The Montgomery Advertiser despairs of the new generations of negroes. With all their opportunities for learning what is useful they devote their time to base ball, picnics, excursions, and marching in imitation of soldiers. They appear to have talents for everything but work, and they marry on the Robert Collyer plan. Whence their food comes is a profound mystery. —Colored-church fights enliven Washington. A Hartford Times letter says: "A great many of the members tend church, armed many of the members 'tend' church, armed with their favorite weapon, a razor, and it is very amusing to a philosophic mind to see two or three dozen brothers slashing away at each other all at the same time. Judge Snell, who runs the police court, charges the brothers $50 every time they are brought before him on a charge of carrying a razor. A great many of them cannot raise the money, and go to the workhouse for thirty days instead. As soon as they come out they go into the church fight again."

—A peculiar industry of California is threatened with great loss, namely: the wholesale honey manufacturing business. In Southern California the fields are covered

Southern California the fields are covered with a wild flowering plant upon which bees greedily feed, and fill their pouches to empty into the hive hoard. The residents of the region all have a large number of hives upon their farms, and many persons obtain their livelihood by taking care of the bees. The profits of the business were increased by the use of an instrument by which all the honey was removed from the comb and the wax cells were restored to the despoiled bees. Owing to a severe drouth this flowering plant has died in the fields.

—The following story is told by a correspondent of the London Times at Varna: "The coolness of Englishmen is well known, but for a real calm disregard for personal peril I can recommend a Turk. The other day at a station here a quantity of gunpowder was being packed in trucks for Schumla. One of the tin cases got damaged, and some wiseacre sent for a brazier to repair it where it stood. The mag came with his fire and soldering iron, mounted the truck, and was followed by a score of soldiers anxious to see the fun. He was just about to commence operations when the station master jumped up after him and unceremonously pitched him and his hot iron on the platform, told the soldiers that they might kill themselves if they liked, but that he was responsible for the station, and nobody should blow that up while he was

Victor Hugo's Oratory.

Victor Hugo's Oratory.

Victor Hugo never learned the art of thinking upon his feet, and so is compelled carefully to prepare his parliamentary efforts beforehand and to read them in public from manuscript. In connection with this fact the Paris Figuro relates this ancedote: "The time was after 1848, and one day M. Victor Hugo, being in the tribune, read a manuscript on which had been noted at a certain passage at which he supposed a storm of interruptions would take place) the following words: "Ah! you interrupt me!" But on the contrary, not a member said a word. The orator paused, and repeated in his most sonorous voice, "Ah! you interrupt me!" M. Dupin, who presided, leaned a little toward him and said in a tone to be heard both by the Deputies and the public: "Not at all! not the least in the world! Do you not see that they are all slumbering!"

HACKET'S FUNERAL.

The orangemen Have Their Procession After All, and Unmolested.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

MONTREAL, July 16.—The preparations made by the authorities for the preservation of peace during the day have terminated in a success for liberty of thought, opinion and action, such as Montreal has long been wanting.

To-day all national societies, except the Irish, of course, met and resolved to attend the funeral of Hackett in a body. The stupidity of the Mayor forced upon the magistrates the necessity of taking the preservation of peace in to their own hands, and accordingly a member for Montreal Centre, A. A. Ogilvie, assumed command, and left the Mayor in the shade, so left the morning to protect the arrival of Orangemen from points west. Some left the morning to protect the arrival of Orangemen from points west. Some left the Mayor in the shade, so left the morning to protect the arrival of Orangemen from points west. Some left the Mayor in the shade, so left batteries, artillery, cavalry, carbineers, rifles, fusileers and all available troops in the Fifth and Sixth Military Districts.

They were posted at the usual four points, and held in readiness for any movement.

The Exchange reports: "Sales 300 bales.

ASH & ROBBINS, 360 Fulton street, Brooklyr N. Y. ap161y BY THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF LOUISIANA, Executive Department, J Whoreas, section 3919 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Louisiana, approved March 14, 1870, provides "that the Governor shall issue his proclamation, upon the advice of the Board of Health declaring any place where there shall be reason to believe a pestilential, contagious or infectious disease exists to be an infected place, stating the number of days a quarantine is to be performed by the vessels, their passengers, officers and crews coming from such place or places."

Now, therefore, in pursuance to the provisions of the statutes aforesaid, and upon the recom-mendation of the Board of Health stating that there is reason to believe that, at this season of the year, there is danger of the introduction from the tropies of yellow fever contagion, I. FRANCIS T. NICHOLLS, Governor of the State of Louisiana, have thought proper to issue this my proclamation declaring that all vessels arrive ng, from and after the fifteenth day of Ju A. D. 1877, from the ports of Rio de Janeiro, Ha-vana, Matanzas, Sagua La Grande, Cardenas Cienfuegos, Santiago de Cuba, Kingston, Porte Rico, San Juan, Santo Domingo and Vera Cruz, shall be subject to quarantine, and that their officers, crews, passengers and cargoes arriving from the above named places, or having ouched or stopped at any of them, shall be sub-ect to a quarantine of ten days.

And I do hereby direct the proper officers at the Quarantine Station to rigidly enforce the execution of this proclamation, and any violation of the laws of this State on this subject mater to be vigorously prosecuted, Witness my signature and the seal of the State of Louisiana, at the city of New Orleans, this fourth day of June, A. D. 1877. FRANCIS T. NICHOLLS, Governor of the State of Louisiana. By the Governor: Will. A. Strong, Secretary of State, jes tis law if

OFFICE STATE TAX COLLECTOR, First District, New Orleans, July 3, 1877.

Hon. Allen Jumel, Auditor:

My Dear Sir—In accordance with your instructions I have prepared a list of delinquent license payers in the First District. A large number of these persons are making efforts to pay and avoid litigation and expenses.

I am satisfied that the interests of the State would be promoted by staying legal proceedings for a few weeks.

E. A. BURKE,

Collector First District.

STATE OF LOUISIANA, AUDITOR'S OFFICE, New Orleans, July 3, 1877, Col. E. A. Burke, Tax Collector, First District, Orleans:

Oreans:

Dear Sir—In answer to yours of even date you may stay legal proceedings against your delinquent license payers for twenty-five days, say to the twenty-seventh of July, 1877, by which time I hope they will all have paid, as it will be very unpleasant for me as well as yourself to have to enforce the law against these delinquents. nuents.
This stay of proceedings will apply to the parsh of Orleans. Yours respectfully, 194 11 18 25
