

Terms of Subscription: ONE COPY, ONE YEAR, $3.00; ONE COPY, SIX MONTHS, $1.50; ONE COPY, THREE MONTHS, .75.

CARTER BROS., Publishers. A. L. CARTER. G. B. CARTER.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Condensed for Convenient and Ready Reading.

WASHINGTON.

The grand jury has brought in seven indictments in the case—

Secretary Folger has issued a call for $20,000,000 in extended bonds bearing 3 1/2 per cent. interest, the date of redemption being January 20.

A MARBLE tablet has been placed in the Baltimore and Potomac depot at Washington to mark the spot where President Garfield was shot.

Two indictments have been found at Washington in the spy case—one against Contractor Brott for bribing officials, and the other against Deputy Auditor-Lilly for accepting a bribe.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR's life is insured for a round hundred thousand dollars. The company is the London and Lancashire, and are inclined to discourage the proposals of cranks.

SECRETARY FOLGER dismissed from the treasury department Private Secretary Babcock, who has held the position since 1875, and appointed Frank Sperry to the position. The latter has served Judge Folger many years in the same capacity.

It has been ascertained that President Arthur will recommend a reduction of taxation which will necessarily reduce the revenues by $15,000,000 per annum.

THE secretary of the navy reports the equipment of sixty-nine vessels during the year. A calling station was established on one of the Samoan islands, at a cost of $40,000. There are 1,885 enlisted men in the marine corps. The chief of the bureau of ordnance says the most pressing question of naval armament is the manufacture of suitable high-power cannon.

The alarm in regard to small-pox caused Assistant Postmaster General Hatton to issue an order that mail matter liable to communicate contagious diseases may be refused by any postmaster.

Another post-office is to be erected at Springfield, Mass., where seven new cases were opened. The board of health at Evansville has ordered the free vaccination of school-children in Chicago six deaths and nine new cases were reported. A whole family has been attacked near Fort Abconcombe, and left their byrned neighbors to die. A child was attacked in a hotel at Fargo, Dakota, and was at once sent to the post-house.

This impression prevails in Washington that the insanity defense has been greatly weakened by the appearance of Guiteau on the stand in his own behalf. His ready perception of points, his clear memory as to dates and events, and his cleverness in driving the insanity dodge constantly in the foreground have served to dissipate the notion in many minds that he was sufficiently insane to be irresponsible. But his worst troubles on that score are yet to come. The prosecution has only begun its cross-examination which, in the hands of a lawyer of the caliber of Judge Porter, may be expected to prove a terrible ordeal for the prisoner.

DUBLIN cablegrams state that seven houses were fired into last week in County Clare; that a woman near Sietow was threatened with death for giving information to a farmer in the same locality who turned-payers at Knocknaree, and a farmer near Millstreet was murdered for the same offense. Butterfield, a Land-league organizer for Armagh, was arrested under the coercion of a farmer in the same locality by Herbert Gladstone, protected by a large force of military and police, has arrived at Castleown, where forty evictions will be made on the estates of Lord Bantry.

CRIME.

An attempt was made Saturday evening to blow up the court house at Montreal, with an infernal machine.

JAMES P. HOLLAND, an accessory in the murder of Burgess Jones, was lynched at Danville, Ark., the officers making no resistance.

A TRIP entered the office of President D. P. Peis, of the Commercial National bank, Cleveland, and carried off a box containing $23,000 worth of bonds.

H. M. THIBBS, the forger, was arraigned in the circuit court at Kenosha, pleaded guilty, and received a sentence of seven years at hard labor in Waupun.

MELVIN SMITH, of Montreal, awoke the other morning to see a gang of burglars leave his bedroom with jewelry and precious stones valued at $10,000.

DR. JOSEPH A. BRIGGS, chemist at the trial of Michael J. Reilly for the murder of Alfred C. Hatch, when one trust worthy witness had given his testimony, Judge Laughlin directed the jury to acquit the prisoner, on the ground of self-defense.

The officers of the Indianapolis, Bloomington & Western railroad have brought suit in McLean county, Ill., against a farmer named Cope. They claim $5,000 damages for his carelessness in allowing cattle to escape from the field, by which a train was thrown off the tracks May 15.

THOMAS D. HANCOCK, employed by the Southern Express company as a messenger, deserted his train on the Iron Mountain road, taking $1,000 in gold belonging to the company. He seems to have forgotten $1,900 which lay in his safe. A later dispatch announces his voluntary return with the money.

The Bank of Prince Edward Island has closed its doors, through unwarranted advances made by its cashier, J. B. Brecker, who has fled to the United States. The banks in Montreal are believed to be the principal sufferers. The notes in circulation are $386,000. The capital was $145,000, and the stockholders are liable for three times that amount. It is said that accounts have been overdrawn to the extent of $650,000.

NEAR Spearville, Kansas, on Friday night, five armed and disguised men boarded the Santa Fe train coming east. A brakeman walked through the coaches and warned the passengers to hide their valuables, creating wild excitement. It was arranged that aid to capture the thieves should be obtained from a wrecking train on the side track at Spearville, and while a car was being boarded on one side the robbers sprang off on the other.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, and his cashier are still in the hands of a party of determined citizens of Caldwell, who insist they have no right to surrender them.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

DANFORD, the Kansas banker, was again warned, that unless the money due depositors was produced or secured he would not see daylight, which an announcement he fell in a swoon. A party of thirty armed men from Hunnewell arrived at Caldwell, to reinforce the besieging party. Tanner and Dennau, president and cashier of the bank, were taken to Wellington, where the former was held and exposed a vile conspiracy to rob the depositors of the banks. A committee of citizens has been sent out to receive the stolen assets.

THE Advocate.

Evil News Rides Fast, While Good News Bait!

CANTON, D. T., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1881.

NO. 34.

JOB DEPARTMENT. Having New Job Type AND A FAST JOB PRESS. We are prepared to do anything in this line with NEATNESS, AND ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

A HUSBAND'S LECTURE.

"My dear," said the young husband, "do not fret for just a simple team; do not mind As if the cup were gold. Dupuy can make another like the set— At least so I've been told."

"Believe me, dear, that nothing in this life is worth your fretting for. Do as I do— Be calm and lowly. Who do not wear themselves away in strife, Be calm—as I do."

The placid master stood serenely over His pet acquisition, watching its still life So calm and void of strife (The husband's hobby often is a bore, Even to a loving wife.)

Just then a footman entered with a note, And turning quickly the acquittal fell. Ah me! how shall I tell How the fierce master's poor culprit caught, And how he pulled the bell,

And called the man and maids, and bawled the Fretted and fumed in passionate regret, And how his feet got wet, And handsome carpet on the floor, He was ruined by his pet!

Meanwhile the wife, serene and calm and still, Sat smiling in her chair. "My dear," she said, "Where is your patience fled? You should control yourself. There is no ill Worth fretting for. Do as I do, instead."

No answer then. The wretch was all removed, Then came the maid, "I have been wrong, I fear; My poor lip-patience is indeed improved."

"Then she drew kindly near, And whispered something—which I can not tell; But ever since, the wife's small troubles find A sympathetic mind."

GENERAL NOTES.

The mayor of Council Bluffs sends out official notices that there is not a case of small-pox in that city.

The national butter and cheese convention passed a resolution favoring a law to prevent adulterations of dairy products.

A Boston jury has convicted Gardner A. Fuller and Capt. E. F. Mosher of conspiring to defraud the Central Goddard out of the bank Western State.

A PISTOL, supposed to be that with which Lefroy killed Gold in an English railway coach, has been found beside the track of the Brighton line.

THE federal grand jury at Omaha has issued three subpoenas for the cash in the treasury, $1,778,285,340. The decrease for November was $7,249,126. The coin certificates in circulation amount to $71,871,750.

FIFTY-NINE members of the Tammany society of New York, many of whom have been personal friends of John Kelly, have deserted the organization, and are likely to ally themselves with the county democracy.

DR. Bowling Green, Ky., E. G. Logan, managing editor of the Courier-Journal, of Louisville, was married to Miss Lena Covington, and a sister of the bride was united to Robert F. Dulaney.

THE federal grand jury at Omaha has issued three subpoenas for the cash in the treasury, $1,778,285,340. The decrease for November was $7,249,126. The coin certificates in circulation amount to $71,871,750.

THE federal grand jury at Omaha has issued three subpoenas for the cash in the treasury, $1,778,285,340. The decrease for November was $7,249,126. The coin certificates in circulation amount to $71,871,750.