JOB WORK.

We have the facilities and the workmen to do as good work, and at as low rates, as can be done anywhere, and we mean to do it. Bring your fine Job Work to THE DAILY HERALD OFFICE, corner Elm and Houston streets.

HUTCHINS.

TOWN Lots for Sale.

Twelve lots (one block), on the principal street of the town of Hutchins, on the Central Railroad, in Dallas county, to sale at low prices. Apply to JOHN W. SWINDELL, Herald Office.

DUST was king yesterday.

YESTERDAY was a blower.

WHEAT is cut again in today's paper, beaming like a tropic sun.

MESSES. MITZLER & CO. publish a change in their business. See notice.

LUDWIG comes forward with his Sunday locals—notices that are striking.

Our barometer says, "Get ready to keep in out of the wet, and don't start off without your overcoat."

The proceedings of the Methodist Convention yesterday were important and as interesting as any day since the session opened.

YESTERDAY was the local editor's birthday. He presented himself with a stack of toothpicks, and a Pacific eagle gave him a cinder in his eye.

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT DICKSON of the Pacific road, and Judge GOOD of this city announced for a stretch of fifteen minutes, last evening.

The cash system adopted by the butchers went into effect yesterday, and so far we have not heard any sensible consumer advance an objection.

An individual of versatile parts exercised the functions of a police officer the other night, for which Phares & Crabbe showed him up by his ear to his honor the mayor, who made it out exactly eighteen dollars and ninety-five cents worth of fun, which amount he paid for his gaitor and duster.

The fellow who went to the postoffice early yesterday morning, and taking his reflection in the glass in which is framed the delivery window, for one of the clerks inside, to whom he conversed for fifteen minutes without finding out his mistake, desires to know if Postmaster Jones will take out those windows or leave them in and fight.

The absent-minded individuals in Dallas are scarcely computable. Upon learning that Lucretia Borgia was to be played last night a man up town, finding his wardrobe short, and wanting to make a good appearance at the theatre, had three tailors at work making him a seventy-five dollar suit, paid twenty dollars for a new pair of boots, bought him a new "title" of the purest misery, and then was surprised at the conclusion of the play that there was no Bosworth Field in it, and that Macbeth didn't stab Cesar.

Two gentlemen of this city, having different opinions in regard to the symmetry and integrity of a chimney which the one constructed for the other, brought their opinions to a crisis yesterday, somewhat after Bichell's direction to his courtier; falling in conciliation, proceeded to use all means to crush. It is said that one employed a cane and the other a knife; the cane whacked and the knife cut. Then after a few changes of position by each combatant, a few charges and then a few retreats, intercessory hands brought about a cessation of hostilities, and now the question is, "I'd the chimney smoke?"

The pulpit of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches will be filled to-day as follows:

The Methodist at 11 a.m., by Bishop Kavanaugh; at 2 p.m., by the pastor, Mr. Thompson; at half-past 7 in the evening, by Dr. McMurrin, of Nashville.

The Baptist church at 11 a.m., by Rev. D. M. Proctor; at half-past 7 p.m., by Rev. Thomas W. Hines, of the Northwest Texas Conference.

The Cumberland Presbyterian at 11 a.m., by Rev. Dr. Pugh, of Waxahachie; at half-past 7 p.m., by Rev. Dr. Parks, of Sherman.

The Facile Road open to Shreveport.

At a meeting of the City Council last night, a resolution to raise the quarantine between this city and Shreveport was passed, and trains will run regularly to and from the latter city, on and after Monday next.

A Dallas Man Mistakes a Grindstone Hand for a Chicken's Neck.

A miserable blundering husband up on Young street, went out after sunset last evening, to wring a chicken's neck off, so he could have the bird for his Sunday dinner. Poking around in the dark, where he thought the chickens roosted, he barked his nose with a fence rail and made a gully on his forehead with the clothes line. This made him mad and plunging around in desperate grandeur, he swore he'd have a chicken anyhow, and then his wildly swooping hand fell upon the handle of a grindstone, "Darn you I've got you now," and he commenced turning the stone handle with a fiendish smile, "Ain't I got you, come off here!" His wife hearing his impatience rushed out with the lantern to see what was the matter, "I've got the blasted thing at last Betsy," giving the stone another turn, Betsy did "nt say nothing but broke the lantern or of his head and rattling her fingers in his hair, led him to his couch. The next morning she fed him out to the scene of his labors the night before, and asked him if he thought he could wring off the handle of a grindstone by turning it, and then fry the stone and eat it for dinner. He placed his hand with much extenuation below the last button of his vest and said, "Not any grindstone in mine, Betsy?"

DOWNS & CO.

These spirited merchants, always up to the times, and among our best advertisers and most accommodating and careful dealers, have lately made large additions to their stock of staple and fancy groceries. Call and see them.

J. G. BROWN & CO.

These gentlemen have removed to their fine new saleroom on Elm street, where they are now ready to supply their customers with some of the most elegant liquors and wines in the South.

Fields' Theater.

The shower of last evening did not prevent a fine audience from assembling at this theater to witness the sensational drama of Lucretia Borgia, by these accomplished artists, the Crimson troupe. As we have had no occasion heretofore to speak of Mr. Cripe in other than the language of adulation, we did not observe any reason for a removal of this feeling last evening. He then was, of course, satisfactory, better, he was Duke of Ferrara without the faintest shadow of his own personality, and that is the first and the last element of a true actor.

Philip Werlein, wholesale and retail dealer in Flutes and Organs, office and sales rooms, No. 309 Harmonie street, New Orleans. Philip Werlein is the oldest music house, and also the largest piano and organ house in New Orleans. One-thousand million copies sold of all kinds. Send for price list and catalogues.

Five Cases Ladies' and Misses' Lasing Gaiters, to be closed out cheaper than the same goods have ever been sold in Dallas, at WHEAT'S.

A night class has been organized at the Dallas Telegraph Institute for those unable to attend during the day. Tuition for moderate. Apply to J. A. WORK & SONS.

Miss Cecilia as Lucretia Borgia, made a decided hit, while we do not think is saying anything more flattering than we have remarked of the lady before, and which we are sure she will deserve.
