

Power of Concerted Action.

Ten bad men will often hold a community of an hundred, in terror. There seems to be a much stronger cohesive power between the wicked than between the good, and hence we continually see that a minority of rascals can hold in subjection a much larger number who are their superiors both in mind and morals.

Eleven States which had enjoyed an astonishing degree of prosperity so far as the sale of the Southern staples, was concerned, and which had suffered no oppression whatever from a government, whose laws they had dictated, were "plunged into a revolution."

We are informed by a gentleman just from Pulaski, that on Sunday evening, the 16th inst., a party of Rebel guerrillas came into Pulaski, Giles county, and ordered them to prepare supper for a large party of them, and just before night about 100 of them rode into town, and after running around the Court House for a while, went out a short distance from town and encamped.

Some German chemists are said to have discovered that starch, by being peculiarly treated by nitric acid, becomes converted into an explosive substance, which promises to supersede common gunpowder. This starch, if employed for warlike purposes, will prove a stiffener for many a tall fellow.

Mr. G. A. ELLSWORTH, who dubs himself "Superintendent of Military Telegraph, C. S. A.," and does up the dirty electrical work for Morgan and the other guerrilla chiefs, was formerly the telegraph operator at Evansville, where he was distinguished as a Wide Awake and a devotee of "free soil, free men, and free speech."

If he will only notify us of his whereabouts, we will try and have these evidences of his zeal for the election of Mr. Lincoln forwarded to him without delay. Ellsworth is decidedly keen. When he was operating in this city, he not unfrequently gave us some specimens of his "sharp practice."

The reporter, however, had seen a telegraph office before, and "smelling a small mine," visited the battery room with a candle and discovered the difficulty, much to Morgan's friend Ellsworth's disgust.

Mr. G. A. ELLSWORTH, who dubs himself "Superintendent of Military Telegraph, C. S. A.," and does up the dirty electrical work for Morgan and the other guerrilla chiefs, was formerly the telegraph operator at Evansville, where he was distinguished as a Wide Awake and a devotee of "free soil, free men, and free speech."

Mr. John Hooper, a very respectable and intelligent Baltimorean, who was with Colonel Kenley's First Maryland Regiment, and taken prisoner at Front Royal, has just returned from Richmond, after an imprisonment of three months. He tells of accumulated horrors and sufferings to which our Union men, when made captive, are subjected to. In the warehouse where he was kept were six or seven hundred. Those recently taken from Gen. Pope were in the basement, some three hundred of them. Their treatment was horrible, worse than Western farmers keep their hogs. These poor creatures, besides being half starved, were crowded thick into an apartment with not room enough on the filthy floor for each to lie upon.

Green River Bridge Reported Captured!

Gen. Curtis's Force Between Smith and Bragg.

It is reported in the city that on Sunday week Bragg, with 10,000 troops, attacked the guard at Green River Bridge, numbering 3,500 men, who withstood him gallantly until the following Tuesday, suffering but light loss themselves and committing great havoc among the rebels. The entrenchments were very strong. On Tuesday, it is said, the guard surrendered, retaining their colors and arms.

If this rumor be true, we suppose the guard must have fought until their ammunition was exhausted. If the rebels have possession of the bridge, they will of course, destroy it. There are several places near it, however, where our army can easily ford the river at this season of the year. We learn that General Curtis has succeeded in throwing his army between Smith and Bragg, effectually preventing their darling object, a junction.

We are informed by a hardware dealer of this city that a few days ago he attended a sale on board the British steamship Cumbria, captured by our blockading squadron off Charleston, and brought to Philadelphia for adjudication. This vessel had, as part of her cargo, various articles of hardware, such as axes, hatchets, and hammers, all of English manufacture, intended for our Southern States.

Our Future Progress in Manufactures. We are informed by a hardware dealer of this city that a few days ago he attended a sale on board the British steamship Cumbria, captured by our blockading squadron off Charleston, and brought to Philadelphia for adjudication. This vessel had, as part of her cargo, various articles of hardware, such as axes, hatchets, and hammers, all of English manufacture, intended for our Southern States.

When we learn, too, that such is the superior excellence of American edge tools, that Collins applies to the British minister of Australia nearly all their picks and other implements we may learn to estimate still more highly the chances of our countrymen in their rivalry with the leading manufacturing nations of Europe.

The Colonel and the Governor. The annals of the war are rich in the illustration of the Divine Spirit's power upon individual hearts. I know not whether the following has found its way to the public eye. It is an eloquent appeal to Christian faithfulness, as we have before.

Colonel Russell, of the 10th Connecticut Regiment, asked Governor Buckingham for an evangelical chaplain, to make (as he said) his soldiers the best of troops. He was not a Christian himself—quite the reverse; but he told the Governor that he had noticed that the bravest, most reliable men in danger were the religious ones. Hence his request.

The bloody fight of Roanoke was over, and Colonel Russell was among the dead. He had fallen leading on those same brave fellows to victory. But before that fatal day he had sought the acquaintance of a Christian officer for guidance in the way of salvation. And to that Christian friend he stated that the few short, faithful words of the Governor had been the means of arousing his conscience to the subject of his own salvation, and they became the instrument of the Holy Spirit in preparing him, a pardoned, regenerated man, for the sudden termination of his earthly career. A word fitly spoken—how good is it? This incident was related at the recent meeting of the General Association at New Bedford.—Congregationalist.

Profession vs. Practice. Mankind will shudder at the outrages committed on defenceless females by those pretending to be our fellow citizens. Who will depict the horror with which they will regard the deliberate malignity which, under pretext of assisting an insurrection, makes special war upon sick women and children by carefully devised measures to prevent their obtaining medicines necessary to their cure?

Mr. John Hooper, a very respectable and intelligent Baltimorean, who was with Colonel Kenley's First Maryland Regiment, and taken prisoner at Front Royal, has just returned from Richmond, after an imprisonment of three months. He tells of accumulated horrors and sufferings to which our Union men, when made captive, are subjected to. In the warehouse where he was kept were six or seven hundred. Those recently taken from Gen. Pope were in the basement, some three hundred of them. Their treatment was horrible, worse than Western farmers keep their hogs. These poor creatures, besides being half starved, were crowded thick into an apartment with not room enough on the filthy floor for each to lie upon.

You are lying in terror from your home, scarcely waiting to kiss your heart-broken wife and children. Oh, God! the agony of that fearful hour! Strange things are whispered on the streets the next morning. Your friends whisper as though they feared to hear their own voices. Is he drowned? Is he hung? Is he shot? Every rumor, however improbable, or even absurd, serves to add to the weight that oppresses the public mind. Men look upon their families, and say to themselves: "Perhaps my turn may come next, if I resist this wicked but mysterious power. I know not how powerful this organization may be. It is better to submit than to be murdered." It is the aim of most men who have families to follow their private business as peaceably as possible, and few will take the trouble to step out and proclaim a public wrong. Hence, when the

The Original South Carolina Gentlemen.

The Genesis of the South Carolinians, as stated by themselves in the peripatetic correspondent of the London Times, has the merit of conciseness.—The State of South Carolina was founded by gentlemen.

The genesis of the South Carolinians, as stated by themselves in the peripatetic correspondent of the London Times, has the merit of conciseness.—The State of South Carolina was founded by gentlemen. Further of the same sort. We are enlightened with no definition of what constitutes a gentleman, (thence, in many a protracted Lyceum debate,) but as a "gentleman" who founded Carolina are mentioned in antithesis to the "wicked-burning Puritans" who settled New England, and who are forcibly described in the alliterative trilogy, "brutal, bigoted blackguards," we might infer, even if the "chivalry" had not sufficiently informed us, that the founder of this sovereignty were those dashing Cavaliers who flash through the reigns of the English Charles's. This gentle origin has long been a favorite theme of Carolinian eloquence; they have generally been listened to with the meekness befitting those who stand in the presence of scions of such lofty sires. And the only flaw, in such a theory is the whole theory is a stupendous fiction.

It is one of the advantages which we do not share with the Old World peoples, that as their origins go back to the antehistorical period, annalists were able to indulge their fancy at pleasure; and the medieval chroniclers have left us some such speculations, which can be done in the way of devising rational beginnings under the influence of what Goethe styles the "mythopoeic propensity." Oh, that Carolina's origin rounded off into those hazy, purpureal mist morns! But then, there are the documents in that accursed State Paper Office—those musty Colonial statistics, and the accounts left by Hewitt's Chalmers, and other illustrious children, who went round taking notes! If one could but wipe out those miserable mementoes, what "mythopoeic propensities" might one not indulge in?

When two hundred years ago, the Lords Proprietors to whom the Province of South Carolina was given in free and common consent, first set foot on the colony, their first business, they first proceeded in packing off a gang whom the earliest historian of South Carolina designates as "persons of low and indigent circumstances." So far from being Cavaliers, the great majority were poor dissenters, and their first Governor, SAYLE, was a Presbyterian! Mr. RUSSELL records his typical Carolina as remembering that he had been persecuted by the ancestors of the Puritans of New England. But the only "persecution" from which any of those "gentlemen" fled, was what old HENRY calls "the rigor of unmerciful creditors." "Youth reduced to misery by passion and excess," he adds, "emigrated to this colony, and were there found leisure to reform." As for the hatred which the correspondent describes them as entertaining for the Yankees, it was certainly not shared by their ancestors, for the early settlers of South Carolina used their best endeavors to promote emigration from New-England, trying "to make everything easy for them;" and at one time the whole colony was preserved from starvation by the generosity of the people of Massachusetts, whose assistance they implored. So, where as one lie.

At a later date, towards 1690, a large Irish immigration begins to pour in. They were followed by a few arrivals from Scotland and France, and "some Dutch settlers emigrated from New York." But to other original authorities, "none has furnished the province with so many inhabitants as Ireland. Indeed, so numerous were they that the lands in Ireland were in danger of lying waste." What the Irish were in those days—half slaves, half savages—may not be altogether unknown to the intelligent reader of history. But not considerably inferior to those of "gentlemen" from Germany, and the episode is rather a curious one. One SEQUOIA, who had been an officer in the King of Prussia's army, "succeeded in enticing five or six hundred low-bred people of his native country" to emigrate to the West Indies, but on arriving in London he abandoned the whole colony of South Carolina had not its proportion of white inhabitants, signified his desire of transporting them to that province. Whither, accordingly they went. Mr. Russell reports the Carolinians as contrasting the elements which peopled their country, with those that settled New England, adding: "The North attracted horde of ignorant Germans and Irish, and the scene of Europe, while the South repelled them." We have seen that the facts are. So much for another lie.

One hundred years (1761) after the commencement of the colonization of South Carolina, the whole white population numbered 25,000; (negroes, 40,000) what they were we have seen—Irish, Dutch, Germans, poverty-stricken, English dissenters, and they are the fathers of all such as do claim to be "chivalry!" There are some episodes in the social history of South Carolina, too, which "gentlemen" omitted in their cook-and-bull stories to the eminent correspondent of our heavy old London snuffbox, and which are worth bearing in mind in an estimate of their present character. Thus it was not stated that the Carolinians for many years (during the Seventeenth Century) devoted themselves zealously to piracy; Charleston being the common and welcome resort of all the pirates on the Spanish Main; that as an old annalist has it, "The Governor of S. Carolina, the proprietary proprietors and the principal inhabitants all declared their war on a level with the meanest of mankind, by assisting pirates;" and that it required the power of James II. and Anne and William, to put a stop to it. Moreover, many pirates purchased land from the colonists and took up their residence in the country, and became the sires of many "gentlemen." Nor was it stated that so small number of the chivalry are themselves descended from bondsmen on American soil; as the old colonial legal regulations fully prove that white servants, with or without indenture, were held in bondage and sold as chattels! Having the least democratic government, South Carolina was almost from the first distinguished as the worst governed, most insubordinate, and most ignorant and immoral of all the English settlements in America; while their diabolical negro-laws, their enslavement of the Indian tribes, their public entertainment of pirates, and their legislation repudiating the payment of debts due to creditors living outside the Province, clearly show the temper of those "gentlemen," even at that early day.

This is not the whole history of South Carolina; but these are elements which it will not do to omit in estimating the formative influences that have gone to shape the temper of that people whose ridiculous cocked-like manner of swelling, strutting, blustering and bulging is notorious throughout the world. We do not rank very high that species of logic which estimates people by reference to their propensities centuries back; and it is needed ones for all to tear away the veneer of humbug with which they attempt to cover their originally rotten timber.—N. Y. Times.

General Sigel.

The strategy by which General Sigel recently captured some two thousands of the enemy, whom he enticed across the Rappahannock by the exhibition of a small force and a weak and misplaced battery of artillery, is characteristic of the man, who will yet, if he is given the opportunity, teach the enemy some severe lessons. According to private letters we have seen, written by soldiers who were in the battle of Eba Ridge, he practiced a somewhat similar stratagem upon the enemy there, and with murderous effect. A considerable force of the rebel army was sent to charge some batteries which Sigel had stationed a little in the front of a wood. The force was somewhat too formidable to oppose with the infantry he had at command, but the General was not at a loss and did not think of retreat. He ordered his men to lie down in the wood, ready to rise up in a moment and deliver their fire. Then he ordered his cannoniers to fire a few rounds of ball, and afterwards a number of rounds of blank cartridge.

The rebels, cautiously advancing, at once guessed that Sigel had got out of ammunition. Their commander, with a shout of triumph, gave the order to charge in a body upon what he thought our empty guns. When the screaming rebels got within less than a hundred yards of Sigel's guns, his cannoniers were ordered to use grape and canister, and fire as quick and accurately as possible. At the same moment the infantry rose, advanced out of the wood, and poured in their volleys upon the bewildered enemy. The result is easy to see. The rebels, dismayed at the storm which tore their ranks in pieces at such close distance, halted, shook for a moment, then broke and fled with cries of horror, leaving the ground lying upon the field. A young farmer lad, belonging to a dragoon regiment which was sent to charge upon the flying rebels, writes in a letter home: "They lay there like grass cut down by a scythe, in great swaths."

Starvation Imminent in Virginia.

The Christian Banner, published at Fredericksburg, Va., has the following editorial statement:

Men may laugh and sneer at the idea as much as they please, but facts prove as prove that Virginia will be starved out in twelve months if the war continues in her territory. Every body knows, who has brains to think, that there is but little now produced in the State. Admitting that the usual amount of land was put in cultivation last fall and spring (which is not the fact) that has heretofore been cultivated, we know that the thousands on thousands of the laboring hands have left Virginia and gone to the Federal troops, while thousands of others have been sick South, and nearly all the poor laboring white class have been forced into the Southern army.

As we have stated in a previous number of the Banner, two large armies are mainly supported from what remains in Virginia, which, at best, was merely enough for the citizens, with the exception of an excess of corn and wheat, and an but little of these staples in the comparison will be raised this year, what will become of the citizens next year? The Confederate army in Virginia numbers at least three hundred thousand men, the opinion of the New York Tribune to the contrary notwithstanding, and in a short time the presumption is that there will be at least an equal number of Federal troops, so that we may safely say that there is almost an absolute certainty that there are and soon will be from six hundred thousand to one million of men and horses, all foraging in Virginia. What will be left for citizens? A parched earth, a desolated country and a pestilential atmosphere. This is what awaits Virginia in the future.

In London there is now an average of one thousand one hundred and fifteen deaths per week, and one thousand seven hundred and fifty births. Of the births, nine hundred are boys, and over eight hundred girls. A VICE OF LAND was recently sold in London at the rate of £1,900,000 per acre—sufficient to cover it with silver equal to half a dollar in thickness. A MORTGAGE ON A BABY.—Dr. W. on one occasion received no fee for marrying a parson's couple, and meeting them several months after a social gathering, took up their baby, and exclaimed, "I believe I have a mortgage on this child!" Baby's papa, rather than have an explanation before the company, quietly handed over a £.

Drama in Real Life.

On Tuesday evening, as Monsieur P., an army contractor, was walking on the Boulevard, he perceived his son walking with a young woman, very plainly dressed, but of modest and respectable appearance, hanging on his arm. He advanced towards the couple and asked his son in an angry tone how he dared to keep company with a workwoman? "Father," replied the young man, "I intend to marry Mademoiselle, and if I have not hitherto spoken to you of my project, it is because I have not been able to do so." "Because, sir, you know well that I would never consent to such an act of folly." "I do not know this, father, and therefore it is that I have waited for my majority. I am of age this day; I have obtained the consent of this young person's parents, and we are to be married very soon."

"I shall be under the necessity of addressing you a respectable summons," somnolent respects (a formality indispensable in France in the case of a marriage by any person, however old, without consent of parents). "I will convert all of my property into ready money, and you shall never have a penny." "I prefer happiness to riches." The father, exasperated to the last degree, raised his cane to strike his son, but suddenly his hand dropped, and he staggered and fell into the arms of the young man, who, in the confusion of the moment, had collected. He was a corpulent man of a sanguine temperament, and his anger had killed him!—French Papers.

The Prospects of Labor.

There has never been a time when the prospects of labor have been brighter, or the pay better than at present. In the farming districts the harvests are proving so abundant, that the price paid for labor has far exceeded any former season. The necessary force to move the crops and bring them to market are giving the railroads a busy time (added to what the Government require of them), and they are employing a larger force than ever before. The numerous contracts for Government vessels in this city and vicinity has caused a demand for all the different kinds of mechanics that can perform the work, that it has been impossible to obtain the necessary supply, and workmen from similar trades are put on in some of the yards to supply the deficiency. The different contracts for army supplies have given employment to most of those who were formerly engaged in manufacturing for the Southern trade, and from all appearances, male assistance finds abundant employment at increasing wages.

There is every prospect that the amount of produce to be received and shipped from this port this season, will be large beyond former seasons, and when we take into account the number of active men who are absent on military duty, there is certainly no danger of want of employment, but greater reason to fear that we shall be embarrassed for want of laborers—later in the fall. Therefore, with all the evils of war upon us, our laboring population can look forward to the coming season with the cheering certainty of abundant harvests, cheap provisions, and liberal wages for their work. This is no slight encouragement.

WAB MEETINGS.—We learn from a correspondent that the speakers appointed to address the meeting at Langford, yesterday afternoon, on account of some minor understanding, failed to be present. W. Lathrop, recruiting agent for Captain Cotter, obtained a few recruits from the assembly, however, and Capt. Cotter, who arrived late, arranged for a meeting to be held at Clarksburg on Tuesday evening next. A meeting was held at North Collins, last evening, which was addressed by W. J. Russell, of Madison University, D. C. Ostman, of Angola, and Capt. Cotter.—It is hoped that the meeting materially served the purpose of arousing the patriotism of the people.

N. DERBY.

No. 56, College Street.

FINE MILITARY CLOTHING

Officers' Fine Dress & Fatigue

UNIFORMS

A Splendid Assortment of Fine Military Goods.

COMPLETE OUTFITS

FOR OFFICERS,

Fine Havresacks, Fine Trunks, (Copper Riveted), Fine Valises, French Canteens,

3 Row Gold Embroidered SHOULDER STRAPS,

Fine Embroideries, of all kinds, Gold Buttons, Silk-Rubber Coats, Rubber Blankets,

All styles PAPER COLLARS; BRAIDS and TRIMMINGS, all kinds; SILK and BOTTING SHIRTS; FINE CASIMERE SHIRTS; LINEN SHIRTS, GAUZE SILE, GAUZE MERINGO and LINEN THURSD UNDERSHIRTS; DRAE and BUFF GAUZZETS, GLOVES, &c., &c.

GRIFFITH & PARSONS

COMMISSION

MERCHANTS

AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Groceries & Provisions,

FAMILY GROCERIES,

PLANTATION SUPPLIES,

DRIED BEEF,

HAMS, BACON SIDES,

SHOULDERS,

COFFEES, SUGARS, TEAS,

Mustard, Spice, Pepper, Nutmegs,

NAILS,

BAGGING, ROPE, TWINE,

SOAP, CANDLES,

MACKEREL

Whitefish, Herrings,

BROOMS, BUCKETS,

COARSE & FINE SALT,

CIGARS, TOBACCO,

CANDIES, FRUITS, WINES,

ROBACK BITTERS

Sutlers' Goods of all kinds,

And many other articles arriving daily, purchased for Cash, and sold at small profit.

Call and See.

GRIFFITH & PARSONS,

No. 7 COLLEGE ST., NASHVILLE, TEN

July 15-62.

GROVER & BAKER'S SEWING MACHINES FOR SALE

MACHINE NEEDLES

For Grover & Baker's, Wheeler, Wilson's and Howe Machines,

Also, MACHINE OIL,

And every thing pertaining to Sewing Machines. All kinds of

MACHINES REPAIRED,

At W. FERRIS'S Wall Paper Store, Cor. Duane and Second and Public Square.

By F. SPANK.

BACON—1,500 lbs. SIDES

For sale by W. M. LOTT

Dr. King's Dispensary

FOR PRIVATE DISEASES.

DR. KING, formerly of New York and the late of Louisville, who has devoted his attention to the treatment of private diseases, has a number of years' experience in the treatment of all the diseases of the male sex, and has a large number of patients who have been cured by his treatment, and who are now enjoying good health. He is now in Nashville, Tenn., at No. 22 Broadway street, between Church and Second streets, where he will receive all the cases of private diseases of the male sex, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the female sex, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the eye, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the ear, nose and throat, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the skin, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the lungs, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the stomach and bowels, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the prostate gland, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the testicles, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the penis, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the urethra, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the bladder neck, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the ureters, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the kidneys, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the adrenal glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the thyroid gland, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the parathyroid glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the pancreas, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the spleen, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the liver, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the gall bladder, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the biliary system, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the stomach, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the small intestine, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the large intestine, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the rectum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the anus, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the perineum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the scrotum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the testicles, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the penis, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the urethra, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the bladder neck, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the ureters, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the kidneys, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the adrenal glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the thyroid gland, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the parathyroid glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the pancreas, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the spleen, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the liver, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the gall bladder, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the biliary system, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the stomach, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the small intestine, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the large intestine, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the rectum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the anus, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the perineum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the scrotum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the testicles, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the penis, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the urethra, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the bladder neck, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the ureters, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the kidneys, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the adrenal glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the thyroid gland, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the parathyroid glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the pancreas, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the spleen, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the liver, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the gall bladder, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the biliary system, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the stomach, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the small intestine, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the large intestine, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the rectum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the anus, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the perineum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the scrotum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the testicles, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the penis, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the urethra, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the bladder neck, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the ureters, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the kidneys, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the adrenal glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the thyroid gland, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the parathyroid glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the pancreas, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the spleen, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the liver, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the gall bladder, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the biliary system, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the stomach, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the small intestine, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the large intestine, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the rectum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the anus, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the perineum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the scrotum, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the testicles, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the penis, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the urethra, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the bladder neck, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the ureters, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the kidneys, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the adrenal glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the thyroid gland, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the parathyroid glands, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the pancreas, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the spleen, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the liver, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the gall bladder, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the biliary system, and will attend to them with the most skill and success. He is also a specialist in the treatment of all the diseases of the stomach, and will attend to them with the most skill