Frank D. Brown sold during the week three lots in Wilson's addition to H. L. Rodgers for $400. He also sold the Wilson saloon building and lot on Broadway to C. Heifer of Helena for $2,500.

An interesting letter from Wm. Funk, ex-president and one of the largest stockholders of the Hattia mining company, describing his travels from Butte to Pine Grove, Utah, may be seen elsewhere in this issue.

The 15th being pay-day in most of the mining operations here, there was an unusually large crowd in town. The streets were in fact thronged with people, and money was spent more freely than for some time past.

There will be a dance given next Thursday evening, at Morse's hall, under the auspices of the Phillipsburg and Granite bands. Good music will be selected from both bands and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

Col. Geo. W. Morse bet Major McCormick $20 that W. A. Clark would not carry Butte in the coming election. The wager was made Wednesday, and the money placed in Tyler Warden's hands.—Stevensville Tribune.

H. F. Titus and G. W. Morse, the representatives of Phillipsburg in the republican territorial convention at Helena, returned to the Burg, Wednesday evening, after having assisted in the nomination of Thos. H. Carter, of Helena, for delegate to congress.

Born—On Tuesday, September 18, to the wife of Road Supervisor John H. Cole, a daughter. The mother and little one are getting along all right. Johnny says work will now have to be suspended for awhile on the various road improvements in this district.

C. H. Scott, who has been with the Hope company for a long time, was recently appointed to the position of postal clerk between Helena and Mandan, Dak. Mr. Scott departed from here on Monday to commence his new labors, and the good wishes of his many friends here go with him.

Saturday night there was a horse, saddle and bridle stolen from the barn of Wm. Davey, on the old Schepel ranch. Mr. Davey had noticed a man in his pasture during the afternoon, and thinks he is the party who made the theft. He describes him as being a heavy, thick-set, dark-bearded man, and wearing dark clothes and a slouch hat.

John Caplice, of Butte, was seen at Drummond last Sunday by a MAIL representative on his way to Spokane Falls, Washington territory. Mr. Caplice, who is an old former resident of Phillipsburg, said that it was possible that he might stop over a day at Phillipsburg on his return from the Falls City, he says.

The glove contest Saturday night, between Jack Lawrence, light-weight champion of Montana, and Miles McEnnis, of Butte, was hotly contested and was for blood from the start. They fought the ten rounds as agreed to a draw; but, if anything, McEnnis seemed to have the best of it. The referee was very fair in his decisions and did not favor either side. At the close of the sixth round both men were pretty badly played out, but responded to the call of time and made a good fight.

John Nagle, who came to this country from Phillipsburg, Montana, and has been working for the Poorman since, skipped out last Friday night, leaving several merchants behind to whom he owed considerable money. George Howe, of the Eon Iron, is the worst sufferer by his—$40 board bill, it is presumed he went back to Montana, and we should like to see some papers in that section give him a scold-off, as he deserves it, and it may prevent Montana merchants from being taken in by him.—Burke (Idaho) Independent.

THE WANDERING PROSPECTOR.

William Funk, the Well-Known Prospector of This Section, Now Seeking the Earth's Treasures in Southern Utah and Nevada.

PINE GROVE, Utah, Sept. 10, 1888. Envoys of Progress, My Dear Sir: Thinking it would be of interest to some of your readers, I concluded to sit down and write a few lines concerning my travels during the past month or so. I left Butte on August 12, in company with C. W. West, on the Utah & Northern railway to Ogden, Utah, where I thought to Salt Lake, and from there to Milford, Southern Utah. At this point we outfit with two saddle horses and a pack animal, and headed for the Irish mountains, Nevada, situated seventy-five miles west of Pioche. On our way out we stopped five days at Pine Grove, twenty miles west of Frisco, Utah, and located a claim. We then went west by Indian Peak and the head of Spring valley; thence to Panaca and Paranaug valley, crossing the desert via Parox Springs, and arrived in the valley some seven miles below Hiko, Nevada, where we found fruit and vegetables in abundance for the use of our party which was small. We found this country very dry and sultry. From Paranaug we went west fifteen miles to Irish mountain. This is an old mining district, which contains some very rich ore, but the water is exceedingly scarce, there being barely enough there for the few chipmunks and bovines that inhabit that part of the country, let alone for the use of the weary prospector who is wandering around with his nose peeled from the heat and scorching hot south winds which frequent that section of the world. We then turned around and came back to Milford to Barstow, California. We then turned around and came back to Pine Grove, where we will remain until our return home in about twenty days. This is indeed a beautiful place, with a pretty little stream running beside our camp, which is pitched under a group of tall pine trees, being, in fact, quite a picturesque place. Frisco, Utah, is our nearest postoffice address. Being this will find you well and your camp as lively as ever. I subscribe myself, Yours truly, W. A. Funk.

A man named Wentworth was found dead on the railroad three miles this side of Drummond, Wednesday morning. He was taken to Drummond where he was identified, and his relatives were notified at Gold Creek. He had been working on the west section at the latter place, and at a time check was found in his pocket it is supposed that he stopped work and was on his way to Phillipsburg. He was evidently intoxicated and went to sleep on the track and some train during the night was struck on the head by the pilot of a locomotive. A bottle partly filled with whisky was also found in his pocket.

James E. Myer, accompanied by his nephew, George, left Phillipsburg this morning for Turner's, Orange county, New York, where he intends to re-enter the butcher business and make it his future permanent home. Mr. Myer has been a resident of Phillipsburg for the past five or six years—a good portion of which time he has been in business. The ill health of Mrs. Myer was the direct cause for the removal. Their numerous friends wish them success in their far east home. On their way east they will make an extended tour of the Yellowstone National park, so as to be able to tell their friends of the wonders of the west, and for self gratification.

We have heard of the jumping of mining claims, mill sites and town lots, and can consider such things in the light of the ordinary course of events, but when it comes to someone jumping the graveyard, as it is claimed has been done here, we kick. It is true. Some one has indicated an intention to jump the graveyard, and it is stated that last year the same person turned his cattle and horses inside of the fence to pasture, but that the excitement of the people of Phillipsburg had reached such a pitch that he thought it best to remove them, and there was no telling what might happen when the people of the Burg got so thoroughly awakened. Right here we get in our kick against the advanced ideas of that rancher. Attend the meeting of citizens Friday night and get in yours.

A fight that discounted that of Lawrence and McEnnis took place on the corner of Sansome street and Broadway yesterday morning, between P. A. Shilling and Harry Morgan. Although both one round was fought, Morgan was completely knocked out, and although Shilling withdrew from the contest, Morgan was a pitiful sight, being covered with mud and blood from head to foot. He received several hard blows in the face. The trouble arose over an argument about a colt, which Jack Hall claimed belonged to him, and which he had put his brand on. The case was tried in Labrie's court, and Shilling was acquitted. This somewhat enraged Morgan, and he thought he would take the law in his own hands and seek revenge, which he did, with the above result. This is the third time that Shilling has won a lawsuit and had to knock out his opponent afterward.

News reached the Burg last Sunday morning to the effect that a band of horse thieves were operating in the vicinity of Rock creek, a few miles out of town, which caused considerable excitement among some of the old settlers who have had considerable experience with these outlaws before. In less than an hour after the news was received several men on horseback, armed with rifles, had started for the scene, headed by J. P. Cerney, who had walked in from that section to give the news. He led the party to where he had seen the thieves on Saturday night, and also showed several empty cartridge shells where he was standing while firing at the escaping thieves. They are supposed to have got away with at least one hundred head of horses, and if the men in pursuit should overtake them there would have been a fight. The pursuing party, however, returned without the thieves or their plunder and nothing has been heard of them since.

We are informed that the fence surrounding the graveyard below town has fallen down and that cattle, horses and other animals are wandering among the graves at will. This is something that every resident of the Burg and vicinity is interested in and it should receive the attention of all. No time should be lost in repairing the same. Several thousand dollars worth of headstones and grave fences lying in imminent danger of being demolished, and then allowing this desecration of the graveyard to continue is a disgrace, when the contribution of a few dollars among many would prevent it. A meeting of the citizens will be held at the office of Frank D. Brown, Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, to devise some means of making the necessary repairs. There is another thing in connection with the cemetery which should and will receive attention at the meeting and that is the matter of securing some sort of a fence to the ground used for purposes other than the mere occupation of it for so many years as the resting place for the dead. We are informed that some one has filed on the land surrounding and including the graveyard and that he expects to get a title to it. There is but one way to prevent this, and that is to have the part of our citizens will be all that is needed and a title can easily be obtained.

A new 50-ton concentrator is to be built at the Curlew mines. Over 3,000 tons of ore is lying on the dump, which can now be worked at a profit that would not have paid to ship.—Gazette.

Burke has entertained some very distinguished visitors during the week. J. E. Clark and Harry Achen, capitalists, of Butte, and owners of the Sunset mine; Dr. Mussibrod, of Warm Springs; H. L. Frank, of Butte, all of whom are interested in the Poorman; and John B. Read editor of the Inter Mountain, were the guests of Patrick Clark for a few days.—Burke (Idaho) Independent.
