

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

CITY CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A Pickpocket—Thieves and Receivers—A Professional Pilferer—A Desperate Character—Highway Robbery—A Policeman Stabbed—Women Beaters—Gonged an Eye Out—Caught at Last.

Charles Hewless was arrested on Saturday at Tenth and Spring Garden streets, for picking the pocket of a huckster, and was held by Alderman Mendenhall for trial.

Francis Seymour on Saturday stole two mules and a wagon containing 245 lbs. of horse feed, the value of the latter being $60, from Fifteenth and Vine streets. He took them to a stable kept by Michael Thompson at Twenty-fifth and Coates streets, and there disposed of the feed for three cents a pound to a Mrs. Elizabeth Brady, on Pennsylvania avenue, near Twenty-fourth street. The parties were arrested and held for trial by Alderman Pearson.

Detective Reeder this morning took custody Margaret Welsh, who has been frequently before the police court for being a professional pilferer. Alderman Harley sent her to the workhouse.

The brig Fanny arrived within a few days from Havana, and is now lying at Lombard street wharf. On Saturday evening Edward Everett, a deck hand, while under the influence of liquor went on board and commenced beating all hands in a terrible manner. He was arrested on being taken before Alderman Carpenter and committed to answer.

Charles Kuriz last evening, while returning from church, was assaulted at Chestnut street and Girard avenue by Wm. Thurston who relieved him of his watch and $7. The noise occasioned by this highman attracted the attention of Policemen Gilbert and Flood, who took charge of him. Alderman Eggleston committed him for trial.

Robert Catech and Samuel McMillan were overhauled this night by the police. They were arrested for assaulting two ladies who were passing that point. They were committed by Alderman Missey.

Alderman McCann has sent James McNamara to prison on the charge of committing an assault and battery on a citizen named Monaghan, during which the latter had an eye gouged out.

At the Third District Station there is a bag containing 130 pounds of tobacco, which awaits an owner. This article was found in the possession of James Moran and Thomas Harvey, who have been sent to prison for trial on another charge of robbing a man of his overcoat and $9.

Joseph Kitts went into the Third District Station on Saturday night to enter a complaint, when he was recognized as an individual for whom a warrant was issued last February. He admitted the charges, which were preferred against him by the coroner, and is being held in a jewelry store, No. 459 North Tenth street, of two gold watches; a store, No. 453 North Tenth street, of a tray of gold rings; and Alderman Girard arrested him for the same.

James Carpenter bound him over for trial.

The Board of Survey.—The regular stated meeting was held this morning. President Kness in the chair. The following were and drains were ordered to be constructed: A three-foot sewer on Sanson street, and Thirty-seventh street; on Thompson street, from Thirty-first to Thirty-second; on Market street, from Second to Third; on Chestnut street, from Tenth and Eleventh streets; a ten-inch pipe on Swanson street, from Second to Third streets; an eight-inch pipe on Germantown avenue, between School and Armat streets; and a twelve-inch pipe on Chestnut street, between Second and Front streets, in lieu of the incorrect sewer authorized.

The plan of the proposed extension of the West Philadelphia Railway Company was agreed to.

A special meeting of the Board was ordered for Monday next, when it would proceed in a body to the Board of Health, to consider the act such business as may be presented. Adjourned.

HEARING BEFORE A UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER.—At noon to-day, before United States Commissioner Henry Phillips, Jr., Edward McCorditch was arraigned upon the charge of illicit distillation.

Revenue Officer Helman sworn—I examined the books and papers of the late found property No. 1222 Salmon street, assessed in the defendant's name; also found that he lived on the premises.

Andrew B. Jones sworn—Am a police officer on the Eleventh district; know that distillation has been carried on in premises No. 1222 Salmon street, and that the defendant is the person who has been distilling.

Case continued until Friday next, at 12 M.

POLICE ARRESTS.—The number of arrests made by the police during the past month was 3464, which number was divided among the various districts as follows:

Table with 2 columns: District, Arrests. Includes entries for 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 32nd, 33rd, 34th, 35th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 39th, 40th, 41st, 42nd, 43rd, 44th, 45th, 46th, 47th, 48th, 49th, 50th, 51st, 52nd, 53rd, 54th, 55th, 56th, 57th, 58th, 59th, 60th, 61st, 62nd, 63rd, 64th, 65th, 66th, 67th, 68th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 72nd, 73rd, 74th, 75th, 76th, 77th, 78th, 79th, 80th, 81st, 82nd, 83rd, 84th, 85th, 86th, 87th, 88th, 89th, 90th, 91st, 92nd, 93rd, 94th, 95th, 96th, 97th, 98th, 99th, 100th.

BUILDING PERMITS.—The number of permits issued during the past month by the Inspectors for the erection of buildings and alterations was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Building Type, Number of Permits. Includes entries for Boiler-house, Engine, House, Churches, Factories, Ice house, Market house, Skating rink, Grand total.

McClellan.—This morning General George B. McClellan, at the residence of his brother, Dr. McClellan, on Walnut street, below Eleventh street, was elected to the membership by the James Page Library Company. The association were present, and the General personally returned his thanks to Co. James Page, who was the spokesman in behalf of the Library.

A Day Goes Home.—The dry goods store of F. Schuellerman & Co., No. 23 North Ninth street, was broken into some time between Saturday evening and Sunday morning, and robbed of twenty handsome brocade shawls. An entrance is supposed to have been effected through the rear window shutters.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

The District Attorneyship.

INSTALLATION OF MR. SHEPPARD.—In the Court of Common Pleas, this morning, before a full bench, in the presence of a large number of members of the Bar, Wm. L. Hiral, Esq., read the certificate of the Return Judges of the last election setting forth that Mr. Furman Sheppard had been elected to the office of District Attorney, and asked that the oath of office should be administered to him, in the same manner as in the case of the Attorney General, according to the provisions of law, and the oath was given in the following form:

You, Furman Sheppard, do solemnly swear that you will support the Constitution of the United States, and of this Commonwealth, and will perform your official duties with fidelity, and help you God.

The oath having been subscribed the parties and judges repaired to the Court of Quarter Sessions, where Mr. Mann caused to be read the certificate from the Common Pleas that the oath of office had been duly administered to Mr. Sheppard, and that he had taken the oath of office in the language he introduced Mr. Sheppard as his successor, and saying that during all his long official career he had never swerved from his sworn fidelity to the community and to the

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

CITY CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A Pickpocket—Thieves and Receivers—A Professional Pilferer—A Desperate Character—Highway Robbery—A Policeman Stabbed—Women Beaters—Gonged an Eye Out—Caught at Last.

Mr. Mann's faithfulness to his trust, and to his ability as a prosecutor, and extended warm welcome to Mr. Sheppard to the discharge of his duties. The other Judges concurred in these sentiments.

Mr. Sheppard said he did not, after what had passed, forbear extending his warmest thanks to Mr. Mann for the courteous and kind manner in which he had introduced, and to the Court, and that, upon entering into this new life he was conscious of no other feeling than a desire to do impartially his whole duty as a public officer, and to meet his interests with the bench and bar, officially and personally, pleasantly and agreeably.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS.—Judge Pierce, on Monday terms of the Court was opened this morning by Judge Pierce, G. P. Thompson, Esq., appointed foreman of the Grand Jury, and read the report of the Grand Jury of the Court, and retired to business. The petit jury was formed, and discharged until Thursday morning, when they will be sworn.

The Judge announced that he would sit in Court to-morrow to grant writs of habeas corpus and relief against unlawful arrests at the public.

THE DIVER.

Death of the Celebrated John G. Green.

John G. Green, of Buffalo, had the reputation of being the best diver on the lake, and there are few sailors who have not heard of him and his feats. A few days since he was engaged to dive for a public officer, and to meet his interests with the bench and bar, officially and personally, pleasantly and agreeably.

John G. Green, the diver, whose unhappy death by his own hand was recorded recently in this paper, was the principal actor in a life drama, the story of which is an illustration of the fact that as we unconsciously tread every day on the graves of past generations, so we tread every day on the graves of our own past. Early in life he became deeply attached to a young lady in Chelsea, Mass., the beautiful and accomplished daughter of a wealthy citizen. The attachment was reciprocal, and although the father of the lady looked with no favorable eye upon what was considered an unequal engagement, he wisely forebore from active opposition. In return, Green pledged himself never to claim the hand of his affianced until he had accumulated sufficient to enable him to retire from a vocation so full of peril in its nature and uncertain in its results. Lured on by the prospect of fortune, he embarked in a daring and enterprising submarine operation of his time, long plunging down among the weird and strangely beautiful caves of the tropical seas, which held the wrecked palaces of Spain, and the exploring the bottom of Lake Erie, he discovered the sunken treasures of our inland commerce. Such enterprise brought his reward, and he was enabled to look upon the consummation of his hopes as very near at hand.

When he undertook to rescue the treasure from the sunken steamer Atlantic, he meant that it should be his last job of diving, and he communicated this fact with radiant face to the few friends who shared the cherished secret of his choice. He carried with him a diving suit, and this very imperance proved his ruin. During the progress of his work he imprudently insisted on descending while warm, against the remonstrance of his comrades.

When he was taken up, he was seized with paralysis and was dragged to the surface more dead than alive. From that attack he never recovered. He dragged out the miserable remnant of his life in a melancholy wreck in the city, and he had been in the hospital for some time, when he died.

His death was a great loss to the city, and his friends will be glad to hear that the body has been found, and that the sunken treasures of our inland commerce, such enterprise brought his reward, and he was enabled to look upon the consummation of his hopes as very near at hand.

DISASTER.

Explosion of a Locomotive on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer, Oct. 31.

In the neighborhood of about twenty miles from this city is a station on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, known as Great Bend. On Thursday night last, about eight o'clock, a special freight train that left this city at twenty-five minutes past six o'clock stopped at that place for the purpose of taking on wood.

Shortly after the train stopped, while the brakeman was passing the wood, a fire, which was burning in the engine, broke out, and the fireman plunging the wood as it came aboard, and the conductor and a party of boys gathered about the engine, a fire started, and the freight locomotive, christened "No. 19," exploded like a boiler with a report that was heard for miles around, and a force that killed the engineer, fireman, and one of the boys outright, and wounded two or more of the boys, who have since died. The engine, and a brakeman named Henry Howe, brother of the conductor, were also injured quite severely.

Some of the boys were so badly injured that the engine was shattered into thousands of pieces, some of which were blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body was blown to the Kentucky side of the Ohio river, a distance of nearly a mile, while others, large and small, have since been picked up all around the scene of the accident within a radius of a thousand yards. The wood in the pile alongside was sent flying in the air in every direction, and a stationary engine, used for sawing the wood, and the house that contained it, were blown to fragments.

The conductor, Mr. Mills, was blown to fragments, and his body