The pastor, Rev. A. F. Johnson, and his delegation were called out of town last week to attend the District Conference at Sherman. He reported a great time and a great deal of business transacted. He was elected president of the laymen of the Dallas District— we are proud of this.
The pastor failed to get back to his post of duty on Sunday. His pulpit was occupied by our young minister, Rev. E. A. Adams. He preached his fourth sermon. At 8 p. m. another young minister preached in person of Rev. Townsend. He preached a wonderful sermon that was enjoyed by all present. Both of the sermons by the young men of God were great. We are grateful for the splendid crown both morning and evening, during the absence of our pastor. This is encouraging to young ministers.

LEGALLY HANGED AFTER FOILING LYNCHERS.
Washington, D. C., June 30.—President Harding has refused to commute to life imprisonment the death sentence of William T. Turner, Washington (D. C.) colored, who shot and killed E. Morgan Moore, of Alexandria, on the night of April 26 last, on the Virginia end of the highway bridge over the Potomac. He was executed Friday morning. The offense occurred on Federal property and the man was taken away from the Arlington county authorities after a number of lynching parties had been narrowly averted by Sheriff Black. Turner, a prisoner from jail to jail under cover of darkness and being hanged in a Richmond street.
Turner held up Moore while he was riding in his automobile with Miss Pearl Clark, secretary to Congressman Britton, of Illinois, and after shooting his victim dragged Miss Clark from the automobile.

500 TAKE PART IN JEWISH RIOT.
(A. N. P.)
Chicago, Ill., June 30.—Five hundred bathers took part in a Jewish riot at Cleveland Beach last Sunday afternoon, in which women were beaten, children trampled and four persons arrested. Because fences were being torn down and playgrounds apparatus was broken, Superintendent G. Custer had ordered life guards to keep close watch. Life guard Ted Ritter was standing near a group when a woman made a derogatory remark.
"I understand," one is reported to have said, "that one of these life guards is a Jew girl." As he moved off he is alleged to have made a remark concerning Jews—and the fight was on. Mrs. Mary Murray, 1187 S. St. Louis avenue, is alleged to have seized a hammer and struck at him. Alexander Reiter, 117 S. Richmond avenue, attacked him from the side. Ritter shouted for help. Bathers and life guards came from all directions and in a moment the fighting had become general. Women attacked each other, pulled their hair and scratched. The bathers fought with fists, ears, pop bottles and anything that came handy.

COWS LEAD TO ARREST OF MAN IN MURDER MYSTERY.
(A. N. P.)
Honestown, Tenn., June 30.—Cows are adding to the clues of horses and mules as to the killing of Alec Butler whose body, without head, was found in the big pen near here, two weeks ago, almost entirely devoured. Grant Wilson, white, is in jail charged with the murder on the evidence that he brought Butler's horses and mules to Memphis and then told the Negro with whom he left them to turn them loose for the police to take up and tell no one that he brought them here. Now up comes squire Nat Ingram, who thought a great deal of the dead man, with the information that Butler's cows have been found tied to the dense underbrush of the bottom and nearly starved. They had eaten all of the forage in reach of the ropes and had had no chance to get water. The information now in the hands of squire Ingram is that Wilson tied them out where they would be safely hidden and where he could get them later.

NOT ALL VICIOUS
Hunter Revised Opinion of Bad-Tempered Mule.
Strange Desire for Offspring Pressed the Springs of That "One Touch of Nature."
When I was first in Africa I used to ride a mule. In some ways these animals are better suited to the country than ponies—they are tougher and do not contract horse sickness as easily, writes Llewelyn Powers in the New York Evening Post.

SCIENTISTS HOLD TWO VIEWS
Are Not in Accord in Their Explanation of Origin of the Planetary System.
Scientists explain the origin of our planetary system in two ways. One of these is the familiar nebular hypothesis of Laplace. The other is the planetesimal theory of Professor Moulton, which is probably the most correct one. According to this theory our planetary system was originally a vast spiral nebulae. The planets were formed by accretions of matter in the spirals of the nebulae. Our earth and its satellite, the moon, were formed in this way. The moon being a smaller accretion of matter, was naturally attracted by the earth, which was possessed of enough gravitation to hold the moon. The moon therefore is not a child of the earth, but speaking in everyday parlance, we might call it an adopted child. This theory explains a great deal that the nebular hypothesis does not. There are vast numbers of such spiral nebulae in the heavens, indicating that this is nature's accepted way of creating new worlds, and it is for these reasons that I accept this view of the formation of the earth and the moon. —Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Two Cold Inaugurations.
Two presidential inaugurations especially marked by cold weather were those of Taft and Grant (his second). Thousands of people became sick from exposure during Grant's second inauguration, and many died. It is said the coughing of people who had colds was so great that the orchestra at the inaugural ball could hardly be heard.

The Taft inaugural blizzard began in Washington the afternoon of March 3, 1909. It continued all night, and the snow in the capital the next day was so deep that it seemed impossible to have a parade. But the parade was held, and on a street swept clean, thanks to the Washington street department, which removed thousands of wagon loads of snow and slush from Pennsylvania avenue. Many people became sick from standing in the snow or sitting in the cold stands to watch the parade. There was much suffering caused by exposure. President Taft's reviewing section was inclosed in glass and heated by electricity.

"Robinson Crusoe" Musket.
The musket said to have been given to Alexander Selkirk when he was put ashore on the island of Juan Fernandez, 400 miles off the Chilean coast, has been going the rounds of British museums.

It was Selkirk's adventures upon which was based De Foe's famous story, "Robinson Crusoe." The musket is inscribed with the name of "A Selkirk Largo, 1771." It was purchased by Randolph Berens for $625, but the owner has insured it for $10,000.

Selkirk owned a tavern near Clapham, but died in 1726 at sea as a lieutenant aboard a naval vessel.

Washington Made Custom.
It was Washington's cabinet that established the custom for all future inaugurations to be made in public. When the time for Washington's second inaugural came around he was in doubt as to the proper method of taking the oath for his second term. He addressed a note to his cabinet asking for their opinion as to whether it should be public or private. The cabinet at that time was divided. Jefferson and Hamilton recommended that it should be private. Knox and Randolph reported in favor of making it public, which was done.

Soft, as It Were.
"All the young ladies are raving about your new clerk's melting eyes." "Let 'em rave," said Mr. Crumpton. "I've never known a chap with melting eyes whose brain wasn't in the same condition." —Birmingham Age-Herald.

To Prevent Suicide by Gas.
Henceforward nobody but a hermit with a bad cold in the head will be able to commit suicide by the gas route, according to officials of the United States bureau of mines. The bureau recently announced the perfection of a system of mixing chemicals with the illuminating gas in such a manner that leakage can be smelled "all over the house." Experiments have been successfully carried out with several different kinds of odors, including banana, wintergreen and grain alcohol. Two other concoctions result in odors described as "sumptin' terrible." Ancient eggs are said to be mild in comparison. This odor, the experts believe, is sufficient to discourage any would-be suicide who is worth the saving. The discovery is expected to make accidental asphyxiation impossible and will also go a long way toward preventing destruction of property by gas explosions.

Yap in Ruins.
Yap Island is practically a desert waste today, as the result of a severe earthquake and windstorm following it, according to an official wireless report from the naval station there, received at the Yokosuka naval station. The earthquakes and storm are said to have created almost indescribable conditions, and though no lives have been reported as being lost, the damage is said to be the worst ever inflicted on a Pacific island. So violent were the oscillations that the delicate seismographs at the Onaha and Tokyo Imperial university were badly affected and will need repairing. —Brooklyn Eagle.

REVOLVER INVENTED BY BOY
Idea of Deadly Small Arm Was Born in the Brain of Fourteen-Year-Old Runaway.
The revolver, that until the invention of the automatic pistol, was the most deadly small arm known to man, was born of the brain of a fourteen-year-old boy, Samuel Colt. Colt ran away from school and shipped on board a merchant vessel bound for the East Indies. He had a good deal of idle time on his hands once the ship was well at sea, and a long period of calm weather followed its movements. He began to seek an outlet for his active imagination and mechanical urge. He attempted various things to aid sailing, but without any great success. He then took to planning a pistol that would shoot several times with a single load. He had only bits of wood and a jack knife to work with, but before the voyage was over he had cut out a model for a revolver very similar to the pattern still in use. Once at home again, he went to
