in Sioux City," said David Mannes Saturday evening in conversation after the recital in the afternoon.

"We played his compositions last year in the east, and the people noticed their native charm. We had felt that from Sioux City would in time emanate a music that would give the atmosphere of the wonderful west," Mr. Mannes then said that he had received a letter from Mr. Burleigh recently, telling him of the latter's departure for Missoula, Mont., and of his regret at not being able to greet Mr. and Mrs. Mannes here.

Continuing in his rich and musical voice, Mr. Mannes spoke further regarding the work of Cecil Burleigh. "His idian sketches are able to cast the spell of the Indian atmosphere without resort to Indian idioms. He does not make the mistake of talking the actual Indian music and harmonizing it. Indian music cannot be harmonized. What he gave was from the actual musical atmosphere.

"I think it important to the city to have kept him here, even from the viewpoint of making the city better known. Far more important, in fact, than some great material achievement of which the city might be proud. Mrs. Mannes and I hope for his return here and for an appreciation of him."

Pausing thoughtfully for just an instant, and speaking almost reminiscently, Mr. Mannes went on: "He has chosen to write sonatas on biblical subjects—to my mind the return to the inspiration of old. In the service of the Christian church was born the great music of today."

Then Mr. Mannes smiled, and added: "We have noticed with great pleasure the fine audience which listened to the best we had to offer, and we believed this to be a most fertile soil upon which to build an artistic future. In connection with this thought we deplore Mr. Burleigh's departure. He would have been a great and inspired leader in artistic development of this promising city."

MISSOULA WOMAN NOT IN SYMPATHY WITH FOREIGN RELIEF BEFORE HOME GIVING

Mrs. J. C. Anderson of this city is not disposed to view our efforts for relief of foreign peoples too kindly because of the apparent need at home this winter, not especially in Missoula, but in other cities of the land where the poorer classes always suffer more in the winter, and where they are more abundant this season, and in greater distress than for a number of years.

"We know that the relief work in Missoula has increased many times over what it was," said Mrs. Anderson. "Now comes word from Spokane that the situation is about the same or worse there. Edith C. Hargerty, formerly of Missoula, wrote me a short letter about Spokane conditions the other day. I wish you would use it as it shows the serious situation right at our own doors."

Poverty.

The statement in the letter Mrs. Anderson referred to is as follows:

"Yes, we like Spokane very much indeed, but I never realized before what a lot of poverty there was in a large city. It's pitiful and I can't resist the plea for help. Do you suppose that one gets hardened after a while?"

"The need is so great in our own city that it seems almost criminal to be helping foreign countries. They say Spokane has never known so many in distress as it has this winter. To see the poor little children half dressed and with very little food, and their parents out of work is new to me. I really haven't a rag left. It seems everything can be of use."

ON FORESTRY SHACK WORK IS UNDER WAY

Work has been started on the temporary building for the school of Forestry at the University of Montana. The building is being built according to plans prepared by Professor James H. Donner of the Forestry school, and will include classroom, a draughting room and a large assembly room. It will be built of wood and the contractor agrees to have it ready in time for the opening of the rangers' school early in January. The attendance at this year's session of the rangers' school promises to be the largest that has ever been recorded. Dean Dor Skeels is planning for a busy period of winter work.

William J. Mericle left on train No. 3 yesterday for Loma Linda, Cal., where he expects to spend the winter.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC HAS BEEN STARTED

The Montana College of Music has been opened in this city by Angelo Rovero, a finished artist who has studied and practised in the musical centers of Europe as well as in this country. Until recently he has been a member of the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra. His coming to Missoula is an event heralded with gladness by those of the city who are musicians, or interested in things musical.

Mr. Rovero is a capable instructor and his arrival fills a long felt want. In that he has completed arrangements for a college of music. A suite of rooms at the Orvis Music store has been taken and there class instruction will be given. The opportunity is a rare one for all of the city, but especially for the young generation. The Montana College of Music will offer courses in every branch of the art. Instrumental, piano, horn, reed, violin, all stringed instruments and vocal. Chorus and operatic work will be taken up in the vocal branch. Orchestra and band in the instrumental branch. Private instruction will be given upon arrangement. Instruments will be supplied by an easy arrangement to beginners.

The studio at the Orvis store is open, and Mr. Rovero may be found there at any time, or by appointment will call at homes to explain his methods.—Adv.

TEMPERANCE RALLY IS ALL PLANNED FOR TONIGHT

KANSAS BOOZE FIGHTER ARRIVES AT NOON—STREET PARADE AND MEETING

The Young People's Federation of Missoula assembled last evening in a rousing rally at the Calvary Christian church to plan for the coming of Harry McCane, the prohibition man, who will arrive here today on the local train from Butte at 11:30 a. m. Mr. McCane is the temperance orator from Kansas, who is spending 10 days in Montana in the interest of the cause he represents, and comes to Missoula to hold a meeting tonight.

The leader of the young people's session last evening was E. C. Faust. In his talk he told how one man in Russia, a poor peasant, by his earnestness and zeal, brought the prohibition issue before Czar Nicholas, the result of which has been Russia's going "dry." The feeling and consensus of opinion expressed at the rally was that prohibition is thrusting itself upon our nation and especially upon Montana, much more rapidly than the experts of temperance had ever dreamed would be the case, and that 1914 is not too near to meet the issue.

A committee is to meet Mr. McCane at the train and escort him to the Palace Hotel for lunch. Then he is to go to the high school to address the students at 1 o'clock. He will speak at the business college and before other representative groups of young people during the afternoon.

To Parade Avenue.

At 7:30 a procession of the members of the Young People's Federation will be formed at the Northern Pacific station. All friends of the cause of temperance are asked to join in this procession, which will march down Higgins avenue and east on Main street to the First Methodist church, where Mr. McCane is to speak. His theme will be: "How Prohibition is Possible for Montana in 1914."

Special music, both vocal and instrumental, will be furnished. No admission will be charged. All citizens of Missoula are invited to hear Mr. McCane.
