THE FLATBOATS.

Administrator Behan is causing the flatboats moored at Thalia street to be removed as fast as they are discharged, in order to afford all the room possible to ongoing vessels.

AN EMBARRASSMENT.

Administrator Behan is meeting with an unexpected embarrassment. One of the market farmers has applied to him recently to cause the enforcement of certain city ordinances, in relation to the markets, which involves the making of affidavits and the prosecution of persons violating these ordinances.

AN ACCIDENT.

The necessity of keeping sidewalks clear of encumbrances was illustrated on Wednesday evening, in a painful manner, by the way Mr. Peter O'Donnell, the well-known stationer of Camp street, was crossing from the south to the north side of that street about 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening, and upon reaching the sidewalk stepped on a small garbage box, which he thought was bot on upwards.

LA CORRETA LIBERTAD.

Popping of Guns—Popping of Corks, and Popping the Question. The Mexican corvette "La Libertad," which has been in our port for some time undergoing repairs, was launched yesterday from the Valette dry dock, and was anchored midstream, opposite the central part of the city.

In anticipation of the occurrence the officers of the vessel, who express great delight at their sojourn among us, had issued the following invitation to a select few of their recent male friends:

Corbata Mexicana Libertad—Lo rogamos nos honre con su presencia, concurriendo al pasaje de danzas, el dia 21, con el capitán de nuestra amistad, Nueva Orleans, 18 Febrero, 1879.

El Comandante, A. O. MONASTERIO. [Personal.] At the appointed hour the invited guests, including a number of ladies, crossed the river and were received in Algiers by the officers of the "Libertad," who escorted them in the steam launch to the corvette. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the vessel weighed anchor, and, bedecked with the colors of all nations, gracefully glided up the river as far as Twelve-Mile Point, turning about at the Soniat plantation. A splendid brass band, led by Oscar Wolff, was in attendance and enjoyed the excursion, which was highly enjoyed by the guests, among whom were Capt. J. B. Walton and Major E. Kirschfeld, of the Washington Artillery; Capt. Houston Lowe of Dayton, Ohio; J. McElroy, Esq., and family, Col. Wm. Miller Owen and wife, Col. A. J. Baehemin, Col. F. O. Peyton, Capt. O. Robin, Capt. A. Sambola, Capt. E. Marchand, Capt. S. E. Jacquet, of the Orleans Artillery; Capt. Jose Llado, Lieut. E. Puig, Lieut. Tomas Borda, Lieut. Jayme Pons, of the Cazadores de Orleans; Hon. E. W. Huntington, Henry Voss, Esq.; the Spanish consul, Senor Don Miguel Suarez, and his vice consul; the Mexican consul, Don Zamacoena and lady; Gen. J. S. Guerra, of the army of Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Harris, Miss Hatch, Miss Clark, Miss Bessie Smith, Miss Kate Zachary, Miss Popham, Col. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. Lazartegui and Messrs. Gordon and Gomila.

During the trip the company sat down to a splendid repast, prepared and served with that bountiful liberality characteristic of the Mexicans, during which fraternal toasts were exchanged. Meanwhile the crew paraded and went through the manual of arms in full view of the party, the evolutions being executed on the deck of the Libertad. The armament of the vessel was made a special subject of interest during the excursion, the guns being of excellent manufacture (English), and consisting of a twelve-pounder and six guns, namely, four twenty-pounders, one twelve-pounder and a seven-ton gun, throwing a 100-pound projectile. It is claimed seven miles. This piece of ordnance is very fine and bears the inscription "Navassar, 1875, London, No. 73." Of small arms there are 100 Remington rifles, seventy-five boarding lances and an innumerable quantity of revolvers, cutlasses and other small arms.

On the way the Libertad was saluted by the United States monitor Canonicus, the Spanish steamer lying at the head of Jackson street, the ship Caladonia, the steamer Protector and other vessels in the river.

The party finally returned about dark to the city, where all were landed safely, after they had expressed their appreciation of the unbounded hospitality they had received and the pleasure they had derived from the excursion.

A romantic episode occurred on board, which was referred to at the table in glowing terms by several of the gentlemen present, and which consisted of nothing less than the

THE GAS CASE.

In the United States Circuit Court, Judge Billings presiding, yesterday, was the third day of the trial of the gas case of Atrial vs. Oglesby and Cassard. A good part of the day was consumed in the skirishing of the lawyers on exceptions to evidence. Judge Billings reconsidered and modified his ruling of the day before on the admissibility of evidence offered by the plaintiff, of the damage to his whole stock in the New Orleans Gas Company, produced by the cloud thrown on his title by the notice of the defendants.

The latter then opened their case on the reconvention claim, whereupon plaintiff's attorney excepted to the right of the parties to join in reconvention against a party for damages, that their act represented him (Atrial) in the purchase of the stock of the Crescent City Gas Company, of which Atrial finally turned over the sole and whole ownership. According to these witnesses, Phipp was in Baltimore a very insignificant purchaser, a clerk or man of all work for Atrial, who lived in a fourth story, made his marketing in a small basket; never had a larger salary than a thousand dollars a year and was discharged and carried off by the police in his own carriage.

Among other depositions thus descriptive of Phipp was that of Mr. Abe Patterson, who described himself as at present a judge of sessions in Baltimore, and formerly a real estate operator, broker, promoter and negotiator of great enterprises. Mr. Patterson, in the pursuit of the line of his business, had been sent to this city by Mr. Atrial to manage the negotiation to buy the old gas company's property and rights for the Crescent City Gas Company, and testified that he conducted that negotiation up to the point where it failed by virtue of the old company's refusal to accept $250,000.

Mr. Patterson, however, deposes strongly to the unreality of Atrial's professions of being in the funds or having any purpose to build gas works or lay down pipes; his whole object was to drive the old company to purchase the charter of the Crescent City.

Mr. Randall Higgins' deposition developed the curious fact, that he being a non-resident owner of five hundred shares of the Crescent City stock, was assessed $75 a share on the twenty-ninth of March, and that the company of consolidation or amalgamation had been accepted, which he declined paying. He filed the letter demanding this assessment, and afterward compromised his case.

Mr. Lewis Harris was sworn and testified orally that he had been employed by Mr. T. L. Wibray, president of the Crescent City Gas Company, to purchase the stock of the company about. He gave a list of 13,000 shares he had bought up, on a question addressed to him by the attorney for the plaintiff as to his knowledge of the person for whom these shares were bought, and whether he knew of Mr. Wibray's connection with Atrial, the lawyers got by the case again and obtained a long wrangle, pending or at the end of which the court adjourned to Monday next.

A Young Frenchman Commits Suicide While Laboring Under a Fit of Insanity. At 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning a Frenchman named Amory Claude, aged 35 years, while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, committed suicide at the lodging-house No. 7 Toulouse street by shooting himself in the mouth with a dueling pistol. The occupants of the lodging-house heard the report of the pistol, but paid no attention to it, as they thought it was caused by some one cutting wood in the yard.

But the servants, upon repairing to Mons. Claude's sleeping apartment and finding him prostrate in a blood-stained room, as he had the report was not that made by the wood chopper but the report of a pistol.

Mrs. Ernest Harstae, the proprietress of the house, states that on Sunday last the deceased got by the case again and fell into a long wrangle, pending or at the end of which the court adjourned to Monday next.

Yesterday morning he rose at 6 o'clock and went in search of work. Shortly thereafter he returned to his room and remained until 9:30 a. m., when he placed the pistol to his head and fired.

The deputy coroner viewed the body, and the jury returned a verdict of voluntary suicide.

Upon searching the body the deputy coroner found that Claude was a victim of poverty was untrue, as he had four 100-franc notes, sixteen 20-franc gold pieces and $11.

THE FAIR GROUNDS.

THE INDUSTRIAL AND MECHANICAL PRODUCTS OF THE GULF STATES. Fifth Day—Archery Contest—Trotting Races—Phonograph—Parlor Skating, Etc.

The countenances of the managers of the exposition manifested indications of evident gratification for the substantial encouragement they were receiving for their efforts to extend to strangers visiting our city during the holidays a knowledge of what is produced by our people in the agricultural, industrial and mechanical arts.

The invitation to the Protestant Orphan Asylums to visit the exposition was taken advantage of by the Poydras Female Orphan Asylum. The girls appeared delighted with all the novel sights to which they were treated, and noticeably Uman's loom manufacturing woolen shawls, Brooks' St. James tobacco and cigarette factory, operated by a score of young misses, the archery contest, horse racing, and the Cooper Brothers' phonograph, to which they were extended an invitation to see and hear by the generous proprietors.

In the archery contest by members of the Crescent City Female Archery Club, the following young ladies participated: Misses Theresa and Katie Gihart, Miss Ella Chalifour, Miss Leontine McClarty and Miss Josephine Lopp. The prize, a gold medal, was won by Miss Theresa Gihart, her sister, Miss Katie making the next best score. The Crescent City Archery Club was inaugurated by Mr. J. C. Clarke, who introduced the sport into this city. It is hoped that other clubs besides the Crescent City will shortly spring up in the following lines: 396 1/4, 395 1/4, 310 1/2. Mr. Sykes' Nancy was with an arrow.

All the children of the orphan asylums of every creed have been invited to visit the Fair Grounds to-day, and many of them have taken advantage of the invitation to give their children a holiday.

On Sunday there will be a mule race, mile dash, $10 to first and $5 to second. Entries to be made at any time before the start; a running race, five laps, three in five, $100 to first and $25 to second horse. Entries for this race must be made at the Fair Grounds on Saturday before 5 o'clock.

Several new exhibitors brought out goods to-day, among them a large quantity of Lemp's St. Louis bottled lager beer, a dealer in liquor and syrups of every description.

A great deal of fancy poultry is now on exhibition, and all the coops seemed to be pretty well filled. Mr. Werlein's display of pianos, organs, musical merchandise, etc., reached the grounds yesterday, and now awaits to be arranged in the hall.

Francisco Vargas & Sons, sculptors and manufacturers of statues, animals, flowers, fruits, etc., in wax, have entered samples of their handiwork, which can be seen in the hall.

H. J. Rivet's aromatic stomach bitters is a feature of the exposition in that line of goods, of which there are many competitors. Visitors are not permitted to pass his display unless they give a gratuity of five cents.

Mr. W. M. Evans, who insists upon all, who appear to be judges of things good for the stomach, sampling a home product which is pronounced by those who have lost it to be an excellent appetizer, etc.

The dispenser of the genuine Anheuser bottled beer has been discovered. Vizard & Co. have on the grounds Mr. Thos. F. Hartel. We don't know which the people admire most, the beautiful display of the handsome young gentleman representing the firm.

Mr. N. S. Lukey displays in department B samples of his horse and cattle epine, for strengthening and fattening cattle and economizing food. Farmers, draymen and owners of stock generally testify to the superior qualities of Mr. Lukey's composition.

The Hall improved self-feeding cotton gin is entered by Mr. A. L. Choppiu for competition. It is now on exhibition at the Fair grounds, and awaits to be a model piece of workmanship, very complete in all its working parts. It is a rapid ginner and makes a very fine sample of cotton.

Workmen are now engaged in attaching a freer to the machinery of the new engine of Machinery Hall. It will be in working order Saturday and Monday.

Definite arrangements have been completed for the display of Capt. Bogardus' skill in breaking glass balls and killing pigeons. The time when it will exhibit will be duly announced.

Don't forget to go and see the baby show to-day. Little ones under twelve months as well as over will be awarded prizes.

The Academy matinee will be out in time to see the military parade from the balcony. Gone for shadines, "The Mysic Krew."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

MORNING AND EVENING SESSION. Important Work Done—Constitution and Officers of the Louisiana Sunday School Association.

Yesterday morning, at 11 o'clock, the Sunday school convention opened its second day's session. The beautiful praise service the same that was sung at the International Sunday School Convention held in Atlanta, Ga., April, 1878, was led by the Rev. J. W. Flynn, and answered to by the whole congregation.

When the service was concluded, Mr. L. H. Gardner, chairman of the meeting, read a telegram from Mr. J. L. Power, of Mississippi, who sent his best wishes to the present convention.

Mr. W. R. Lyman spoke of the Sunday school work in New Orleans. He reviewed at length the work of Sunday schools in the Crescent City. He traced the growth of Presbyterian churches in New Orleans, and said that nearly all were the consequences of mission Sunday schools. Mr. Lyman said there were ninety-six Sunday schools in New Orleans, 1108 officers and teachers and 10,418 scholars.

At the close of the convention, the Seaman's Bethel, addressed the convention on the subject of mission schools.

Many delegates from the parishes gave reports of the progress of Sunday schools in their districts. Mr. W. H. Goodale, of Baton Rouge, spoke of the work in the State, and said he would furnish statistical information shortly to the convention.

Rev. Dr. Alexander offered the following resolution upon the subject of "State Sunday School organization—shall we have it?" 1. That this convention do proceed immediately to the formation of a Louisiana Sunday School Association.

2. That the president of the convention be authorized to appoint five members to prepare and report a constitution and to nominate proper officers for the association.

The resolutions passed unanimously, and the following gentlemen were appointed as the committee of five: Rev. W. S. Alexander, W. H. Goodale, Rev. J. Hannon, Rev. Jacob Braun and J. B. Magruder.

The committee retired, and in a short while returned to inform the assembly that at the evening meeting they would submit their report.

Evening Session. The convention met again at 7 o'clock in the evening. After the singing of several hymns by the congregation, reports of committees were read.

The committee of five appointed at the morning meeting, to frame a constitution and select officers for a Louisiana Sunday School Association, submitted their report, as follows:

The committee of five recommend the adoption of the following articles as the constitution of the Louisiana Sunday School Association.

ARTICLE 1. This association shall be called the Louisiana State Sunday School Association.

ARTICLE 2. The object of the association shall be the promotion of the interests of the Sunday schools in this State, and the encouragement of the organization, and maintenance by such means as shall best accrue to the public to a sense of their value and importance.

ARTICLE 3. The delegates accredited by the various Sunday schools to the convention at New Orleans, in February, 1879, and accepted by the committee on credentials of that body, are hereby constituted the members of this association for 1879.

ARTICLE 4. The officers of each year every evangelized Sunday school in the State, desiring representation in this association, shall elect two delegates who shall be actively engaged in Sabbath school work either as pastor, teacher, or other, and a greater number of delegates so elected shall constitute the association for the following year.

ARTICLE 5. The officers of the association shall consist of a president, a vice president from each of the denominations represented, a recording secretary, a corresponding secretary, a treasurer and an executive committee of fifteen members, two president being ex-officio members of the organization.

ARTICLE 6. It shall be the duty of the president to preside at the meetings of the association, and in case of his absence a vice president shall take the chair.

ARTICLE 7. The vice presidents shall take direction of the interests of the association within their respective denominations, and, as far as possible, promote and foster a deeper interest in the work of Sabbath schools. They shall collect statistics and report to the secretary at least twenty days before the annual meeting.

ARTICLE 8. The secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings of each meeting, together with a list of the schools represented in the association, the names and positions of each superintendent, number of teachers and scholars, contributions, volumes in library, and such other data as will show in a comprehensive way the strength and workings of the several schools, and report the same at the annual meeting.

ARTICLE 9. The treasurer shall keep a faithful account of all moneys collected and disbursed for the association, and report at the annual meeting. Disbursements shall be made only under the direction and by order of the executive committee.

ARTICLE 10. The executive committee shall make arrangements for the annual meetings, the entertainment of persons attending same, shall prepare and publish in advance the principal topics to be discussed, shall aid in the organization of church and other benevolent associations, and generally do all things for the association that will promote the objects of the organization.

meeting of the "Women's Christian Temperance Union" held at the city of New Orleans, in furtherance of their eminently worthy objects, your committee decline to present the paper which is not in the sphere of Sunday school convention.

Your committee recommend that in lieu of assessments upon the Sunday schools represented in this convention towards defraying its incidental expenses, the delegates be called by the secretary in the order of the enrollment of their schools, for immediate contributions to this special object, and that this contribution be in proportion to the general collection from this congregation.

J. S. COPES, H. M. SMITH, F. O. KOELLER, C. O. BRAUN, MR. RALPH WELLS.

of New York, spoke on the subject of "teachers winning souls." He dilated at length upon the duties of pastors and ministers, showed that they must exert themselves to win the confidence, love and esteem of their flock; if they wanted to lead them to the path of glory, in Sunday school, said the eloquent speaker, we must be superintending, and not only respect, willing to work, studious and learned.

Mr. B. F. Jacobs, of Illinois, discussed upon the way of the world, in a most interesting and very exhaustive and graphic description, he pictured the illustrative manner of conducting the convention. His address was listened to with great interest, and was thought to be one of pleasure and instruction to the listeners.

Hon. W. L. Baker, of Mobile, also addressed the convention. He showed himself highly informed in Sunday school work, and said he hoped it will go on bravely everywhere.

At the close of this gentleman's address, a collection was taken up to defray the expenses of the convention. Contributions from the different Sunday schools were also received, and quite a handsome sum was raised.

Religious exercises closed the night's proceedings of the convention. To-day the program will be very interesting. The Question Drawer will be opened; several of the gentlemen whom the conference has had the pleasure of hearing will again discuss subjects of importance to Sunday-school work.

Academy matinee. No extra charge for reserved seats. GEORGIA AHEAD. The ocean produces what—shadines.

The Fights Last Night Down at the Old Spanish Cack-Pit. The second day of the main between Kentucky and Georgia brought out even a larger crowd to the Spanish cack-pit than the first. From the Cotton Exchange, Carondelet street, banks and counting-rooms, delegates were present in numbers, evidently for an hour or so to revel in the desperate battles between the fowls.

THE SECOND FIGHT. Kentucky had on the previous night won the first fight with the to her credit she started in at half-past 7 o'clock to try her birds for further victories. When the pit was cleared of the crowd, Georgia, who had a round and brown-r-d and Kentucky an elegant specimen of his breed, a red cock of great muscular power, entered the arena, and the two birds, when they got to work, the Georgia bird gave his opponent a heavy stroke in the neck. On the second day of the contest, considerably, and Georgia led in some heavy work.

When they faced one another for the third time the odds were in favor of Georgia, but the red bird gave a question who had a head and scored two victories in the main for Kentucky.

There was much cheering after this short but sharp fight, and much money changed pockets.

THE THIRD FIGHT. was between two light birds. After a few flutters, with a stunning blow, Georgia killed Kentucky, giving the Georgia bird several in minutes. This gave to Georgia two fights and made it even with Kentucky.

THE FOURTH FIGHT. was a long one. Brown, of Georgia, pitted a dark red hawk with the to her credit she started in at half-past 7 o'clock to try her birds for further victories. When the pit was cleared of the crowd, Georgia, who had a round and brown-r-d and Kentucky an elegant specimen of his breed, a red cock of great muscular power, entered the arena, and the two birds, when they got to work, the Georgia bird gave his opponent a heavy stroke in the neck. On the second day of the contest, considerably, and Georgia led in some heavy work.

When they faced one another for the third time the odds were in favor of Georgia, but the red bird gave a question who had a head and scored two victories in the main for Kentucky.

There was much cheering after this short but sharp fight, and much money changed pockets.

THE FIFTH FIGHT. brought out a red dominick fow, Kentucky and a red hawk-neck for Georgia. At the second pass the Kentucky and Georgia birds were together on the left hand side of the pit close together, and it was a question who had the best of the matter. Brown, of Georgia, handled his cock and raised it from the ground, when there were cries of "Look out, look out, look out," that was a four. "Go on with the fight," "D-n, it's not right," followed one another thick and fast.

The birds were pitted, and Georgia won the fight in 11 minutes and 45 seconds, making four fights for the geobler geoblers.

THE SIXTH FIGHT. was short and brisk. Georgia showing a 170 lb dark red and Kentucky a male to her credit she started in at half-past 7 o'clock to try her birds for further victories. When the pit was cleared of the crowd, Georgia, who had a round and brown-r-d and Kentucky an elegant specimen of his breed, a red cock of great muscular power, entered the arena, and the two birds, when they got to work, the Georgia bird gave his opponent a heavy stroke in the neck. On the second day of the contest, considerably, and Georgia led in some heavy work.

When they faced one another for the third time the odds were in favor of Georgia, but the red bird gave a question who had a head and scored two victories in the main for Kentucky.

There was much cheering after this short but sharp fight, and much money changed pockets.

THE SEVENTH FIGHT. brought out a red dominick fow, Kentucky and a red hawk-neck for Georgia. At the second pass the Kentucky and Georgia birds were together on the left hand side of the pit close together, and it was a question who had the best of the matter. Brown, of Georgia, handled his cock and raised it from the ground, when there were cries of "Look out, look out, look out," that was a four.
