

AMUSEMENTS. AMERICAN ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—On next Monday evening, the 17th inst., the Richings Opera Troupe, as reorganized, will open this house.

NEW CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE.—In order to accommodate many persons who could not visit this theatre during last week, in consequence of the warmth of the atmosphere, Vestral has concluded to repeat Del Demonio for three nights more, when it will positively give way to another novelty, founded on Bulwer's beautiful story entitled "Night and Morning."

THE NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.—Mr. Barnshaw has determined to reduce the prices of admission to this theatre, in order to place it within the means of every body to visit this beautiful new first-class dramatic temple. During the present week the Worrell Sisters will appear in an entirely new bill, assisted by Mr. T. L. Donnelly, and the entire new company of the American. The burlesque of Diogenes is to be produced this evening for the first time in this city with an excellent cast of characters.

NEW WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—This evening the celebrated drama, adapted from the French, of A Romance of a Poor Young Man, will be produced with new scenery and appointments, and a splendid cast. Mr. Frank Mayo and Mrs. Agnes Perry sustain the principal roles of "Manuel" and "Marguerite," supported by Mr. J. B. Roberts, Misses Elie Germon and Annie Graham, Mesdames Walcott, Chester, and Chapman, and Messrs. Walcott, Fawcett, Chester, and Chapman. The performances of Mr. Mayo and Mrs. Perry created quite a furor in Boston, where they have just concluded a very successful engagement. As they are comparatively new to the Philadelphia public, we trust that they will be kindly received.

THE NEW ARCH STREET THEATRE.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence, the famous "Irish Boy" and "Yankee Girl," give their initial performance this evening. Mr. Florence gives us his imitable "Paddy Baffeen" and the "Returned Volunteer," and Mrs. Florence appears with him in the ever-popular program extravaganza of the Young Actress, in which she sustains eight different characters.

ASSEMBLY BUILDINGS.—Mr. Robert Heller will positively appear every evening in his Scintillating. He will positively play upon the piano, upon words, and upon the better feelings of his audience. He has prepared an extraordinary program for this evening, and as many of his friends, patrons, and admirers as get together, would be glad to present to witness his wonderful, versatile, and pleasing acts.

ELEVENTH STREET OPERA HOUSE.—Carver & Dixey have arranged an admirable program for the present week. The new comical burlesque of the City of Dreadful Night, and the Good will be given this evening, with the usual mélange of ballads, jokes, music, etc.

THE BURLAY FAMILY.—This troupe, so successful here, did not finish their engagement in Baltimore last week, and will perform three nights only, and then closed up in consequence of the illness of two of the brothers Burlay, and the death of a child of Mrs. Henry Acoust, the great juggler, in New York. The Burlays open at the Winter Garden Theatre, New York city, this evening, for a two weeks' engagement. Messrs. Platte & King, the proprietary managers, will visit Philadelphia shortly to perfect arrangements to have their troupe perform at the Academy of Music during the Christmas and New Year holidays.

JEA ALDRIDGE ROBER.—This well-known colored tragedian, while at the theatre at Rief, had his loggins entered by robbers, and the whole of his jewelry, including two gold watches, nine rings, four of them set with valuable brilliant stones, a brooch set with fifty-two brilliant, and all his other presents and relics of his deceased wife, also bills of exchange, bankers' and other acknowledgments, contracts, etc., stolen. Mr. Aldridge's loss in cash alone is said to have been nearly ten thousand silver dollars.

THE SPIRITUAL CHARLATANS.—The Davenport brothers are still at work on the continent. After remaining at Brussels a month, during which time they gave Seances nearly every night, they visited Liège, a large manufacturing town in Belgium, where they remained five nights. In Louvain the Brothers were particularly successful among the students of the University. Two exhibitions have been given in Namur. The Brothers are to Charleroi, and after visiting a few other towns in Belgium, proceed to Holland.

THE TRENTON TRAGEDIAN.—John E. McCullough took a benefit on August 3, at the Opera House, San Francisco, appearing to a crowded house as "Gloster" in Richard III. Mr. McCullough is one of the most promising of American actors. About eight years ago he filled the position of "utility man" in one of our Philadelphia theatres, and by hard study and unremitting industry alone has risen to his present position.

MISS KATHARINE JOSEPHINE BAYARD.—This distinguished actress is still engaged in Philadelphia, and she will be unable to fill her engagement at the Walnut Street Theatre in this city for some weeks. Mr. John Brougham will "fill up her time" at the Walnut. Kate's property is estimated at $75,000, a good return for ten years of the life of an actress. It will be gratifying to her relatives to know that she is not poor.

COLETT JOHANNES DAUGHTER.—A young girl's engagement at the Theatre Royal, Leeds, England, originally for a very limited time, has been so successful that it has been extended to nearly a month. East Lynne and Leah have been the only pieces played.

BROUGHAM'S LAST.—A new Irish drama has been written for Dan Bryant by Messrs. Brougham and Morford. It is called the Bells of Standon, and it is not to be acted with those chit-bells which Father Prout long ago so sweetly immortalized.

A NEW PLAY.—James Pilgrim, of the New American Theatre, is engaged in writing a new sensation drama, in four acts, of recent events, one act in each city of Alexandria, Va., Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia.

BOUCAULT'S LAST.—The Long Stride is the title of Boucault's new piece, to be produced at the Lyceum, London, with Mr. and Mrs. Boucault in the cast.

AN OLD THEATRE.—Sailor's Wells, the oldest theatre in London, has been standing just a hundred years.

THE BOOK TRADE SALE IN NEW YORK. Third Day.

The Book Trade Sale was resumed this morning by Messrs. Leavitt, Streibich & Co. The attendance was not so large as on the previous day. The extensive invoice of D. Appleton & Co., covering thirty-one pages of the catalogue, was offered. The prices realized at this sale have averaged this far fifteen per cent. more than at the spring sale. The books of Little, Brown & Co., of Boston, brought several thousand dollars more than was anticipated. The catalogue of William W. Harding, of Philadelphia, last evening sold very well, many of his titles realizing wholesale rates. The invoice of Appleton & Co. this morning, included many old books, for which there was no great demand, and the result was that the prices obtained were not one-half of the retail prices. Good books, however, have sold well. Seven large volumes of "Benton's Abridgements of the Debates of Congress" brought $122 1/2 volume. The retail price is $5. "Benton's Thirty Years' View" sold at $1-80 a volume. Retail price $4. "Buckley's History of Civilization" brought $2-50 a volume; "Burton's Cyclopaedia of Wit and Humor," $3 a volume; J. C. Calhoun's works, $1-80; "Cook's Life of Stonewall Jackson," $2; Dickens' Novels, twenty-four volumes, sold at $2-75 each; "The Speeches of General Dix," 2 volumes, published at $3-50, brought 50 cents a volume; "Gibbon's History of Civilization," 9 volumes, 50 cents each; "Life of Archbishop Hughes," $1-90; "Mythology of Ancient Greece and Italy," $3; the Works of Lord Macaulay, $3-25 a volume; twenty sets of Marryat's novels, sold at from 75 to 90 cents a volume; "Mill's Political Economy," $2-25 a volume; "Modern British Essayists," 8 volumes, $1-30 each.

This afternoon the invoices of Messrs. Rutter & Co., Philadelphia; Taylor & Brothers, New Bedford, Mass.; L. Prang & Co., and Fisher & Denison, New York; and Degen, Estes & Co., Boston, will be sold.—N. Y. Eve. Post, 8th inst.

THE NATIONAL UNION COMMITTEE. A Statement by Mr. Sperry. Mr. N. D. Sperry, Secretary of the National Union Committee, who joined the members at the Astor House meeting, makes a statement concerning the split in that body. He says:—According to the notes of the Committee recorded in the books, the "headquarters" of the Committee and the place of the meetings were fixed at the "Astor House," New York city. All meetings of the Committee, special or otherwise, have been called by the Chairman and Secretary, unless otherwise fixed by adjournment. According to the record of the Committee, the meeting should have been held in New York. Neither had the "four" who called the Philadelphia meeting (one of whom, by-the-way, has since withdrawn from the Committee) any right to call a meeting under the circumstances, for that duty belonged to the Chairman and Secretary. And here let me say that neither the Chairman nor the Secretary had been called upon to give a meeting of the Committee, consequently they could not have refused.

After the irregular call of the "four" members of the committee at an unauthorized place, namely, Philadelphia, as I have plainly shown by the votes to be such, I consulted with the Chairman of the Committee, and it was agreed that if there was to be a meeting it should be a legal one in every sense. Consequently a "call" was issued for a meeting of the Committee in a legal manner, and at its "headquarters," as designated by its own vote. Inasmuch as the "four" who had called the Philadelphia meeting had fixed Monday, the 3d instant, as a time convenient for them to attend, we fixed the meeting at the Astor House at the same time in a spirit of accommodation.

In accordance with the above mentioned "calls," fifteen met at Philadelphia under the informal call, and all in New York under the legal or formal call. There being no quorum present, the New York meeting voted to adjourn, the time of the next meeting to be agreed upon by the Executive Committee (a minority of whom were present at the New York meeting); and that two weeks' notice should be given, so that there might not be any excuse for a quorum not being present. But the Philadelphia portion of the Committee voted to transact their business, in violation of the rules established by the own votes, without a quorum, only fifteen of the forty members being present; thus following the extreme radical usage of overriding any constitutional or legal barrier to a proposed course of action which seems likely to promote their success; while at the same time they pass solemn judgment upon three of their fellow-members, and sentence them to expulsion from the Committee, without even a hearing or catechizing them upon their views on that standard of Union orthodoxy, the platform adopted at Baltimore at the time the Committee were chosen. I know not what rule of action, or principle, could have governed their councils, except it be that fanaticism never reasons.

With the above facts I leave the matter to an impartial public, assuring them that, notwithstanding the action of a minority of the Committee, I am, as ever, sound on the principles of the Convention which made me a member of the "National Union Committee." Very respectfully, N. D. SPERRY, Secretary of National Union Committee.

THE PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY OF STATE. At Elvira, Ohio, the Presidential party had a brief village reception. The following, which is found in a report published in the Chicago Times, requires no comment.—One significant individual, with a radical idea of hospitality, exclaimed, "You will groan worse than that," said the President, "for the agonies of the damned are heavy."

Mr. Seward advanced and said he had not time to make a speech, but he would tell them a story. "There are two sections in this country—the North and the South. The North is all right, isn't it? (Cries of "Yes.") Now I'll tell you about the South:—

"There was a man in our town, And he was wondrous wise, He jumped into a bramble bush And scratched out both his eyes."

"That's the South; but the story goes on:— 'When he saw his eyes were out, He jumped into a mill race, And he jumped into another bush, And scratched them in again.'"

"Now, we are going to help the South to scratch them in again." (Loud cheers and laughter.)

A gentleman living in the Rue d'Honneur, at Paris, is in the habit of visiting Arcechon every year during the bathing season. One day last year, while walking in his garden, M. X., to amuse his children, planted his walking stick (which had a gilt knob to it) in one of the flower-beds. Being shortly after obliged to hurry to the station, to take the train to Paris, M. X. forgot the walking stick, which he had stuck in the ground. Having returned this season to Arcechon, his surprise may be imagined, when on visiting his garden, M. X. discovered that his walking-stick had taken root, and was becoming a young tree, covered with leaves and flowers, the top of the tree still being supported by the gilt knob. M. X. shows this wonderful tree with the greatest delight to all friends.
