

DOINGS OF SOCIETY PEOPLE.

MANY NEW YORKERS AT THE KEASBEY-WRIGHT WEDDING AT NEWARK.

The Most Brilliant Society Event Seen in Newark for Many Years—The Ceremony Performed in the English Style—A Wedding in Poughkeepsie, One in Elizabeth and One in This City To-Day.

ESTIVITIES occasioned by the near approach of Thanksgiving will be more general to-day than others. Out-of-town visits are numerous this week.

The most prominent out-of-town event, at which many New Yorkers were present, was the marriage, at 12.30 o'clock this afternoon, in Newark, of Roland Keasbey and Miss Minna Wright, daughter of Col. E. H. Wright, one of Gen. McClellan's aides during the war, and granddaughter of the late United States Senator William Wright.

As everything was done in the English style, the ushers did not walk in the procession. The ushers were Mr. Ward-Campbell, Lieut. William Wright, United States Army, brother of the bride; Mr. Frederick Frelinghuysen, Mr. Howard Hayes, Mr. Henry M. Darcy, Mr. Pennington Whitehead, Mr. Stephen G. Williams and Mr. J. Keasbey Clark. The best man was Mr. Lindley Keasbey, brother of the groom.

Miss Julia Wright was first bridesmaid. The other bridesmaids were Miss Clara Mellon, of Philadelphia; Miss Fannie Keasbey, sister of the groom; Miss Isabelle Green, daughter of Gov. Green; Miss Margaret Kinney, Miss Helen Buckle and Miss Mary Casper. The Rev. Hannibal Goodwin, of the House of Prayer, performed the ceremony, which was a full choral one. Breakfast followed at Col. Wright's home, in Park place. The affair is considered the most brilliant seen in Newark for many years.

After breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Keasbey left for Washington. The marriage of Mr. William Storrs Hatch and Miss Helen Robinson, daughter of Mrs. Charles P. Robinson, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., will take place this evening at the Church of the Heavenly Host, Fifth avenue and Forty-fifth street. There will be no reception.

So many will attend the Harvard-Princeton football contest to-morrow that it is fortunate that early dinners on Thanksgiving Day are not so general as they were.

The marriage of Mr. Frederick J. Kuehne and Miss Margaret Fernie Bloodgood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bloodgood, will take place this afternoon at Trinity Church, Elizabeth, N. J.

The next social event of interest will be the large tea to be given by Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes, of 19 East Thirty-fourth street, on Saturday afternoon to introduce her daughter to society.

Cards are out for the wedding of Mr. Henry Schofer and Miss Charlotte on the afternoon of Dec. 9 at the Church of the Heavenly Host. Mr. Morris Bear and Miss Selma Boas, daughter of Mrs. E. Boas, will be married at 7.30 o'clock this evening by Dr. Gotthell.

The bride will wear a white gown, with tulle draperies and V- corsage. The veil will be of tulle. She will carry a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. There will be no bridesmaid.

Mr. E. Boas, Mr. Meyenber, Mr. Henry Cohen and Mr. Charles Strons will be the ushers. The ceremony and reception will be at the residence of the bride, 10 East Forty-sixth street. Mazzeiti will serve.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lott, of Flatbush, L. I., will give a reception to-day. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Schwab, of 175 West Fifty-eighth street, will give a reception on Nov. 29.

Mrs. Charles Alexander, née Crocker, of 4 West Fifty-eighth street, will give a tea on the afternoon of Dec. 6.

The Misses Rhineland are receiving much attention in Washington, where they are guests of Mrs. Stanley Matthews.

Mrs. Lawrence Kip, of 452 Fifth avenue, will entertain the Friday evening dancing class at its first meeting on Friday evening, Dec. 3.

The Misses Huntington, daughters of the rector of Grace Church, are visiting Mrs. Royal E. Robbins, of Commonwealth avenue, Boston. The eldest sister is the fiancée of Mr. E. E. Robbins, jr., and is said to have looked very lovely in rose gauze at a reception given in her honor by her future mother-in-law.

George W. Ballou and her daughter, Miss Grace Hoyt, have returned from their visit abroad. They will receive their friends on Tuesday afternoons at their home, 46 East Twenty-fifth street.

SPORTS OF FIELD AND RING.

JEM CARNEY GETS A GREAT RECEPTION FROM NEW YORK SPORTS.

The New York Athletic Club to Play the Olympic Athletic Club at Football—Mr. A. C. Men to Box for Trophies—Fighting Dogs to be Taken Abroad—Ladies' Day at the Manhattan Athletic Club.

It was a genuine triumph, Jem Carney's reception in Billy Tracy's place, in West Twenty-ninth street, last night. A score of prominent club men called in during the evening to grasp the hand of the gallant little champion and promise their aid in any plans toward a benefit. Among the sports present were Dooney Harris, the old-time middle weight champion, Jack Files, John Frazier, the sporting shoemaker, George Le Blanc, George Young, Alf Power, Bob Bennett, John Deery, Mike Gillespie and Pat Rail. Carney's father-in-law, Mr. Nolan, the English champion's friends who came from Boston, Messrs. Wilson and Barron and a crowd of others were present. The sketch artists, Lawlor and Thomson, sang a song beginning: "John L. Sullivan has gone across the water. He'll trash them all, I'll bet you a dollar to a quarter. With his hands, with his dukes, with his feet, with his maulers."

The New York Athletic Club and the Olympic Athletic Club football teams will play a match on the Manhattan Athletic Club grounds, Eighty-sixth street and Eighth avenue, on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Haskins, the gentleman who left the $500 with Billy Edwards to back Jim Smith with, put on $500 to $400 of his own money yesterday with a Southern gentleman he first met at the Sullivan-Ryan fight almost five years ago. The money, still in Edwards's hands, is to bet at even. Two bets were made at the Hoffman House last night at 2 to 1 on Smith.

The Manhattan Athletic Club talks of giving a meeting in a month or so at which professionals will box for trophies.

Mr. Pomeroy and Capt. Schuyler discussed plans last night which were submitted to them for the new club house on the New York Athletic Club's latest acquisition, Sheffield Island.

Dick Jones, the well-known dog fancier and rat killer, intends to cross shortly to witness the Kilrain-Smith prize fight. He will take a number of highly-bred dogs with him and will try to get on matches for canine contests in England or rating sports in Madrid.

The first Ladies' Day of the Manhattan Athletic Club this season will be on Dec. 8.

Crushed Again. (From Harper's Bazar.) Poor wife (to husband) whose loud snoring keeps her awake—Charlie! Charlie do stop snoring! Turn over on your side. (Snuggles him.) Husband, only half awake, grunts, turns on his side, and continues to snore.

Wife has a happy idea. Remembers a line from an article called "How to prevent snoring." Gives her husband a second nudge, which elicits another grunt. "Oh, Charlie! If you'd keep your mouth shut you'd be all right." Charlie (still semi-conscious)—So would you! (Grand tableau.)

On Their Guard. (From the Omaha World.) First Sweet Girl—Is that Mr. Howalla, the novelist, at the Church of the Heavenly Host? Second Sweet Girl—Yes, that is he. "Dear me! We must act as if we had some sense or else he'll get in a book."

Use Riker's Expecterant. For coughs, colds, etc., 50 cents a bottle (half pint) if you will be cured by Dr. Riker's Expecterant, 253 6th Ave., New York, N. Y., where they have been established since 1850. Insist on having Riker's Expecterant. You are sure of perfect satisfaction. Sold almost everywhere.

"Don't you love him?" asked Lida, holding up a bronze slipper by its French heel. Maggie leaned over and replied: "He's just as nice as picture—wait till you see him—and he's made lots of money. He's a manager."

"A what?" "A theatre manager!" "Heavenly powers!" said Lida, dropping the slipper and clasping her hands; "you don't mean it. And you are going to be a theatre actress!"

"I just am," said Maggie; "but you don't want to go back and blab the whole thing to the old folks. They'll never understand it. I'm going to tell you all about it, because you'll know what I'm talking about."

Mr. Ernest Sedley was a very badly smashed-up man. It was all very well for him to snap his fingers and say, "Another illusion vanished." It didn't vanish. It was very brave and self-possessed for him to assure himself that after all he had made a lucky escape. He hadn't escaped.

He quit the store. His mother, seeing how tired he was getting, advised him to take a railway to Paris with the Bartlett, and he packed his trunk hastily.

Perhaps you may not believe it, but he actually asked himself if it wouldn't be better to jump off the dock than to be so miserable. If you laugh at this you've never been there.

The fact is, he had nothing to fill his mind and give him employment, so he brooded; and when a healthy young man broods he is dangerous. He couldn't resist the temptation to go and find out something about Maggie.

Any able-minded man would have told him to quit. He caught Lida and learned all about it. "Married a manager and was going on the stage," he repeated, with genuine horror. "Poor girl, poor girl; and she might have had an honorable and ample place far from all this."

"Yes, Lida," said Lida, "it would have been better if she had married me. I told her so."

"Don't be impertinent," replied Mr. Sedley. "What did she say?" "She just rolled up her eyebrows and looked into the middle of next week and said: 'Don't talk of that!'"

"Lida," said Mr. Sedley, suddenly, "perhaps she's made an awful mistake—don't you know—I mean it's possible she's the victim of an adventurer. We'll have to find out."
