

Mens Wear

At a

Men's Store

The economy of wearing good clothes that render satisfactory service is a proven fact. The clothing that we sell here—"SINCERITY CLOTHES"—fulfills the ideal. They are modish and distinctive, and they are built of fabrics that will give splendid wear long after a cheaper garment has had to be discarded.

Sincerity Suits

$15 to $30.

Cheaper Grades at $10 to $12

Mrs. Wm. Chase is enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. Lynch, who arrived the latter part of the week from Wales, N. D.

We note by the commissioners proceeding that J. R. Stubbiefield has been appointed road supervisor for district No. 20.

Mrs. Geo. Whitney returned the first of the week from California, where she has been since the death of her father about six weeks ago.

County Superintendent of Schools Sims was in the city the latter part of last week attending to business matters pertaining to the schools.

Mrs. Mason F. Jacobs and children arrived from Illinois last night and left with Mr. Jacobs for their new home on the north bench today.

Henry Platt, Al LeVesconte and Easton McMoran went to Saco Wednesday to bring up Mr. Platt's new Overland car which was unloaded at that point.

J. L. Moore arrived in the city the latter part of last week from Fairview and will now become a resident of this place. His family is expected here at an early date.

Commissioner Atwood was out on the north road the first of the week looking over Mitchell's hill and will have it fixed up in a passable condition at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Argent and two children left last evening for Saco and will spend some time at the ranch home of one of their old time friends north of that place.

The articles of incorporation for the cemetery have been returned and the directors wish to meet with those interested in the improvement of the grounds at the office of B. W. Brookway on Monday night. Turn out and assist in the beautifying of the cemetery.

During the past week the Orpheum has been more or less tore up but is gradually getting back in first class condition. Carpenter Tressler and force have been busy remodeling the house and when completed the Orpheum will be second to none in the show house line.

A fellow up at Harlem with about brains enough to fill a peanut shell thought it would be a great joke to ring the fire bell the night of April first. There was a goodly turnout of citizens but if the joker had been found he would have received a warming up that would have done him good.

The Orpheum have an exceptionally good show on this evening and one that is sure to please. They have James O'Neil in the "Count of Monte Cristo" in five reels and the fourth installment of the Adventures of Kathlyn. Owing to the large number of reels there will be but one show, but the Adventures of Kathlyn will show at the beginning and end of the show.

Last week The Enterprise advertised a pocketbook that had been found by Alex Elliott near Wagner. As soon as the paper reached Wagner Ezra Ereaux saw the item and knew at once the article belonged to him, and came down and secured same from Mr. Elliott. The book contained $50 in money besides some very valuable papers, and Ezra was very glad that it fell into such honest hands.

L. Whittemore of Saco has opened a new meat market in the Cavanaugh brick building on Fifth avenue. Mr. Whittemore has been in the market business for years, and will no doubt receive a share of the trade. He has filed on a dry-land farm south of town and will be a permanent resident of this section.

The quarantine against Wyoming sheep that has been in effect more than two years, was lifted in a proclamation issued by Governor Stewart on the assurance of State Veterinary W. J. Butler and the board of sheep commissioners that the contagious disease known as "scabies" no longer exists, or only in quarantined bands, in Wyoming. The removal of the ban is of importance to many Montana wool growers.

Mrs. J. D. Cameron died at the Malta hospital last Sunday after an illness of several weeks. The deceased had lived here only a short time, having come to this country with her husband and located on a claim north-east of town. During her short residence here she had made many friends who sympathize with the husband in his bereavement. The funeral services were held from the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended by sorrowing friends. The remains were laid to rest in the Malta cemetery.
