The Town Council of Abbeville imposes a license of $25 on public balls. Recently a ball was given where the sole beverage was cold water and lemon-ade and now it is proposed to abolish the license on all similar entertainments, as it was imposed for the purpose of suppressing balls where intoxicating drinks were dispensed and which generally resulted in affrays in which fists, knives and revolvers were freely used.

Col. Horn, the editor of the Meridian Mercury, is a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

Summer county held her mass convention last Saturday and instructed her delegates for Gen. Walker for Governor, and Walpole for Auditor.

A gentleman, residing at Wall Hill, says that enough wheat has been raised in that section to more than supply the home demand, that cotton looks clean, with a good stand, and corn will be made in abundance; the enterprising people of that portion of the county have also their hands to amply supply them with provisions.

OLD SITTING BULL REDIVIVUS. He will try to make a living in Canada, Failing in which He will return to the United States.

The Indian office has received through military channels a report from Lieut. P. H. Day, of the Sixth Infantry, communicating information recently given to him by Capt. Trachet, of the Canadian mounted police, concerning Sitting Bull and the various bands of hostile Indians which have crossed the boundary line into British territory.

Capt. Trachet stated that Major Walsh visited Sitting Bull early in May near the head of Frenchman's creek. Sitting Bull said to Major Walsh that he desired to remain with the Canadians during the summer; that he would do nothing against the law if the Major would instruct him as to the law; that he came there because he was tired of fighting, and that if he could not make a living in Canada he would return to the United States.

Spotted Eagle, Rain-in-the-Face, Medicine Bear and a number of other hostile chiefs of the Sioux were also present at this council, together with about two hundred lodges of their followers. They were told by Major Walsh, and also by Capt. Trachet, that they would be allowed ammunition only for hunting purposes, and that should any of their people cross to the American side and commit any depredations the chiefs would be held responsible and punished, but so long as they behaved themselves they could remain there with the Canadian Indians.

Major Walsh, however, of the Canadian Indians, was opposed to having these hostile Sioux on the side of the boundary line, as they are at war with them. He also stated that in the event of the United States Government demanding the hostiles the mounted police, only three hundred men, would be an insufficient force to drive them out of the country.

He said the hostile Indians have a good supply of arms and horses and bullets, but little or no ammunition. No Indian can obtain ammunition from traders on British territory without an order from the military commandant, which is not given except for a strictly limited quantity, sufficient to supply immediate needs for hunting, in case the Indian is actually suffering for food.

In reply to a question as to whether the hostile Indians are permitted to trade or give away the United States horses, rifles and arms in their possession, Capt. Trachet stated that the Canadian authorities looked upon them as the spoils of war, and had given no orders regarding them.
