

CITY INTELLIGENCE. KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

The Grand Demonstration of To-morrow, in Commemoration of the Semi-Centennial Anniversary of St. John's Commandery—The Program of the Exercises—Arrivals of Sir Knights in the City.

There are in the United States about ten thousand persons belonging to the peculiar branch of Masonry known as Knights Templar, and of these all three thousand, it is estimated, will participate in the grand demonstration to be held in this city to-morrow, in commemoration of the Semi-Centennial Anniversary of the institution of St. John's Commandery, No. 4, which sprang into existence on the 10th of June, 1819.

The Program of the Morning has been arranged by the committee having the matter in charge in the order given below.

- The first thing will be the grand parade, in which commanders from the following States will participate: From Pennsylvania..... 19 Commanderies, New Jersey..... 7 " New York..... 11 " Delaware..... 4 " Maryland..... 4 " Connecticut..... 2 " District of Columbia..... 2 " Georgia..... 2 " Illinois..... 2 " Louisiana..... 2 " Massachusetts..... 2 " Rhode Island..... 2 " Tennessee..... 2 " Virginia..... 2

Making a total of..... 59 Commanderies, representing the States, in addition to the Knights Templar of the United States, and the Grand Commandery, Grand Chapter, and Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania will take part in the parade.

The first division will consist of St. John's Commandery, of this city, the Grand Commandery, Grand Chapter and Grand Lodge of the State, with the First Eastern Commandery of St. John's Commandery, under the leadership of Sir Knight A. Robeno, Jr., as an escort; and the different commanderies of the State of Pennsylvania in the order of juniority.

The second division will be made up of the youngest commandery from the State having the youngest Grand Commandery, Grand Chapter, and Grand Lodge in the order of juniority; and the Grand Commandery.

The third division will consist of the oldest commandery from the State having the oldest Grand Commandery, and the Grand Commandery of that State.

The fourth division will contain the Grand Encampment of the United States, and other guests of honor.

At 7 o'clock in the morning, the procession will form on Broad street, with the right resting on Chestnut street, facing west, in the order of juniority. At 8 o'clock, everything being in readiness, the line will be inspected, and will at once start in procession over the following route:—Down Chestnut street to Fifth street, up Arch to Broad, up Broad to Columbia avenue, and then countermarch in review to the New Horticultural Hall.

On passing the Masonic Temple a Grand Salute will be given, and a similar compliment will be tendered to the Mayor and Council of the city, who will be stationed in front of Independence Hall for the purpose.

On arriving at Independence Hall, the following exercises will transpire, in the order named:—Prayer by the Rev. Robert H. Patterson, D. D., of this city, at present Presiding Elder of the Harrisburg District of the Philadelphia Methodist Episcopal Conference.

An address of welcome to the visiting commanderies, by Richard Vaux, Esq.

A response by William Sewell Gardner, Esq., of Boston.

An oration, by William H. Allen, LL.D., the President of Grand Lodges.

The Benediction, by the Rev. John Chambers, of this city.

The exercises will be interspersed with appropriate music, facing west, in the order of juniority, composed for the occasion by William J. Kelly.

At the conclusion of these exercises the Knights will be dismissed until eight o'clock in the evening, when they will re-assemble.

Exercises at the Academy of Music will take place. At half-past eight o'clock the Sir Knights will move in procession by the side of the Academy of Music, and will advance to the front.

Another address of welcome will be delivered by Richard Vaux, Esq. A grand ball will then take place, for which the most elaborate preparations are being made.

The program of the dances has been printed in colors, with the devices of the Order richly embossed upon it. At the termination of the ball, there will be an immense bouquet of flowers, a bunch from which will be presented to each person on entering.

The General Arrangements. For weeks past the different commanderies that are to participate in the demonstration to-morrow have been busy engaged in preparing for the event. In other cities, as well as in Philadelphia, the noise of preparation has been heard. The President recently issued a special order, granting permission to the Knights Templar in the Government employ at Washington to attend the celebration, and they will participate in full regalia, to the number of about two hundred.

At Baltimore, New York city, and Boston, also, special preparations have been made, and the delegations from these cities will be both large and imposing.

A Commemorative Medal has been struck, and bronze to meet the financial status of each person desiring to purchase it, which will serve as a very desirable and attractive souvenir of the great event. Upon the reverse of the medal is the following inscription:—"In Hoc Signo Vinces." Be Thou Faithful unto Death. St. John's Commandery, No. 4, Masonic Temple, Philadelphia.

On the reverse of the following inscription:—"Commandery No. 4, K. T., Semi-Centennial Anniversary, June 10, 1869. Constituted June 10, 1819, Stationed at Philadelphia, 1820." The medal is allowed for the purchaser of a medal to have his name engraved thereon.

The Visiting Sir Knights. At an early hour this morning our streets were thronged by the numerous delegations of visiting Sir Knights, attired in their noticeable fatigues dress, which consists of a black frock or Templar's coat, black pantaloons, black cap with appropriate emblems, black gaiters, and white kid gloves.

The first of the visitors that reached the city arrived at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They consisted of the delegations of grand commanderies, numbering 240 men, and were received at Camden by a committee of St. John's Commandery, and escorted to the Continental Hotel. They were then in full session, and presented a handsome appearance. In the afternoon they attended service at St. Stephen's Church, Tenth street, near Chesnut.

The following are the names of the officials of the Eastern Commandery of St. John's Commandery, Sir Charles E. Powers; Generalissimo, Sir William Hayward; Captain-General, Sir Henry Endicott; Preceptor, Sir Rev. The Dead Body of a Man Found Lying Upon Rocks.

This morning about 9 o'clock the body of a man named William York was found lying on the rocks underneath what is termed the "live rock bridge," on the line of the North Pennsylvania Railroad.

The head of the corpse was badly cut, and in such a manner as could hardly have come from a fall. The face and body were covered with blood, evidently produced by a beating; the left eye was gouged out and lay upon his cheek, the whole appearance indicating one of a violent assault on the deceased by more than a single person.

The body was found in the pockets of the coat, vest, and pants were all turned out, and their contents examined, but with the exception of a few shreds of paper upon which it was stated that the deceased had been engaged in some business, no other articles were discovered.

FAMILY ARRANGEMENTS. A Curious Way of Exchanging Wives in Massachusetts.

A very curious instance of an exchange of wives by parties formerly residing in Salisbury, in this county, has just been developed here by the arrest of two of the offenders. Their names are George F. and Annie E. Godsoe, and Charles H. and Sarah Lizzie Lowell. Lowell was married in 1856, and Godsoe was married in 1862. Both parties resided for some time in Salisbury, where, in December, 1858, each becoming dissatisfied with their companions, they were complained of by parties residing here, were complained of by parties knowing the circumstances, for their illegal connection, and were arranged before Judge Carter, to answer to the charge of bigamy. Lowell and his companion, Mrs. Godsoe, residing in Amesbury, were also arraigned, and each bound over in the sum of $500 for their appearance at the October term of court.

Falling to obtain sureties, the parties are in custody. It is known that the wife of Lowell, the new and somewhat peculiar arrangement of the case was offensive.
