

AND YET. You would not think her cheeks were blooming roses; No line of pearls her beaming smile disclosed; No delicate perfumes around her loveliness; And yet I love her!

For she is truly sensible and good; And all the charms that make true womanhood; Unite in her; and she loves me moreover; And so I love her!

HINTS FOR POVERTY-CURED BELL-BOYS. (San Francisco Post.) The other day a groceryman at Vallejo gave a large party, at which the daughter of the carriage painter, who lived next door, created a decided sensation.

It was not that she was more handsomely attired than the other ladies present, but that when she gazed in the "dance of death," she was observed to display the only pair of pink silk stockings in the room. She left the house for a few moments at the expiration of the dance, and in the next morning exhibited a pair of light blue dikes. An hour later her crushed and exasperated female friends beheld these supplemented by further hose of a delicate chocolate shade. And so it went on until her miserable rivals determined to follow her the next time she disappeared. They traced her to her father's paint shop in the back yard, where she was discovered, brush in hand, and about ornaments, her rather extreme views on the artistic coat of white enamel. The exulting smiles rushed back with the damaging news, but it was too late. The men were all too tight to understand, the muscle had gone home, and the lights were being put out. This is that fraud and duplicity triumph, while honest simplicity walks around with a darn on its calf and a hole in its heel.

ANOTHER EXPLANATION OF THE OHIO DEFEAT. (N. Y. Tribune.) Mr. Vogeler, who was candidate for Lieutenant Governor of the late Republican ticket in Ohio, says the party owes its defeat to financial demoralization and the civil service order. "As his travels over the State he became convinced that all the Democrats and at least one-half of the Republicans were opposed to what they call 'forced resumption.' Vogeler says this as an open advocate of forced resumption, believing that all talk about any other method is stupid twaddle. He thinks the Southern policy was the greatest help the party had, instead of being a hindrance. This is of interest as showing that the political doctors will never be able to agree upon the exact amount of presidential responsibility in the case. It is time the post mortem examination was closed.

MARRIAGE IN BORNHO. On the wedding day in Bornho the bride and bridegroom are brought from opposite ends of the village to the spot where the ceremony is to be performed. They are made to sit on two bars of iron, that blessings as lasting and fruitful as vigorous may attend the pair. A cigar and betel leaf, prepared with the areas nut, are next put in the hands of the bride and bridegroom. One of the priests then waves two towels over the heads of the couple, and in a long address to the Supreme Being calls down blessings upon the pair, and implores that peace and happiness may attend the union. After the heads of the couple have been knooled against each other three or four times, the bridegroom puts the prepared leaf and cigar into the mouth of the bride, while she does the same for him, whom she thus acknowledges as her husband.

THE LATEST IN HATS. A lady who attends all the openings put the subjunctive story into shape. We stepped into a milliner's shop the other day on business, and accidentally sat down on a bonnet that some one had laid on the chair. We remained there until no one was looking in our direction, and then we quietly got up and stepped on one side. There was a lady in the time looking for a hat, and she stepped on the other side. We found the one we had finished, and it just took her fancy. It was just what she wanted, so she said.

SAYS AN EXCHANGE: The more a hat resembles a cartwheel in size, a vegetable garden in decoration, and a military establishment in general "make up," the more pleasing it will be to the average female wearer.

NEW YORK AND PENNSYLVANIA. (Cincinnati Enquirer.) Politicians of both parties here agree that Pennsylvania is certain to go Democratic next month. The Democrats claim 25,000 majority, and the Republicans concede 15,000. The Republican members from the rural districts bring careful accounts of demoralization. Ex-Representative Wade, of New York, says he is within the bounds of probability in setting the Democratic majority in New York at 75,000.

WIVES, DE JURE AND DE FACTO. Touching story of conjugal fidelity from Brantford, Canada. John Hartley left Yorkshire in 1842, and having established himself in the New World, sent for his wife. She would not come out to him, however, so he married another woman, sending the first one from time to time means for her maintenance. After twenty-seven years the wife de facto died, whereon the wife de jure concurred her scruples, came out to America, and was reunited to the husband of her youth.

THE METHOD OF ELECTING PRESIDENTS. (N. Y. World.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—There is a decided feeling in Congress in favor of passing a law at this session regulating the election of the President and Vice President. The serious defects of the present electoral system are so fresh in the minds of Senators and members that it is believed that an act can be framed at this time which will provide against any contingency in the future similar to that of last winter, and which will also reflect the popular vote in the selection of the Chief Executive. Both Houses have therefore authorized a concurrent committee to inquire into the question and report a bill. The Senate committee will consist of seven members and that of the House of eleven members. They will not act as a joint committee, but exercise concurrent jurisdiction, the same as the two committees which framed the bill last session creating the Electoral Commission. It is the intention of the Vice President and Speaker to select the best legal talent of both houses for representation upon the committee.

TWO DEATHS. A singular and sad incident occurred in Louisa county, Virginia, last Friday. Miss Knutson, a daughter of Adolph Knutson, Esq., of that county, died on Friday morning after a painful illness. Her sister came into the room where the body was lying, and threw herself upon the bed in a paroxysm of grief, and, as they supposed at the time, fainted. When her friends made an effort to revive her it was found that she was dead.

RUSSIAN FINANCES. The Russian war estimates for another year require the issue of $345,500,000 in paper money. There is already in circulation $675,000,000 of paper currency, depreciated 50 per cent. The Government is every reason to believe the Czar will try and close up his business with Sultan Hamid as speedily as possible. Russia's public debt now is about $3,300,000,000. The Turks are using tons of counterfeit paper money manufactured by a German printing house, which grinds it out in avalanches.

SOLDIERS' BACK PAY. (Cincinnati Enquirer.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Senator Ingalls has revived the project of taking $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 from the treasury in the shape of back pay by introducing a bill to pay each soldier who served in the late war $8 3/4 per month, deducting the amount of bounty previously received. It is a singular fact that with all his close-fisted economy, Ex-Representative Holman, of Indiana, was the foremost champion of this scheme in the last Congress.

CHRISTIAN KUKLUX. San Antonio, Texas, has a society of Free Thinkers, and a detachment from there to the Galveston News says a band of fifty Christian Kuklux took a leading Free Thinker of Bell county out the other night, hit him fifty lashes and gave notice if there were any more infidel lectures in that county, somebody would hang.

THE BALLOT IN WYOMING. The ballots said to have produced one almost incredible effect upon the women of Wyoming. It is averred that some of them actually declare themselves older than they really are in order to get a chance to vote. A contemporary considers it probable that Wyoming is the only place on earth where such a thing has happened. The fixation of politics upon the human mind never had a more striking illustration.

More haste, less sense: Edwin (hurriedly, as he starts for town) "Look here, dear, I must get the maw loosed." Angelina—"You mean—" Edwin—"Of course, of course—this fawn mawed." Angelina—"O, you silly thing!" Edwin—"Well, my dear, you see what a hurry I'm in. Of course, when I say the maw loosed, I mean the loosed mawed; no, the maw loosed. Confound it, it's the maw loosed." Edwin—"My dear, you mean the loosed mawed." Edwin—"Do I mean the mawed loosed?" [Exit.]

Petersburg, Va., has 180 Moffett registers, which show that that city took between September 27 and October 16 34,354 alcoholic potations—tax, $858 85; malt, 10,754—tax, $54 26.

Officer's grand opening takes place Monday. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says Mr. Backus, of the California Minstrels, offers a reward of $1000 for a joke which will make an audience laugh two minutes with the watch.
