O'CONNOR IN COURT AGAIN.

SUMMONED TO JEFFERSON MARKET BY BRIGAM YOUNG'S DAUGHTER.

He Owes Her $20 for Salary—The Tragedian Accuses the Marshals of Taking His Wife's Bracelets and Watch, as Well as His Own Timepiece—He Sheds Tears and Hopes the Press Will "Let Up on Him."

In his capacity as lawyer, James Owen O'Connor appeared before Civil Justice Dean, in the Third District Court, this morning, and secured an adjournment to June 2 of the action brought against him by Mrs. Emma Young Crosbie, daughter of Brigham Young, and a member of his supporting company at the Star Theatre, for the recovery of $26 salary claimed under the unwritten law of theatrical contracts.

"This case involves a question which, if established, may cost theatrical managers thousands of dollars," said the eccentric tragedian. "I propose to call Managers E. G. Gilmore, J. M. Hill, H. Clay Miner and Tony Pastor as witnesses to prove that no such custom prevails regarding theatrical contracts as was established by the verdict recently obtained against me in another case."

In his capacity as actor, scholar, journalist and gentleman, Mr. O'Connor received The Evening World representative in his apartments in the Allman Hotel this morning. Although his visitor's coming had been announced by a card, the bewickered Hamlet simulated terror, swallowed the lump he had summoned to his throat and explained: "I must excuse my reception. I feared it was another visitation from those villains who took my watch yesterday."

He referred to a letter written by City Marshals McCauley and White on an execution issued on the judgments obtained against him for $237.50 in Judge Clancy's Court this week.

His assigned fright over O'Connor commenced an embarrassing and rather incoherent sort of an address.

"I'll see if I can get my poor muddled brain to working," said he, as he brushed his right index finger across his corrugated brow. Then he announced in confidential tones that he had been mentally unstrung for five years, and under treatment during a good share of that time for "aboriginal insanity" by those prominent alienists, Drs. Hammond and Spitzka.

"Why, those ruffians took more jewelry than the express," said he, as he brushed his right index finger across his corrugated brow. Then he announced in confidential tones that he had been mentally unstrung for five years, and under treatment during a good share of that time for "aboriginal insanity" by those prominent alienists, Drs. Hammond and Spitzka.

"I must do something if I'm to live and pay the judgment against me," he said, smiling.

Marshall White, who made the levy yesterday, said that the assertion that he had taken away from O'Connor jewelry to the value of $200,000, which he claims is worth no more than $35.

The case of Mrs. Young Crosbie against O'Connor is brought by the Workingmen's Protective Union.

The Electric Wire Investigation.
 Coroner Levy, having to attend the funeral of a member of Steinwehr Post, G. A. E., on Monday, the inquest as to the death of Liseman Murray is postponed till Tuesday at 10 p. m. It will be held at room 19 of the City Court.

THOSE DETROIT NEWSBOYS.

They Excited the Admiration of Capt. Ward and the Giants.

The Detroit Journal newsboys, in full uniform, attended the New York-Detroit League game, Wednesday, and the Journal says: "The Detroiters regarded them with fatherly interest, while Mutrie's 'Giants' looked on with admiration and wonder."

"That's a great team," quoth "George Gore, after watching them a few minutes. John Montgomery Ward said that nothing of their size, weight and age could beat them on the diamond."

This morning's game between The Evening World nine and the Flyaways was prevented by the rain. Consequently the newsboys will go without playing until the Brooklyn game of Monday.

The Brooklyn boys were to have had a practice game with the Association team this morning. The Evening World boys will soon tackle the Giants.

Manager Wakefield, of Detroit, felicitously alludes to "The Evening World infants and Manager Higgins's all-star combination of Brooklyn newsboy ball-players."

The picture of the New York and Brooklyn boys, taken at the Polo Grounds on Monday, show up the ball-tossers and the grand stand crowd in great shape.

The Yellow Star, through Capt. J. Worrall, 26 Hudson street, has added themselves to the list of Evening World challengers.

The Syracuse Herald Newsboys defeated the Syracuse University nine 19 to 15 on Wednesday. An argument against college education.

COL. FELLOWS'S BIG TASK.

LITTLE EVIDENCE CONNECTING KERR WITH THE BROADWAY BRIBERY.

Bills of Large Denomination Were Used by Farley to Buy Bonds, by McQuade to Pay Off a Mortgage and by Kenney to Purchase a House—Miller Says He Heard Nothing About Any Corruption, but He Got $5,000 from De Laey.

Col. Fellows is quoted as saying last night that he thought he could get in the remainder of his evidence in the trial of Thomas B. Kerr and complete the case for the prosecution to-day.

Perhaps that was why the round and pudgy face of the ex-Treasurer of the Broadway road wore a look of confidence and contentment when Justice Patterson opened court at 10 o'clock to-day.

Saturday is a half holiday, and there was only two hours left for the District-Attorney to complete the net with which he expected to land Kerr in Sing Sing.

In the minds of most men who have attended the trial, Col. Fellows had set himself a big job for the time allotted.

The District-Attorney, with the invaluable aid of Bourke Cockran, had succeeded in proving a strong case against Jacob Sharp and James W. Foshy, the dead railway manipulators. But Kerr?

The combative Cockran had been awake and alert throughout the trial. He had more to say than Judge, prosecutor and witnesses combined. He had inserted fine-edged legal wedges between the proposed testimony and the jury, and almost everything which had been admitted as testimony was harmless to the defendant.

That wily old jurist, ex-Judge Noah Davis, sitting quietly behind the big frame of his younger associate, had had a weather eye open, peering between the spread fingers which he held in front of his face, and an occasional suggestion to Cockran yielded fruit in fresh points made by the latter.

Col. Fellows began operations to-day by reading the testimony given by Law V. Brockway, the clothier on the Sharp trial, the witness being in Europe. Mr. Brockway bought $50,000 worth of the second mortgage bonds of Foshy and at his request fixed a check for $5,000, but the money could be obtained on it at once.

Jacob Loewenthal, the first witness of the day, testified that Foshy gave him an order to accept $1,000-dollar bonds and wanted them very quickly.

Ex-Alderman William H. Miller, who voted for the franchise, but, though indicted, was not one of the combine of the seven aldermen who were indicted, was next called.

The ex-Alderman's black beard was freshly trimmed, and his sleek hair was smoothly brushed. He testified in a low voice, and tied a pair of eye-glasses on his forehead.

SUMMARY FOR THE WEEK

MILLS "HIT THE PIPE" TOO HARD.

A Harvard Sub-Freshman's Death Results from Excessive Opium Smoking.

Boston, May 25.—Frank Mills, a sub-freshman at Harvard University, died late yesterday afternoon at his boarding-house, No. 746 Cambridge street, Cambridge, from the effects of excessive opium smoking. Young Mills, with two companions, recently contracted the habit. Night before last, with two companions and a man named Gentleman, he smoked the drug until overcome.

Mills was but eighteen years old, and came from California. His companions are very low and grave doubts of their recovery are entertained. Frank smoked twelve or fifteen pipefuls in rapid succession. Medical attention was not called until an autopsy will be held.

About 11 p. m. yesterday Inspector Ducoy and Sgt. Harriman, of Cambridge, called at 746 Cambridge street, the residence of Lieut. Warren, to secure the arrest of a man styled "Tim," who they said could be found at the Cadmus Club, No. 27 1/2 Boylston street. They wanted him in connection with the death of young Mills. Patrolman Knight was detailed to assist them, and they visited the club-room, where it was ascertained that the man wanted was Nicholas Gentleman, of 89 Warren street. The officers visited Warren street, where Gentleman was found in bed and was at once arrested and taken to Station 4 about 12.30 this morning.

He was turned over to the Cambridge officers and taken to Cambridge.

The officers are very reticent about the affair, but from what they said it appears that the three students visited the club-room Thursday night and asked Gentleman where they could get some opium. He told them he could get some for them, and did so. It is alleged, after they had accompanied them to their room in Cambridge and spent the night smoking with them.

When arrested, Gentleman told substantially the following story: The young men wanted him to get them some opium, and he took them to a Chinese place on Harrison avenue, and, after securing the drug, went to their room. Mills said once commenced to smoke, he was so overcome that he felt obliged to warn him. Mills said that he knew how to use it, and kept on smoking, and that the three students visited the club-room Thursday night and asked Gentleman where they could get some opium. He told them he could get some for them, and did so. It is alleged, after they had accompanied them to their room in Cambridge and spent the night smoking with them.

The club-room at No. 27 1/2 Boylston place, where the students met Gentleman, was raided about two weeks ago by the Fourth police in search of gambling implements.

THE BUILDING TRADES SECTION.

Matters Which Came Before It at Last Evening's Session.

The Building Trades Section held a large meeting last night at 145 Eighth street. A delegate from the United Order of American Carpenters and Joiners occupied the chair.

Delegates were admitted from the Woodpeckers' Association, Lumber Handler's and Truck Drivers' Union, and Lodge No. 3, of the United Order of American Carpenters and Joiners.

The Hickory Labor Club announced its intention of remaining in the Central Labor Union.

The Woodpeckers' Association asked for and obtained a committee to wait on two builders uptown and settle a difficulty. A resolution was adopted requesting Gov. Hill to sign the Ballot Reform Bill.

The Industrial Council of District Assembly 49 asked for a Conference Committee on the refusal of the United Order of American Carpenters and Joiners to recognize the cards of the Progressive Carpenters' Union, an organization of Knights of Labor. After a long debate a committee of five was appointed.

The Grievance Committee reported that the delegate of the United Order of American Carpenters had refused to recognize the cards of the Hystic Tie Association of Seah, Door and Blind Makers.

The committee appointed to confer with the delegate of the United Order of American Carpenters and Joiners on the new Union Square Theatre reported that that gentleman had informed them that it was necessary for him to consult the owner of the property, Mr. Charles Palmer. The committee was instructed to await Mr. Hill's action in the matter.

A discussion again arose on the difficulty between the Progressive Carpenters' Union and the several other various unions regarding difference in wages.

LIFE AND PROPERTY LOST.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION OF A GASOMETER AT MONTREAL.

Four Men Were Fatally and Many Others Badly Hurt—A Defective Building of the Montreal Gas-Works—An Estimated Loss to Property of Over $1,000,000—Meagre Details as Yet.

(SPECIAL TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.)
 MONTREAL, May 25.—The new gasometer of the Montreal Gas-Works exploded this morning, fatally injuring four men. Many others were badly hurt.

The loss to property from the explosion is estimated at over $1,000,000.

PEAK PLEADED GUILTY OF MURDER.
 Judge Garrison Told the Jury to Return a Verdict in the Second Degree.

(SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.)
 MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., May 25.—A genuine sensation was created in court here this morning when Barclay Peak pleaded guilty of the murder of Katie Anderson, his cousin.

What was more remarkable was Judge Garrison's instructions to the jury. He charged them to bring in a verdict of murder in the second degree and the court would assume the responsibility.

This is Peak's second trial, the former trial resulting in a verdict of "murder in the first degree." On February 23 the Supreme Court of New Jersey granted Peak a new trial.

The Court held that the manner of drawing the jury was wrong. It was alleged that the Sheriff did not draw the panel from the box, but that he selected the forty-eight men with the assistance of the Prosecutor of the Peace. The latter denied the charge, but as the Court overruled the exception taken the charge remained on the record.

The Chief-Justice said that the proceedings must be considered as it appears on the record. It was an illegal proceeding. Chief-Justice Bayard dwelt upon the admissibility of the dying declaration of the girl. The dying declaration of Katie Anderson, he thought, possessed no evidential force. He thought she had no complete conviction that her death was at hand.

A strange feature of the case, the Chief Justice said, was the absence of a homicidal motive. When Barclay Peak heard that the girl was found murdered by the roadside he hastened to her chamber. If he had shot her he had every reason to believe that she would then and there charge him with the act.

But he showed no signs that she would accuse or denounce him. In the presence of relatives she told Peak that the person who shot her was "a dirty, nasty rascal." To her father, who questioned her about why she was alone, she said "it was too bad, but she could not help it."

The Chief Justice referred to the fact that Peak embraced and kissed the girl, and that he begged her to tell him who shot her, and that she never had intimated that he was the guilty one.

The Chief Justice thought that all the evidence harmonized with a theory of his own, that the killing was accidental. He believed that Peak attempted to commit an assault on the girl, and that she drew the pistol to defend her honor and the scuffle she was shot.

Her reticence and her failure to accuse Peak, his conduct, and every other feature surrounding the case harmonized with this theory.
