

FIRST EDITION NATIONAL FINANCES.

Statement of Alexander Delmar, Director of the Bureau of Statistics, of Receipts and Expenditures of the Government During the Past Three Years.

(Mr. Alexander Delmar having been legislative out of office by Congress, and having until the first of January next only in which to render the science of statistics ridiculous, has made a desperate effort to bolster up the reputation of the Democratic platform by the "exhibit" from which we quote all the material portions below. Having given the mastery and irrefragable statements of Messrs. Wells and Aikinson, we permit expiring Democracy to give this last financial gap confidence that the most superficial reader will at once detect its sophistries and contradictions. An insight into Mr. Delmar's utter recklessness and unworthiness is afforded by the fact that he anticipates on the first of January next a balance in the national Treasury of only $28,000,000, in gold and currency combined; and this despite the unquestionable fact that there is now accumulated more than three times this amount in gold alone, while the receipts from customs for the three months are to be added to it. Mr. Delmar evidently anticipates the election of Seymour and a Democratic Congress, and trusts to both being legislated back into his sinecure. So he perverts facts and figures with a reckless hand in order to contribute to his own resurrection, figuring up a deficiency of $154,000,000 before the first of July next by doubling the Congressional estimates of ordinary expenditures; by placing the gold revenue from customs at $150,000,000 only, in place of $173,000,000, the annual average during three years past; and by pulling down the entire annual receipts from internal revenue to $122,000,000. As a financier, Delmar totally eclipses his past record as a statistician, and deserves to rank as a statesman of the first Democratic water.—EDITOR EVENING TELEGRAPH.)

On the 19th inst., the following letter dated at New York, was forwarded to Hon. Alexander Delmar, Director of the Bureau of Statistics, at Washington:—

Sir:—Your familiarity with the affairs of the Treasury leads us to make the following inquiries, to which we shall feel obliged for an early reply:—

- 1. What have been the total receipts and expenditures of the Government during the past three fiscal years?
2. What are the estimated expenditures of the current fiscal year? What appropriations were demanded by the Treasury? What appropriations were granted by Congress, and when Congress adjourned, what appropriations remained available sources of authority for the expenditure of money from the Treasury?
3. What are the estimated revenues of the current fiscal year, and in what condition will the Treasury be on the 1st of January, 1869, and 30th of June, 1869, respectively?
We are, sir, yours respectfully,

HENRY GRIFINELL, ROYAL PHELPS, WILSON G. HUNT. Reply of Mr. Delmar.

UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT, BUREAU OF STATISTICS, WASHINGTON, Sept. 25, 1868. (Continued in reply to yours of the 19th inst., and to numerous other letters addressed to me on the subject, I have the honor to furnish the following account of the condition of the United States Treasury, as set forth in the reports of its various offices.)

The receipts and expenditures of the Treasury may be divided into four branches, classed as follows:—First, the Register's receipts and expenditures; second, the Treasurer's receipts and expenditures; third, the Post Office receipts and expenditures; fourth, the Navy Pension Fund. The Register's receipts and expenditures appear in the Register's reports, the Treasurer's receipts and expenditures appear in the Treasurer's reports, the Post Office receipts and expenditures in the reports of the Postmaster-General, and the accounts of the Navy Pension Fund in the reports of the Commissioner of Pensions.

The Register's receipts are gross receipts. The expenses of collection, drawbacks, discounts, repayments, etc., appear in the expenditures. The following are the Register's receipts and expenditures for the past three fiscal years:—

Table with columns for RECEIPTS, EXPENDITURES, and BALANCE. Rows include Customs, Internal Revenue, Public Lands, Miscellaneous, and various other categories.

of these sums in the War and Navy Departments, and back payments of interest.

There are some receipts in the War Department, I believe, which are never conveyed into the Treasury at all, and concerning which I have consequently no information. This matter has been made the subject of official communication now on file in the War Department.

The total receipts and expenditures of the Government during the past three fiscal years, as above mentioned, are as follows:—

Table showing TOTAL RECEIPTS and TOTAL EXPENDITURES for the years 1865-6, 1866-7, and 1867-8.

The Post Office receipts and expenditures of the past three fiscal years, as above mentioned, are as follows:—

Table showing RECEIPTS and EXPENDITURES of the Post Office for the years 1865-6, 1866-7, and 1867-8.

The estimated expenditures (summary estimate) for the current fiscal year, and the amount and class of appropriations (detailed estimates) required to cover them, will be found respectively in Executive Documents Nos. 2 and 3, Fortieth Congress, second session. In actual fact, the detailed estimates prepared for the summary estimate, taken in connection, as originally printed, they contained several arithmetical discrepancies, which arose from attempts to cut down the totals without limiting the amount of the detailed estimates corrected in the following table, which presents the whole subject at a glance.

Table showing APPROPRIATIONS REQUIRED BY THE TREASURY FOR 1868-9, categorized by Civil, War and Navy, and other departments.

DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATIONS FOR SERVICE OF 1867-8 MADE BY FORTIETH CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION.

Table showing RECEIPTS and EXPENDITURES of the current fiscal year, categorized by various departments and services.

Thus, if the Treasury endeavors to meet its current expenditures this year (to say nothing of matured claims deferred, or of the Post Office deficiency), it will show a deficit of $154,330,202 at the end of the year, to be obtained from increased taxation.

The departmental estimate of custom receipts is $145,000,000; but taking the average yield since the imposition of the present tariff, the customs (though imports have this year fallen very sensibly) should yield during the year ending June 30, 1869, $150,000,000. See monthly report of the Director of the Bureau of Statistics No. 20, for 1868, for details.

The Internal revenue receipts are estimated as follows:—

Table showing INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS for 1868-9, categorized by Excise, Alcohol, and other sources.

Additional taxation is regarded as impracticable, and therefore, no apparent way out of the present difficulty, save into the hands of the public debt by the issue of more bonds. Thus the Treasury has power to do until the whole sum of the public debt amounts to 2827 millions, or its amount to the date of the passage of the act of 12th April, 1862.

SECOND EDITION FROM BALTIMORE.

Delegations to the Grand Soldiers' Mass Meeting in Philadelphia—Political Affairs.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28.—The Philadelphia, Wilmington, and Baltimore Railroad Company has reduced the fare to the Boys in Blue attending the grand celebration in Philadelphia, to two dollars the round trip. This will induce very large delegations, probably thousands, to be with you on Thursday and Friday next.

The Baltimore City Council meets again in extra session this evening. Some Democrats here are now telling that Seymour and Blair will only carry Maryland and Kentucky, with probably Georgia. The Republicans are becoming amazingly active and hopeful.

Dr. J. S. Coleman, for fourteen years professor in the South Carolina College, has been chosen Military Surgeon in the University of Maryland.

FROM WASHINGTON. Special Dispatch to the Evening Telegraph. The Alabama Memorial to the President. WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The Committee of the Alabama Legislature will call upon the President to-day. The joint resolution and memorial of the Legislature to the President, as Commander-in-Chief of the Army, sets forth that:—

WHEREAS, It has come to the knowledge of the General Assembly that in many portions of the State the civil authorities have not yet assumed the discharge of the duties of their respective offices under the present State organization, in consequence of their resignation in some cases and want of time to qualify in others;

AND WHEREAS, In consequence of the want of such civil organizations in many of the counties in this State laws are neither respected nor obeyed, and violence has been committed in many cases upon human life, numbers of peaceable men have been forced to leave their homes, others have been compelled to emigrate from the State, society is fast verging to a state of anarchy, officers have been intimidated from the discharge of their duty, and others have been forced to resign and vacate their offices. These and many other acts of violence have been committed, growing out of the delay in perfecting the State organization, as aforesaid. We are satisfied that the people, and society generally, and the best interests of the whole country, and the cause of peace, law, and order in this State, require the immediate protection of an armed force to be detailed by the President of the United States to aid the authority of the Constitution in such portions of the State as may be hereafter designated. In view of the approaching exciting election, and absence of the usual legal restraints thrown around the people on such occasions, and the necessity for such protections afterwards, it is, therefore, hereby Resolved, by the General Assembly of Alabama, First, That his Excellency the President of the United States be and he is hereby respectfully memorialized to detail a sufficient force for this State, to secure such protection as is indicated above.
