

Humorous.

A Yankee "Commercial" Difficulties in Dull Times.

The following amusing sketch of a rehearsal scene between a Yankee "drummer," or commercial traveller, and one of his employers, is extracted from the Boston Commercial Bulletin:

One of these gentlemen, who has recently returned from a trip for Thistle and Co., of this city, did not show a very large exhibit of orders to balance the liberal "expense" account allowed him by the firm, and Mr. Thistle, after looking over his return, said: "Mr. Rataplan, I am afraid you did not approach the dealers in the right way. I used to be very successful in this line. Now, just suppose me to be Mr. Bigger, of Belmont, Illinois, and show me the way you introduced the house."

Accordingly Rataplan stepped out of the counting room, and re-entered, hat in hand, inquiring, "Is Mr. Bigger in?"

"That is my name," answered Thistle, urbanely.

"My name is Rataplan, sir. I represent the house of Thistle Brothers and Co., of Boston."

Thistle, in his character of Western merchant, here rose, offered the salesman a chair, and expressed his pleasure at seeing him.

"I am stopping with Overcharge at Stickemhouse, and have a fine unbroken lot of samples which I should like to show you. I think we can offer you some special advantages," &c. Rataplan delivering himself of a neat speech in professional style.

"Very well, very well," said Thistle, "I don't see but that you understand the way to get customers."

"Excuse me, Mr. Thistle," said Rataplan, "I am afraid you do not understand the style of Western merchants. Just now suppose you exchange places with me, and we repeat the rehearsal."

"Certainly," said Thistle; and, picking up his hat, he stepped out. Returning, he found Rataplan with his chair tilted back, hat cocked fiercely over his right eye, his heels planted on Thistle's polished desk, and a lighted cigar between his teeth.

Thistle looked a little staggered, but nevertheless he commenced—"Is Mr. Bigger in?"

"Yes, he is," responded Rataplan, blowing a cloud of pure Connecticut into Thistle's eyes; "who the deuce are you?"

"I represent the house of Thistle Brothers and Co.," said the astonished employer, coughing about a quart of smoke from his throat. "Are you of that concern, then?"

"No, sir, I am not," said Thistle. "Well, it's lucky for you that you are not, for I've had two drummers to one customer in my store for the last two months; and if I could get hold of one of the fools that send 'em out here at this time, I'm darned if I wouldn't boot him clean out of the town of Belmont."

"That'll do, that'll do, Mr. Rataplan," said Thistle, "I have no doubt you did the best you could for the interest of the house.—Trade is a little dull."

A WESTERN paper relates a ludicrous result of an attempt to capture a bear which has been depredating alarmingly on the live stock of a certain county. Three men stationed themselves in a window overlooking a hog pen where a visit from the bear was expected, and two boys, in order to make doubly sure, threw clean straw into the pen and lay down among the hogs to watch for the wild beast. The whole of them fell asleep, and the bear came and carried off a pig without disturbing any of them.

PADDY's description of a fiddle cannot be beat: "It was the shape of a turkey, and the size of a goose; he turned it over on its back and rubbed its belly with a stick; and ooh! St. Patrick I how it did squeal!"

A GENTLEMAN but a few months married, as he was bearing home a cradle one day, was met by a friend, who exclaimed with a smile—"Ah! these are the fruits of matrimony?" "No," returned the other, "this is only the fruit basket."

A PERSON to whom the curiosities, buildings, &c., in Oxford were shown one very hot day, was asked by his companion if he would see the remainder of the University. "My dear sir," replied the connoisseur, "I am stone-blind already."

THERE are trees so tall in Missouri that it takes two men and a boy to look to the top of them.—One looks till he gets tired, and another commences where he left off.

"I'll teach you to play pitch and toss: I'll fog you for an hour." "Father," instantly replied the incorrigible, as he balanced a penny on his thumb and finger, "I'll toss with you to make it two hours or nothing."

A TALKATIVE GIRL.

"Oh! if there is anything in this world that can be enumerated among the blessings of life, it is a pretty, smiling, vivacious and loquacious girl. Not one that will talk at you, in gossip, in scandal and in affection; but one who beams upon you like a new fledged meteor every time you speak, whose eyes sparkle like ten thousand diamonds in so many gas jets. Whose ruby lips open and shut, as the geranium when its petals wave before the unchecked wind. Such a one is to a grief-besieged father an angel. To a mother an indispensable blessing. To her brothers and sisters a God-given boon! And to a lover—Oh! our pen fails to coin an adjective deep enough, strong enough, brilliant enough to do her justice. She transcends the power of pen!"

LIFE.—Life is short! The poor pittance of seventy years is not worth being a villain for. What matters it if your neighbor lies in a splendid tomb? Sleep you with innocence. Look behind you through the track of time, a vast desert lies upon the retrospect; through this desert have your fathers journeyed on, until wearied with years and sorrows, they sunk from the walks of man. You must leave them where they fell, and you are to go a little further, where you will have eternal rest. Whatever you may have to encounter between the cradle and the grave, every moment is big with innumerable events, which come not in slow succession, but bursting forcibly from a revolting and unknown cause, fly over this orb with diversified influence.

When a young man goes astray, friends gather round him in order to restore him to the path of virtue. Gentleness and kindness are lavished upon him to win him back to innocence and peace. No one would ever suspect that he had sinned. But when a poor, confiding girl is betrayed, she receives the brand of society and is henceforth driven from the ways of virtue. The betrayer is honored, respected and esteemed; but the ruined, heart-broken victim knows there is no peace for her this side of the grave. Society has no helping hand for her, no smile of comfort, no voice of forgiveness. These are earthly moralities unknown to heaven. There is a deep wrong in them and fearful are the consequences.

THE "SIMPLEST POST-OFFICE IN THE WORLD."—A German paper says that the simplest Post-Office in the world is to be found on the southern extremity of America.—For some years past a small barrel has been fastened by an iron chain to the outermost rock of the mountains overhanging the Straits of Magellan, opposite Terra del Fuego. It is opened by every ship passing through the Straits, either to place letters in it or to take letters "from it. The Post-Office, therefore, takes care of itself, it is confided to the protection of seafarers, and there is no example of any breach of this trust having occurred. Each ship undertakes the voluntary transmission of the contents of the barrel if their destination is within the limits of its voyage.

HARD work is the grand secret of success. Nothing but rags and poverty can come of idleness.—Elbow grease is the only stuff to make gold with. No sweat no sweet. He who would have the crow's eggs must climb the tree. Every man must build up his own fortune now-a-days. Shirt sleeves rolled up lead on to best broadcast; and he who is not ashamed of the apron will soon be able to do without it. "Diligence is the mother of good luck," as poor Richard says; but "idleness is the devil's bolster," as John ploughman says.

WE PASS FOR WHAT WE ARE.—A man passes for what he is worth. Very idle is all curiosity concerning other people's estimate of us and all fear of remaining unknown is not less so. If a man knows that he can do any thing—knows that he can do it better than any one else—he has a pledge of acknowledgment of that fact by all persons. The world is full of judgment days, and into every engagement that a man enters, in every action that he attempts, he is judged and stamped.—Emerson.

NOBLENNESS of spirit, like beauty of person, discovers itself upon sight. The word affection implies an effort to make others believe that we are possessed of those qualities, of the lack of which we are secretly and painfully conscious.

THERE can be no permanent contentment in a nation which is going back in the fundamental art of cooking.

REASON can never show itself more reasonable than in ceasing to reason about things which are above reason.

WHERE a girl has too many boys about her, the indication is like that of boys off a harbor—shallow water here.

Notice

REASONS why every one should insure in the Equality Life Insurance Company, of Virginia: 1st. It is more liberal to the Insurers than any other company, and will eventually become Purely Mutual and belong to the Insurers. 2d. It circulates the money amongst its patrons, who are the Insurers. Consequently they are continually getting the benefit of the rapid accumulation of the Company, the money being invested by the Board of Directors amongst the Insurers. 3d. The loans of this Company are all better than other companies who declare dividends at the end of the second, third and fourth years, but this Company at the end of the first and every year.

CHARLESTON ADVERTISEMENTS.

CAROLINA FERTILIZER
THE "CAROLINA FERTILIZER" is made from the Phosphate of South Carolina, and is pronounced by various chemists, one of the best Manures known, only inferior to Peruvian Guano in its fertilizing properties. These Phosphates are the remains of extinct land and sea animals, and possess qualities of the greatest value to the Agriculturist. We annex the analysis of Professor Shepard:
Analysis of CAROLINA FERTILIZER, personally selected:
Moisture expelled at 212° F. 16 30
Organic Matter, with some water of combination expelled at a low red heat, 16 50
Fixed Ingredients, 66 80
Ammonia, 2 60
Phosphoric Acid—Soluble, 6 86 Equivalent to 11 27 Soluble Phosphate of Lime.
Insoluble, 6 17 Equivalent to 13 45 Insoluble (bone).
Sulphuric Acid, 11 13 24 75 Phosphate of Lime.
Sulphate of Potash, 5 80
Sulphate of Soda, 5 50 Equivalent to 23 65 Sulphate of Lime.
Sand, 11 08
On the strength of these results, I am glad to certify to the superiority of the CAROLINA FERTILIZER, examined.
C. U. SHEPARD, Jr.
We will furnish this excellent FERTILIZER to planters and others at $60 per ton of 2,000 lbs.

ETIWAN GUANOS, SOLUBLE MANURES, AND SULPHURIC ACID, MANUFACTURED AT CHARLESTON,
UNDER the direction of Dr. N. A. PRATE, Chemist for the Sulphuric Acid and Super-Phosphate Company.
SOLUBLE PHOSPHORIC ACID, in the form of SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE OF LIME, or DISSOLVED BONE PHOSPHATE, is the basis of all good Fertilizers, and those are valuable in the ratio of Soluble Phosphoric Acid which is in them.
The immense deposits of Phosphate of Lime, which were discovered in 1867 in South Carolina, by Dr. PRATE, consists mainly of Insoluble Phosphate of Lime, which is made available as a Fertilizer by being ground to powder, and reduced by Sulphuric Acid to such a condition as to make its insoluble phosphate soluble in water, and thus made capable of being taken up by growing plants. The insoluble phosphate found in any commercial Fertilizer is of no more value to the plant than the original phosphate rock. The greater the proportion of this Soluble Phosphate which any Fertilizer contains, the less the quantity required per acre, and consequently the cheapest Fertilizer is that containing the highest per cent of Soluble Phosphate.
Impressed with these truths, the SULPHURIC ACID AND SUPER-PHOSPHATE COMPANY have erected at Charleston the first extensive Acid Chambers south of Baltimore, and are able to offer to planters the Highest per cent of Soluble Phosphate of Lime known in any market.
Their Fertilizers are offered under two forms:
1. ETIWAN NO. 1.—Pure Soluble Phosphate, guaranteed to contain 24 per cent of Dissolved Bone Phosphate of Lime, $60 per ton, 10 per cent. discount for cash.
2. ETIWAN NO. 2.—Peruvian Super-Phosphate, guaranteed to contain 20 per cent of Dissolved Bone Phosphate, and 15 to 3 per cent. of Ammonia, with a sufficient addition of Peruvian Guano to adapt it to all crops, $70 per ton, 10 per cent. discount for cash.
WE ALSO OFFER
DISSOLVED BONE, of high grade, for planters or manufacturers, who may desire to mix into any other compound, and we suggest that this is the best and cheapest method for manufacturers to transport the Sulphuric Acid contained in the mixture. Will be sold at a fixed rate for each per cent.
