

HALL ATTACHES FEES DUE CHILD'S FATHER

Says H. J. Pryn Owes Him $20 Borrowed for Daughter's Homecoming.

MAN STATE WITNESS

Story Damaging to Alleged Assailant of Girl Told by Garnishee.

Frank C. Hall, whose trial on a charge of statutory rape ended last night, yesterday garnished the witness fees due H. J. Pryn, father of Ellen Pryn, the 14-year-old girl who was the complaining witness against Hall.

The garnishment was based on a debt which Pryn denied on the witness stand while telling a story damaging to Hall. Hall, who says he was a father to the Pryn child, told the court that he loaned $20 to Pryn that the father might get his daughter out of the state orphan's home. Pryn denies that Hall ever loaned him anything, though he said that Hall, when drunk, frequently dunned him for $20. The money, Pryn said, was loaned by Hall to Mrs. H. E. Thompson.

Pryn was made aware of Hall's action when he sought to collect fees for the testimony he gave. Pryn was a witness for the state, which was seeking to convict the alleged assailant of his daughter.

ANNA F. CARTER COUNTY EXAMINER

Miss Anna F. Carter has been appointed by the Missoula county commissioners to the county board of examiners. The other members are Miss Mabel Lindstad, superintendent of schools, and Miss Lucille Brown of St. Ignace. Miss Carter has been a citizen of Missoula for the last 14 years, teaching in the high school and doing research work and writing along the lines of higher mathematics. Miss Carter has taken advanced degrees from the University of Montana and the Cook County Normal college, and she has taught in Chicago in grammar grades and high school. Miss Carter received high commendation for the system and efficiency with which she served as clerk in the last session of the state legislature at Helena.

YOUNG MOTHERS

The young expectant mother has the right to know more about those secret processes of nature which mean so much to her and her child. The discomfort which precedes the birth of the child is due to a great extent to the tension on the drawn skin of the abdomen.

By simple applications of "Mother's Friend," night and morning, the fine network of nerves are soothed; the muscles expand easier; the skin becomes softer; the

COLUMBIA ALUMNI LINED UP FOR WAR

Graduate at University Receives Questionnaire.

Columbia university has fallen in with the preparedness movement. Dr. J. E. Kirkwood of the department of botany at the State University yesterday received a questionnaire sent out from New York to all Columbia alumni, containing more than 40 questions calling for information regarding individuals and their ability to serve the country in time of war. Each is asked his profession, and to what other form of employment he would be prepared to turn. Health, financial condition and possession of apparatus which would be of use in case of war are among the matters inquired into.

OLD MAN MISSING; FRIENDS WORRIED

John Wise, an old man of about 75 years of age, who lives near Spring gulch in the Rattlesnake valley, is causing no little worry on the part of his friends by his continued absence. He disappeared March 4 and has not been heard of since. It is feared that he is either lost or has met with an accident.

John Wise is short and rather heavy set. His hair is gray and heavy. He has a gray mustache. He is slightly lame and used a cane. It is thought that he did not have the cane, however.

It is possible that Wise returned to his cabin early Sunday morning, but a neighbor says that he does not think that he is there now.

UNIVERSITY ALUMNI MAY SECURE STRAPS

The commission of second lieutenant in the United States marine corps is open to any male graduate of the State University who can pass certain mental and physical tests to be given July 19, 1917. The great need for men, especially officers, in the corps is given as the reason for the call in an announcement recently received at the university. The applicant need not have any military experience and the fact that he is a graduate of the university will exempt him from many of the minor tests in science and languages. The examinations will be held at Helena, Miles City and Glasgow, the announcement states.

MISSOULA FORESTERS ATTEND AT SALT LAKE

Salt Lake, Utah, March 12.—Foresters from seven districts will assemble here tomorrow in annual session. One chief forester and a forester in charge of lands will be present from each district.

District No. 1, Missoula, Mont., and district No. 2, Denver, are among the districts which will be represented.

Henry S. Graves of Washington, D. C., United States national forester, will be in charge of the meeting. Topics discussed will be:

Land classification, June 11 settlements, mining claims, rights of way on forest reserves, terms of occupancy and permits for summer homes in forest reserves and water power in national forests.

SIX OF 15 TEACHERS PASS EXAMINATIONS

Out of 15 candidates for teachers' certificates taking the examinations held in the office of Miss Mabel Lindstad, county superintendent of schools, February 23-24, only six persons successfully passed the test. Second grade certificates were issued to Violet Falden, Mable McConnell and Hilda Nyberg. Ethel Baumert, Adele Gros and Myrtle Swanson were granted permits to teach. No first grade scores were made by those taking the examinations.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Favorite for Colds.

J. L. Eastley, Macon, Ill., in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy says: "During the past fifteen years it has been my sister's favorite medicine for colds on the lungs. I myself have taken it a number of times when suffering with a cold and it always relieved me promptly."—Adv.

VISITS PARK ON SKIS; KRAMER ENDS TRAVELS

Forest Service Man Estimates Snowfall in National Playground.

SNOWY WILDERNESS

Traveler Flirts With Avalanches, Timber Wolves and Caretakers.

After having traveled on skis for nine days through the rugged, primeval wilderness that is the Yellowstone National park in wintertime, E. W. Kramer, district hydro-electric engineer of the forest service, returned to his office in the federal building yesterday. Mr. Kramer made the trip at this time in order to obtain an estimate as to the probable supply of water for the plants in the Yellowstone and to secure data concerning the relation between the precipitation of snow and the run-off. Mr. Kramer traveled through the most difficult regions of the park and made part of the journey with dog teams, but after penetrating into the park he found the snow so deep that he was forced to abandon the "huskies" and travel alone on skis, with his pack and his observation instruments on his back.

Gauges Depth and Density.

Mr. Kramer made his observations in that part of the park in the region of the watershed above the Hebgren reservoir and in the Madison national forest. He measured the depth and density of the snow about every three miles, taking the observations by means of a cylindrical tube six feet long, which he pushed into the snow. By weighing the snow caught in the tube he determined its water equivalent. He found that the snow varied from 36 to 60 inches in depth throughout the territory he explored, with a water equivalent of from 7 to 12 inches. Mr. Kramer says that the snowfall was unusually heavy throughout the park, but not quite as dense as that of the preceding winter. The temperature varied from 40 degrees below zero to 20 above in the daytime.

Information regarding the precipitation in this region is regarded as exceedingly valuable, as the Hebgren dam stores all the available runoff from the watersheds and regulates the flow of the Missouri and Madison rivers.

Goes With Dog Team.

Mr. Kramer started his journey from Henry's Lake, Idaho, with a dog team and accompanied by a ranger. The dog team made about 25 miles per day when the snow crust was hard enough to carry them, but when the party reached Yellowstone, Mont., the dogs were left behind, as the snow from then on was so light that the dogs would have floundered most of the time. While near the Hebgren reservoir and while he was yet traveling with the team, Mr. Kramer and the ranger caught a number of trout, all from one to three pounds in weight. Most of these they fed to the "huskies," but Mr. Kramer shipped about a dozen home to Missoula.

Threatened by Avalanche.

From Yellowstone, Mr. Kramer proceeded alone on skis, traveling through deserted land all the way. At one place near the gateway there is a steep slope above. The snow had slid into the road and filled it right out to the edge. About 100 yards above the place where the first slide had filled in the road, another immense snowslide was held back by a single tree which was bent almost over by the weight of the slide. When passing over this stretch of road, Mr. Kramer was forced to dig foot-holes across the snow where the road had been, and he says that he went at the job earnestly as he expected the other slide to come down at any minute and bury him.

Sees Many Animals.

In the park Mr. Kramer saw numerous small flocks of geese along the streams and elk in bands of from two to five. He says that he saw no evidence of starvation among the elk, as they appeared to be in good condition. In fact, he thought that they looked better than those which were being fed near Gardiner. He also saw several large timber wolves and any number of coyotes.

Visits Lovely Hotels.

Mr. Kramer visited the hotels at the Junction, the fountain, the upper Geyser basin and the lower Geyser basin. All were closed and in charge of caretakers. These people welcomed all visitors with open arms, as very few people get into the park in winter, all travel being done on skis. Mr. Kramer says that neither the Gibbons river or the Fire Hole river in the park freezes during the winter. Both are supplied by the geysers and hot springs in the park.

The park administration, says Mr. Kramer, is in the hands of scouts, who work under the direction of park supervisors. These scouts rank as first and second class rangers and most of them are ex-soldiers, who were granted discharges from the regular service in order that they might be assigned to the park. The construction work and road and bridge building is still done by the department of war, a captain of engineers being in charge. Mr. Kramer began his trip on February 26, and reached his journey's end on March 9, having covered 99 miles on skis, and 50 miles with the dog team.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dandruff is entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Adv.

Elers Koch, supervisor of the Lolo forest, has returned from the Savenac station near Haugan, where he spent last week giving a course of lectures upon "Fire Protection" to the 12 forest rangers assembled in conference at that place, during March. Mr. Koch says the snow was four feet deep in the vicinity of Haugan last week.

MONTANA STUDENTS WIN COMMENDATION

That the action of the students of Montana State University in voting for compulsory military training has attracted national attention, is evidenced by a letter received by Secretary Dudley Richards of the Missoula Chamber of Commerce from James B. Clark, secretary of the conference committee on national preparedness, in which the writer commends the action taken by the Montana students as setting an excellent example for the state for other colleges.

In his letter Mr. Clark says, "I have no doubt that the action of the Montana university students will have a good influence, not only in the state of Montana, but also in educational institutions in other parts of the country."

NOTICE.

"At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mid-Continent Consolidated Oil & Utilities Corporation held on March 6, 1917, at Muskogee, Oklahoma, the regular monthly dividend of 10c per share was declared on all outstanding "A" stock, payable March 31, 1917, to stockholders of record as of March 15, 1917. Mr. Dick R. Lane, the president of the company, who is at present touring Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, inspecting the company's large and widely distributed holdings, announces that the earnings of the company during the last two months have shown a remarkable increase over the 1916 earnings of the properties now owned by the Mid-Continent Corporation.

Mr. H. C. Blackwell, the consulting engineer of the Mid-Continent Company, who is also engineer for the United Light and Railways company, a $50,000,000 public utilities corporation operating street railways, light and power franchises throughout the middle west, accompanies Mr. Lane on his tour of inspection and announces that the present earnings indicate a net profit on the public utilities largely in excess of the earnings of the same properties during 1916.

Warning as to Our Waning Vitality

(By Lee Herbert Smith, M. D.) In urging upon the country the observance of last Dec. at "Medical Examination Day," the Life Extension Institute issued a circular in which it called attention to the reasons why every man should take stock of his physical condition just as frequently as he takes stock of his financial condition, thereby learning his weak spots and taking measures to repair them before it is too late.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, generally weak, tired and listless, one should take a spring tonic. One that will do the spring housecleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotic. It is made up of blood root, Golden Seal root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by million bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggist does not keep this in tablet form, send $1.00 to Doctor V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Kidney disease carries away a large percentage of our people. What is to be done? The answer is easy. Eat less meat, eat coarse, plain food, with plenty of vegetables, drink plenty of water between meals, and take an uric acid solvent after meals for awhile, such as Anuric (double strength), obtainable at almost any drug store. It was first discovered by Dr. Pierce. Most every one troubled with uric acid finds that Anuric dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar.—Adv.

ATTORNEY BESANCON GOES TO KALISPELL

Appears for Defense in Burglary Cases.

Attorney Albert Besancon went yesterday to Kalispell to appear for John Hendricks and George Bailey, both of whom are to be tried for burglary in the Flathead county district court this week.

The cases are to be tried separately. They arise from the dynamiting of the postoffice, the Frank Lambert and the F. P. Browne stores at Polson on the night of July 9-10, 1916.

Bailey and Hendricks were arrested at Spokane by United States officials. They were not indicted by the federal grand jury and when released by the government were at once taken by the Flathead county officials.

Mr. Besancon will be away a week and possibly longer.
