OFF THE TRAIN IN HER SLEEP.

Strange Case of Hemorrhage on a Louisville and Nashville Train.

Conductor R. M. Pool, who runs a Louisville and Nashville passenger train between Montgomery and Nashville, tells a thrilling story of a remarkable incident that occurred on his train a few nights ago.

On the night spoken of among the passengers who came out of Nashville on Conductor Pool's train were an elderly lady and several children, one a daughter of seventeen or eighteen years of age.

The conductor fixed her up as comfortable as possible and she soon went to sleep. The young lady also slept. They were in the regular passenger coach.

The train stopped to take water at a tank about thirty miles this side of Nashville, and the conductor went into the sleeping car with the sleeping car conductor.

BOSTON'S BOOK SENSATION.

SOME OF THE LETTERS RECEIVED BY RAND, AVERY & COMPANY.

Urged to Print Rev. J. D. Fulton's Work, the Boston Book Review Will Stand as Fall by Their Decision Not to Do So - Rev. Mr. Fulton Agrees to Let a Committee Settle the Trouble - Fulton's Will Made.

BOSTON, Dec. 14.-Rev. Justin D. Fulton and his embryo book, "Why Priests Should Wed," are the talk of the town. There is more religious feeling here to-day than has been known since the days of the famous "Know-Nothings."

Fulton is not a fighter, but he has able lieutenants who are at work in his behalf and are determined to "put him through to victory" if they possibly can, in his fight with the printers, Rand, Avery & Company.

Fulton's friends say that pressure has been brought to bear upon the firm by the printing house. They say his book is not a religious tract, but a book of general interest, and that ground alone they refused to set it up.

Having refused to set it up, they now refuse to return Fulton's manuscript or allow any other firm to go to work upon it. They are determined to fight it out, and as Palafax said to the French General, "It will be war to the knife."

The Boston papers have published the letter from the firm, but beyond this they refuse to touch the matter, notwithstanding people are crying for the facts in the case.

The World correspondent this morning called on the printer, Mr. J. H. Rand, of the firm of Rand, Avery & Company, and asked him to check the members of the printing-house. Said Mr. King:

We are not actuated by any religious feeling in declining to print, "Why Priests Should Wed." Why should we? Every member of the firm is a Protestant. Many of our girls who were at work upon the manuscript of Dr. Fulton were also Protestants.

They were the first to object, and we, the manuscript kept coming in by instalments. "When the third or fourth chapter came in the girls and men alike refused to handle it, and we then went over some of it that the printer brought in. It was not printed, and we decided not to go on with the work. It was terribly filthy and indecent. If some one had written out the details of an orgy in the den of the lowest quarter of New York City, it could not have been more disgusting.

LONDON WON'T BE BLOWN UP.

DR. WILLIAMS SAYS THE LONDON "TIMES" STORY IS ABSURD.

He Calls the Statement that He is to Succeed Rosa a Cheat and Denies All Knowledge of the Milton Dollars - Rosa is Mysterious and Will Give No Information about the 200 Pounds of Dynamite.

London despatches repeat a sensational statement by the Times that Dr. Hamilton Williams, of New York, has succeeded O'Donovan Rosa in the leadership of the extreme Nationalists here, and that Williams has charge of a fund of $1,000,000 to organize assassinations and dynamite explosions in England.

Dr. Hamilton Williams lives and has his office in a neat frame house at 130 Huron street, Greenpoint. He places after his name the mystic letters L. K. A. C. P. I., which he explains mean that he is a Licentiate of the King and Queen's College of Physicians in Ireland.

He was not at home this morning, but a World reporter found him at the house of one of his patients on Manhattan avenue. He is a very tall and finely built man of thirty-five years, with coal-black beard and mustache and a rich, deep bass voice. He speaks with a brogue.

He said he had read the London despatch, and had left the house to avoid reporters. "The report is absurd," he said, laughing. "I am an physician with a large practice, and have no time to spare for assassination."

Still, when the reporter put a plump question as to whether Dr. Hamilton was the head of the Fenian Brotherhood in Rosa's place, the doctor would not give a plain yes or no. He said the statement was an old chestnut, that it was made eight months ago and he had denied it then.

He would not say that it was not true now. He characterized the statement as the $1,000,000 as ridiculous on its face. "I am a poor man," he said.

"I know of the Fenian Brotherhood," he said, "but I am not a member of it. I am a patriotic Irishman and a sympathizer with the cause." "O'Donovan Rosa was found at the United Irishmen office, and was in a talking humor," he said.
