

JOB PRINTING
IN ALL ITS BRANCHES
EXECUTED AT THE
COURIER OFFICE.

The Opelousas Courier.

JOB PRINTING
IN ALL ITS BRANCHES
EXECUTED AT THE
COURIER OFFICE.

ESTABLISHED 1852.
VOL. XL.

Opelousas Courier.
PUBLISHED ON SATURDAY BY LEONCE SANDOZ.

OPELOUSAS:
SATURDAY, MARCH 18, 1893.

Church Directory.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—Services at Opelousas every 3d Sunday of the month at 11 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. At Bellevue, the first Sunday of each month at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. REV. GEO. FRAZEE, Pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH.—At Opelousas, 1st, 3d and 4th Sabbaths 11 o'clock a. m. and 7 p. m. Bellevue, 2d Sabbath, 11 o'clock a. m.; 3d Sabbath 3:30 p. m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday night at 7. Sabbath School 10 o'clock every Sabbath. T. S. RANDLE, P. C.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—There will be divine service in the "Church of the Epiphany" on the 2d Sunday in the month at 11 o'clock a. m. and on the 4th Sunday at 3:30 p. m., the Rev. A. R. Price officiating.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—Opelousas, on the 1st and 2nd Sundays of every month. REV. PHILLIPS, Pastor.

A very nice clean rice coffee at 20 cts. per pound at J. K. Sandoz & Bro.

Order your oysters, crabs and fish from Vilasaca delivered at domicile.

What will Opelousas send to the World's Fair at Chicago—don't all speak at once.

The music of the saw and hammer and trowel may be heard all over town—and on the suburbs.

Our planters are generally well advanced with their farming operations, and the plows are kept moving.

The grand event of the season is the ball by the O. P. L. & D. A. at Petrodin's Hall, April 4th. Don't miss it.

A lot of fine white shirts just received at Bloch's, which will be sold to suit these hard times.

Do not buy any flour until you have examined both quality and price at J. K. Sandoz & Bro.

Remember that Shute & Duson's drug store is headquarters for everything in the drug line.

The cool weather in the early part of this week was somewhat unexpected after the very mild weather of last week.

B. M. Halse is still prepared to negotiate loans on long time at moderate rate of interest on improved plantations.

The fare for delegates to the Immigration Convention in New Orleans will be $6.65 for the round trip over the Morgan road from Opelousas.

St. Landry's pro rata of the apportionment of public school funds recently made is the largest of any parish in the State outside of Orleans, being $4,276.05.

We learn from a reliable source that Opelousas can secure the establishment of an oil mill by paying a bonus of $3,000 and furnishing the necessary land on which to build.

The name of Gen. Leon Jastrzemski has been mentioned as a candidate for U. S. Marshal, and certainly no more worthy and competent man could be found in this district for the position.

CEMETERY BENEFIT.—The Steam Merry-go-round will give a benefit for the public cemetery on Wednesday, March 22d, evening and night, for white people only. All white people cordially invited.

Upon the evenings of March 21st and 22d there will be lectures at the parish court-house by the popular W. C. T. U. speaker, Mrs. Wells. We bespeak for her a large attendance upon both occasions and feel sure that her audiences will not go away disappointed.

The special meeting of the Police Jury was called for last Thursday to choose delegates to represent St. Landry in the Immigration Convention, which meets in New Orleans next Tuesday. The list of delegates will be found in the proceedings in another column.

We take pleasure in calling attention to the card of Mr. T. G. Chachere, Architect, in another column. Mr. Chachere is no stranger, being "to the manner born," and most of our readers are already aware of his capabilities as an architect. If you should need anything in his line give him a call.

Our new rice mill is going up with a rush. The machinery has arrived and is being unloaded from the cars ready to be put in the building as soon as the same is ready to receive it, and it is very likely that the mill will be in full operation within sixty days, as originally intended, notwithstanding some delay in starting the building.

An alarm of fire last Sunday night at about 7:30 o'clock promptly brought out the entire fire department, but the fire was extinguished before the engines arrived on the scene. The alarm was caused by a bed in a negro cabin near the residence of Mr. J. Meyers, having taken fire. No damage was done except the burning of a mattress.

Mr. Jules Tate of Ville Plate was drowned in Bayou Cocodrie last Saturday and his body was not recovered until Wednesday about noon. It seems that he was accompanied by several companions from Ville Plate, had gone on a fishing excursion to the Cocodrie, and while there he concluded to take a bath. He had swam across the bayou and started to swim back when he sank and before assistance could reach him he was drowned.

Personal.

Mr. H. H. Hargrove, general traveling agent and staff correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune, was in Opelousas several days this week in the interest of the excellent journal he is representing, and incidentally, working up the educational interests of this section. Mr. H. is an expert in educational matters, having occupied the onerous and responsible position of superintendent of public schools for Caddo parish for several years which, thanks to his indefatigable energy and intelligent management, have been brought to a high state of perfection, second to no other parish in the State.

Dr. V. K. Iron left for New Orleans last Monday as a delegate to the Grand Lodge, Knights of Honor.

E. J. Clements, Esq., of Oberlin, is in town Wednesday, looking in fine health and spirits.

Mr. Jules Bloch of Prairie Hayes, was attending to business here Monday.

Judge A. M. Ancon, representing the N. O. Brewing Association, was in town this week.

We had an appreciated call last Thursday from B. A. Guidry, Esq., of the popular Plaquemine Ridge notary.

Assessor M. L. Swards, of Opelousas, passed through the city Tuesday on his way to Crowley.—Lafayette Advertiser.

Miss Alida Guidry of Opelousas, is spending a few days in town as the guest of the Misses Revillon.—Lafayette Gazette.

Miss Marie Simon, a bewitching and winsome belle of Opelousas, is sojourning in our midst, the guest of the charming Misses Felicie and Blanche Durand.—St. Martinville Etangeline.

Miss Effie Young left for Opelousas last Monday for a two week's visit. She will be greatly missed during her absence by her host of friends.—Lafayette Advertiser.

Hon. C. C. Duson spent several days in Crowley this week looking after his interests in this section.—Crowley Signal.

A Teachers' Association was temporarily organized here last Wednesday by the election of Mrs. M. M. Hayes as president and Miss Gabrielle Hebrard secretary. This is a move in the right direction and cannot fail to prove a great benefit and assistance to all engaged in the important vocation of education. It is proposed to form a permanent organization at a meeting to be called for that purpose shortly, and to which all teachers in Opelousas and neighboring localities will be invited to participate.

Mr. H. H. Hargrove, who has devoted many years to the subject of education, was present at the meeting Wednesday, and imparted much valuable and practical information on the subject to those present. There is no doubt that a Teachers' Association will prove of great assistance to the teachers and immense benefit to the cause of education generally.

The entertainment of the Opelousas Female Institute on the evening of March 10th, was both interesting and amusing, and we regret was not more numerously attended. The elaborate program was carried out in a most creditable manner, especially when we take into consideration the very short time it had been in rehearsal. The different roles, with scarcely an exception, were admirably executed and evidently to the satisfaction and enjoyment of the intelligent audience present.

The object of the entertainment was to raise funds for the purchase of an organ for the school, and we would have been pleased to have seen a large attendance on the occasion. We hope the faculty and scholars of the Opelousas Female Institute will consent to repeat the performance, when we trust their efforts will be better appreciated.

We have received the first number of Evangeline, the new paper just started in St. Martinville as the successor of the Reveille, recently destroyed by fire. Our friend, Carlos Greig, Esq., is editor and publisher. It is published in French and English, neatly printed and well filled with interesting reading and local news. We wish friend Greig full success in his new venture.

The Lafayette Gazette is a new candidate for public patronage, the first number of which was issued last Saturday in our sister town of Lafayette, by Messrs. C. A. Thomas and Homer J. Mouton, both experienced newspaper men. The Gazette is a 7 column folio, well filled with news and editorial items. We wish our new confreres success.

Our friend Dr. W. W. Duson now at the Die Allegeimense Krankenhaus, VIII—London Goss—5, Vienna, Austria, has acquired a half interest in the Shute drugstore, which will now be conducted under the firm name of Shute & Duson—our friend Jos. E. Estorge still supervises the mixing department.

NOTICE.—There will be divine service at the Presbyterian church on Friday, March 17th at 7:30 p. m., and Saturday, March 18th, at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., and communion services Sunday, 19th at 11 a. m. The Rev. Dr. J. H. Nall, the Presbyterian Evangelist from New Orleans, will assist in the services.

If Mr. J. P. Troclair meets with proper encouragement he will introduce a street sprinkler in Opelousas. These thinking favorably of the project are requested to leave their names at this office.

Key beer, fresh from the Brewery, transported on ice and delivered ice cold, in kegs, half kegs or quarter kegs. Leave your orders with H. Crawford, at the cold storage warehouse.

A good clean rice 3 pounds for 10 cents, at J. K. Sandoz & Bro.

Praiseworthy.

We learn from an entirely reliable source that, the Rev. Mr. Abbott, (colored) of the M. E. Church of colored persons, in this town, has been exhibiting an active interest in the improvement of the Protestant cemetery grounds in Opelousas. That he has prevailed on some of his colored friends to repair there on Saturdays and assist in removing obstacles, preparatory to the erection of a wire fence around the graves of their dead. This is highly commendable and laudable, in both the Pastor and his friends. A certain portion of the premises, is taken up by the graves of their departed friends and relatives, and it is very becoming in them to assist in protecting and beautifying the place.

Mrs. Gray has been indefatigable in her efforts. Much patience has been required and practiced in doing what has been done. She is still persevering, and is now near enough through, to see how "what remains to be" may be done.

The colored people deserve much praise. They have contributed some money, and are now working gratis, under the direction of their good Pastor Mr. Abbott. The work is equivalent to money, and we repeat it, the colored people are deserving of much praise for what they have done, and are continuing to do.

Baton Rouge has Ladies' Veteran Aid Society, the object and purpose of which are set forth as follows, in the Vanity Fair column of the Truth:

It will be the object of the members to take charge of the Confederate monument on the Boulevard and erect an iron fence around said monument. They will also assist the Confederate Veterans of Camp No. 17, in whatever cause necessary. Thus this auxiliary of one of the noblest and most revered organizations, have laid out a plan of action which testifies their patriotism and charitable character, and the southern womanhood. All wives and daughters of Confederate veterans are invited to join this association at its next meeting.

The B. R. Advocate says: Hon. A. J. Lafargue of Avoyelles for appraiser, Col. T. Sambola Jones of East Baton Rouge for a consoling, and Dr. Robert M. Littell of St. Tammany for Inspector of Drugs, are among the latest appointments for Federal positions in Louisiana.

The Dr. Littell referred to is doubtless our worthy townsman, not of St. Tammany, but coroner of St. Landry, who is fully qualified for the position of Inspector of Drugs.

Did you ever hear of the Olivier Chilled and Steel plow? If not, go and consult your neighbor who uses one, he will tell you what they are. Jos. Bloch keeps constantly a full assortment. He is the only agent in this parish for them. Go and get one. They are doing fine work, are light draft and are cheaper than any other.

The New York Family Story Paper Building was gutted by fire on the morning of February 23, yet notwithstanding the great loss and delay, the New York Family Story Paper will be delivered regularly to newsdealers and subscribers as usual.

GOOD OPPORTUNITY TO INVEST.—Opelousas, La., has need of a Good Hotel Building and a large Livery Stable. I have the lots suitable, and will sell at reasonable price, and on long terms of credit.

H. L. GARLAND, Opelousas, July 9.

A refrigerator car loaded with beer from the N. O. Brewing Association, was received Wednesday and stored in the cold storage warehouse of the company, recently built on the Whitworth property near the railroad on Landry street.

Why send off for your illuminating oils when you can have it delivered at a moment's notice, at the lowest rates by leaving your orders with Mason Mc Bride, of the Waters Pierce Oil Co., near the depot.

Having recently made important additions to my dairy stock, I am prepared to furnish choice fresh milk to families twice a day, delivered at domicile. H. CRAWFORD, Jr.

Grand opening ball of the season on Tuesday, April 4th, by the O. P. L. & D. A. at Petrodin's Hall. Choice Music by a popular orchestra.

FOR RENT.—The cottage on Main Street, recently occupied by J. T. Skipper, Esq. For Terms apply to J. Meyers & Co.

If you need any style of a cravat, collar, or cuffs, don't fail to go to Bloch's. He is headquarters in that line.

Money paid for rent will pay your dues and interest in the St. Landry Homestead and Loan Association and the home will be yours.

Times are hard and money is scarce, but goods are certainly cheap at J. K. Sandoz & Bro.

Fancy paper and envelopes, albums, toilet articles, soaps, perfumeries, etc., at Bailey's drugstore.

Don't forget, the first grand ball after Lent will be given by the O. P. L. & D. A. on Tuesday, April 4th.

Send your contributions of the N. O. Brewing Association, if Crawford, Jr., agent, in another column.

Jos. Bloch received a lot of nice spring clothing—call and see him for style and low prices.

COAL.—Pittsburg coal delivered anywhere within the corporation limits in any quantity by J. B. Sandoz.

Reflections for Family Reading.

March 12th.
There are three essentials in every human being, yet he is not being. This will not be denied. We find in man, in most, a middle and an outmost; i. e., an end, a cause, and an effect. The end is the inmost, the cause is the middle, and the effect the outmost or ultimate. Man has a soul, which is the inmost principle, a body or a middle principle, and an activity or ultimate principle. In his soul are ends, or motions to action, in his body are causes or ways and means of action and in his life are effects or actions themselves. If either were wanting he could not be a man; for take away his soul, and his body would perish or die; for want of a first principle to live from; take away his body and his soul could not act in the natural world, for want of a suitably organized instrument. Take away his life or the activity of his body from his soul, and he would cease to exist for lack of exercise. In other words, man consists of will, or inmost, understanding or intermediate, and activity or ultimate. It is evident, that without will, his understanding would never think, and his activity would never act, without understanding, his will, could not effect its purpose, and without action—that will and understanding would be of no use. This brief inquiry may be a little metaphysical in its trend of thought but will be found to be a correct summarizing of man as he is, in his relation to his life.

March 13th.
The three essentials of a Christian are—a good will flowing through a correct understanding into a uniform life and justice and judgment. It is not enough that we mean well, or know our duty, or try to do right, for good intention is powerless without truth to guide it right, and truth in the intellect alone, is mere winter light, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our duty—are poor apologies for virtuously energies well directed and efficiently applied; the three alone, our understanding and life, must be brought into harmonious and efficient unity in order that we may be entitled to this high and holy appellation. Things must not only be thought and desired, purposed and intended, but they must be done from love to the Lord; that He, as a principle, without the summer heat of love of God, and love to man; and blundering efforts—to do our