Official Journal of Town of Opelousas.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
LEONCE & L. A. SANDOZ.
OPELOUSAS.

SATURDAY, MARCH 26, 1881

A cold wave, from the snow storm of the north, struck us this week, giving us some frosty weather, but, we do not believe that any damage was done to the fruit trees or other vegetation.

The new bridge over Bayou Tesson, on North street, will be an excellent piece of workmanship when completed, but, we are afraid the breakwaters are not quite wide enough for our high floods.

If business is rather dull in town, it is not so in the country. Everybody there is busy turning over the soil, and planting seed for another crop. So the apparent lull of trade in town, proves the greater activity of labor in the country.

We direct the attention of those interested to the card of Dr. D. G. Parker, Dentist, in another column. Dr. Parker has located permanently here, and will be found at all times by those requiring his services, at the residence of his brother, Dr. P. J. Parker.

The paint or whitewash brush could be used to advantage in our town. There are many buildings and fences which might be materially improved in appearance by being touched up with one or the other. "Paint or powder" (the houses), gentlemen; and the ladies will not object.

Our neighbor, Posey, of the St. Landry Drug Emporium, is just back from New Orleans, with a select stock of goods, comprising fresh drugs and chemicals, books, stationery, wall paper, window shades, articles de fantaisie, etc. Read his advertisement and call and see his stock.

REMEMBER—That Jake Miller makes ladies' and gents' boots and shoes to order and guarantees good material, good work and a good fit, and will make no charge for repairs on account of defective work or material. He also has an assortment of cheap shoes which he sells as low as anyone. Call and see him at Zweigert's old stand.

Mr. C. A. Voorhies, representing the firm of Forchheimer Bros., Wholesale Grocers and Commission Merchants, New Orleans, is in our town, and will be pleased to forward the orders of our merchants to that old and staunch business establishment. We hope that Mr. Voorhies' stay in our midst will be both pleasant and remunerative.

Mr. Hal C. Bruner, a resident of Pontiac, Illinois, is spending a few weeks in our parish as the guest of his uncle, Mr. F. J. Bruner, who lives near Church Point. He expresses himself much pleased with our climate and country, and before leaving for his western home will spend a few days in Opelousas. We hope that his sojourn with us will be so pleasant, that when his collegiate studies are finished, he may be induced to make our parish his home in the future.

In a few days, we expect to present the question of establishing a Cotton Factory at Opelousas, in such a plain, practical, and convincing manner, that the most skeptical will perceive the utility, as well as the practicability of such a paying enterprise, to those who may be induced to undertake the same. We will give the figures of the cost of the machinery, where it can be had, and the approximate cost of the building, &c., appertaining to such a manufactory. It will only require a joint stock company to make it a certainty; then, financial success will certainly attend its results.

HAVE YOU GOT YOUR GARDEN SEEDS?—If not, Mr. Joseph Harris wishes us to say that he will be happy to send his New Catalogue of Choice Field, Garden and Flower Seeds to any reader of the COURIER who will send his order name and post office address to him on a postal card. Mr. Harris' seeds are from the farm, and are undoubtedly of the very best quality. Mr. Harris was formerly editor of the Genesee Farmer and one of the editors of the American Agriculturist. He is well known as the author of "Harris on the Pig," "Talks on Manure," &c., and especially as the writer of "Walks and Talks on the Farm," in the American Agriculturist.

In his new seed catalogue he gives very full directions for the cultivation of garden and flower seeds, which embody the results of his long experience and intimate acquaintance with the subject, and we advise all our readers who are interested in the subject to send themselves of this offer. Address, JOSEPH HARRIS, Moreau Farm, Moreau, N. Y.

Prof. A. Ryan and his son, Mr. Rolla Ryan, gave two very interesting performances in our town, on Monday and Tuesday nights, at the Opelousas Opera House. As our people had witnessed the merits of their splendid talents some three years ago, it is needless for us to add that they drew large and appreciative audiences on both occasions. Prof. Ryan is one of the very few accomplished elocutionists to be met with on the stage or rostrum. His readings or recitations are not only, par excellence, artistic according to rule, but, they breathe the very soul of the themes in rhythmic modulation and poetic utterance of language. His recitation of "Hiawatha's Wooing" was the most finished piece of elocutionary interpretation, that we remember, ever to have heard. It became a living, speaking, acting picture before the audience, and elicited a spontaneous, and well-merited outburst of applause from the entire house. Mr. Rolla Ryan is a worthy pupil of his polished father. We scarcely know how to describe the multifarious talents of this young man—as a character delineator—unless we call him a physiological prodigy; a living comedy of conglomerated wonders, or an individual face and mind possessing instantaneous command over all kinds of facial expressions, as well as the temperaments belonging to them. In all of the numerous and contradictory characters which he so admirably personated, there was a distinct individuality of physiognomy, voice and manner, conspicuous in each role. Whether as the girl of the period—"with nothing to wear;"—the "lone lera widow" trying to "catch the elder;" the mother trying to lush the cries of her babe; in the dual representation of the old couple—man and wife;—as the newsboy with the tricks of his trade; as the Arkansas desperado bulldozing his horse; or as the Georgia mountain squatter or backwoodsman entertaining the travelers, he was the inimitable, the living presentment of each personage, in all of their complex and heterogeneous phases of character and appearance. One moment he would borrow the stilled and dimples of youth and beauty, and the next he would wear the wrinkled visage of age and decrepitude. Now, he would be the simpering school girl, then, the whining school boy, and anon, as if by magic, he became a swaggering desperado, or the simple, curious backwoodsman.

Rolla Ryan is a marvelous genius, as well as a cultivated artist. He, himself, does not know his wonderful capabilities. Mr. Williams, an accomplished banjoist elicited many plaudits, by the artistic manner in which he rendered several solos upon that favorite instrument.

Prof. Ryan and Rolla are entitled to, and will draw large audiences wherever they may perform. Success to them.

THE STATE GRANGE OF LOUISIANA.—We understand that a special meeting of the State Grange of Louisiana will be held in the City of New Orleans early in the month of May; the precise date not yet decided on. There can be no reason advanced why the Order of Patrons of Husbandry should not be equally as prosperous in Louisiana as in Mississippi or Alabama, being the only State which had no representative at the late meeting of the National Grange held in Washington, D. C. We consider the grange movement too important to our agricultural population, to be neglected. It is calculated to benefit this class by bringing about cooperation in their business relations, to foster educational interests and develop the social features of the communities in which it exists. By all means then, brothers farmers, reorganize and sustain the Order of Patrons of Husbandry.—N. O. Times.

THE CAPITOL.—A large lot of iron pillars and material, together with some flooring for the new State House, were received, per steamer Gay, on Saturday last. In a few days the work will be progressing at a rapid pace. As the walls of the additional story, over the centre of the edifice, are going up, the beauty of the designs drawn by the architect are becoming discernible. There is no question but that the Capitol will be handsomer than before. When completed, the people of Louisiana will have one building of which they will have reason to be proud.—Baton Rouge Capitalist, March 15.

The Democratic senators are making preparations to give Mahone a rhetorical castigation as soon as an opportunity presents itself. Bon Hill has been the recipient of many congratulatory letters from persons in Virginia, who admired his lecture of Mahone. The citizens of Alexandria, Virginia, intend to present Senator Hill with a magnificent floral tribute as a mark of respect and gratitude.—N. O. Times.

Immigration.

(Communicated.)

Editors of the Courier: Please accept our thanks for the publication of the article, "Immigration," and for the very appropriate remarks you have made on the same subject.

If you will indulge us once more we will leave the subject for the present, in the hands of those who have the power to act in the premises.

It is pleasant to contemplate the new departure of the South—an evidence of peace, quiet and prosperity—from politics to the material development of the different interests of the States. Already have we, by this judicious change, awakened an interest in our behalf (brought about by anticipated gains of course,) among the capitalists of the North.

Cotton factories are being built in several States by northern capital; improved machinery and economical methods have been introduced in the manufacture of sugar by northern men and capital; Jay Gould has bought the Roman plantation (a straw) and is fascinated with the great possibilities for railroads in this section, and is pushing the work on, through our borders, to the Pacific and Mexico. Mexico herself is meeting us half way, and has at present, 30,000 men employed on roads already in course of completion, and is contemplating the projection of other work of the same kind.

The canal or railroad, whichever it is to be, which is to unite the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, will in all probability be a part of history in the next half dozen years, revolutionizing our commerce with the East and Pacific slope. The liberal appropriations by the 48th Congress towards improving the Mississippi river and tributaries; the new interest taken by congress in the agricultural department at Washington, looking to the further development of the farming interests—are all matters for our serious consideration.

With Garfield for President, a friend of internal improvements and to the protection of our sugar interests, surrounded by a cabinet, representing principally the west and south, we have every reason, in summing up, to believe that the near future has a golden harvest in store for those of the States south, which are willing to stretch out their hands and receive it. The geographical position of Louisiana places her in the centre or rather at the very threshold of these great enterprises and should awaken a zeal heretofore unknown.

Now, Mr. Editors, we are to lie idle and let the stranger pass us by? Or shall we enter the lists and fight for the glory, welfare and future greatness of our lovely State? We are told by those who were present at the Mardi Gras festivities in New Orleans, that those visitors who had left snow and ice behind them, when quitting their northern homes, were enchanted with Louisiana and her people. Let us keep up this enchantment, and win them over in a practical manner, making them factors of this commonwealth.

Establish your bureau of immigration, gentlemen of the police jury, and let all good people know, no matter from what clime, that we stand with open arms and pastures rich, to receive them and their flocks. An immigration bureau will add tenfold in value, in as many years, to our parish. The State is already moving in this matter through her energetic agent, Mr. Harris, and the co-operation of the parish would prove of mutual benefit.

WAXIA.

LARGEST BOOK PUBLISHED.—The edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary recently issued, in the quantity of matter it contains, is believed to be the largest volume published.

It will surprise many readers to know that it contains eight times the amount of matter contained in the Bible, being sufficient to make 75 12mo. volumes that usually sell for $1.25 each! Its vocabulary comprises over 118,000 words (4,600 of which have recently been added).

It has a new Biographical Dictionary, giving brief important facts concerning 9,700 noted persons.

There is a Memoir of Noah Webster, a brief history of the English language, Principles of Pronunciation, Lists of 4,000 Scripture Proper Names, 10,000 Geographical Names, 700 common English Christian Names, several pages of Proverbs, &c., a vocabulary of Names of Noted Fictional Persons and Places, and many other valuable features,—all of which, in a volume of 4,923 pages, embellished with 3,000 Engravings, go to make up a great storehouse of useful knowledge.

The reign of the late Czar was twenty-six years and eleven days in duration. His father, Nicholas, reigned thirty years, and his great uncle Alexander I twenty-four years. There have been but three Czars of Russia in this century. Alexander III, now on the throne, was thirty-six years of age last week, Thursday. The last Czar of Russia, who met his death at the hands of an assassin previous to the late Emperor was Paul, the son of the famous Catherine. In spite of the repeated attempts upon the lives of the rulers of Russia, the average length of reigns in that Kingdom has been greater than in most other countries of Europe. The assassination of the late Czar recalls a well known bon mot of a diplomat who was present at the coronation of the Emperor Paul. In his account of the ceremonies to his government, he said: "Before him stood the assassins of his grandfather; on his right and his left stood the assassins of his father. Behind him stood his own." Shocking as this melancholy picture is we seem to find in it a true reflection of the truth that history repeats itself.—N. O. States.

Immigration.

The New Orleans Times recently published an interesting article on the immigration movement, in which, among other things, it uttered these emphatic truths:

There is another and a very effective way to assist this immigration movement. It is for the parish papers in all the parishes in the State to take an interest in it, and advise the people to do two things:

First. Organize immigration societies. The object of these societies should be to furnish information about the lands in their parishes, and to assist immigrants in securing suitable homes. They should protect immigrants against dishonest land speculators, and see to it that they are received in a way that will make them feel that they are welcome.

Second. To hold their land at prices that will be an inducement to purchase. Immigrants, as a rule, are not blessed with a plentiful supply of cash. They cannot afford to pay for land twice as much as it is worth. In this State there is a very exaggerated idea about the value of land. Land owners may as well understand at once that if they expect to find a market for their lands, they must offer it at its real value. If they don't, they will be forced to hold it for a good many years, and until the taxes upon it have made them poor. When the country becomes settled up and improved, it will be time to demand fancy prices.

During the days of March that have passed, the editor of this paper has been a very fortunate and unfortunate old fellow. At the beginning of the month we attended the meeting of the Press Association, and during that week we had a happy time indeed. First we saw, and got personally acquainted with all our brother editors of the State. This we count a very fortunate circumstance; for we must say we never met a more respectable looking body of men. Every countenance beamed with intelligence, and not a sign could be discovered of any vice or dissipation. We are proud of the editorial corps of Louisiana, and of our connection with such a noble band. We will not mention names, because we cannot mention all; but we will give the names of the two ladies, Mrs. Field, who delivered the address, and Mrs. Townsend, authoress of the poem. The address was eloquent and instructive, the poem was sublime. There were other ladies in attendance of whom we cannot speak at present; but we will say of them all, that Louisiana may well be proud of them, for such daughters are an honor to any State.—Amite City Independent.

A country gentleman recently stepped into our office and subscribed to the paper, remarking as he left, "I must have the paper. Too much is going on over my head I know nothing about." That man was a hard working farmer, and appreciated the value of a good journal. He wished to keep posted and is an example in strange contrast to one who writes to stop his paper, he cannot afford to take it, although its absence may cost him more than fifty times the amount of the subscription by his being ignorant of some important information which he would have otherwise known. There is nothing like a good home paper to keep the mind thoroughly informed on all that is going on far and near. It is the cheapest information furnished and within the reach of every one.—Natchitoches Vindicator.

REPUBLICS SUCCESS.—This significant remark is made by the London Echo: While Italy is accumulating a deficit; while Spain can scarcely make both ends meet, and while the alleged improvement of the financial condition of Prussia has proved to be illusory—to say nothing of Russia—it is worthy of notice that Switzerland, as she has done for ages, maintains in government matters the even tenor of her way; that France, under the Republic, feels no financial strain; and that the United States, the greatest Republic of all, is going forward to prosperity by leaps and bounds. This would indicate that republican institutions are a striking success, from a business point of view, on both sides of the sea.

All of our subscribers who will pay their subscription accounts to the Courier, up to date, and one year in advance, will be presented with "Good Literature," a weekly literary paper, for one year, free of cost. Come up, gentlemen, and get this excellent paper, containing about twice as much literary matter as either of the $4.00 magazines, for nothing.

THEATRICAL.—We have been told by a reliable citizen that a suitable place for theatrical entertainments will be erected adjoining the Crescent Hall, and shortly we will be treated with performances of this kind by the dramatic clubs of St. Landry and this place.—Iberia Star.

The Literary Revolution.

Victories are won every day. In January, 1879, "The Literary Revolution" was inaugurated by the publication of the first issue, and in preparation, comprising nearly 175 volumes of standard books, it gives important and new information for the month of $2,000,000 and probably 3,000,000 names will be added to the list of subscribers who have been added to the "Literary Revolution" since its inauguration, which are:

1. What is worth reading is worth preserving—All books are neatly and strongly bound in the best quality of cloth, and the cost of making books, which is very much less than it was a few years ago.

2. Books have commonly been considered luxuries; in a free republic they ought to be considered necessities, and the masses will buy books by the million if prices are placed within their reach.

3. To make $1 and to spend the money to make $20, $30, $40, $50, $60, $70, $80, $90, $100, and it is more pleasure as well as more profit to the million.

LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE.

Large Type Edition. A verbatim reprint of the last (1880) London edition of Chambers's Encyclopædia, with copious additions, and 1,000 more by American editors; the same arranged to facilitate the text, combined under one alphabetical arrangement, with illustrations as far as possible in elegant octavo volumes of about 300 pages each. It will contain, complete, about 100,000 more than any other work of the kind, and is the most complete and up-to-date work of the kind ever published. It is a far superior to other works of the kind, and is a most valuable and useful work. Volumes 1 to 17, are ready January 25, 1881, and other volumes will be ready in two or three months. The entire work is completed. Price, sets of 15 volumes, in cloth, $15.00; in half leather, $22.50.

Chambers's Encyclopædia.

As a portion of the Library of Universal Knowledge, we issue Chambers's Encyclopædia separately, without the American additions, complete in 15 volumes 12mo. In this style it is printed from new electrotype plates from the original types, and is bound in the best quality of cloth, with marbled half Russia, gilt top, $15. In this style it is now complete and being delivered to subscribers.

What is the Verdict?

Anybody can afford to own a cyclopædia now.—Prof. Elliott, N. Y. We can only repeat our hearty commendation of a volume which places in the hands of the people the best literature at a merely nominal price. The day of cheap and good books is once more with us, and the American Book Exchange merits the praise for its success in this respect. It is a volume which every man, woman and child should have in his home. It is a volume which every man, woman and child should have in his home. It is a volume which every man, woman and child should have in his home.
