

THE INDIAN OUTBREAK.

SETTLERS FLEEING IN ALL DIRECTIONS FOR SAFETY.

Death of Mayor Kane, of Baltimore—Texan Excursionists Visit Chicago.

INDIAN DEPREDAATIONS.

The savages on the War Path—Harney Valley Desolated—Fort Harney Evicted With Terrified Refugees.

MALHEUR CITY, Oregon, June 23.—The Indians are now in the Harney valley between Stone's mountain and Silver river. Two men have been killed in Harney valley. The Indians are destroying horses and cattle, and apparently have a stronghold on the west side of Stone's mountain. A white scout sent from Harney valley reports that the Indians are destroying horses and cattle, and apparently have a stronghold on the west side of Stone's mountain. A white scout sent from Harney valley reports that the Indians are destroying horses and cattle, and apparently have a stronghold on the west side of Stone's mountain.

Gen. Howard's cavalry and infantry will form a junction at some point on the Harney valley. The cavalry will consist of a temporary force of 200 men, and the infantry of 100 men. The cavalry will be under the command of Major Kane, and the infantry of Major Harney. The force will be sent to the Harney valley to fight the Indians.

Death of Mayor Kane.

BALTIMORE, June 23.—Mayor Kane died at 3:40 o'clock this morning of his residence. He was unconscious since the preceding morning, his tongue being also paralyzed. He passed away easily, his wife, Miss Kelley, Gen. C. G. Everett and the nurse being at his bedside at the time. Kane was born in Baltimore in 1826, of Irish parentage. At an early age he started in business as a grain dealer, and was very successful. In 1849 he was appointed collector of the port of Baltimore by President Taylor, when a mob held throughout the administration of President Fillmore. Subsequently he was appointed marshal of this city, and it was mainly through his instrumentality that the celebrated riot of April, 1857, which was attacked the 10th Massachusetts Regiment at Camden station, was put down and great loss of life prevented. That same year he was indicted for treason and was confined in Forts Warren, Lafayette and McHenry for a period of fourteen months in all. After his release he went South, where he remained until the close of the war, and returned to this city in 1866. In 1875 he was elected sheriff, and in 1877 mayor, which position he held at the time of his death.

Suicides and Sudden Deaths.

NEW YORK, June 23.—James A. Parker, tobacco merchant of Milwaukee, Wis., who arrived in this city a few days ago, was found to-day at French's Hotel from apoplexy. Moses A. Wheelock, until recently vice president of the Stock Exchange, committed suicide while laboring under a temporary aberration of mind. Financial troubles are supposed to be the cause of the act. The funeral of Wm. C. Ribelander, the last of the second generation of the famous Knickerbocker family of New York, was held at 10 o'clock to-day at a century ago, took place this afternoon. Among the pall-bearers were Frederick Depuyter, Thurlow Wood, Chief Justice Bailey and Benjamin H. Field. The body was interred in the family vault at St. Paul's Churchyard, Bayway.

Paul's Reception at Home—He Will Explain Himself.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 23.—Hon. A. H. Stephens arrived last night and was received by a large crowd at the depot. He was met with a salute of cannon, and he briefly addressed his friends from the platform of the car and thanked them for the ovation. He said: "Before I leave this city I will answer face to face all assaults that have been made upon me."

Heavy Land Entries.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Returns made to the General Land Office show an extraordinary tide of immigration into the States of Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Colorado and Dakota, where settlements are being made under the homestead and pre-emption acts. In one district of Dakota there were 10,000 entries made by actual settlers at its single land office, and more than 170 in the month of May.

Texasan Abroad.

CHICAGO, June 23.—A party of about 500 Texans arrived in this city to-day on a ninety days' excursion. The company consists of business men, with their wives, in some cases families. From this point they scatter, and will visit their friends in different parts of the North before returning to their homes.

Bruce Takes a Partner.

CLEVELAND, O., June 23.—The marriage of Senator B. R. Bruce (politician) of Mississippi, to Miss Josephine B. Wilson, of this city, is announced. After the wedding the couple will leave for New York, where they expect to take passage for Europe. They expect to remain on the continent for nine months.

Flour Manufacture Burned.

NEWARK, N. J., June 23.—The works of the Newark Flour Company, located on Passaic river, were totally destroyed by fire this morning. Loss about $50,000, fully covered by insurance.

Impediments.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Post to-day thus announces a new branch of the Butler investigation. The committee will form from the Electoral Commission will form the subject of inquiry by the commission now in session, and may develop into one of the most interesting features of the whole affair. There are points and circumstances connected with the Butler investigation, when properly developed by testimony, may do yeoman service in establishing the guilty cognizance and complicity of Mr. Hayes in the conspiracy which he was counted in. The Post then says of "the settled certainty that Mr. Hayes will be impeached for criminally carrying out after his inauguration the arrangements of a conspiracy to which he was a party beforehand." This, with the common talk among those Democrats who did the preparatory work of starting the Butler investigation, and the pronounced views of Gen. Butler, are accepted here among the Republicans as conclusive that while the Democracy, for prudential party reasons, have pronounced against attacking the president's title, it is with the full understanding that the work of the committee shall be vigorously directed to his impeachment.

Insolvency Laws.

The repeal of the national bankrupt law, to take effect September 1, puts the question of bankruptcy back into the hands of the States, whence it was taken by Congress. The old State laws will be revived, or in many cases new ones are likely to be made to meet the emergency, as in Rhode Island, where the merchants in the trade centers must familiarize

THE EASTERN MUDDLE.

RUSSIA ACCEPTS THE BRITISH BULGARIAN PROGRAMME.

Austria to Acquire Bosnia and Herzegovina—Party Riots in Belfast.

The Tripartite Muddle—The Treaty Styled "An Arrangement."

LONDON, June 23.—The Post yesterday said that the fact that the Schouvaloff-Salsbury memorandum was not signed, only initiated, does not affect its validity, but indicates its character as an arrangement for facilitating an approach to more serious negotiation.

In regard to private pour porters between Russia, Austria and England the Berlin dispatches confirm the statement published as to the arrangement relative to the Balkans, but the decision of the Czar is waited upon certain points touching Southern Bulgaria and the Antivara question.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that Austria will demand in the congress authority to escort Bosnian refugees back to their homes, and it is said will urge that the future of their escort's stay in Bosnia be left unfixd.

Important Questions To Be Decided To-day.

LONDON, June 23.—A dispatch from Berlin says: In Saturday's sitting of the congress, Earl Beaconsfield, in a long and eloquent, and emphatically demanding the right of Turkey to garrison and fortify the Roumanian frontier.

The Programme Accepted.

LONDON, June 23.—A dispatch from Berlin says it is fully confirmed that Russia accepts the British Bulgarian programme. There is also an increased probability of Austria's acquisition of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Russian Poles.

LONDON, June 23.—A dispatch from Moscow says that the Russian Poles are extremely signing a petition to the congress at Berlin.

THE WORK OF CONGRESS.

The Bills Introduced Before Congress Which Have Passed and Which Failed.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—During the session just closed, there were introduced 6829 bills and 243 joint resolutions. About 5300 bills were introduced in the House, which is an average of nearly twenty to each member. Of these bills, about 250 have been disposed of, in addition to the bills which have been introduced in the House, which is an average of nearly twenty to each member. Of these bills, about 250 have been disposed of, in addition to the bills which have been introduced in the House, which is an average of nearly twenty to each member.

MARINE NEWS.

SOUTHWEST PASS, June 23, 6 p. m.—Barometer 29.55. Weather calm, hot and hazy. No arrivals. For New York: Steamship W. G. Hewes for Indianapolis. PORT EADS, June 23, 6 p. m.—Wind east, light. Weather clear. No arrivals. Sailed: Steamship Margaret for Havana, Bark Luira for Cork, Bark Palais Gallien for Bordeaux, Brig Clementina for Barcelona, Schooner Vernal for Belize, Schooner J. G. Whipple for Grand Cayman. ARRIVED: City of Chester, from Liverpool; France, from London; Erin, from Liverpool. BOSTON, June 23.—Sailed: Bohemian and Marathon, for Liverpool. NEW YORK, June 23.—Sailed: Amerique, for New York. LIVERPOOL, June 23.—Arrived: Abyssinia and Nevada, from New York. SOUTHAMPTON, June 23.—Sailed: Othello, for New York. ARRIVED: June 23.—Arrived: Vaderland, from Philadelphia; Mercator, from New York.

A Demoralized Editor.

An editor was sitting in his easy chair, buoyant in mind and heart, with the calm serenity and blissful tranquillity that none but editors know. A shuffling sound at the door brought him back to earth, and facing nervously about, he beheld a man of deep, dark, defined look, closing the door behind him. With a sickly feeling of foreboding, the editor motioned toward the chair, and gazed upon the intruder, helpless and breathless, resigned to meet the man who wandered toward his breast pocket. The editor's cheek blanched and his lips turned blue. Alas! alas! he had guessed aright the dread mission of the stranger. The man pulled out a bundle of letters and papers. The head of the editor fell forward upon his breast, and the hands dropped listless from the arms of his chair.

Kelogg's Truth.

The Hon. William Pitt Kelogg, being asked what he should swear to when he appeared before the Potter committee, responded: "The truth, of course." Whereupon a friend at the distinguished de facto Senator's elbow moved to amend by striking out the words "of course," and substituting the phrase "strange as it may seem." The amendment was not carried.

Senator Hill's Views on the Currency Question—What Remains Yet to Be Done in Congress.

I had a long talk with Senator Hill on the financial question. He says that the only thing that is needed now to make the country happy and prosperous is a repeal of the tax of 10 per cent on State money. He says that he is satisfied that the law is unconstitutional; that they have no more right to deprive the people of this issue than to incorporate a bank. He is going to take charge of this matter and push it through with all his ability and vigor. He says he would have done it at this session, but that it was necessary that the currency question as to the relative value of gold, silver and greenbacks should be definitely settled before any steps were taken on this line.

Kelogg's Truth.

The Hon. William Pitt Kelogg, being asked what he should swear to when he appeared before the Potter committee, responded: "The truth, of course." Whereupon a friend at the distinguished de facto Senator's elbow moved to amend by striking out the words "of course," and substituting the phrase "strange as it may seem." The amendment was not carried.

The Correspondencia de Espana says that from the beginning of the Cuban insurrection up to January last, 138,555 soldiers died in the hospital from wounds or disease, and 12,500 on the field of battle; 37,735 were discharged, and about 100,000 insurgents were either killed in battle or shot after being made prisoners.

The Indian troops are in high spirits, and will be terribly chastised if there is no war, or if they are disappointed in their expectations of seeing the Queen and England.

THE EASTERN MUDDLE.

RUSSIA ACCEPTS THE BRITISH BULGARIAN PROGRAMME.

Austria to Acquire Bosnia and Herzegovina—Party Riots in Belfast.

The Tripartite Muddle—The Treaty Styled "An Arrangement."

LONDON, June 23.—The Post yesterday said that the fact that the Schouvaloff-Salsbury memorandum was not signed, only initiated, does not affect its validity, but indicates its character as an arrangement for facilitating an approach to more serious negotiation.

In regard to private pour porters between Russia, Austria and England the Berlin dispatches confirm the statement published as to the arrangement relative to the Balkans, but the decision of the Czar is waited upon certain points touching Southern Bulgaria and the Antivara question.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that Austria will demand in the congress authority to escort Bosnian refugees back to their homes, and it is said will urge that the future of their escort's stay in Bosnia be left unfixd.

Important Questions To Be Decided To-day.

LONDON, June 23.—A dispatch from Berlin says: In Saturday's sitting of the congress, Earl Beaconsfield, in a long and eloquent, and emphatically demanding the right of Turkey to garrison and fortify the Roumanian frontier.

The Programme Accepted.

LONDON, June 23.—A dispatch from Berlin says it is fully confirmed that Russia accepts the British Bulgarian programme. There is also an increased probability of Austria's acquisition of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Russian Poles.

LONDON, June 23.—A dispatch from Moscow says that the Russian Poles are extremely signing a petition to the congress at Berlin.

THE WORK OF CONGRESS.

The Bills Introduced Before Congress Which Have Passed and Which Failed.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—During the session just closed, there were introduced 6829 bills and 243 joint resolutions. About 5300 bills were introduced in the House, which is an average of nearly twenty to each member. Of these bills, about 250 have been disposed of, in addition to the bills which have been introduced in the House, which is an average of nearly twenty to each member.

MARINE NEWS.

SOUTHWEST PASS, June 23, 6 p. m.—Barometer 29.55. Weather calm, hot and hazy. No arrivals. For New York: Steamship W. G. Hewes for Indianapolis. PORT EADS, June 23, 6 p. m.—Wind east, light. Weather clear. No arrivals. Sailed: Steamship Margaret for Havana, Bark Luira for Cork, Bark Palais Gallien for Bordeaux, Brig Clementina for Barcelona, Schooner Vernal for Belize, Schooner J. G. Whipple for Grand Cayman. ARRIVED: City of Chester, from Liverpool; France, from London; Erin, from Liverpool. BOSTON, June 23.—Sailed: Bohemian and Marathon, for Liverpool. NEW YORK, June 23.—Sailed: Amerique, for New York. LIVERPOOL, June 23.—Arrived: Abyssinia and Nevada, from New York. SOUTHAMPTON, June 23.—Sailed: Othello, for New York. ARRIVED: June 23.—Arrived: Vaderland, from Philadelphia; Mercator, from New York.

A Demoralized Editor.

An editor was sitting in his easy chair, buoyant in mind and heart, with the calm serenity and blissful tranquillity that none but editors know. A shuffling sound at the door brought him back to earth, and facing nervously about, he beheld a man of deep, dark, defined look, closing the door behind him. With a sickly feeling of foreboding, the editor motioned toward the chair, and gazed upon the intruder, helpless and breathless, resigned to meet the man who wandered toward his breast pocket. The editor's cheek blanched and his lips turned blue. Alas! alas! he had guessed aright the dread mission of the stranger. The man pulled out a bundle of letters and papers. The head of the editor fell forward upon his breast, and the hands dropped listless from the arms of his chair.

Kelogg's Truth.

The Hon. William Pitt Kelogg, being asked what he should swear to when he appeared before the Potter committee, responded: "The truth, of course." Whereupon a friend at the distinguished de facto Senator's elbow moved to amend by striking out the words "of course," and substituting the phrase "strange as it may seem." The amendment was not carried.

Senator Hill's Views on the Currency Question—What Remains Yet to Be Done in Congress.

I had a long talk with Senator Hill on the financial question. He says that the only thing that is needed now to make the country happy and prosperous is a repeal of the tax of 10 per cent on State money. He says that he is satisfied that the law is unconstitutional; that they have no more right to deprive the people of this issue than to incorporate a bank. He is going to take charge of this matter and push it through with all his ability and vigor. He says he would have done it at this session, but that it was necessary that the currency question as to the relative value of gold, silver and greenbacks should be definitely settled before any steps were taken on this line.

Kelogg's Truth.

The Hon. William Pitt Kelogg, being asked what he should swear to when he appeared before the Potter committee, responded: "The truth, of course." Whereupon a friend at the distinguished de facto Senator's elbow moved to amend by striking out the words "of course," and substituting the phrase "strange as it may seem." The amendment was not carried.

The Correspondencia de Espana says that from the beginning of the Cuban insurrection up to January last, 138,555 soldiers died in the hospital from wounds or disease, and 12,500 on the field of battle; 37,735 were discharged, and about 100,000 insurgents were either killed in battle or shot after being made prisoners.

The Indian troops are in high spirits, and will be terribly chastised if there is no war, or if they are disappointed in their expectations of seeing the Queen and England.

THE COUNTRY PRESS.

EARNST DEMAND FROM THE PRESS FOR A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

(Houma Courier.)

The question of the day is: "Are we to have a constitutional convention?" If we were asked to answer the query in the name of a majority of Democratic voters of this parish, our reply would be: Yes! The Democratic party passed itself to reform the abuses of former administrations of misrule, dishonesty and monopolies; it pledged itself to protect the rights of the people, and we now ask that those pledges be redeemed by acceding to the wishes of the people. A batch of new members, not those trusted by worried legislators, will not satisfy the demands of the Democratic voters of this State. We want a new constitution—a constitution that will not only be an honor to this State, but one, also, that will redress the wrongs of the past.

What support would any candidate have had in 1876 had he proclaimed that the constitution of 1868 was good enough for him, and that he would exact the same from the influence to continue it at least during his term of office? None at all. He would have been blessed from the stump by the very men who now find so much comfort, consolation and good fortune in the "Wormley conference" mystery about the canvass; everything was done openly and publicly, and the policy and intention of the party freely discussed and well understood, and is now vividly and perfectly recalled by all.

AN UNPOPULAR SPEAKER.

(Washington special to Philadelphia Record.)

Speaker Randall has been pouring hot water all over himself these last few days by his devious rulings, his favoritism and his personal affronts. Friday he affronted Wadwell, of North Carolina, so grossly that Wadwell was incensed, and the battle of wind he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on his table. The colonel asked why he had not bought the flowers, as he had seen him do so in the table with a coming appetite, and wondered how it was that his restaurant had so suddenly improved his cuisine. When, however, the bottle of wine was placed before him he questioned the man and learned how it occurred. He said, "It is half amused, he gave the servant ten francs, and told him to go and buy a handsome bouquet and take it to the lady, with his compliments. Then, with chloral and the good dinner and the bottle of wine he sent into a pleasant after-dinner nap. An hour later he was awakened by the entrance of his orderly, who laid two five franc pieces on