

THE BIG STRIKE.

THE PENNSYLVANIA MILITIA.

The Troops That Were Going to Put Down the White League.

HARRISBURG, July 23.—Nine companies from Schuylkill county and two from Northumberland county reached the State Arsenal by a strategic move, being unloaded several miles west of here and marched to their destination in order to avoid a collision with the mob.

All the troops here, about five hundred, are guarding the State Arsenal. Several companies of Slegfried's Division have refused to come because of a fear that they would be mobbed.

The Philadelphia companies detained at Altoona by the strikers were thoroughly demoralized, and detachments have been maneuvering to-day to pass this city without coming in contact with the mob on the other side of the river.

Two car loads of troops, who had been at Altoona several days, were shipped to Philadelphia to-day via the Schuylkill and Susquehanna Railroad, and Pottsville, to avoid passing through the city.

The selection of this route afforded great relief to the disheartened militia.

This evening Capt. A. Lowrey, in command of the Philadelphia city troops and thirty-two men was captured in progress about thirty-two miles east of this city by the State authorities and conducted to the arsenal, where the company is now keeping guard.

The city troops had strayed to that point from Rockville, a few miles distant, and were on the way to Philadelphia. They had learned of the serious aspect of affairs in this city, and could not be persuaded to pass through.

Tom Scott Called for Southern Militia to Put Down the Strikers.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The whole subject of the relations of the Federal government to the railroads and striking employees was discussed for two hours by the Cabinet to-day, and it was finally determined by a pretty nearly unanimous vote that the Administration must wholly repudiate Col. Tom Scott's view of its functions in the present emergency.

Scott not only telegraphed in the most peremptory manner yesterday to the members of the Cabinet, whom he assailed to control, but he sent his private secretary down here on a special train last evening to urge the Federal government to take the ground that its constitutional power to regulate the commerce between States gave it the right to step in and take the railroads out of the hands of the strikers.

It seems strange that this extraordinary demand should have received a moment's consideration from the President or any members of his cabinet, but it certainly was considered, and Scott is doubtless cursing the administration to-night because it has ideas about governing different from his own.

The decision of the Cabinet, as expressed by the Secretary of State at the meeting to-day, was that the government could not and would not go into the railroad business.

It would do the only thing it could legally do, which is to aid the State authorities wherever such aid can properly be given. It was determined that the United States military officers must everywhere subordinate themselves to the State authorities and act in cooperation with them.

The United States troops must not attempt to start a train or run a train, but must repel and prevent violations of the peace and the law. It was urged by the Scott crowd that the administration might declare the neighborhood of Pittsburg and other cities in a state of insurrection.

The answer to this was that even if such an extraordinary proclamation were to be made, the Federal government could only do what the States themselves had full power to do, which was to call the militia, since it had so few troops of its own to spare.

The Scott crowd that militia might be ordered to the scene of the troubles from New England and the South, but to do this it was answered that such an enormous risk of stirring up sectional feeling was not to be thought of. Thus it was that the stereotyped proclamation, fitted out for the latitude of Pennsylvania, was the only comfort which Scott obtained from the administration at the Cabinet meeting to-day.

ST. LOUIS COMMUNISM.

The Terrible Threats of the St. Louis Internationalists.

St. Louis, July 23.—The railroad strike, which was not organized here till Sunday night at midnight, has not only held its own, but has been growing in importance. The railroad officials are awed at the completeness of the organization, and know not what to do, though hourly are inclining toward concessions to the demands of the strikers.

At the Union depot a large crowd assembled, and among them a large part of the worst elements of the town, eager for a spoil might be afforded. Terrible rumors filled the air, and for the first time St. Louis saw it possible that her bridge and tunnel might prove a curse.

"They are going to dynamite the tunnel, and bring down the east side of the Custom-House to fill up the hole," said one man. Said another: "A little turpentine and kerosene would soon soak the eastern approaches of the bridge, and a match would finish the work and burn half a mile of bridge timbers," and it is said if the bosses don't come to time these measures will be put in operation.

It was even whispered about that in case of trouble the jail, which is just above the Union depot, would be taken possession of by the mob and the inmates turned loose to assist in the work of plunder and rape.

This rumor assumed such dimensions that the jail officials placed a battery of six-pounders, loaded with canister, within the

THE NEW YORK COMMUNISTS.

President Hayes Denounced as a Fraud.

New York, July 23.—A largely attended Communist meeting, held to-night at Germano Assembly Hall, listened to some inflammatory rhetoric, which shows the difference of feeling among this class of citizens.

Mr. Conroy said that Tom Scott had decreed that ninety cents a day was more than enough for a laboring man to live on. A perfect storm of hisses and shouts followed. The speaker wanted the government to buy up all the railroads, gas companies and horse railroads in the country, and the meeting thought well of the project.

He was anxious that Mr. Hayes, whom he did not consider as President, and whose proclamation should not be obeyed, should take no notice of Carroll, of Maryland. He, the speaker, could raise 75,000 men who would leave Washington as Louis Philippe left France.

Mr. Conroy said Jay Gould ought to be indicted for using money to elect Hayes. The crowd loudly expressed its desire to hang Jay Gould instead.

Mr. George Winter said that the war between capital and labor was now raging. Capital was a king which claimed to work by divine right. Henry Ward Beecher had declared that a man could support a family of six children on one dollar a day.

"The tumult here was indescribable. 'Hang him to the lamp post!' 'Damn Henry Ward Beecher!' Men yelled and knife some unoffending person who had drowned in the river. Several other speeches of similar tenor were made. It was the sentiment of the meeting that Hayes was a fraudulent President, and none of his proclamations should be obeyed.

THE MOLLIES RISING.

Outbreaks Among the Lawless Miners of Pennsylvania.

READING, July 24.—The same deplorable situation that has so frequently been witnessed in the middle and Northern coal fields, where once peace and prosperity reigned, is being rapidly approached again. As is usual in such unsettled times the Molly Maguire element has asserted its sway, and while "coffin notices" are being transmitted to persons who have aroused the enmity of the brigandage at one place, elsewhere coal breakers are being shadowed by murderous spirits, who once in a while slaughter with the bullet or knife some unoffending person who has been condemned by the Molly Maguires, and whose name upon their "dead list" is enough to insure his death whether the edicts of the terrible organization have or have not been conformed with.

At more distant points in the State, where miners' strikes have been productive of Molly Maguireism, the terrorism is reported to be spreading in all directions. It has been known for a long time that many lawless characters have banded themselves together for the purpose of intimidating "blacklog" or non-union miners and other colliery operatives, but no particularly flagrant outwary has been attempted until recently.

The Clearfield county region, where a number of notorious Molly Maguires are rendezvoused, has during the past week been the scene of much law-breaking. Several colliers have been beaten with clubs and stones, besides being otherwise maltreated. One of these victims of Molly Maguireism, Peter Baker, has since died. A raid was made into the mining district of Morrisdale on Saturday last by the desperadoes infesting the neighboring coal country, and numerous flagrant acts were performed. The mines of Davis & Co. were the field of a brutal outrage. As a consequence the Banks Downing was engaged in repairing a broken elevator upon the company's property, he was attacked by an armed body of men, who had disguised themselves by smearing wet coal dust upon their faces. Downing was first severely beaten with bludgeons—the favorite murderous weapon of the Molly Maguires—and then thrown into a washed out mine. This victim, when found, was breathing his last.

His body was covered with frightful wounds, and the murderer had no connection whatever with the mine. The terrible event has naturally aroused the citizens, and had the perpetrators been found, they would have been lynched by the excited people.

Persons who have signified their intention of accepting the operators' terms and going to work in the mines have been the recipients of "coffin notices." Three colliery properties have been fired and destroyed. The marauders, who are said to have appeared in the country since the onslaught on the Molly Maguires in Schuylkill, Carbon and Luzerne counties (and consequently supposed to be a portion of the Mollies who used to enact their brigandage there), are nomadic, appearing at one place at one time, committing outrages, and then mysteriously disappearing. In some of the mining settlements the discontented colliers are becoming extremely warlike in their demonstrations, and as the outlaws seem to be acting in concert with their much alarm is being manifested among the peaceable and law-respecting citizens. The official and corporate powers are combining to drive out Molly Maguire invaders and restore peace and order throughout the disturbed regions. The impression is general that the exciting troubles are but the beginning of the end, and the brigandish demonstrations are thought to be but the harbinger of an open revolution among the law-breakers.

COLUMBUS COMMUNISM.

COLUMBUS, July 23.—The policy here, as at Indianapolis, is to attempt to move no freight, and to wait, giving the mob no excuse for action. What the sentiment is among those men, how totally different from a mere strike of train employees is the action here, was illustrated at a meeting of the railroad and other men held to-night. One speaker asserted boldly that the time had come for the President to issue a proclamation making a pro rata division of all capital among the people, and this demand was demanded as necessary at once. There is prevailing here a smouldering spirit of the reddest communism, and if the excuse for action is given, what may happen is not even to be guessed at.

At $2 50 Per Bundle. No competition arrests the Progress of the ARROW TIE. It is ever onward in its course as Streams flow to the Ocean.

SEE THE FOLLOWING CERTIFICATES ADDRESSED TO COMPANY'S AGENTS. Gentlemen:—It affords me great pleasure to present you with this Tie, as evidence of our high appreciation of the value of the ARROW TIE, as a fastening for Cotton Bales.

We have used it constantly in our Presses since its introduction, having found no other Tie that can compare with it in utility, durability and strength, and from our own experience we can only recommend it to planters as the BEST TIE we have seen.

Pressing from five to seven hundred bales per day, where running a falling community and to interest in purchasing the ARROW TIE, to our interest for the purpose of replacing any other buckle that may be on the bale, taking the others off and throwing them in the scrap pile to be sold as old iron.

Yours truly, F. R. LUBBOCK, Superintendent, Southern Cotton Press Company Presses, FACTORY, GALVESTON, TEXAS. MEICHAENTS, NEW ORLEANS.

I take pleasure in stating that since my superintendency of the Planters' Press, we have been constantly using the ARROW TIE, and prefer the Band and Buckle to any that they have ever used.

I am yours very truly, F. R. LUBBOCK, Superintendent, Southern Cotton Press Company Presses, FACTORY, GALVESTON, TEXAS. MEICHAENTS, NEW ORLEANS.

The above is endorsed by Cotton Press men of New Orleans, Mobile, Savannah, Charleston, Norfolk, Wilmington and Petersburg. Thanks to planters throughout all the Cotton States for the liberal support and patronage of the ARROW TIE.
