

Is he Unloading the Negro?

A colored soldier, a veteran of the three wars who rose from the ranks of private to that of a captain because of valor at San Juan Hill, remarks after returning from the War Department, "a colored soldier has little to expect from that building. White commissioned officers are not asked to go back and reenlist as privates, especially when they wear honor medals for bravery."

Colored Veterans, Attention!

Is there any one who can give me the name of the colored company that was made up in the month of May in Grand Gulf, Miss., in 1862? My husband was a member of that company. His name was John Berry. Since his death I have forgotten the name of the company and so cannot send application for pension until I find out the name of the company in which he enlisted. The colored company was made up from the Thirty-second Illinois regiment. The colored men who enlisted were taken from Waterproof La., They were discharged in 1865. His discharge papers were stolen and that is why I am compelled to resort to this means to try and secure a pension. Any information will be gratefully received.
