PUBLISHED EVERY AFTERNOON, (SUNDAYS EXCEPTED) AT THE EVENING TELEGRAPH BUILDING, NO. 108 SOUTH THIRD STREET.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1867.

Result of the New York City Election. The result of the New York election yesterday was probably the next best thing for that city to the choice of Mr. Darling.

From this it will be seen that the Democratic majority at the election was about 67,000. The total number of voters registered by the Assessors was 135,599; so that there were over 31,000 citizens who refused to go to the polls.

The receipts from several special sources may be summarized as follows:

paid on the bonds deposited by the banks, is thus disposed of. Upon the merely technical ground of amounting to a receipt by the banks...

The Comptroller maintains at considerable length that it is a financial impossibility for the Government to act as the general banker of the country; and, after discussing the question as to whether the amount of paper money now in circulation is in excess of the demands of the country, says:—

"Judging of the present volume of paper currency by the high prices of every commodity, estimated in currency, it is evident that it is much in excess of the actual needs of the country."

The Report of Commissioner Rollins on the operations of our Internal Revenue system for the year ending June 30, 1867, starts out with a general resumé of the receipts of the department. In the following table, the aggregate receipts are exclusive of the direct tax upon lands and the duty upon the circulation and deposits of national banks:—
