

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Kiss Censorship to Delete Those Which Don't Delight

By Helen Rowland.

According to the recent decision of a New Jersey jury, to kiss your wife against her will is a "crime." Yes, and furthermore, if you are like the important husband in the case, and fancy you can steal a kiss from a woman just because she has promised to love, humor and cook for you, you can be convicted of "assault and battery," just as he was.

"Well, I should say so! To kiss ANY woman against her will is a crime! In fact, there are lots of circumstances under which kissing is a crime per se. A kiss is merely a physiological demonstration of a psychological condition—but that doesn't give you any idea of what it is like. A kiss may be anything from a benediction to an insult—according to the time, the place, the provocation and your knowledge of the art of lovemaking. One man can kiss a woman in a way to make her feel as though he had done her a favor or paid her a compliment, and another man may kiss her in a way to make her feel as though he had taken her pocketbook. And yet, the psychological condition in both cases may be pure audacity.

To kiss a woman with your hat on—even your own wife—should be a "felony" in the eyes of the law, punishable by some extreme penalty. To kiss your wife when she is just winning an argument, and thus take the words right out of her mouth, should be classed as at least a "misdemeanor."

To kiss her when she is right in the middle of the contortionist's act of putting up her back hair should constitute grounds for a suit for damages. To kiss her when she has just finished putting on the last touch of camouflage and is going down to meet the guests for dinner, and thus ruin the beautiful ensemble of her face, is sheer frightfulness.

To kiss her apologetically, immediately after she has seen you flirting with another woman, should be accounted a state's prison offense. There is nothing on earth so tiresome to a seasoned wife as that familiar "kiss of remorse." She KNOWS that you are "sorry"—not sorry for what you did but sorry that she found you out. To kiss her on "the morning after" a night at the club should come under this head also.

On the other hand, to be able to kiss a wife's hand tenderly and enthusiastically—your OWN wife's hand, I mean—after two years of marriage should put you in line for a Carnegie medal.

To kiss any woman against her will should be a penitentiary offense and yet to kiss her and not pretend to THANK that it is against her will should be a cause for investigation into your sanity.

To kiss any girl without first asking her to marry you, or at least hinting that you love her, is a cowardly act—as mean as letting an automobile salesman take you for a drive when you have NO intention of buying the car. It should come under the "evasion" act.

To ASK any girl if you may kiss her before doing so is merely a slacker's way of trying to lay all the blame on her. It is enough to put you under suspicion as a Bolshevik and should be punished under the enemy alien laws.

To kiss a girl at the first opportunity is childish; to kiss her on the second provocation is boorish; to wait for the third chance is chivalrous—and to wait any longer is foolish.

To kiss ANY woman against her will is a crime! Well, I should say so! A kiss is about the only thing a woman can keep or dispose of as she likes, in this state, without having her husband's signature attached.

Her tooth brush, her vote and her kisses are a woman's sacred property and privileges to do with as she pleases.

And yet, WHO would live in a "kissless world" or have a "kissless husband?"

White Plague

War Work Shows It Can Be Held in Check in U. S.

To emphasize the importance of the campaign against tuberculosis in our army and navy the National Tuberculosis association has just published a "Record of Achievements" of the campaign against this disease since the founding of the association in 1904.

The present war program is hailed as a notable climax to the 14 years of work. It means, too, that the association and affiliated agencies, co-operating with the federal government, will for the first time be able to show that tuberculosis can be controlled on a national scale by the discovery and proper care of infected individuals.

The first big step in the fight against the white plague was the organization of an International Congress on Tuberculosis at Washington in 1908. This gathering first gave direction and program to the American movement.

In 1906 was published the first national standards of diagnosis and classification of tuberculosis. Another important step leading up to the war program was the promotion of the Red Cross seal from a sale of less than 30,000,000 seals in 1910 to more than 200,000,000 in 1917.

Other steps have been the organization of a field service by means of which every state in the Union has been visited, and the promotion of standardization and economy in the construction and administration of tuberculosis hospitals, thereby saving to communities throughout the country hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Corns.

Miss A. S. asks: "What will really remove a corn?"

Corns are ordinarily removed by some preparation containing salicylic acid. After removing, however, great care must be observed to avoid pressure in that region else the corn will return.

"Over There" Gets Twelve Encores in London Hotel

London.—Reverting to American music, the orchestra at the Savoy hotel the other night made such a hit with "Over There" that the big crowd of fashionable and service garbed diners compelled the musicians to repeat it 12 times without a letup.

MILITARY FLING IN SHOULDER SASH

BY BETTY BROWN.

To add to the other joys of spring some light-hearted designer has created this fascinating top coat of sand-colored broadcloth. It has two decided points of interest for the fashion observer in that it demonstrates the success of the cow collar and the charm of the shoulder sash that planned to be a collar, and then, in exuberance of spirit, broadened and lengthened into a sash jauntily tossed across the left shoulder. The severe helmet hat adds its bit to the military effect.

PINCHED FOR DISTURBANCE.

At 8 p.m. of 708 South Second street was arrested last night on the charge of being drunk and disturbing the peace at his home. He was placed in the county jail and will be given a hearing before Judge Allen this morning.

224 Stars

University Women to Give School Service Flag.

A service flag bearing 224 stars, one of which will be gold, will be the gift of the B. H. B., a secret society of university women, to the State University. The flag is to be presented to the institution on Aber day this spring. Fitting military ceremonies will accompany the presentation. The flag will be eight by 12 feet and will cost $5 dollars. The stars will represent both the students and the alumni who are enlisted at the present time. The gold star will be a memorial to Marcus Cook, who lost his life in the sinking of the Tuscania last winter. Aber day, the annual university clean up day, has not been declared yet, but it is probable that it will come some time during the latter part of the present month.

Licorice Root, Once Pest, Now Found to Be Useful

London.—Licorice root is found in various parts of the province of Cape of Good Hope. After its introduction there a number of farmers planted it and then, probably on account of the lack of a market, neglected it. Later it so spread in certain localities as to become a pest difficult to eradicate. Now its usefulness has been recognized and the diggers pay 2 cents a pound for the privilege of digging it.

Kills Girl and Self in School Dormitory Room

Athens, Ga.—In a dormitory room on the University of Georgia campus James Johnson shot and killed Belle Hill, 18 years old, and then killed himself. The room was that occupied by three boy students.

Johnson left a note for his mother, saying he was disgusted with life. He and the girl arrived at a hotel here at night and later were joined by one of the students. The hotel clerk told them to leave, and Thomas Holiday, the student, took Johnson and the girl to the room he shared with two other boys.

YOU PAY LESS

Don't try to save money buying cheap or big-can Baking Powders. You can't do it. You'll throw out more in spoiled bakings than you save on price of the powder. And don't think that old style high priced powders are best because they cook most. They are not.

has proved in millions of bake-day tests that it is the best baking powder ever made—that's why it is the biggest selling baking powder in the world today. No other baking powder makes such temptingly good—tender wholesome bakings. No baking powder of anywhere near the same quality is sold at such a low price.

You use less of Calumet—because it is the highest grade baking powder. One teaspoonful is equal to two teaspoonfuls of most other brands.

And there is no "luck" about it when you use Calumet. No loss. It is absolutely sure. It is the most economical of all. Millions of housewives use it—and so do leading domestic science teachers and cooking experts.

You save when you buy it—You save when you use it. Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved officially by the U. S. Food Authorities.
