That They are the Four Leading Concerns of America.

That they do not sell to Bowery dealers nor desire their patronage.

That there is no concern on the Bowery to whom these Manufacturers would extend credit sufficient to enable them to handle the IMMENSE STOCK now displayed on Messrs. A. H. KING & CO.'S COUNTERS.

That some Bowery concerns who advertise to "manufacture their own goods" WE KNOW have purchased quantities of REFUSE STOCK during the past few days, which WE WOULD NOT PERMIT UNDER OUR ROOF, merely to hobble along in our footsteps and feebly imitate our GREAT SACRIFICE SALE.

SAID TO HAVE STOLEN A DRESS SUIT.

A Young Woman from John H. Starin's Office Held on a Charge of Larceny.

Miss Elsie Wild, who seemed bright and well educated and was fairly well dressed, was a prisoner at the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning on a charge of grand larceny. Over her dress she wore a rubber cloak and she carried a canvas satchel in her hand. She took her arrest coolly and declined to say anything either for or against herself, only making the request that her name be not printed, as "her relatives would be disgraced" if it was.

She occupied a furnished room at 654 Eighth avenue, and supported herself as a bookkeeper in the stock department of John H. Starin's Transportation Company's office. Julius Shilling, a lodger in the same house, charged that on Dec. 20 he missed a dress suit and a quantity of underclothing from his room. On searching Miss Wild's room part of the underwear was found in her wardrobe and another part in a bureau.

She was taken with the goods by Detective Evanboe and she produced the pawn-tickets for the dress suit. She denied that she stole the property.

She showed the following letter:

Mr. A. DeGraf, President.
My DEAR SIR: The bearer, Miss Wild, I have employed as a bookkeeper for stock-room and to make herself useful whenever she can. I am assured by her many friends here that she is strictly reliable and competent. Truly yours,

JOHN H. STARIN.
She declined to enter into any statement, but said she had done considerable literary work. Justice Patterson held her for trial in $1,000 bail.

Mr. John H. Starin said to a WORLD reporter that Miss or Mrs. Wild was recently employed as bookkeeper at the office of the Starin Silk Fabric Company, Fultonville, N. Y.

She was recommended by an employment agency and it was represented to him that she was the widow of a highly respectable New York physician and the daughter of a famous silk manufacturer of Birmingham, England.

She got tired of the silk factory in about three weeks and went to stop at the Grand Union Hotel, in this city.

On Dec. 6 she wrote to Mr. Starin, making valuable suggestions as to improved methods of silk manufacture. She then said she had obtained a lucrative situation in Englewood, N. Y.

A NEW UNIFORM FOR THE SEVENTH.

Col. Leland Introduces Something that Interests the Members of the Seventh.

The members of the Seventh Regiment Veteran Association, who are busy in getting up the new armed reserve corps, met last evening at Masetti's and put the body on a working basis. Leonard F. Beckwith made a complaint chairman and viewed the prospects of the corps through his rose-colored glasses. Col. Leland, who was the head of the committee on a new uniform presented his report in the form of an object lesson. Member Whitlock stepped forward with full uniform, as it is to be. It is a peculiarly quiet garb. The close-fitting blouse is of dark blue, with a broad dark band with black piping. The belt is full-covered and the cartridge-belt may be taken. The sidearm is a sword in a scabbard.

The uniform drew favorable criticism at once, and after the meeting had acted as a whole on a military matter, inspection the uniform, which is

TO BE SUPPLIED AT $25.00 EACH, WAS UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED.

The choice of officers was next proceeded with, and Joseph Lenthall as Captain, F. Schermerhorn as First Lieutenant were chosen unanimously. The Second Lieutenant was left open. It was suggested that a number of the corps members provide themselves with uniforms and attend the meeting of the entire association on the second day in January, when the question of setting aside the old-fashioned chevrons and field marks on the old-time uniformed battalion will come up for discussion.

MURDERER GREENWALD'S CHANCES.

His Lawyer Expects to Have the Convict Opened--No Plot Discovered.

John Greenwald, the burglar who was convicted of the murder of Lyman K. Weeks, of Duken avenue, Brooklyn, on the night of March 15, has abandoned all hope of either a commutation of sentence or a new trial. The conviction was affirmed yesterday by the Court of Appeals.

District-Attorney Hildway says that Lawyer Kinley, Greenwald's counsel, showed the greatest disrespect for him and for the Court when he failed to appear to argue the appeal; but despite that, he does not wish to take advantage of a default and send the prisoner to the gallows. He has not asked for the appointment of a day for execution, being willing to give the defendant every opportunity.

In his own defense Lawyer Kinley says that the District-Attorney played a "snap game." That he, he gave notice of an argument, but ignored the customary courtesy of a meeting to settle a day for the hearing.

He has telegraphed to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and will go to Albany either this afternoon or to-morrow. He says that the default will be recognized and that a new trial will be granted.

A story was circulated last night to the effect that evidence was found in Greenwald's cell in Raymond Street Jail, that the prisoner had been contemplating a murderous assault. From his remarks it was judged that he would attempt to do so to the victim, and the time when the man met in Court.

Mrs. Russell's Alleged Assault Arrested.

MARLBORO, Mass., Dec. 21.—A young man named Henry Watson was arrested by Detective Hyster in Northboro this morning, upon suspicion of being Mrs. Walter Russell's assailant. Watson is a dissolute young fellow, and has been in numerous scrapes. For the past year he has worked as a hatter for different parties. The last six weeks he has been doing nothing but keeping up a revolving traffic of small wares. His description tallies in part with that given by Mrs. Russell. Watson will be taken to the house to see if the assaulted woman can identify him.

Another Trial for Mrs. Robinson.

BOSTON, Dec. 21.—Lawyers D. F. Crane and J. B. Goodrich, counsel for Mrs. Sarah J. Robinson, the alleged Southville polester, met Attorney-General Waterman at the latter's office yesterday, and the Attorney-General at that time elected to try Mrs. Robinson upon the indictment charging her with causing the death of her brother-in-law, Prince Arthur Freeman, by poison, in July, 1885. The government wishes the trial upon this indictment to take place in April, but Mrs. Robinson's attorneys wish the trial to be had at the earliest possible date, and to that end will have a consultation with Chief Justice Morton, of the Supreme Court.

Firesmen to Have a Blow Out.

The Veteran Fireman's Association will hold its annual "blow out" at the rooms of the association in East Tenth street on New Year's Eve. Music and good cheer will be the order.

INNOCENT-LOOKING, BUT DESPERATE.

A Man Suspected of Murder Held for Trial on a Charge of Robbery.

An innocent-looking youth of nineteen years, who said he was Daniel Smyth, but whose real name is Tinsman, was arraigned at the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning for robbery.

On the morning of Dec. 13 he followed M. J. Healy into the hallway of 39 Third avenue, caught him by the throat, pushed him to the floor and stole a gold watch and chain.

Healy held on to the robber's hat, and with it called upon Inspector Byrnes. The inspector gave the hat to Detective-Sergeants McCarthy and Sheridan and told them to get the man.

This old hat was made a study. The card of an east-side liquor saloon was found inside and this man was arrested.

Last spring this innocent-looking young man was imprisoned in the Tombs for three months on a charge of robbing a man named Quinlan, who shot him through the hand. He and Quinlan were imprisoned in the Tombs for three months on counter charges, when each withdrew his complaint.

This morning Tinsman was held for robbing Healy.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Another Name Added to the List of Victims of the Aqueduct shaft last night.

Between midnight and 1 A. M. David Cronin, who was nineteen years of age and employed as a laborer, was caught between a car loaded with muck and the wall of shaft 15, at One Hundred and Seventy-eighth street and Harlem River. He was crushed to death.

His body was removed to his home near by and the coroner notified. It was the stereotypical ending of the police report of this case as it had been of many another.

Colored Men Who Oppose Mr. Lamar.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 21.—The National League of Colored Men, at a meeting held in the Charles Street Church, adopted the following resolutions opposing the confirmation of Secretary Lamar as a Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States:

"Resolved, That the opinion of the National League that no man, who, by his public utterances and his conduct both in public and in private life, has shown himself to be opposed against the equal rights of more than seven millions of American citizens, because of their color, and in spite of their loyalty to the Union, and who many years after the war, refused to vote that the Thirteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the Constitution are valid and binding, ought to hold the high offices of Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States."

Resolved, That I. Q. C. Lamar ought not to have been appointed Justice of the said court, and the National League prays that the Massachusetts senators vote against him and exert themselves to prevent his confirmation.

This resolution has been forwarded to Senators Hear and Daves. LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 20.—Gov. Thayer to-day sent the following letter to Messrs. Padlock and Manderson, the Nebraska members of the United States Senate:

DEAR SENSORS: As a citizen of the United States and as a Republican, I respectfully but most earnestly protest against the confirmation of I. Q. C. Lamar as a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. He was a

WAS HE CHARLES E. BURCH?

The Body of a Man Found in a New England Float-Box at Newburg.

NEWBURG, Dec. 21.—This morning, workmen in opening the New England Railroad float-box that arrived here from Jersey City at noon yesterday, found the body of a man therein who had evidently been dead several days.

From appearance, it is thought he had been walking over the hatchway when it gave way with him.

He was a book agent, and had numerous letters and papers addressed to Charles E. Burch, 628 Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn. His sample-books and order-sheets were found near him. His last order for "Redpath's History of the World" was taken on Dec. 16 at Staten Island.

He was well dressed in a check suit and dark overcoat. Some money was in his pocket as well as a gold watch which had stopped at exactly 12 o'clock. He was apparently a man of fifty years of age. His front teeth were all filled with gold. On his coat he wore a Grand Army button.

The Thief Knew What He Was About. Camille Guerin, an importer of French leather, locked the door of his office last Saturday, and, taking a stichel full of samples, started out to call on his city customers. When he returned to his place of business, he found the door open and $500 worth of stock gone. The thief must have been familiar with the surroundings, as he unlocked the door with a key of his own and removed the goods without the knowledge of the other tenants in the building. Mr. Guerin offers a reward of $50 for the recovery of the goods.

Jan Carney's "Nest Egg"—$2,500.

BOSTON, Dec. 21.—Jan Carney was one of the happiest men in Boston yesterday, over the unexpected success of his lottery ticket, which he had bought at Music Hall. "Why, the success of the thing not only exceeded my most sanguine expectations, but I actually do not believe I had intended to do all in my power to recapture." Carney will be about $2,500 better off from his fractional part of the ticket, which he had bought for $500 which he received from the New York Racquet Club, will give him quite "a nest egg."
