At the launching of the new steamer at Chester, Pa., recently, Mr. John Roach made the following eloquent and suggestive remark: Seven months ago the material for vonder vessel, which was launched a halfhour ago, was lying in the bowels of the earth. There it was worth $5000. To-day, in its present shape, it represents $500,000, and that money has gone to the elevation of Ameri

Several moneyed parties in Columbus, Ga., have been estimating the cost and propriety of building a cotton factory. The estimate is for a mill of 32,000 spindles, which would work up 6000 bales per annum, producing 8,337,600 yards of a fine grade of sheeting, and shows the cost of such a mill, including site, buildings, machinery, and everything included, to be only $500,000. This is a sum much less than which the same mill could be built in many places. It is expected that the interested parties will commence construction in the fall.

Mr. D. G. Morey, the freight agent of the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans Railroad, has obligingly furnished us with a tabular statement of the comparative receipts of cotton at this point from that road. From this we gather that during the past eight months 326,177 bales of cotton have been brought by that road to New Orleans, against 290,769 tan be pronounced to be dull. The bales during the same time last year. Mr. first hands embraced only so bbls. Morey's table of receipts is thus recapitu-

A recent decision of the United States Su-A recent decision of the United States Supreme Court is important to persons taking out insurance. The decision is to the effect that a promise of the agent to notify the insured of the time for the payment of premiums does not waive prompt payment. It was held that where a policy of insurance provided for the where a policy of insurance provided for the water a policy of insurance provided for the payment of the premium upon its maturity, and it was not paid, the default will not be excused by a plea that the agent of the company, when arranging the application for the Middling Middling. insurance, stated to the insured that he would be notified of the time of the payment of premiums, and that such notice was not given Such a verbal representation of the agent be fore the issuing of the policy, it is said, is merged in the contract contained in the pol icy, whose terms will control, and constitute no estoppel upon the company against insist ing upon the forfeiture of the policy.

We have of late, on several occasions, re called to the minds of our readers the im portance of the leaf tobacco trade, which fo merly came down to us in great quantities from the West, and was a large and im portant contributor to the commercial importance and wealth of our city. We also alluded to the efforts being made to restore this trade, and the encouraging prospects of such a revival. We have recently seen a letter to a prominent house in this city, from one of the largest operators in tobacco for the English market, to be found in this country, written at Henderson, Ky., in which the announcement is made that he and his coadjutors in the same business are particularly desirous of shipping their "strip" tobacco to Liverpool and Longian and the stock at the receipts same time last year 1.141.719

All they desire is a positive assurance that they will find ample facilities for quick shipment at this port and reasonable rates of freight. We may mention, in passing, that the description of tobacco sent to the English markets is called "strips," which is the leaf with the stems cut out, by which process the weight of the cured plant is reduced and the duty correspondingly lessened. The stems are exported generally to Bremen for the German market, and are ground up for smoking. With a little judicious exertion, and concerted and harmonious action on the part of our receivers and ship agents, we could easily and speedily attract to our port a very large portion of the tobacco which is now being shipped from the West to Atlantic ports This for exportation to foreign countries. From all accounts our Western friends engaged in the trade are willing and anxious to give us a

OFFICE OF NEW ORLEANS DEMOCRAT.
Tuesday Evening, April 30, 1878. GENERAL REMARKS-This has been clear, pleasant day, but, being the last of the month, business was not active.

On account of the absence of good qualities of Cotton on the market, which were most sought after, the sales footed up only 2150 bales. There was a good inquiry, and the news from abroad were favorable, consequently the market ruled firm.

Presuming that the stocks, as reported, are what they are represented to be, the consumption of Flour during the month of April amount-ed to a fraction over 55,000 bbls, which is larger than was expected. On the first of April the stock footed up 38,028 bbls, and the receipts since that time have been 47,295 bbls. The general idea among flour men seems to be that hereafter there will be a considerable decline in receipts, compared with those of April, and, consequently, there is a steady feeling in the market, though the demand is generally dull-Business, however, to-day, considering it was the last of the month, was fair, and 1305 bbls were sold.

In regard to Pork the news from the West today was not encouraging; in fact, it was de-cidedly unfavorable and the porcine product in the Chicago market fell below $8.50. This, of course, had its effect upon our market, and buyers were prudently shy. A few transactions were reported at $9 25, and the market can be pronounced to be dull. The sales from
