

TO THE FAITHFUL.

THE FORTHCOMING ENOCHICAL OF THE POPE. The Political Duties of Catholics—Secret Revolutionary Organizations—

LONDON, Aug. 21.—A dispatch from Rome says: It is reported in confidential circles at the Vatican that the Pope will treat of the political duties of Catholics throughout the world, in view of the threatened disorganization of society, by combinations of secret revolutionary associations, and of the rights of property, of the marriage relation and good order and peace. It is said that in a recent conversation his Holiness foreshadowed the substance of an encyclical, and will insist upon the duties of property as well as its rights, and traced the present unhappy relations between capital and labor to the abandonment of Catholic principles, and pointing out how a return to these principles can alone restore harmony and prevent revolution and anarchy. It is also believed that he will urge Catholic citizens everywhere, and even in Italy, to be zealous in the discharge of their political duties, and to meet boldly the responsibilities laid upon them as citizens. It is said that it will also treat of other matters likely to create a sensation.

GERMANY.

An Ultramontane Defeat. METZ, Aug. 21.—Prince Hohenzollern, the German ambassador at Paris, has been rejected to the Reichstag on a second ballot in Formeln, by a vote of 180, against 86 for the Ultramontane candidate.

FRANCE.

Queen Christina Wins. HAVRE, Aug. 21.—Queen Christina, of Spain, is worse, and no hopes are entertained of her recovery.

SWEDEN.

The International Prison Congress. STOCKHOLM, Aug. 21.—The international congress for the prevention and suppression of crime, including penal and reformatory treatment, assembled to-day. M. Von Bjornstrom, Swedish Minister of Foreign Affairs, was elected president, and Rev. Dr. E. C. Wins, of the United States, honorary president. The members of the congress will entertain the members of the congress to-morrow.

BOSSIA.

Austria's War—Conflicting Advice—Austrian Bashi-Bazouks. VIENNA, Aug. 21.—Advisers from Bosnia to-day are conflicting, some announcing that the insurrection is now almost quelled, and others that the resistance promises to become more tenacious than ever, and to prolong itself into the winter. The reports of scenes attending the storming of Sarajevo yesterday are horrible. In one quarter of the town the soldiers, excepted by the resistance of the inhabitants, entered the houses, killed the men and destroyed their dwellings. The government has resolved to mobilize a large force and send it forward at once.

POLITICAL.

CONOVER CORNERED.

What He Thinks of Party Prospects in the South. NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—United States Senator Conover, of Florida, is now here on a business visit. He is a candidate for re-election, his Democratic opponent being Mr. Davidson, a gentleman very popular with his party. Conover's party will never enter the White House, and in the Senate has done good service on many occasions. Speaking to-day on the political situation of the South and the present prospects of a national election, Conover, in his plain, direct views, he said: "I don't think the different election contests throughout the Southern States will be as vigorous as people in the North anticipate, although I expect to have any building down there this year, though we may have it tried on. There is every prospect of there being a lively time all over the country, but you may depend upon it, the Democratic party will never enter the White House, as rulers, that is, so far as the South is concerned. "The people have tried them and are disgusted with their action, and especially in the coming election for the Republican candidate, whoever he may be. "What do you think of Gen. Grant's chances of the nomination? "I don't think he will get it, or that if offered it, that he would accept. He will, however, stand by his friends and party, but won't put himself out of the way to get elected. "Who, then, will be the choice? "It is hard to say. Edmunds, of Vermont, is good, and capable of holding the position. I think the South would stand by him better than they would support Blaine, although he is much liked. Sherman's name is mentioned. He is an efficient officer, and if he were nominated I would support him. I don't think, however, he is a candidate. I would support Key if he was nominated by any other party than the Bourbon Democracy. "Is the National or independent party doing much work in your section of the country? "Hard to say what they are doing or what their strength is now. In Florida they are very quiet, but in Tennessee, and especially in Memphis, they are showing their hands. I think they will prove stronger than many imagine, both in the South and West. They will soon be put to the test, however. "What of your party's war claims? "In regard to this question I will say that the Northern Democrats have done more to stir up this question than all the Southern people put together. They don't ask for any money. They acknowledge their debt, and are willing to put up with their losses. If they are ever paid they will be paid through the votes of Northern Democrats, and I think the chances of this very slim."

Working Up the Thurman Fever.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Post's Washington special says: Several prominent Democratic politicians, friends of Senator Thurman, have come here to work up his prospects for the Democratic presidential nomination in consequence of the recently announced adhesion of Mr. Thurman to the inflation faction of Ohio Democrats, they declare that Ohio will be solid for him. Letters are preparing now, to be sent to leading Democrats in every State of the South, urging them to work up the Thurman fever in their respective neighborhoods. This is done to get ahead of Mr. Tilden, who, it is understood, will soon have agents at work in the South.

Another Speech from Butler.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Gen. Butler will address the Greenback party to-morrow evening on the science of government and its application to the present condition of the country.

The Republican Campaign in New York.

SARATOGA, Aug. 21.—The conference of Republicans held here to-day was attended by nearly all the gentlemen invited. It passed resolutions, urging asking that national convention be held, delegates to be elected as usual by district in order to promote

POTTERY.

MAJOR BURKE RESUMES THE STAND—MORE ABOUT THE WORMLEY CONFERENCE.

A lively wrangle between Butler and the witness, which closed a retraction by Benjamin. NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Potter conference resumed work at 10:30 o'clock a. m. Major Burke, of Louisiana, took the stand and continued his testimony. "By mutual agreement," said witness, "the friends of Mr. Hayes desired, or at least were to visit Gen. Grant, with a view to ascertain what his views were on the question of the establishing of the Nicholas government. Nothing was said on any occasion, so far as I am aware, about a commission. It was assumed by Hayes and others that the troops would be withdrawn, and that there would be no further oppression. "A long time was consumed by Gen. Butler, trying to find out definitely what the contract was between the Louisiana Democrats and the Republicans as to the bargain made at the Wormley Hotel for the electoral vote. "Finally witness said: "Mr. Sherman got the writing. We examined copies of telegrams, etc. Messrs. Foster and Matthews gave written guarantees, while a verbal one was given by Sherman and Benjamin. "The contract was not a verbal one, but a written one, and it was not until the proceedings, we did not sweep off Tilden; we did not abandon him until he was abandoned by the Democratic party. Ellis and myself have already given all the evidence and guarantees, and we know of the matter." Witness declared that the published statement in a New Orleans paper, of an interview between witness and H. J. Smith, was full of inaccuracies; that he had written to Smith the facts of the Wormley conference. Witness was confident that no written guarantees or assurances were made at the conference. "Butler questioned the witness closely in reference to the written guarantees, and read the statement which witness said he furnished to the press, of the Wormley conference at that time. He questioned witness as to the truthfulness of this statement. "Witness said a synopsis of the proceedings; he had furnished the copy for publication as the agent of the Nicholas government. In this statement witness had omitted the paragraph regarding filibustering, and Butler wanted to know why it was omitted. "A long wrangle occurred between Butler and witness, in which Butler intimated that witness was not telling the truth; that the papers in the Wormley conference had not been submitted, and as he refused to withdraw the accusation, witness refused to answer any more questions. Finally Butler consented to retract, and Burke resumed the witness stand.

Races at Hartford.

HARTFORD, Ct., Aug. 21.—The Charter Oak Park races commenced to-day with fine weather, track in splendid condition, and a large attendance. During the first heat of the first race, there was a light sprinkling of rain, though not enough to stop the race or render track heavy. At the finish of the second heat in the 2:28 race, the water came up, and it rained hard for twenty minutes, flooding the track and rendering further trotting impossible. The races were then postponed until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. The 2:28 class, for a purse of $1200, divided, there were eight starters. Croix was the favorite at $10 to win against the field. He failed, however, to win a heat. In the first heat, he held a good lead, but broke just before crossing the wire. He came in first, but was sent back to the second place for running. Hambletonian Maretime taking first place. The second heat was also won by Hambletonian Maretime, Croix second. Time, 2:23 1/2. The 2:24 class, for a purse of $1100, divided, there were eight starters. Only one heat was trotted. Edward was the favorite, selling for $20 against $30 for the field. He led that Edward Forest was drawn from the race for the purpose of trotting three heats against time to-morrow, when he will try to beat 2:19 1/2. Edward won the only heat in the 2:24 class, with Dick Moore second and Dick Wright third.

Headshots in Saratoga.

SARATOGA, Aug. 21.—The first race, for a purse of $200, had two starters, five furlongs, was won by Vulture, by Boardman second. Time, 1:54 1/2. The second race, for a purse of $400, a handicap for all ages, one mile and five furlongs, was won by Shylock; Kennedy second. Time, 3:05 1/2. The third race, for a purse of $300, for all ages, three-quarters of a mile, was won by Bonnie Wood; Fusillade second. Time, 1:45 1/2. The fourth race, for a purse of $300, for all ages, a selling race, distance one mile and five furlongs, was won by Nannie L.; with J. Higgins second. Time, 2:05 1/2.

Rifle Match Between the Army and the National Guards.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The proposed rifle match between representatives of the regular army and the national guards of the different States was approved by the approval of Major Gen. Hancock, who thinks that both the army and the national guards will be greatly benefited by such a meeting. Judge Hilton offers to present the principal prize.

Bogardus and Carver.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Capt. Bogardus returned from England last evening. With reference to Dr. Carver's challenge, Bogardus says he will accept the challenge as it appeared in the Herald of the sixteenth to shoot glass balls for eight hours, Carver to use a single rifle and Bogardus to use a shotgun with a single set of barrels. He will make a match for $1000 or $5000, and will meet Carver at the moose club on Friday next. After that match, he says it will be time enough to talk of the other matches Carver proposes. He will also accept the rifle match if Carver will consent to shoot at balls sprung from a trap.

The Prize Ring.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—There was a bloody and desperate prize fight last night in Missouri, for $100 a side, between Jack Sullivan, of Fulton, and Bob Brown, of Baltimore. The fighters are of medium height, broad of chest and sinewy of limbs. At the eleventh round Brown cried out that he had got enough. His backers yelled at him to stand up for one more round and get killed. Brown got on his hip and Sullivan dealt him a blow which stretched him on the grass. Brown was unable to come to the scratch for the twelfth round, and his seconds threw up the sponge. The fight lasted nineteen minutes.

Base Ball.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 21.—Milwaukee 3, Boston 4. CINCINNATI, Aug. 21.—Cincinnati 4, Chicago 1. CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—Forest City 11, Tecumseh 8. BUFFALO, Aug. 21.—Buffalo 4, Utica 1. SYRACUSE, Aug. 21.—Stars 6, Rochester 2. LANSINGBURG, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Haymakers 9, New Bedford 9.

MARINE NEWS.

PORT EADS, Aug. 21, 6 p. m.—Wind west-southwest, light. Weather clear. Arrived: British steamship Chilian at 5:15 a. m. Retch master for days from Vera Cruz, general cargo, to L. G. Forwood. American ship Mary E. Riggs, Langdon master, 66 days from Revel, in ballast to master. Steamships New Orleans and Tappanhook. SOUTHWEST PASS, Aug. 21, 6 p. m.—Baronet 29:55. Wind south-southwest, light. Weather clear and pleasant. Arrived: American ship Cromwell, Barstow master, 50 days from Bremen, in ballast to master. No departures. Died. NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—William Niblo, the veteran theatrical manager, died at his residence in this city this morning, of paralysis, in the eighty-ninth year of his age.

THE WYOMING STATE.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—In the United States Court this morning, Judge Cadwalader presiding, the petition of Mr. Hazell, calling upon the trustees of the York's estate to file an account was refused, the judge instructing Hazell to proceed in a regular way, to file a praecipe and issue a citation.

Coal Production for September.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Control of the coal producers was held in this city to-day. All interests were represented. One million tons was the estimate for the production for September. The production in August was 2,000,000. A committee was appointed to look into the advisability of advancing the price of coal 25 to 30 cents per ton by the first of September.

Burned at Sea.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Signal Corps Station at Atlantic City, N. J., reports as follows: At 11 a. m. Signal Officer Bell discovered a vessel on fire at sea, about four miles northeast of this station. He immediately gathered the life-saving crew together, who proceeded to the scene of disaster. It proved to be a large schooner, abandoned by her crew. She is laden with coal. It is impossible to ascertain her name, as she burned to the water's edge. She is expected to sink at any moment. It is thought that they must have been taken off by a passing vessel.

New York Bankruptcy Funds.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The United States bankrupts' fund, which bankrupts are now enabled to get clear of the most, if not of all their debts, has been reported by Congress and will become imperative after the thirty-first of this month, and consequently there is great activity in the bankrupt market. In a morning paper appear the following advertisements: "Bankrupt law repealed. Discharges obtained. Charges reasonable and terms easy. Address, confidentially." "Bankrupt law expires this month. Discharges obtained. Credit given on fees. Consultation free. No assets required. Address, confidentially." "If you contemplate bankruptcy, you can procure $50,000 cash, genuine, regular security. No more of same kind exist; have never been offered. Terms to suit contingency. Address, confidentially."

The Labor Committee—Some Queer Views Brought Out.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Congressional Labor Committee resumed its session to-day in the Postoffice building. The first witness was W. Goodwin Moody, of Boston, a printer, but a great expert on business. He could not discover that there was any conflict in theory between capital and labor, but found that there was artificial conflict between them, growing out of a misconception of the relation between the two parties. The improper use of machinery, he thought, was throwing quite one-half of our muscular force into idleness. He did not believe that there was too much machinery in existence. He would run machinery as he would run men, as they were forms of production. Machinery should be run in proportion to the muscle, and he would reduce hours in using both machinery and muscular force. He would not go to this point, and an endeavor made to elicit from him some method by which this unemployed labor could be used without the capitalist losing all his profits, but without success. Herbert Kadeloff, of Boston, was the next witness, who said he was unfortunately a journalist. He proceeded to read from an immense roll of foolish opinions concerning the causes of business depression in the country and suggesting remedies, the main ones being an equal division of taxes and a change in the tariff. William G. Smart, a stone-cutter of Boston, was the next witness. After reviewing the present condition of labor in the Eastern States, witness, in answer to Mr. Hewitt, advised the government to employ the hands of the unemployed. He thought that means would be enabled to do away with idleness and concentrate all monopolies under one head. Witness defined capitalism as wealth used for the development of all industry. Mr. Hewitt said that the committee were much obliged to Mr. Smart for coming all the way from Boston, and he was sorry that they could not give him more than their thanks. The committee then adjourned until to-morrow.

COUSHATTA.

Special to the Democrat. COUSHATTA, La., Aug. 21.—Our usually quiet and peaceful town was thrown into the wildest excitement, caused by the killing of Henry Harrison by Jim Moss, both colored, in a negro colony called Liberia. The difficulty arose at the card table. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict as follows: "Henry Harrison came to his death by two pistol-shots fired from the hands of Jim Moss." The Natchitoches parish quarantine forced Reddimer, Fontes, McDonald and Conde to leave the parish at short notice. They hauled goods from St. Maurice, brought up on the coast by the steamer Bart Aubrey, contrary to quarantine regulations. Belling Williams, one of Mansfield's best merchants, received the Democratic nomination for Senator; an excellent selection.

MONROE.

Special to the Democrat. MONROE, La., August 21.—A mass meeting of the citizens of Monroe and Trenton, held here to-day, decided to discontinue all communication with the Mississippi river after the twenty-fourth instant. The last train over the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Texas Railroad will arrive here Saturday evening. C. KELLER.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Trade Sale of Boots and Shoes. NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The auction sale for the full trade in boots and shoes took place this morning. Goods from all the principal factories in New England and this State were among the samples. The number sold was 450 cases, and the prices for the goods were fair. While there are at present many Western buyers in the city, of almost all branches of trade, there are none of the boot and shoe trade; yet as the season advances, a larger trade than that of last year is anticipated.

A Crooked Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Charges have been filed with the Postmaster General, that Postmaster Eddy, of Toledo, Ohio, while being allowed $5500 per annum for clerks here in his office, so arranged the clerks' salaries that he is really paying for such services a less amount by some $200 or $300, and has placed upon the rolls a person whom he pays at the rate of $800 per annum, out of the postal fund, and who, it is alleged, does no work except on money order business, for which he is entitled to pay only a commission of the postmaster. An investigation has been ordered.

Pacific Railroad Matters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The great increase in the rates of the Union Pacific Railroad between San Francisco and New York has caused considerable comment here. Gen. Brown, chief auditor of the Texas Pacific matters, is now in the city, and in commenting on this evening on the extraordinary increase in these rates, said: "The doubling of freight charges between New York and San Francisco, which rates now made $300 per car load, will result in the next Congress adopting a law to regulate rates over the Union Pacific. He says, moreover, that the only true remedy for checking these exorbitant rates upon the commercial interests involved is live competition, which would be inaugurated by the Texas Pacific Railroad Company. "The Wyoming Safe. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The signal corps at Cape Henry reports to the chief signal office at 9 a. m., as follows: "The United States man-of-war Wyoming has come to anchor five miles northeast of this station. "The Jay Cooke Estate. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—In the United States Court this morning, Judge Cadwalader presiding, the petition of Mr. Hazell, calling upon the trustees of Jay Cooke's estate to file an account was refused, the judge instructing Hazell to proceed in a regular way, to file a praecipe and issue a citation. "Coal Production for September. NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Control of the coal producers was held in this city to-day. All interests were represented. One million tons was the estimate for the production for September. The production in August was 2,000,000. A committee was appointed to look into the advisability of advancing the price of coal 25 to 30 cents per ton by the first of September. "Burned at Sea. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Signal Corps Station at Atlantic City, N. J., reports as follows: At 11 a. m. Signal Officer Bell discovered a vessel on fire at sea, about four miles northeast of this station. He immediately gathered the life-saving crew together, who proceeded to the scene of disaster. It proved to be a large schooner, abandoned by her crew. She is laden with coal. It is impossible to ascertain her name, as she burned to the water's edge. She is expected to sink at any moment. It is thought that they must have been taken off by a passing vessel. "New York Bankruptcy Funds. NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The United States bankrupts' fund, which bankrupts are now enabled to get clear of the most, if not of all their debts, has been reported by Congress and will become imperative after the thirty-first of this month, and consequently there is great activity in the bankrupt market. In a morning paper appear the following advertisements: "Bankrupt law repealed. Discharges obtained. Charges reasonable and terms easy. Address, confidentially." "Bankrupt law expires this month. Discharges obtained. Credit given on fees. Consultation free. No assets required. Address, confidentially." "If you contemplate bankruptcy, you can procure $50,000 cash, genuine, regular security. No more of same kind exist; have never been offered. Terms to suit contingency. Address, confidentially."

YELLOW FEVER.

VICKSBURG'S SAD STORY—THE MALADY INCREASING RAPIDLY.

The Doctors Almost Broken Down, But Fighting Manfully—Negroes Dying—Destitution—Lack of Nurses. (Special to the Democrat.) VICKSBURG, Aug. 21.—The fever is rapidly increasing, and in the lower part of the city is very fatal. There are now under treatment about 250 cases. It is impossible to get a correct list of the new cases. These we have been able to obtain, with several physicians to hear from, amount to over fifty for the past twenty-four hours, and the number of deaths for the same period twenty-five. The cases in the upper part of the city yield readily to treatment, and are all doing well. Two of our physicians are prostrated with the fever, and the well ones are almost broken down, but are fighting manfully against the scourge. The colored population are falling victims to the fever, and comprise a very large proportion of the cases down. They are utterly destitute, and together with the poorer class of whites, are actually suffering and dying for want of experienced nurses, and unless we get them (the nurses) the death list, already very large, must rapidly increase, especially if the weather should become wet. At present, it is very favorable to the sick, being clear, hot and dry. Our city presents a sad spectacle. Tar fires are burnt every night in different localities, mostly on the river front. The quarantine has been raised, and boats are again allowed to land at our wharf. G. W. E.

DEATH—STRIKEN GRANADA—THE CITIZENS HEMMED IN ON ALL SIDES.

The Situation Terrible in the Extreme—Only Sixty Persons Left Well in the Town—Negroes Dying. NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A Granada, Miss., special says: "May God have mercy upon us!" is the prayer from the sixty persons who are left in the town of this city. No one seems to escape and death stares us all in the face. The citizens are hemmed in on all sides by quarantine officers, who will not allow the victims to be removed from the place. The situation is terrible in the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive. Gen. Willard Smith is working day and night, assisting the nurses and aiding the nursing of the sick and dying except one, who is the best nurse in the city. Fifteen deaths occurring in twenty-four hours. Passenger trains run through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, while passengers are crowded close to the windows at the extreme, and it looks now as though not a soul would leave the place alive.