

March, 4th, 1869.

O clap your hands, all ye people! Shout unto God with the voice of triumph, for the Lord most high is terrible. He is a great King over all the earth. God is gone up with a shout, The Lord with the sound of a trumpet. Sing praises to God! sing praises, for God is the King of all the earth.

Let all the people clap their hands In triumph unto God, Lo! he has rent the nation's bands, And broke the oppressor's rod.

Let all the people bravely shout, Of high and low degree, For time has turned the traitor out And made the nation free.

Well done! the old and chartered lie is now revoked so well, That feuds and hates are doomed to die And seek their place in Hell.

The traitor who "would be a king" Is crowned like vagrant Cain; He wanders now, a wretched thing, "Dann'd to eternal fame."

The poor man, now, whose bartered flesh Was cried by auctioneer, Whose blood-bought soul was sold as trash, May dry his every tear.

Shout, all ye people young and old, Devoted of heartless cant, The tailor and his goose is cold, Long live Ulysses Grant! Springfield, March 3th, 1869.

Hopeless Sorrow.

Alas for him who never sees. The stars shine through his cypress trees! Who, hopeless, lays his dead away, Nor looks to see the breaking day Across the mournful marble play; Who hath not learned, in hours of faith, The truth to flesh and sense unknown, That life is ever lord of death, And love can never lose its own.

ITEMS.

The Marquis of Bute is about to be admitted into the priesthood. One Ben. Butler has been sentenced for larceny at New Orleans.

William S. Eaton, postmaster at Cambridge, died on the 23d. Railroad trains are much delayed by the snow in the northern part of the state.

Moses Clough of Orange, is said to be the owner of a goose 59 years old, which has raised an average of six goslings a year for 58 years. When she becomes poultry she will try somebody's teeth.

There is a veritable haunted house in Pittsford which is creating quite a sensation among the citizens of that town. Another steam man has been built at Newark, N. J. Six miles an hour is the rate of speed claimed for it.

The Hartford Post thus indulges in local wit; It is well understood that democratic rule in New York means the reign of the "billys." Here in Connecticut it bids fair to be the reign of the "Jimmy." With Jimmy English for Governor, Jimmy Dixon for Congress in the first district, and Jimmy Babcock in the second, Jimmy Gallagher for Mayor of New Haven, and Jimmy Colt for something or other—he's waiting to know what—the party seem to be running altogether to Jimmies.

An old man employed in hunting rabbits on the Duke of Portland's estate, in Ayrshire, Scotland, was recently found in a rabbit hole, from which he could not extricate himself. He was drawn out by the heels, grasping a rabbit and a ferret in his hands. The ruling passion was strong in death.

In one school district in the town of Trenton, Me., there are six brothers named Hopkins, the youngest of whom is 57. In the adjoining district are five brothers named Higgins, and the wives of four of them are sisters born.

Farming is a trade, and a man has to learn it, however much he may know; and the knowledge must be applied, and he cannot learn it in a day, but must expect to improve constantly.

Seven persons were sentenced to long terms of imprisonment for counterfeiting in the U. S. Circuit Court at New York on Saturday, and two for perjury. As Andrew Johnson's term has expired there is a chance that they may not be pardoned but be obliged to receive the punishment due their rascality.

STRANGE CIRCUMSTANCE—On Saturday morning, the 18th inst., as Mr. Glenn of New Market, Jefferson county Tennessee, was engaged plowing on a side hill on the farm of Mr. Hill, half a mile from New Market, he suddenly perceived his team of horses disappear into the ground beneath, leaving the plow and harness on terra firma. Both of the horses were lost. The cavity is circular, and twenty feet in diameter, while on each side is a large fissure, into which logs have been thrown, disappearing from view, and it has been found impossible to fill the cavities. There are no rocks or stones to be seen, yet the whole side seems to be a mere crust, beneath which is an apparently unfraternal abyss.

Nothing leaves us as it found us.—If a sheet of paper on which a key has been laid be exposed for some minutes to the sun, and then instantaneously viewed in the dark, the key being removed, a fading specter of the key will be visible. Let this paper be put aside for many months, where nothing can disturb it, and then in darkness be laid on a plate of hot metal, the specter of the key will again appear. This is equally true of our minds. Every man we meet, every book we read, every picture or landscape we see, every word or tone we hear, leaves its image on our brain. These traces, which under ordinary circumstances are invisible, never fade, but in the intense light of cerebral excitement, start into prominence just as the specter image of the application of heat. It is thus with all influences to which we are subjected.
