Origin of Two Noted Hymns. Speaking of these two hymns the story told about their origin may not be true, but is quite in keeping with the character of the two authors, Toplady and Wesley.

During the same night Charles Wesley had also written a hymn which is equally celebrated, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

The manufacture of electric watches has been begun in Berlin. Two small ones and a small electric motor take the place of the ordinary spring movement.

Some of the very poor people of Philadelphia get their small children taken care of in public institutions during the winter and draw them out in the spring.

The largest cotton mill in the world is in Russia. It gives employment to 7,000 hands.

Shortcomings of Typewriters.

It is astonishing that out of the large number of girls who learn shorthand and typewriting so few make a success of it. There is scarcely a day passes that girls do not apply to me for positions, saying that they are experts, but when it comes to the test not 5 per cent. of those who apply for positions could be considered good stenographers.

Contagion in the Laundry. Medical Officer Russell, of Glasgow, says that during the last ten years over 1,000,000 articles of clothing from persons affected with every kind of contagious known in this country have passed through the Glasgow laundry, and that in that time he has never known a case of interchanged disease, although the women engaged in the laundry have occasionally suffered from handling the linen before it was boiled.
