ADVICES BY STEAMER.

The Fenian General in Dublin—Affairs in England and on the Continent, Etc.

By the arrival of the steamship Hermann, from Bremen, at New York, we have received advice by mail to December 10.

The Fenian Demonstration in Dublin.

The great funeral procession in memory of Allen, Larkin, and Gould, took place in Dublin on Saturday, the 8th of December. The Chairman of the Democratic Committee was John Martin, who in 1848 was sentenced to ten years penal servitude for "treason on felony."

Several bands were interspersed in the procession, and nearly every participant wore a green and white sash, the day was very wet, but several thousands of spectators lined the streets along which the procession was moving.

The death of these men was a great murder—the act of English policy, which, through jealousy and hatred of their nationality, had by fraud and force destroyed their independence.

This speech was made at the grave of Terence Bellew McManus, the leader of 1848, who was taken over from the United States and buried here.

The Dublin (Dec. 7) correspondence of the London Times gives the following particulars of the programme as it was arranged.

The topic of absorbing interest at present is the funeral procession which is announced for to-morrow. There can be little doubt that if such a demonstration be permitted to take place in this metropolis, it will excite the sympathy of the country.

The procession which are in contemplation—for there are others spoken of—will not be regarded by the people as monster meetings in motion, intended to give expression to popular feeling in a constitutional manner, but as displays of naked force, which would be an opportunity to assail the Constitution.

While a hostile press is impregnating the minds of the lower classes with the virus of disaffection, such assemblages may become especially dangerous, if they are directed to the gathering from any fear of collision between nations such as they have already produced.

A formidable obstacle will be raised in the way of those who would adopt remedial measures for the condition of the country. The policy of yielding to intimidation, as it would seem to be, may be carried out without securing peace and order, and the habit of impunity will make the disaffection more obstinate and exacting.

The order of ceremonial observed in Cork will be substantially adhered to, with the slight difference that each "martyr" will be honored by a separate hearse. The bands will play the "Dead March in Saul," and there will be a speech at the grave-yard by Mr. John Martin.

By no means will be permitted to address the multitude except Mr. Martin. This gentleman, who appears to be the prime mover in the affair, exhibits worthily the grateful spirit which he feels towards the British Crown, which extended its climency to him. He was one of those convicted for treason felony in connection with the movement of 1848, and sentenced to ten years' penal servitude. After undergoing a portion of his punishment he received a pardon, and now abuses the liberty which was generously bestowed on him to participate in the disaffected classes.

Various rumors have been flying about as to the probability of a counter-demonstration by the Orangemen, but it is to be hoped that no unseemly imitation of the conduct of the Fenian sympathizers will be attempted. Some hopes were entertained by the respectable and loyal citizens, including some of the most earnest Roman Catholics, who discountenance the conspiracy and its abettors, that even at the eleventh hour the Government would prohibit the demonstration, but no steps have as yet been taken with that view.

At a meeting of the Royal Geographical Society in London, December 9, a letter was read from Dr. Kirk, of Zanzibar, fourteen days later in date than the last that have been published. The letter is as follows:

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 9.—The interesting discovery that white man had been seen to the south of Lake Tanganyika, induced Mr. Churchill, the Consul, and myself to go to Paramoyo, a place on the coast, the point of arrival and departure of the Ejjii caravans.

THE WEST INDIES.

Captain-General Lersundi's Reception at Havana—Financial Deficit in the Jamaica Budget.

HAVANA, Dec. 21.—The Spanish steam-ship Francisco de Assis arrived here to-day from Porto Rico, with General Francisco de Sales Lersundi, our new Captain-General. Immense crowds thronged the wharves and terraces that line the way to the harbor.

Various rumors have been flying about as to the probability of a counter-demonstration by the Orangemen, but it is to be hoped that no unseemly imitation of the conduct of the Fenian sympathizers will be attempted.
