Scores of wild deer have been killed in this parish during the past two weeks.—West Baton Rouge Sugar Planter.

And has nobody been prosecuted?

Mrs. F. Jagon has opened a Ladies' Ice Cream Saloon in connection with her restaurant, where ice cream, soda, cakes, &c., may always be had at reasonable rates. See advertisement.

Our municipal Solons at their meeting this week applied the pruning knife to several departments and consolidated the offices of constable and market janitor, paying the constable $55 per month to perform the duties of both offices. The collector was allowed 4 per cent on collections, instead of 10, the town horse's allowance was cut down from $15 to $10 per month and other reductions were made.

The Farmer's Alliance Union No. 587, of Calcasieu parish, whose membership numbers over 300, has adopted a resolution unanimously asking the Legislature to submit to the people the question of the extension of the charter of the Louisiana State Lottery. The Calcasieu farmers refuse to be pledged to any party or faction and reserve to themselves the right to decide whether it is to the best interest of Louisiana to accept or reject the offer made by Mr. Morris.

Black & Morris have recently added a new feature to their insurance business, which will doubtless prove a great convenience, viz: guarantee or fidelity insurance, insurance against accidents to persons, steam boiler insurance, and insurance against breakage of plate glass. By the guarantee insurance the subscribers and dissatisfactions of the old system of private guarantees are avoided. Black & Morris will take pleasure in explaining the new system to all who may be interested in the subject.

At the annual election for officers of Opelousas Steam Fire Co. No. 1, the following were unanimously elected, viz: E. M. Bogani, President; Robert Chacheré, Vice President; H. E. We believe all five of our Representatives in the Legislature, in which he candidly avows his purpose to vote for and favor the submission of the Lottery proposition to the people.

West Baton Rouge Sugar Planter: Buffalo gnats are proving very destructive in the overflooded section of this State and Mississippi. These pests, which invariably follow in the wake of an overflow, have killed quite a large amount of stock that had been saved from the water, one planter alone losing 25 mules.

New Mexico is applying for admission into the Union.

Lotteries.

The Lottery question, which bids fair to become an absorbing one, like nearly every other, has two sides and much can be said on either. Ever since 1869, such schemes have had their supporters and opponents. Nations have considered them useful at certain periods of their history, and have deemed it wise to abolish them at others. The Genoeve government at one time, found them useful in raising a revenue to defray its expenses. The English government also resorted to the experiment in A. D., 1569, to raise money for the repair of harbors, and other public works.

The necessities of the people prompted their establishment from time to time, but as these were met and overcome, opposition to them prevailed and they passed out of chartered existence. What is known as State Lotteries was common in the early part of the 19th Century, and the schemes of drawing were generally about the same in principle.

About 1836, France abolished them, Hesse-Darmstadt in 1852. In 1826, England abolished them on grounds of injury to the public morals. In 1833, the friends of order and good morals set up an organized opposition to them in Pennsylvania; Massachusetts chimed in with them. In 1844 Connecticut followed and in 1836, Maryland adopted a similar course. In about 1872-3, Kentucky established a Lottery for the purpose of getting up a state library and Louisiana established the present S. L. S. in 1868. The immoral tendency of lotteries has been the theme of all opponents in every period of their existence. Much of their denunciation smacks of Parliamentary sentiment rather than of practical opposition of philosophical morality. In our opinion, the popularity of lottery opposition has more to do in it, than any real objection to lotteries themselves.

On the 30th of last month Sheriff Fontenot settled his first quarter, ending March 31st, with the Auditor and Treasurer of this State as follows:

State Tax of 1889	$42,500
Interest	16,33

N. O. City Item: It is not credible that a proud and humane people will submit to a continuance of the present disgraceful lack of provision for the asylums, the inadequate educational system or the dangers from insufficient levees. If the high license on lotteries is not to be accepted, then the constitutional rate of taxation must be raised to meet these pressing necessities. Even the extremists among the "moral element" admit that the State must have more money, and the choice lies apparently between taxing the lottery and taxing the people, without a third resource in any direction.

Pointe Coupee Banner: A large number of fine deer have been killed in this neighborhood in the last few days. The poor animals are forced by the water to leave the swamps for the shallow water in the fields, where it is no easy matter to kill them.

Baton Rouge Truth: Applications for the superintendency of public education are flying into the executive office like ducks to the roost. From every part of the state they come.

In this connection we have heard it mentioned that Prof. C. E. Ives, of the State University, would make an excellent superintendent. He is a man of high character and ability, and has been successful in his private business.

Prof. C. C. Harris, President of the North Louisiana Agricultural Male and Female College located at Calhoun, La., is numbered among the candidates.

Home Courier: Some of the strongest anti-lottery men are members of the Cotton Exchange and deal largely in cotton futures, an evil ten times worse than the gambling in lottery ventures.

Have your job printing executed at the Courier office. Keep your money at home and patronize a home institution.

Pointe Coupee Banner: The hack water is receding at the rate of about an inch in 24 hours. If this fall is to be permanent and continues and the water does not become too warm, not only the cane will survive, but a full crop of cotton in this parish this year will become a possibility.

West Baton Rouge Sugar Planter: Buffalo gnats are proving very destructive in the overflooded section of this State and Mississippi. These pests, which invariably follow in the wake of an overflow, have killed quite a large amount of stock that had been saved from the water, one planter alone losing 25 mules.

Correspondence.

Bayou Chicot, La., May 5, 1890.

Editors Courier: Seeing nothing from this section in your columns for such a long time I fancy you would forget us, and hence this jotting.

While the alluvions are inundated, we of the hills have our drawbacks also. Rain, and rain in torrents, has been the order of the day for some time. Bridges, causeways, fences, etc., have succumbed to the irresistible floods which have gone tearing and roaring down every creek, bayou, ravine and gully in our entire section. Yet with all this, save that grass has gained a foothold, the crop promises well to date—and the hope is general that a bad beginning will make a good ending.

By the way, speaking of things coming to a good end from a bad commencement, why may we not hope that our Legislature soon to assemble at its own funeral, may not prove the truth of the adage above quoted? Could they not give us separate coaches on railroads for white and black, as Mississippi has done? Could they not reduce passenger rates on railroads to 3 cents per mile, as Texas has done? Could they not accept the Lottery's proposition of the $500,000 and place that amount to the credit of the public school fund and let the State provide for her levees and asylums. This half million annually added to the present school fund would educate the illiterate masses and take from our State the stigma of ignorance which now attaches to her.

Why not make the judicial appointments for men of living good behavior, and the district attorneys also? Why not make a majority of a jury competent to acquit or convict? Are the ends of justice better served when one illiterate negro, or—orse still a white man who can be bought for a few dollars, can set aside the convictions of eleven, perhaps the best men in the parish? Returning to railroads, why not make the rates of freight correspond with the distance hauled, and not according to the discriminating fancies of the railroad company? Why not let a man ride to New Orleans from Opelousas for less money than from Alexandria? They say competition, well, suppose the parishes through whose territory these roads pass set up a competitive tax association and see who can levy the largest tax per mile on railroad property—do you not think the rule should work both ways? And again to juries. Why is it essential to draw a jury months in advance and then bring it to the world who they are, that designing men who are litigants may commence to "work their rabbit-foot" on the jurors?

The census man was around this week with his "tin can" and a world of paper asking impertinent questions (especially to our daughter, as to age, etc.), and from him we learned the State had appropriated $25,000 for taking this census and that in June the General Government would make a more complete census; and this causes the question with many, why not have given this $25,000 to the school fund and contented ourselves with the census of Sam next month? We are aware that this was a part of the work of the statesmen who framed the Constitution, but it does look to our piney woods people that statesmen ought or might have seen further ahead. Or the same appropriation might have aided the Misane Asylum in its extremity. Yet I suppose the double denunciation this year is necessary so the State can roll up a volume like a Patent Office report to send to the dear people, so it can be easily accepted.

My dear friends, we are lost, and the amount of veracity in your articles is the only way to marry. We can see no further purpose it could serve. The educable youths are enumerated every year in the Assessor's lists, and the State that has 80,000 Democratic majority need not fear any gerrymander from a census report for years to come, even if the enumerators came from the Republican ranks.

Well, there are many things that might be different, but then they are not; so why grieve? There might be a parish of Evangeline—but there ain't, leastways not yet. But the meeting of the Solons at Baton Rouge next week may change all these things, and patiently we will await the result of their wise deliberations.

Last night the weather was terrific for a while, but the setting of a tree here and you and a few panels of fence blown down are about the extent of damage done. Locally we have nothing to report that would interest. Base ball and pony races are the reigning amusements. We have asked "why" so often that we must ask you why not close this disconnected scribble? X.

HAASVILLE, La., May 5, 1890.

Clear weather is very much needed at present. Farm work has been seriously delayed, owing to the heavy rains in this locality for some days past. On the evening of the 4th the heaviest rain of the season fell, accompanied with hail. Bayou Boeuf, which was almost full at the time, rose in the space of a few hours a foot or more.

Corn and cotton both need work, but the land is too soft to get into the fields to do much. If the planters can get to work within the next few days all will be well with the crops, and from all reports and indications it would seem to be every reason to believe that with good seasons paying crops will be grown this year. Every one engaged in the cultivation of the soil is anxious to improve the moment by pushing forward all work. Garden plots and melon patches look promising. Early vegetables are getting to be plentiful.

Among the many rounds of pleasure enjoyed by one and all of our village and neighborhood was a pleasant party and dance given on the 2d inst., at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Leckie, at Haasville. The evening was delightful and the moment as they were parting, Mr. and Mrs. Leckie and their daughters, Misses Mollie, Helen and Ellen, by their many pleasant graces and charming ways made the occasion one to the guests of a perfect May-

Hon. James B. Beck, U. S. Senator from Kentucky, died suddenly in a railroad station at Washington City last Saturday. He was an old man and had been ill for some time. It is a great misfortune for the young and middle-aged to be gray. To overcome this and appear young, use Hall's Hair Renewer, a reliable panacea.

Mr. Charles Commercial, Alex. S. Jackson, a negro preacher, has been appointed co-ordinator of the U. S. Land Office, at New Orleans, vice J. Massie Martin, whose term has expired.

A Hair Vigor restores natural color to the hair, by stimulating a healthy action of the scalp. This preparation also produces a vigorous growth of the hair, and gives it a beautiful lustre and natural appearance. Recommended by physicians, clergymen and scientists.

New Iberia Enterprise: Mr. John A. Morris came up from New Orleans last Wednesday on a four o'clock train for the advantages offered for a central sugar refinery in the vicinity of this place and the erection of a large mill and other buildings.

Joe Lassalle, the great special pleader, has the following testimonial as to his handling of the case and believes it to be reliable. "I bought a 50 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Pain-Expeller and used it for my rheumatism, which had been afflicted with rheumatism at intervals for one year. At the time I bought the Pain-Expeller I had been told that it was a good medicine, but I had not tried it. I had tried many other remedies, but they had not done me any good. I had heard that Chamberlain's Pain-Expeller was a good medicine, and I had bought it. I had used it for a few days, and it had done me a great deal of good. I had been told that it was a good medicine, and I had bought it. I had used it for a few days, and it had done me a great deal of good. I had been told that it was a good medicine, and I had bought it. I had used it for a few days, and it had done me a great deal of good."

Roll of signers having been furnished by Capt. Taylor showed ninety-seven names; and upon his motion, duly adopted, the roll was called, and eighteen comrades answered to their names.

Comrade C. W. DuRoy moved that a committee of five, with the President of the meeting as chairman, be appointed to draft a plan of organization. Adopted, and the following committee appointed: Louis D. Prescott, chairman; C. W. DuRoy, E. T. Lewis, J. N. Ogden, Ozoné Fontenot.
