WITHDRAW FELLOWS!

Will the Democratic mismanagers withdraw FELLOWS now? Will their defiance of public opinion go to the length of continuing the candidacy of a man who is shown to have been the paid tool of Boss Tweed?

For days past THE WORLD has appealed to the leaders of the party to save their State and county tickets from defeat by yielding to the people's demand for NICOLL.

They were deaf to the call. Now that disgrace has followed defiance, will they yield?

THE DAMNING RECORD.

The Times, an expert in disclosing the infamies of the TWEED regime, does the people of New York a signal service in presenting the begging letters of JOHN R. FELLOWS, addressed to the corrupt Boss the day after the disagreement of the first jury that tried him.

FELLOWS was in the District-Attorney's office when the indictment against TWEED was drawn and the case prepared for trial. The day following the scandalous miscarriage of justice FELLOWS asked TWEED for $250 and received it.

Do the people of New York want the paid lackey of Boss Tweed for their District-Attorney?

HONORED TOO MUCH.

The Bosses and the Boodlers honor THE WORLD too much in making it the objective point of their campaign. We are not running for any office. THE WORLD is already appointed, by the will of its editor and with the approval of the people, Permanent Discoverer, Exposer and Denouncer of Public Thieves, Private Rascals and Combined Oppressors. It will hold this office for life. Its editor would prefer this position to that of President of the United States. And he cannot be removed, controlled or influenced by all the politicians, corruptors or plutocrats in the country.

NOT ALWAYS.

A resolution of Tammany affirms: We hold that the poverty of a citizen, who has held positions of great importance in the public service, is evidence of his unwavering and unassailable integrity. That depends. A chronic spendthrift and gambler runs through an income of $50,000 so readily and as certainly as one of $5,000. If poverty were proof of honesty in officials, many now impetuous members of the old TWEED Ring, and several of the Broadway Boodlers, would be eligible to rehabilitation as men of "unwavering and unassailable integrity."

A GAMBLER AND A "WELCHER."

FELLOWS in the court records, in the case of STAFFY vs. FELLOWS, admits that he is a gambler. "Draw me out of that crowd," says Mayor FRANKLIN EDSON to the ratifiers of FELLOWS's nomination. A good many other honest Democrats will wish to-day that they had followed his example.

TAMMANY'S REBUKE.

Tammany Hall gave a pointed rebuke to the County Democracy's omission to say one word in support of the Boodle trials, by adopting a resolution "cordially approving all prosecutions conceived in the public interest and directed against traitors to official trusts."

ALL GOES WELL.

All goes well. The Machine is smashing itself. There is yet time for the Flipper to flop back. When a candidate was to be nominated to continue these prosecutions, Tammany Hall wanted NICOLL. But the nomination "belonged" to the County Democracy, and Boss FOWLER proclaimed as long ago as last July that NICOLL would be knifed. What a burlesque of popular government, when petty politicians are permitted to divide the offices among themselves! What a travesty of "supporting" the prosecution of public thieves, to discard the man whom the thieves fear and take up the man for whom the thieves hark!

HANDS OFF!

Mr. CLEVELAND needs to be reminded that the people of New York are entirely capable of self-government.

Their determined revolt against the unfit nomination of the County Democracy's machine is an assertion of their ability to take care of themselves.

When CLEVELAND was Governor he had a chance to make FELLOWS District-Attorney. The Colonel was then "in the line of promotion." The Governor "jumped" FELLOWS, first with PECKHAM and then with OLNEY.

The people are of the Governor's opinion rather than the President's. Let President CLEVELAND take his hand out of this local fight. The fingers of inter-meddlers are liable to get burned.

"ON THE RUN."

Ananias says: "We've got them on the run." But the interesting question is, who is "on the run," and where are they running? Now that TWEED is dead, FELLOWS and Ananias certainly cannot "run" to him for further financial favors.

FELLOWS, of course, can still "run" to courts in the role of a "welcher." But Ananias doubtless refers to the running away of its disgraced readers and to the general rout of the forces of corruption behind FELLOWS.

Yes! there are a good many people "on the run." The honest and indignant Democratic masses are relentlessly pursuing the Boodlers and their cronies, and driving them hither-skelter into their holes.

Oh, yes! "we've got them on the run."

A PUBLISHED POLIJOY.

The frantic efforts of the blunderers and plunderers to identify the National Democracy with the campaign of the Boodlers' candidate for District-Attorney is published folly.

As far as the Presidential prospects are concerned, the immediate withdrawal of FELLOWS is the only measure that savors of statesmanship.

The keynote of a successful Presidential campaign cannot be struck by Boodlers and usurping Bosses.

MR. HEWITT'S PREVIOUSNESS.

Well, what does Mayor HEWITT now think of his candidate?

Is a man who gambles with his creditors' money and then repudiates his losses the model for a reformer?

AN OBJECT LESSON.

For the first time in its history the Metropolitan Museum opens next week a magnificent exhibition of paintings exclusively its own. It is enabled to do this by the splendid bequest of the late Miss CATHERINE WOLFE.

Thousands will throng the galleries for months to come to gaze upon these art treasures. The good they will do none can measure, but all must recognize. The ennobling and healthful influence of true art is as undeniably a factor of social welfare as is the steam engine.

TO THE MILLIONAIRE THIS EXHIBITION WILL BE A STRIKING OBJECT LESSON.

It will afford him an inspiring example of the duties and high opportunities of wealth. It will give him "pointers" as to the best investment he could possibly make.

WHAT DIVIDENDS CAN MILLIONS DRAW COMPARED TO THE GRATITUDE OF THE PEOPLE?

BOSS TWEED, too, was a "good fellow." As the Sun says—and it doubtless knew—he was "true to his friends" and "liberal with his resources." But though Col. FELLOWS helped to re-elect him Senator, the liberal Boss preceded SHARP to jail.

THE TAMMANY RESOLUTIONS DECLARED THAT "POLITICAL DISCUSSIONS SHOULD NOT DESCEND TO PERSONAL ABUSE."

What a rebuke this would have been to foul-mouthed DANA if he had not a check like a sewer-pipe.

"DRAW ME OUT OF THAT CROWD," SAYS MAYOR FRANKLIN EDSON TO THE RATIFIERS OF FELLOWS'S NOMINATION.

A good many other honest Democrats will wish to-day that they had followed his example.

"I DON'T CLAIM TO HAVE BEEN AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN THE PROSECUTION OF THE BOODLERS," SAYS COL. FELLOWS.

This is answering an accusation never brought against him.

HENRY GEORGE IS RIGHT.

"The doom of bossism has been sounded." By substituting NICOLL for Pow the Labor party can help to execute the deed of doom.

FELLOWS ASKS: "WHO IS MY OPPONENT?"

His opponent is his record, and his most dangerous enemies his pretended friends.

THE BLUNDERERS AND THE PLUNDERERS ARE IN THE LAST DITCH.

There is yet time for the Flipper to flop back.

WHEN A CANDIDATE WAS TO BE NOMINATED TO CONTINUE THESE PROSECUTIONS, TAMMANY HALL WANTED NICOLL.

But the nomination "be-

HOW FELLOWS WAS USEFUL TO TWEED.

Opportunities for Putting the "Boss" in a Mood to Respond to His Appeal.

It is scarcely necessary to explain that these letters make an end of Mr. FELLOWS unless he can satisfactorily explain why he appeared as a "welcher" at the most unfortunate moment. We warn Mr. FELLOWS that no common or incomplete explanation will have a feather's weight with the public. Only a statement as clear and convincing as the letters themselves will free him from the suspicion of having taken money from Tweed at a time when to receive it from such a source put a stain upon his honor not less deep and indelible than that which forgers leave. But how is it possible for Col. FELLOWS to make any such explanation?

FELLOWS TWEED'S HENCHMAN.

His Assault on Tilden and O'Connor at the Democratic State Convention.

THE WORLD has already reprinted from the New York Herald of Sept. 25, 1871, its report of a speech made by Col. J. R. FELLOWS the evening before in behalf of Wm. M. Tweed. The exposures which smashed the Ring and brought Tweed to a felon's grave had already been made by Samuel J. Tilden and Charles O'Connor, Mr. Tweed's bitterest enemies, and he had himself nominated for State Senator and it was at a ratification meeting of this nomination that Col. FELLOWS said of the charges against "the boss":

"If 3,000 of our citizens have a right to raise a committee to go noosing around in our public departments why should not this meeting of 20,000 form another committee and a meeting to-morrow night form another committee? I tell you, gentlemen, they are raising a storm which they shall be powerless to control. The moment we stop out of these familiar paths we are all at sea and in utter and helpless peril. These vague, baseless charges had no substance when they came to be investigated."

AND OF TILDEN AND O'CONNOR, COL. FELLOWS SAID:

"There is another reason why you should refuse to lend your support to these men. Who is it, to-morrow, who are working out our political salvation? I have no words to speak my detestation and scorn for those who have gone over from our own ranks to the enemy."

The Democratic State Convention was held that year at Rochester, and Tweed and his gang, in spite of the exposures, demanded recognition and admittance. Col. FELLOWS went to Rochester as head of the Tammany delegation, Tom Coman being second on the list. FELLOWS assumed a bold front, as against Tilden, Seymour, Church, Green and the other honored leaders of the State Democracy, who were determined to purge the party of the foul King of which Col. FELLOWS was then the eloquent member.

"If the convention, by its action, decides that we are a pack of thieves, and unworthy to associate with the other members, it might be a question for Tammany to decide whether or not, under the circumstances, Tammany people were not unworthy to vote to sustain a ticket which might be put into their hands by others with whom they were not fit to associate."

"Go ahead! Kink us out! If you can get along without us, all right. We want the State ticket to succeed; but if you think you can elect your State ticket without our help, go ahead!"

Col. FELLOWS, it will be remembered, was persuaded to settle in New York by Tweed, and was made Assistant District-Attorney by written order of Peter B. Sweeney.

The November election of 1871 was the knell of the Tweed gang. The citizens and the press whom he had so malignantly assailed were triumphant and for a time boodlesman was crushed in New York.

SHOT HIMSELF THROUGH THE HEART.

A Bricklayer Curses the Hard Times and Takes His Life.

Rudolph Theodore Gottlob Bukk, a native of Hamburg, Germany, thirty-six years of age, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart, in a room on the fourth floor of Schmidt's Hotel, 9 Battery place, yesterday. He slept there Wednesday night, and yesterday morning, after drinking a few glasses of beer, he was cursing the hard times, went up to his room.

Landlord Cohen tried to get into the room last night, but found it locked. He repeated his attempt this morning, and with the assistance of Policeman Brown, of the Second Precinct, forced the door, and discovered the body of Bukk in his underwear, stiff and cold upon the bed.

Bukk was a member in good standing of Bricklayers' Union No. 27. Mr. Cohen thinks that he was a widower. His clothing was neat and he had 20 cents in his pocket.

BUNGLING BURGLARS AT WORK.

A lot of old silverware was stolen from 1190 Fourth avenue yesterday morning. Burglars have been at work in that neighborhood for the past two weeks. From the manner in which the burglars worked it is probable that they are bunglers. A reward has been offered for the return of the silverware taken from 1190 Fourth avenue.

THE BROADWAY ELEVATED SCHEME.

On the application of the Metropolitan Transit Company, which proposes to run an elevated railway in Broadway from the Battery to Forty-second street, Judge Donohue has appointed George W. M. BOODLERS' ELECTIONEERING.

INDICTED ALDERMEN HARD AT WORK FOR COL. FELLOWS.

They Have All Registered, Even to McCabe; Who Claims to be Innocent—Shells, Who Has Lots of Boodle, Will Spend Thousands of Dollars—Farley, Wendel and Finck Working Like Beavers for Fello.

RIBE gives and bribe takers who are under indictment, and who are out on bail, are all for Col. Fello.

Richmond, Kerr & Co. are using their money and influence to defeat De Lancy Nicoll. The Boodle Aldermen who are not in Canada or Sirig Sing are solid for Col. Fello.

The Boodle Aldermen who are awaiting trial would not time his arrival well, as he got there ahead of the box. He returned to the post-office and found that the box had actually been opened and then with commanding enterprise offered the story to a couple of Western newspapers before notifying the police.

The reporter can give no description of the man who was addressing the box. He does not remember whether he was white or colored, short or tall. The affair is regarded as a silly hoax.

DASHED INTO A STREET-CAR.

Two Passengers Crushed Under the Wheels of an Engine at Allegheny City.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 3.—An engine attached to a freight train on the Fort Wayne Railroad struck a street-car at the Federal street crossing in Allegheny City this evening, and two passengers who jumped from the car were caught under the wheels of the engine and ground to death. Their names were John M. Culp, tinner of the Odd Fellows' Savings Bank, of this city, and Miss Harriet Weyman, a sister of Weyman Bros., the tobacconists. The accident was caused by the gate man, Stewart Cunningham, raising the safety-gates too soon. The gates had been lowered for a construction train. After it passed, Cunningham, not noticing a freight train coming in the opposite direction, raised the gates to allow the freight train to pass. The street-car, No. 25, of the Manchester Line, which was filled with passengers on their way home, succeeded in getting nearly over the railroad tracks, when Mr. Culp and Miss Weyman ran out on the roof platform and were crushed by the other passengers remaining in the car. The engine of the freight train struck the car and tore off the platform, but did no other damage. Cunningham was severely injured, and forty years old. The accident created intense excitement among the passengers and several ladies fainted.
