SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1866,

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, August 25, 1866 -Dele gates to the Lova Southern Union Convention are requested, on their arrival, to call at the headquar ters of the National Union Club, No. 1105 Chesnut street, and register their names. They will consider the building at their entire service during their residence in this city.

Citizens of Philadelphia anxious to extend their hospitality to our Union brethren of the South will please report at once how many gentlemen they can

It is requested that during the session of this Loyal Convention of true Southern Union men, our fellowcitizens shall display the Union flag from the shipping, public buildings, business places, and private residences generally.

JOHN E, ADDICKS, Chairman. A. M. WALKIYSHAW, Secretary.

Meetings Next Week-A Suggestion. WE would suggest to those having charge of the matter, the propriety of holding meetings next week every evening during the presence of the Convention at various points throughout the city-say in each Congressional district. There is a very general anxiety on the part of the people to listen to the distingaished gentlemen who will be present at the Convention. One or two meetings will not accommodate a tenth part of the people who would be glad to hear, while not more than three or four speakers can find time for addresses. There will be at least one hundred of the best stump-speakers in the United States present in the city. The people want to hear them. Let us have at least half a dozen meetings every night.

The National Union Executive Committee. The New York World, an authority on such a subject, gives us its views on the constitution of the National Union Executive Committee, appointed by the Baltimore Convention in 1864. It says:-

"Governor Ward's logic is saicidal; for if, as he asserts, Mr. Raymond is atready divested of his chairmanship, so that other members of the Committee cannot acknowledge it, it is superfuons to call a meeting to depo e him. It may be said, indeed, that the Committee needs a new chairman. But this would be said to no purpose, since the Committee will be just as competent to appoint a new chairman in 1868 as it is in 1866; and if a meeting can be called without a chairman now, it could equally be called without a chairman then. In turth, the Pula-delphia meeting is called merely to put Mr. Raymone outside the party, and his call has driven the radicals to stuly themselves by declaiing the work already done which they are going to Philadelphia to undertake. It Mr. Raymend is chairman, they are seceders in holding an outside meeting while the regular one is in session. If he is not, there is no need of their meeting to put him out."

-This might be all very true, but there are two objections: -1st. The meeting of the Committee is called for another purpose than to appoint or depose a Chairman. That is but an incident in the causes which led to its assemblage; and hence, when it quietly ignores Mr. Raymond, and appoints another delegate to represent the State of New York. it will be guilty of no inconsistency whatever. 2d. If it can meet in 1868 to fill the vacant chairmanship, as the World allows, then, if it sees fit, why cannot it meet now? The World says there is no necessity; but we think that the Committee may be considered a better judge of its wants than the organ of the party which sought to defeat it in every election. Mr. Raymond. by his own act, forfeited his position on that Committee, the same as a Methodist minister, by becoming a priest of the Roman Catholic Church, vacates, by his act, his pulpit as a Methodist; and all that is then necessary is to make another choice. Because the ex-clergyman declines to call a meeting of the congregation, is no reason why he can continue to draw his salary while working against the doctrines of his employers. So it is with Mr. Raymond, and so any one with common sense must acknowledge.

Words of an Old War Democrat.

GENERAL HIRAM WALBRIDGE, a life-long War Democrat of the Daniel S. Dickinson school, and the acknowledged leader of the loyal wing of the Democracy during the war, is out in a letter breathing the true spirit of patriotism. He puts a number of pertinent questions to his fellow-members of that organization, the answers to which, by the Socratic line of argument, are most convincing.

"Have we, then, who stood by the old flag, gained nothing by its triumph but the privilege of being ruled by those who fought for its prostration? Do the beaten Rebels return to a dubious loyalty, with all the rights they enjoyed before they plunged into treason?

"I think not. I hold that the loyal States and people achieved by their successful struggle a right to complete security against future Rebellions on such grounds and with such impulses as were held to justify that of 1861.

"I hold that the present Congress is emphatically right in demanding that the States lately in revolt shall no longer enjoy a factitious and exceptional power in our national councils, based on four millions of their people whom they obstinately refuse to educate or entran-chise, and whom they divest of the arms and deny the military organization and discipline required to render them efficient in our national defense,"

Or, making it still stronger, be might have a leed:-Shall the compulsory freeing of the 4,000,000, in the teeth and in open defiance of the Rebel armies, only result in adding to the political power of their enemies, by giving them some fifteen additional members of Congress? Shall we put a premium on treason and refuse to reward loyalty? The Republican party may sum up their platform in one phrase:-One vote in South Carolina = one vote in Pennsylvania. The conservative party, on the contrary, have their equation :- Two votes in South Carolina = five votes in Penn-

On what side the War Democrats and all Northerners who desire themselves to be equal to a Southerner will be found, is not a matter of doubt

GENERAL GRANT.-We notice that since Gene Johnson, some of the radical speakers and newspapers have been beginning, in a timic and indirect way, to make assaults upon him. Grant has such a great and solid position in the confidence and affection of the American people, that it will not do at first to denounce him as a traitor, tyrant, and drunkard; but they first hurl such epithets with tremendous fury at the President, and then insinuate cautiously that Grant, by countenancing the course of the President, is at least not doing precisely the radical thing. They hope that thus they will liake the confidence that the nation reposes in him, and when once they are able to do this in the smallest degree, they will proceed to open bigger and louder guns upon him, till at last they can pour in hot shot and big balls, as hot and heavy as those with which they bombard President Johnson himself.—N. Y. Times.

-This is simply an untruth. The explanation afforded by General Grant himself, that he was only present because sent for on official business, refutes the statement that any political significance can be attached to his presence on the occasion mentioned. But even had he been there through a wish to testify his agreement with the President, not a word against him would have been spoken. All conservatives, with a good war record, are safe from attacks; but under that proviso there are so few made safe, that the exemption is almost a nullity.

MR. DURANT'S SPEECH.-The Honorable Thomas J. Durant, of Louisiana, addressed an immense assemblage in front of the Union League House last evening. His speech was of that calm, dispassionate order of eloquence so well fitted to convince all candid and thinking men. The terrible story of the massacre of Union men in New Orleans grew ten fold more tragic as it fell from the lips of an eye-witness. The grave constitutional questions, too, growing out of matters connected with the riot were most, ably and convincingly handled. Judge Durant's speech was calculated to do great good. It should be widely read and circulated.

THE BALTIMORE OUTRAGE.—The attack upon a religious camp meeting night before last, near Baltimore, by the Rebels and Rebel sympathizers, resulting in the death of one gentleman, shot while in the very act of prayer, and the dispersion of a portion of the meeting, is another tragedy of the Memphis and New Orleans type, which may well cause all thoughtful men to ponder. In New Orleans it was a political convention that excited the murderous ire of these men; in Baltimore it was a religious meeting. What shall the end of these things be?

SECRETARY HARLAN.-Secretary Harlan retired from the office of Secretary of the Interior yesterday. His course has been frank and honorable. His official duties have been well performed, and he will carry with him the good wish of all who know him. Mr. Harlan has already been elected Senator from the tate of Iowa for the term of six years commencing March 4, 1867. He is an experienced legislator, whose presence will be welcomed in the Senate.

THE CITY TICKET .- The city ticket completed by the Union Convention yesterday is one of the strongest ever put in the field. The nominations give universal satisfaction, and will consolidate the party for the grand campaign and victory that are before it.

- Brazil will open an Industrial Exposition

All classical schools and colleges, except, perhaps, a few for the incorrigible, must yet, in the progress of improvement, dissense with punishment in every form. The incorrigible, whom generous motives will not win over—not the one-hundredth part of our von h—will be, in the good time coming, withdrawn from seminaries quietly and without censure by their parents, through the advice of processors, and put into schools of correction; or what, perhaps, is better, disciplined by some suitable kind of business.

The former pupils have had to an unusual extent their aspirations so raised and their minds se cultivated, as to at ain to the highest honors in college, and to the first places in business, and to become, by the blessing of God, as the chief desideratum, good and efficient members of society.

Visitors are at all hours welcomed. They will find no staring, no slyness no id eness, no whispering in the school-room, the perfection of order and god feritations. They will find on the ball-ground no teasing no vulgar language, no use of tobacco, nothing whetever objections be a nin with its innocence they will observe the inliest flow of youthful affection and jovousness.
