

GOV. J. R. BODWELL DEAD.

AN ATTACK OF HEART DISEASE CARRIED HIM OFF EARLY THIS MORNING.

He Had Been Ill for Two or Three Weeks, but His Friends Apprehended Nothing Serious—An Irreparable Loss to the Republican Party in Maine—What His Family Says About the Dead Statesman.

(SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.) AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 15.—Gov. J. R. Bodwell died at his home at 5.30 this morning of heart disease. He had been sick but a short time. Gov. Bodwell was born June 18, 1818, in that part of Methuen, Mass., now called Lawrence.

His father, Joseph Bodwell, owned a farm at the mouth of Spigot River. He was a most worthy man and his wife was a woman of refinement and exemplary character. Young Joseph was thrown on his own resources at the age of eight years, his father having, through unavoidable misfortune, lost his property. Being persuaded by a brother-in-law to commit the boy to his care in his brother-in-law, Patrick Fleming, of Methuen, he soon found a friend with whom he resided and upon whose farm he labored until he reached the age of sixteen. The school of manual labor in which he passed these formative years was precisely the one best fitted to qualify him for the peculiar success he has since so triumphantly achieved.

During the year 1854 this rough practical education was continued in his experience as a farm laborer with the wages of $6 per month. In 1855 he began to acquire the art of shoemaking and pursued other occupations which gave promise of a larger and different sphere of activity.

He attended school during the day, and on his return, taking with him the materials for making shoes, spent his evenings and the early part of his mornings in their fabrication. There was evidence of sterling material in this sturdy and industrious youth.

This mode of life and labor lasted until 1858. He then, in connection with his father, purchased a farm in West Methuen and aided in its cultivation until his father's death in 1863.

When the Lawrences, of Boston, began to utilize the water power of the Merrimack at Lawrence, Mr. Bodwell was employed to haul granite from Pelham, N. H., for the construction of a dam. This made him acquainted with the processes involved in quarrying and working granite.

In 1862, in company with Hon. Moses Webster, he commenced to work the granite quarries of Fox Island, at the mouth of Penobscot Bay. Mr. Bodwell commenced operations on Fox Island, at Vinal Haven, with one yoke of oxen, over which he yielded the godhead and which he shared with his own hands, but from this humble beginning sprang results of such magnitude that a company of capitalists was organized to utilize the quarries there discovered. The company, known as the Bodwell Granite Company, elected Mr. Bodwell its President.

In 1866 Mr. Bodwell removed with his family to Hallowell. He had foreseen that granite of lighter color and more delicate in texture than that which had been so extensively used would be required in the future. This granite he found in the neighborhood of Hallowell.

It was precisely the kind and quality of material demanded for monumental and artistic purposes.

After procuring control of these extensive deposits he organized the Hallowell Granite Company in 1870 and has himself been at its head from that time until now. The products of this association have been sent to all States in the Union. Its colossal statuary, rivaling white marble in its beauty, is to be found in every great city in the United States from Portland to New Orleans.

Mr. Bodwell never lost his early love of agricultural pursuits. His accurate judgment of the different kinds of live stock necessary to meet the various demands of the country led him to import a herd of thoroughbred Hereford cattle in 1873.

He twice represented his fellow citizens in the Lower House of the Maine Legislature. For two terms he served as Mayor of Hallowell and was a delegate at large to the Republican National Convention at Chicago in 1860 and 1864.

The first news of Gov. Bodwell's death was carried to J. N. Manley and the delegates of the Augusta Young Men's Republican Club, at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, by a Wagon reporter. Mr. Manley was greatly astonished at the news, and spoke feelingly of the deceased Governor. "Gov. Bodwell's death," said Mr. Manley, "will be an almost irreparable loss to the party, and, outside of partisan politics, the State has lost one of its ablest men. His death will be mourned by all, irrespective of party."

DIAGNOSIS OF BEERS' POISON? CHAMBERLAIN, Mass., Dec. 15.—A sensation was caused in the Robinson poisoning trial this morning. The counsel for the defense, Mr. Crane, in citing the case for Mrs. Robinson's testimony that she would prove that Dr. Beers and Mr. Crane knew something about the death of Willie Robinson, a brother of the poisoned boy, stated that he saw Dr. Beers give Willie two pills, which he said were for his appetite. The evidence placed a decided question in the court-room. It is the opinion of many that the Government has a case.

THIEVES PREPARING FOR WINTER. Bribee and thieves are evidently preparing for winter. Every morning there are reports of stolen clothing having been stolen. This morning John Campbell, janitor of a house at No. 7 Thomas Street, reported that a coat and vest, valued at $10, had been stolen from his room. The total value of this wearing apparel is $20.

NEW YORK MARKETS. WHEAT.—The grain market was without special features. The speculative lines today. Options opened as usual on the range of yesterday's closing prices. Jan. 85c; Feb. 80c; March, 75c; April, 70c; May, 65c; June, 60c. Later in the day the market dropped 1/2¢ of its own weight, and at noon May was selling 55c. Nothing was done in corn and oats.

COFFEE.—Coffee opened barely steady this morning on ask Liverpool cables; Jan. 10.65; Feb. 10.75; March, 10.85; April, 10.95; May, 11.05; June, 11.15. The market was steady, but there was a slight decline in the price of coffee in the afternoon. There was a fair volume of trade in a good deal of selling of the day. Foreign exchange was steady at one point. The market for gold was steady at one point. The market for silver was steady at one point.

WORKMEN RECOVER A MILLION DOLLARS. CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—A million dollars in cash and bonds was taken from the vaults of Phelps, Dodge & Co.'s burned shoe warehouse this morning. Workmen had been digging away the debris since Tuesday morning, but only to-day could the hoard be reached, cooled and battered. It was a slight victory, everything was intact.

A BRACKENMAN'S SKULL CRUSHED. BOWENSTOWN, Dec. 15.—Thomas Burns, of Jersey City, a brakeman on a freight train on the New York division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, had his skull crushed by a bridge at Plainboro this morning. He was taken to Trenton.

MRS. DENT'S AWFUL FATE. THE BROTHER WON'T TESTIFY.

Dying in Bellevue Hospital from the Effects of Her Terrible Burns. A New Phase This Morning in the Trial of George F. Wolf.

Mrs. Hannah Dent, of 483 East Eighteenth street, who was so terribly burned last night in her efforts to extinguish a kerosene lamp which her five-year-old daughter Delia had upset, lies in an unconscious condition in Ward 7 of Bellevue Hospital.

Dr. Gutsch says that so great a part of the body was burned that recovery is impossible, and doubts if Mrs. Dent can live longer than a few hours.

Charles Dent, the husband of the dying woman, gave this account of the accident: "My wife was seated near the table, and Delia was standing beside her. Then Delia, as children will, leaned on the edge of the table, which tilted just enough to upset and break the lamp."

The kerosene burst into flames, and my wife caught up the skirts of a light calico wrapper which she had on at the time and tried to smother the flames, but her clothing caught fire and she, waving Delia from her, rushed out Mrs. Ratter's room, shrieking for help.

William Hayes, who lives on the floor beneath, came to her assistance and succeeded in putting out the fire, but too late, I'm afraid, to do any good.

Mrs. Dent is twenty-eight years of age today and is a very large woman, weighing 225 pounds. Of the clothing she had on at the time there is scarcely enough left with which to make a handkerchief.

TWOS CHANGED TO FIVES. The Denomination of Silver Certificates Skillfully Changed.

A number of altered bills received at the United States Sub-Treasury during the past week has suggested that a gang of skillful counterfeiters are at work in this vicinity.

The bills are all two-dollar silver certificates, which have been changed to fives.

The change is made in one case by removing all the figures. Then a large figure "5" is stamped in the upper left hand corner of the face of the note, and the head of Gen. Hancock is made unrecognizable by giving him very black hair and a heavy black beard.

The places from which the two large figures on the back have been removed are left empty.

The altered bills are redeemable for $2 at the Sub-Treasury.

MULLINS ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE. The Christening Party Murder Told in the Brooklyn Court of Sessions.

The second day of the trial of Daniel Mullins for the murder of his cousin, Michael Mullins, during a christening party last June, was begun this morning in the Kings County Court of Sessions.

Lawyer Jerry A. Wernberg conducted the case of the accused, while Assistant District Attorney Clarke appeared for the people.

Daniel Kane, a cousin of the dead man, was the first witness called. His testimony was very strong against the accused, and could not be shaken by a rigid cross-examination.

Out Sincerely for Assassination. SPECIAL TO THE WORLD. ST. JOHN, N. B., Dec. 15.—The loyal Brits of this city are excited over an editorial in the St. John Globe, edited by John Ellis, member of the Dominion Parliament, squarely advocating assassination. Mr. Ellis says: "There is one simple way which the whole world over the fisheries on this continent, between Great Britain and the United States can be settled. We invite Mr. Chamberlain's attention to it as being simpler than reciprocity, restricted or unrestricted, than commercial union, than anything else that can be proposed, and that it is by political union of Canada and the United States. People will then have one common interest and Great Britain will be strengthened where she is now weak. She would be strengthened on this continent by the fact that five millions of loyal Canadians would become citizens of the United States, and they in all matters would give the preference to the motherland over every other land but their own."

DIED. JOHNSTON.—On Wednesday, Dec. 14, MAJOR JOHNSTON, in the 24th year of his age, wife of James D. Johnston.

He Will Kill No Indians Now. Robert Shadow, forty-one years old, colored, was charged in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning with unmercifully beating his child Joseph, age eleven years, with a "cat-and-twelve-practically" Police Officer Mahony of the Eighth Precinct, and that as he was passing the house, 12 Martin street, where the Shadows live, he heard a child scream "as though it was being murdered." He ran upstairs and found the child under the father's beating him with the cat. The policeman tried to reason with the father, but Shadow said that his boy was given to reading dime novels and was filled with the desire to go out and kill Indians and he would kill him if he did not give up such notions. The father was then arrested. The agent of the society took care of the boy, while the father was held.
