

THE WORLD.

Published by the Press Publishing Co. WEDNESDAY EVENING DECEMBER 21, 1887. SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING WORLD (Including Postage), PER MONTH, 30c.; PER YEAR, $3.50.

THE NOVEMBER RECORD.

Total number of "Worlds" printed during the month of November, 1887, 8,505,840. AVERAGE PER DAY FOR THE ENTIRE MONTH, 283,528 COPIES.

OPEN TO ALL.

The New York "World" invites every Newspaper Proprietor and every Advertiser to examine its Books and Press Room to Satisfy himself about its Circulation.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary, 25 cents per line. No extra price for so-called display. Business or Special Notices, opposite Editorial page, 50 cents per line. Reading Notices, stored or marked "Adv.": First page, $1.50 per line; fourth page, $1.25 per line; inside page, $1 per line.

THAT TERRIBLE WARNING.

The narrow escape from a terrible disaster on the Sixth avenue "L" yesterday will impress several facts very vividly on the public mind.

THE MANHATTAN MANAGEMENT.

The Manhattan management is "taking too many chances." Poor wages, long hours, insufficient force, resultant carelessness, the multiplication of switches and the ever-increasing crowds mean increasing danger.

THE HOLLANDER WHO YEARS TO FACE JOHN L.

The Hollander who yearns to face John L. should bear in mind the current opinion that he "beats the Dutch."

FETTER WOMENSHIP.

Mr. BLAINE's local organ out-Herods Herod in its worship of the tariff fetter. What must sensible Republicans think of the Tribune's latest declaration that to talk about "reforming" the tariff is "like proposing to reconstruct the Gospel or remodel the law of gravitation."

WORLDINGS.

Senator Palmer, of Michigan, has a hobby in his Jersey cows and Percheron horses. His butter costs him about a penny.

HELP THE HOSPITALS.

Church-goers should not let Christmas-giving to those who will give to them again leave them so short of money that they cannot contribute liberally to the Hospital Fund in the collections to be taken next Saturday and Sunday.

A SAFE USE OF ICE.

If the scarce about disease germs in ice, whether exaggerated or not, shall tend to lessen the use of ice in drinking water, it will do a vast amount of good.

THE NEGLECTED PROMENADE.

The annual bridge report shows a large increase in railroad passengers, but a considerable decrease of foot passengers. Not one person in ten walked across.

GIVE THEM SOMETHING USEFUL.

In this joyous season of gift bearing our eminent patriots should not be overwhelmed, like the average civilian, with a choice assortment of rubbish they don't want.

on statistics of 1884. Give JOHN SHEPHERD, but strictly for private amusement, a bundle of old linen with a pot of carmine. Mail a neat little snub to FORAKER, he dotes on them so. Put an extra lot of stationery in Mayor Hewitt's stocking. Hang "The Example of Benedict" on Gov. HILL's Christmas tree. And, if possible, drop another lump of sugar in President CLEVELAND's overrunning cup of bliss.

A MODEL CHRISTMAS SHOPPER.

In the crucial test of Christmas shopping Mrs. CLEVELAND appears to characteristic advantage. She knows what she wants and asks for it. She does not send home every little paper of pins or bit of tape. She acts on the theory that the salesgirls deserve consideration as well as the shoppers.

THEIR IMMUNITY AT AN END.

Indictment of the Men Who Sold Alleged Ball Tickets in Sheriff Grant's Name. Secure in the remembrance that the Supreme Court had decided in their favor before, George E. Smith and Philip Dalland, who were recently arrested for selling alleged ball tickets, representing themselves as attachés of the Sheriff's office, had hoped to escape a criminal prosecution.

ABOUT PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Efforts have been made by several managers to induce Henry Irving to extend his season in this country, but up to the present they have been without success. Mr. Irving's receipts in Philadelphia have been phenomenal.

WHO'S AMES, AND WHAT DID HE LOSE?

A shirt, a sword-cane and a reward offered for property taken from a hotel. "J. F. Ames" advertised a reward of $250 for the return of certain articles stolen from room 6 of the Stevens House, adding that the person who took the property might retain "the shirt and sword-cane."

BEYOND OLD PAPERS START A BLAZE.

The antique books and papers in some old papers in the store-room. That was a fire on the fifth floor of the Howard Building, 116 Broadway, this morning, was explained. A stream of fire from the building, which had been burning for some time, had reached the fifth floor.

IN HOTEL CORRIDORS.

Congressman George West is booked at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. John R. Cowen, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is at the Victoria.

OUTBREAK OF EPIDEMIA OF PEDDLERS WITH CHRISTMAS TREES.

There was an outbreak of peddlers with Christmas trees in the city. They carried wreaths of laurel with red berries and strings of evergreens. The eruption is accounted for by the arrival of several big consignments of Christmas trees from the West.

THE VESSEL OF THE FISHING BOATS.

The vessel of the fishermen in early times were diminutive craft of only from 5 to 12 tons burden. To-day the fishing vessels sailing out of Gloucester are first-class two-masted schooners ranging from 75 to 125 tons burden.

THE COMBINED WEALTH OF THE ASTORS.

The combined wealth of the Astor family (the Astors) probably stands without parallel in the world. It has been the steady endeavor of the living members of the family to underestimate their possessions in order that they might not arouse the too bitter jealousy of that class of the great fortune.

THE BUREAU OF THE FUTURE.

Three of Pittsburg's iron kings, John W. Crawford, H. W. Oliver and E. C. Gray, have recently made a trip to the future.

THE BUREAU OF THE FUTURE.

Three of Pittsburg's iron kings, John W. Crawford, H. W. Oliver and E. C. Gray, have recently made a trip to the future.

THE BUREAU OF THE FUTURE.

Three of Pittsburg's iron kings, John W. Crawford, H. W. Oliver and E. C. Gray, have recently made a trip to the future.

MANAGER HAIN INVISIBLE.

He Has Not Had Time Yet to Investigate the Elevated Railroad Accident. A train left the track near the Franklin street station of the Sixth avenue elevated road at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and jolted along on the very ends of the ties, frightening the passengers and endangering many lives.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

PEACEFUL END OF MAJOR JAMES HAGGERTY'S LIFE THIS MORNING. Bring with His Wife and Son and Family Physician at His Bedside—Comelous Up to a Few Minutes Before He Breathed His Last—He Had Suffered Greatly for the Last Months with an Abscess in His Throat.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

HIS LONG STRUGGLE OVER.

Major James Haggerty's long struggle against death over. After two months of pain and suffering he died at his home, 225 East Forty-ninth street, at 7.20 o'clock this morning. His wife and son and Dr. Gilbert, who attended him during his illness, were at his bedside.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

MISS CLEVELAND'S REFORM.

She Begins a Crusade Against the "Ladies' Window" of Post-Offices. Miss Cleveland, the sister of the President, has settled down in the city as a member of the Faculty at a fashionable seminary for girls. Nevertheless, she proposes to use her influence at Washington. She will ask for something of the Post-Office Department, but it is a matter of philanthropy. She believes that the so-called "ladies' window," an agency of demoralization, has come to be the President on the subject and to the Postmaster-General.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but stony-hearted damsel. It isn't.

SIS HAS DISAPPEARED.

A Japanese Office Boy Mourning the Loss of an Accomplished Black Cat. Tokujiro Fujuyama is a victim of grief. The arrow of sorrow which is sticking in his young Japanese heart is a Partisan shaft shot by his dearest friend, Sis. This may sound like the old, old story of robust manhood blighted by the feminine caprice of some fair but st