

MULLEMER TO LECTURE TO CITY'S HOUSEWIVES

Experienced Hotel Chef to Talk of Economy at Chamber of Commerce.

COURSE IS PLANNED

Registration May Be Made by Telephone Without Cost to Students.

The Missoula Chamber of Commerce has secured the consent of Charles Mullemer, manager of the Palace hotel and chef of 35 years' experience, to give a lecture course on the planting and preserving of foods.

If there is a sufficient registration in this course the chamber of commerce will gladly donate the use of its building for lectures and demonstration which Mr. Mullemer will make before the housewives of Missoula. All who desire to register in these courses should notify Secretary D. D. Richards of the chamber of commerce, by mail or telephone. The classes will be begun as soon as a sufficient number have registered to make the matter worth while. There will be no charge whatsoever for the course of lectures.

There was much interest manifest in the talk of Mr. Mullemer on Friday evening at the chamber of commerce meeting when he gave a rough outline of the way in which food may be preserved or canned for future use. Mr. Mullemer's plans for this work embody simple methods which have been tried out successfully by him for a number of years and which may be followed in any kitchen in Missoula.

The course which Mr. Mullemer will give will be divided, roughly, as follows:

Selection of things to plant and the preserving of those things of greatest practical value.

Thrift in the home kitchen, showing where in odds and ends now thrown away may be utilized to advantage.

The preserving and canning of everything that grows in the garden so that practically fresh vegetables may be had the year around.

Mr. Mullemer has given much time to the study of the preserving of vegetables. He is willing to give freely of this experience and knowledge to the women of Missoula in order to assist in caring for the tons of vegetables which will be produced in Missoula gardens this year.

The classes will be arranged for afternoons in the chamber of commerce auditorium. Call 67 and make known your desire to register in these courses.

COLLEGE SPORTS OVER FOR YEAR

All forms of intercollegiate athletic activities ceased for the remainder of the year at the Montana State University Saturday when the Bruins were walloped by Washington State college on the baseball diamond. With the exception of a few intra-mural baseball games, the sport season is over for the current year and grave doubts are expressed as to the probabilities of a resumption of athletic activities next fall, providing the war situation does not change before that time. None of the games on the football schedule have been cancelled as yet, and the final arrangements for the game between Montana and Idaho at Missoula next Thanksgiving day were completed by Coach Nissen last week.

Washington State college is going ahead with its plans for the coming football season regardless of the war, according to Director of Athletics Bohler, but he says that he doubts whether the team will play this fall, on account of enlistments in the army and farm forces, conscription, and the lack of interest in sports. About 200 men have left Washington State college already, according to Dr. Bohler.

The schedule of the Bruin track team was cancelled sometime ago, by the action of the faculty in calling off athletics for the remainder of the year.

The 1917 season of the State University baseball team was the most unsuccessful ever experienced by a Montana nine. Originally 18 games were scheduled, but half of these, which were to be played with Whitman and Montana State college, were cancelled. Of the eight that were played, one was won and seven lost. The only experienced men on the team were Captain Sanderson and Pitcher Kent Jones, who worked behind the log all year, had never caught a game of college or scholastic ball before, while Vilt, the southpaw twirler was also new to the game. Reordan and Glossman had played some independent ball, while Loranger, who played second, was absolutely new to the position. Of the outfielders, Beebe was the only man able to catch a fly ball, and he was forced to leave before the season was completed.

GET A POCKET FOR YOUR BATHING SUIT

While devoid of frivolities this jersey bathing suit is voted a stunner by all critics. After the fair mermaid emerges from the depths of the briny sea and wants to lounge on the beach, a secret little pocket hidden under the coat of the costume packs a powder puff, mirror and handkerchief with which she can doll and make herself presentable.

MILWAUKEE MAY TAKE OFF "OLYMPIAN" TRAIN

Transportation of Troops and Freight May Cause Many Changes.

OFFICIALS RETICENT

Railroad Executives Admit, However, That Uncle Sam's Boss.

The Olympian, the crack passenger train of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, may be taken off in the near future, according to rumors unconfirmed by local officials of the road, who say that they have not as yet had any official order regarding the change. The Milwaukee is the shortest route between Chicago and the coast, and it is thought probable that military traffic may necessitate the elimination of one of the through passenger trains. It is certain, the officials say, that freight and troop trains will supersede passenger traffic, not only on this, but all other transcontinental roads soon.

The eastbound Olympian, No. 16, leaves Missoula at 7:05 in the morning, while the westbound Olympian, No. 15, comes in here at 11:15 in the evening. At the present time there are four through passenger trains on the Milwaukee, the other two being Nos. 17 and 18, the Columbian trains. Four trains are demanded by the traffic of the road, says the officials.

It is said that the Northern Pacific will also take off one of its through trains soon.

The body of a black horse, saddled and bridled, was seen floating down the river at Frenchtown yesterday and when the news reached here it caused great anxiety to the family of George Clements, as he had gone out hunting on a black horse Monday and had not returned. NEW MINING SYSTEM.
Tirone, New Mexico, May 6.—Copper mining with steam shovels is the method used here for getting out low grade copper ore for concentrating purposes. Batteries of great steam shovels, resembling clam-shell and dipper dredges, cut into the sides of the copper hills and dump the ore-laden earth into the steel cars which carries the ore to the nearby concentrators. There the ore is separated from the dress by means of jig mills, vanner mills and other forms of concentrating by gravity. The concentrates are then loaded into closed steel cars and shipped to the smelters to be roasted and converted into blister copper.
