and the opinion is quite generally held that it is then the traveler who goes east over the Burlington is from $2 to $5 ahead of the man who takes any other line to Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis or any other southern or southeastern city.
Not because the rate is lower. But because the time is shorter.
The man who takes the Burlington reaches his destination nearly a whole day sooner than the man who takes any other line. And he is in pocket just what it would cost him for that day's expenses—and TIME.

DURABLE CARPET.
That in Which the Pattern Thoroughly Covers the Groundwork.
The most durable carpet ever woven was undoubtedly the old rag carpet made of home-spun rags dyed with vegetable dyes made from native barks and roots. The hit and miss effect of these carpets was often a complete success, and far prettier than the showy tapestry Brussels that succeeded. It was also much more durable. It was not necessary to shut out the sun from the room carpeted with the rag carpet, because its colors were of honest dye and did not fade in the light. This old-time floor covering is nearly gone. There are only a few householders in these days, in spite of modern inventions and labor-saving devices, who have time to sew and dye rags for carpets, so the choice of even the old-time farmhouse must fall upon a purchased article. When a room is dull and dreary looking there is a temptation to buy a bright-colored carpet, but it is one that ought to be resisted. Nothing kills upon the taste so soon as a carpet of staring pattern, whose flowers "rise up" to meet your footsteps over it. It is always a safe rule to choose a carpet of medium shade, decidedly darker than the wall paper. A conventionalized pattern wears much better than a realistic pattern of flowers and leaves. In order to be durable, let the pattern cover the ground of carpet thoroughly. A wool ingrain carpet of the best quality is a far better, more satisfactory choice than a cheap tapestry, which is sold at the same price. The old-fashioned three-ply carpet is no longer made. The heavy ingrain, which takes its place, is more durable because it remains in good condition as long as it lasts, while the upper surface of the three-ply wears off, leaving the carpet shabby, though it be still whole. The next choice to an ingrain is a first quality American Brussels. Choose a carpet of heavy surface, but one woven through to the back. Of late years some manufacturers of tapestry have dyed their carpets on the back so as to make the superficial observer believe they are woven through, but such a shallow device should deceive no one. It must be said that there has been a marked improvement in the manufacture of velvet carpets in recent years, so that some of these are almost as durable as inferior Wiltons. The velvet carpet, it should be remembered, is a tapestry carpet, woven in heavy frame, and the loops of the surface are cut to produce the velvet surface. A Wilton carpet is heavy Brussels, in which the loops of the surface are cut. The moquette carpet has a heavy plush-like surface, but it is not as durable as Wilton or velvet, though it is cheaper than a Wilton.—N. Y. Tribune.

COMPLIED WITH THE ORDER.
He Forwarded an Eye to Be Examined for Color Blindness.
It is reported that a short time ago an order was issued on one of the lines of the Pennsylvania company for all section men to come to the office on a certain day and have their eyes examined. The following day, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch, a number of men appeared and passed the examination. One before the man who had charge of the tests left the office a messenger boy came hurrying in with a small package neatly tied up and addressed to the eye inspector. The latter opened it, and was surprised to find a glass eye wrapped in tissue paper, and also an old-fashioned silver watch. The contents of the package proved a puzzle to the inspector until he unfolded a hastily folded scribbled note, which, on being deciphered, was found to read as follows: "Oye Inspector: Dear Sir—The day before yesterday at nine I got word to cum down and have me eye looked after for color blindness as ye call it. I had 45 ties and ten rails to put down beyond the sand cut as Jerry Sullivan and Dominick Cooley were laid up since the wake that wuz holdid over Danny Doherty my hands war too short to spare me. 'Fwas lucky that the rite eye that was first in my head was put out with a blow of a pik and me glass eye that is a perfect figger of the eye that was not put out is sent to you together with my watch for the hexamination. I could spare the glass eye better than the eye in the head and if she is color blind I get one that aint. Yures Truly, Anthony Driscoll."

QUEER NAMES IN KENTUCKY.
Parents Were Hard Pressed When They Gave Their Babies Designations.
You will not have to leave your own state of Kentucky if you want to find names that are as odd as they are curious, says the Hazel Green Herald. For instance, Letcher county has families in which these names are found: Fogg, Horn, Happy, Holiday, Profit, Democrat, Rockhouse, Rittenwelter, Walkin and Watergate. Some peculiar post offices found in these counties are: Smooth Creek, Millstone, Paperweight, Rockhouse, Ratterhard and Solomon. They believe in long names up that way, and one poor child struggles under the cognomen of Robert S. Samuel T. Nelson R. Benjamin P. Hester. In Knott county there is one family which has ten members nicknamed thus: Stick, Burch, Ham, Hardup, Buck, Do!, Sal, Let, Pol, Hat and Do-em. Leslie county has a Mad Dog, Cutshin and Hell-for-Sartin post offices, and the last named is on Hell-for-Sartin creek, which is said to have been named by early settlers who encountered many tribulations while exploring this locality and named the creek accordingly. Pike county comes next with Bass, Beatrice, Beehide, Canada, Lookout, Paw-Paw and Praise post offices. Elliott has Backbone, Gimlet, Mink, Ordinary and Wyett post offices.

Leggat, your co-owner, have, in accordance with Section 2324 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, expended in labor and improvements upon the Screener quartz lode mining claim, situated in Willow Creek (unorganized) mining district, county of Granite (formerly Deer Lodge county), state of Montana, of which the location certificate is found on record in book M, page 789, in the office of the recorder of Deer Lodge county, the sum of one hundred ($100) dollars, of which you claim or own (1/3) one-third interest therein. Now you, each and all of you, are hereby notified that if your proportion of such expenses or expenditures, which is ($33.33) thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents, together with interest and costs, is not paid to me, your co-owner, or my assigns, within (90) ninety days after complete service of this notice by publication to you and all others, your rights, titles, interests and claims whatsoever in and to the aforesaid described quartz lode mining claim will become the property of the undersigned, your co-owner, who has performed and caused the work and made the required improvements and expenditures on said claim. Take notice hereby.
JOHN A. LEGGAT, Butte, Montana.
First publication, February 27, 1896.

NOTICE TO CO-OWNERS.
To Andrew P. Goldberg, or others: You or your heirs, administrators or assigns are hereby notified that I, John A. Leggat, your co-owner, have, in accordance with Section 2324 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, expended in labor and improvements upon the Silver Chief quartz lode mining claim, situated in Willow Creek (unorganized) mining district, county of Granite (formerly Deer Lodge county), state of Montana, of which the location certificate is found on record in book M, page 787, in the office of the recorder of Deer Lodge county, the sum of one hundred ($100) dollars, of which you claim or own (1/3) one-third interest therein. Now you, each and all of you, are hereby notified that if your proportion of such expenses or expenditures, which is ($33.33) thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents, together with interest and costs, is not paid to me, your co-owner, or my assigns, within (90) ninety days after complete service of this notice by publication to you and all others, your rights, titles, interests and claims whatsoever in and to the aforesaid described quartz lode mining claim will become the property of the undersigned, your co-owner, who has performed and caused the work and made the required improvements and expenditures on said claim.
